Campus Strength Voted By Senate

Guerrilla Warfare Urged In Flier At S.F. State

COMBINED AP & UPI

SACRAMENTO—The Senate passed today legislation giving university and college administrators power to order any potential troublemaker off campus.

The action came over protests from opponents that the measure was unconstitutional and would be overturned by the courts.

The measure by Sen. Donald Grunsky, R-Watsonville, was approved by a 31-5 vote, and was sent to the Assembly.

The Senate sent to the Assembly another bill making it a felony to strike a campus police officer, now only a misdemeanor. The vote was 35-1.

Campus administrators now have broad powers to order nonstudents off campus. Under Grunsky's bill, the administrators could throw anybody off—student or nonstudent—if they believed their presence "may threaten the orderly operation" of the school.

A seven-page pamphlet with detailed instructions on the art of guerrilla warfare was widely circulated yesterday on the troubled campus of San Francisco State College.

There were piles of the booklets in front of several classroom buildings, but their source was not immediately determined. They gave detailed lists of suggested weapons "for rallies and other battles with the pigs."

The manual named general targets — policemen, their horses, cameramen and "scabs"—but promised to name names in a "death list" to be published at a later date.

Director Thomas Fitzpatrick of the police department's intelligence unit, said he was "very concerned" over the pamphlets.

"It seems as if someone wants to perpetuate violence," he said, "but I don't think the average dissident would use these things."

Meanwhile, controversy raged over a proposal to end the strike of union teachers, who walked off their jobs on the campus Jan. 6 to back demands for improved wages and working conditions.

The tentative agreement, worked out by a group of labor, union and college officials, was scheduled for consideration today by the State College Board of Trustees in Loe Angeles.

Gov. Ronald Reagan blasted the proposal as something that was arrived at illegally and contained illegal provisions. Mayor Joseph Alioto of San Francisco defended the proposal and lashed out at Reagan for criticizing it.

In Los Angeles, Reagan said he opposed the proposed agreement because it would give un-

Ten, all told, were dead in the new California storms, bringing the total to 111 in January and February's awesome ravages of nature.

Skies cleared today after a three - day storm; thousands hoped to return to their homes after being evacuated because of flooding or flood threats. But another storm 600 miles at sea threatens to hit the state tomorrow and Friday.

Destructive effects of the storm were felt throughout most of Southern California and as far north as Salinas Valley.

After 16 inches of rain in three days, the massive Orange County mudslide crushed a fire station yesterday as 60

Fatal Crash Follows Car Club Session

A 16-year-old Novato girl died today of multiple head injuries five hours after the speeding car she rode in ripped through a fence in Bel Marin Keys, the California Highway Patrol reported. (See photo, page 5.)

Candace Louise Wright, of 1079 Eighth Street, died at 2 a.m. in the emergency room of Novato General Hospital.

The driver, Reginald B. Johnson, 20, of 1541 Hill Road, Novato, was reported in critical condition today at Marin General Hospital with severe head injuries and multiple face cuts.

Witnesses said Johnson had left a meeting of the Chevaliers Car Club, a Novato High School students' group, a few minutes before his car crashed at 9 p.m. into a center Island, then ripped through 105 feet of fence on Bel Marin Keys Road near Montego Key Road.

Two Novato policemen received minor injuries pulling Miss Wright and Johnson from the shattered car. Sgt. William M. Cann stepped on a nail and Patrolman Richard H. Rudy Jr. cut both hands on windshield glass. Both were treated at Novato General Hospital.

Two passengers in the rear seat of Johnson's car escaped serious injury. Mario Mederous, 20, of 1045 Fourth Street, Novato, had a scraped left leg but refused medical attention. Debbie Harton, 17, of 1055 Via Escondida, was uninjured.

The highway patrol estimated Johnson was traveling 70 miles an hour when he hit the center island. Other car club members,

San Rafael Board of Education last night prepared to place its recently defeated elementary district $2.1 million bond proposal before the voters again in June.

(Other board of education stories, pages 42, 43.)

Board members also authorized split sessions at Davidson Junior High School, one morning and one afternoon, next school year, to make its middle school plan districtwide.

A chart on the board room wall, left over from the Feb. 18 bond election, told the story of defeat in numbers, 3,729 yes, 2,459 no, a 60.26 per cent favorable vote where two-thirds was needed.

Supt. John F. Plank said the district's needs remain and an immediate call for a new election would demonstrate to the community the "seriousness of purpose."

Passage of the bonds would have provided $1,577,900 toward construction of a Glenwood Middle School and $522,100 for improvements at the district's 14 existing schools.

Paul McMullen, chairman of Your Elementary Schools Committee, said: "We haven't given up and we don't intend to."

Noting the light voter turnout (37.9 per cent), McMullen said the committee hopes to convince those who didn't vote of the district's financial need, and to get out more of the vote.

Board president Lawrence I. Kramer Jr. said: "We're talking

Cal Police Thwart Fire Bomb Toss

BERKELEY (AP) — A gasoline fire bomb was hurled into Haviland Hall at the University of California today. A campus policeman discovered the bomb and threw it back through a broken window.

There was little damage.

A witness said the bomb thrower fled into nearby woods.

About 10 p.m. yesterday, three small fires were started with sweaters and other materials saturated with inflammable fluids outside the athletic department offices in Eshleman Hall.

They were controlled quickly and firemen estimated damage at $750.

Third world Liberation Front leaders held a rally which university officials had forbidden yesterday.

Striking students defied the administration and used their own bullhorn during a rally of 350 students.

Ysidro Macias, a Third World leader, said "We're going to close it down, whether by striking peacefully or whether we have to burn the s.o.b. down."

Following the rally, there was a march across the campus and a smaller group paraded through Barrows Hall although no class room was entered and no vandalism reported.

Strikers then picketed at Sather Gate.

During the rally, speakers noted the small size of picket lines this week and urged strikers to avoid defeatism.

The Third World Liberation Front called the walkout five weeks ago, demanding an autonomous ethnic studies program.

Sinch then there have been 133 arrests and the university's board of regents has ordered the supension of students who violate regulations by violence.

Teachers, Trustees Argue Dumke Ouster

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The California State Colleges' voting faculty members say by a 2-1 margin that Chancellor Glenn S. Dumke should resign. But the ruling trustees reaffirmed their support for him.

Some teachers contend Dumke has failed to consult with them on campus problems or fully support better faculty pay and working conditions.

The 19-campus system's board of trustees responded after yesterday's faculty vote was announced with a statement of support for Dumke. Chairman Theodore Meriam of Chico said he couldn't guarantee how long the trustees' support will last, however.

At Sonoma State, where 132 of the 160 faculty members voted, 107 voted against Dumke and 25 supported him, according to A. S. Pickett, chairman-elect of Sonoma State's academic senate.

John Stafford, chairman of the 19 colleges' academic senate, reported that 3,395 faculty members voted to support a resolution expressing "no confidence" in Dumke and asking him to resign. Stafford said 1,850 faculty members opposed the resolution.

Some 9,100 teachers were eligible to vote, Stafford said.

The Academic Senate adopted its resolution against Dumke last May. Academic senate members at that time said the

Nixon Carries Soviet Talk Policy To Bonn

BONN, Germany (AP) — President Nixon came to West Germany today and in an unprecedented appearance before its Bundestag said successful negotiations with the Soviet Union depend on the maintenance of "the strength that made negotiations possible."

The Bundestag is West Germany's parliament.

The success of the Western alliance, he told the packed assembly, "is indicated by the fact that in the 20 years that it has existed we have had peace as far as this part of the world is concerned and that every one of the nations in the alliance that was free 20 years ago is free today including the free city of Berlin."

No other U.S. president had ever appeared before the Bundestag. Nixon stood before a huge black, gold and red eagle on the wall.

Speaking in a hoarse voice, Nixon noted to the laughter of the German deputies that he had not been yet as President before the Congress of the United States.

He was introduced by Kua-Uwe von Hassel, president of the Budestag, who said West Germans were dedicated to a long-standing decision to "go our way as a partner of the United States."

"We thank you for your solidarity with Europe, Germany and above all with Berlin," Von Hassel said. "Without clear guarantees for freedom and security, Berlin and the federal republic could live neither in peace nor freedom. The Budestag thanks you for your visit in the federal republic and especially in Berlin."

Earlier Nixon received the West German government's approval for his planned negotiations with Moscow and in turn he assured Chancellor Kurt Georg Kiesinger on his arrival

Yacht Harbor Owner, Marin Reach Pact

Donlan J. Arques of Arques Yacht Harbor and the county came to terms yesterday on the removal of all houseboat violations on Arques' property.

(See also board of supervisors stories, pages 24, 25.)

The old ferryboat (San Rafael), which Arques says is not his, will also have to go in 45 days unless it can be brought up to county health and safety standards.

On a motion by Louis H. Baar and a second by Peter R. Arrigoni Jr., the Marin County Board of Supervisors declared the ferryboat a nuisance and ordered its abatement in 45 days. The unanimous decision came despite a plea by white-haired landscape architect Piro Caro, who claims ownership of the ferry.

Bringing the ferryboat to health and safety standards requires only minor repairs, Caro insisted.

"Then you have 45 days in which to do it," replied chairman John F. McInnis.

Caro declared he would have to go to court to save the ferryboat.

Supervisors then approved an agreement with Arques,

SACRAMENTO — Both of Marin's state legislators favor permanent controls over filling of San Francisco Bay, but have strong reservations about the major bill introduced to carry out the master plan drawn by the San Francisco Bay Conservation and Development Commission. (Other legislative stories on pages 8, 9, 34.)

"We need some strong rules and regulations," Sen. John F. McCarthy, R-San Rafael, told the Independent-Journal, but he quickly took exception to the bill's failure to provide compensation for tideland property owners who are not allowed to fill their property.

"If a public agency restrains a property owner from developing his property, then he should receive just compensation," said McCarthy.

Assemblyman William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael, said he supports the bill "conceptually," but added "you can't dodge the question of compensation." The bill was introduced last week by Sen. Nicholas C. Petris, D-Oakland.

Bagley said he might support "some sort of middle ground," and suggested the possibility of compensating a property owner only if he could show his property was econically developable and that he was being denied a use which he was in a position to finance.

Turning to the bill's extension of bay controls up to 1,000 feet in and from the shoreline, Bagley said he could not comment on this proposed power until he had discussed it with local governments that would be affected.

McCarthy, commenting on the proposed control over shoreline development, said "any commercial development that passes the usual local controls should be encouraged to help the local tax base."

Lightning Causes Ocean Rig Blaze

SANTA BARBARA (AP) — A lightning-caused fire ripped a Standard Oil Co. offshore drilling platform today but a company spokesman said there was no one aboard the automated tower.

The company and fire officials in nearby Carpinteria denied earlier reports by the Santa Barbara Harbor Master's office that there were 12 to 15 men working aboard the platform.

The spokesman for Standard Oil said the lightning bolt struck and ignited the top of the natural gas venting pipe and that the gas flow was immediately shut down automatically by workers at the company's land-based facility.

The flow of oil from a leaking offshore well was reported growing today while more calls were made for a halt to drilling in the Santa Barbara Channel.

Union Oil Co. of California said the increased flow appeared "stubstantial" but not as heavy as the 21,000 gallons a day of the original leak.

Calls for an end to offshore drilling came from Sen. Alan Cranston, D-Calif., and from conservation leaders.

Cranston prepared legislation to ban offshore drilling on federal tidelands off Santa Barbara. The legislation would also suspend drilling in other federal tideland areas along the California coast and seek ways to phase out producing oil fields "which may endanger the environment."

To Decide Fate

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (AP) — Prime Miisetr Terence O'Neill has called a meeting Friday of his Unionist Party's parliamentarians to decide whether he will stay in office. Observers said his chances are slim.

Although he is believed likely to win a majority at the parliamentary caucus, the size of this margin is crucial. Twelve of the 39 Unionists elected to Parliament Monday are known to oppose him, because of O'Neill's attempts to seek a compromise with dissident Catholics. With the help of a few fence-sitters they could cripple his leadership.

Quake Damage

JAKARTA (AP) — An earthquake toppled buildings Sunday in the Madjene Region of South Sulawesi and apparently triggered a series of tidal waves that smashed a coastal village on Macassar Strait, Antara News agency reported today.

It said at least 20 persons wers killed in the earthquake, but many more were feared killed by the tidal waves.

Miniskirt Protest

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Two boys showed up at Germantown High School yesterday wearing miniskirts. It was a protest against a recent faculty decision permitting girls to wear slacks.

Explained a faculty member: "Skirts were betting so short we though slacks might be the answer to the problem."

To See Launch

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — Vice President Spiro T. Agnew plans to come to Florida Friday to see the Apollo 9 launch, along with about 25 governors attending the National Governors Conference in Washington.

An Agnew spokesman said the vice president would stay over Saturday for golf and relaxation, his first day off from official duties since the inauguration.

Leaves Hospital

The 33rd president entered the hospital last Thursday night after being stricken with intestinal flu.

Jet Delay

WASHINGTON (AP) — The first operational model of the C5A Galaxy, the world's largest aircraft, is now scheduled for delivery to the Air Force in December rather than June.

The Pentagon disclosed yesterday that production of the plane, now being test flown, had fallen six months behind due in part to "early manufacturing problems."

A controversy has swirled about the huge plane, designed to carry scores of troops plus tanks and other heavy gear, because of its increasing price.

The government originally envisioned buying 120 planes for $3.2 billion from Lockheed Aircraft, but the total price now is estimated at $4.3 billion. The Air Force is committed to buy 81 planes and is expected later to pick up an option for 39 more.

Foils Thieves

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP) — Flight controller Jack Sellers turned his binoculars on the Birmingham airport parking lot during an air traffic lull and saw a car being stripped.

Sellers testified in court yesterday two men removed a wheel, tire assembly and tape player while he was calling police.

Patrolman G. R. Hill said he caught Erwin W. Blanks, 17, and Cecil D. Watts, 20, in the act. They were held pending grand jury action.

GROUND THE ENEMY — A South Vietnamese ranger places his boot on the arm of a captured Viet Cong soldier as other rangers surround another enemy trooper in the Bien Hoa area. Nuclear Pact Faces Little Senate Test

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nuclear nonproliferation treaty, approved by the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, faces certain sniping but little danger before floor debate starts next month.

The committee approved the administration-backed treaty yesterday by a 14 to 0 vote with Sen. Thomas Dodd, D-Conn., who has criticized some aspects of it, not voting.

Chairman J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., said he expected a report clarifying two controversial points will be completed by March 6 and that the treaty would be sent to the floor then.

Fulbright said the report would clarify whether the treaty's Article VI requires this country to seek immediate talks with the Soviet Union on nuclear disarmament and whether non-nuclear nations that do not sign are entitled to help in peaceful atomic projects.

Indications were the committee would say "yes" to the first and "no" to the second.

Only approval by the Senate Foreign Relations Committee needed, but the Senate Armed Services Committee has scheduled hearings for tomorrow into military aspects of the pact.

The committee, chaired by Mississippi Democrat John Stennis, has become a focal point for what little opposition there appears to be to the treaty.

Among opponents are Republicans John Tower of Texas, Barry Goldwater of Arizona and Strom Thurmond of South Carolina, plus Democrat Richard Russell of Georgia.

The opposition is centered mainly on the lack of enforcement procedures for the treaty.

Reds Push Within 15 Miles Of Saigon

SAIGON (AP) — More than 1,000 Viet Cong and North Vietnamese pushed to within 15 miles of Saigon today, seized a group of refugee villages in Bien Hoa and fought their way to the edge of the busiest American air base in South Vietnam on the fourth day of the enemy offensive.

Early tonight U.S. and South Vietnamese forces were still trying to root out the stubborn enemy soldiers who withstood five assaults by South Vietnamese rangers and deadly rocket and machine-gun fire from American helicopter gunships.

Across South Vietnam, the Communist command intensified its offensive. Its troops pounded more than 50 towns and allied base with rockets mortars and ground attacks last night and today.

The heaviest enemy thrusts hit the sprawling American military complex at Bien Hoa Long Binh, a cluster of air bases, major supply depots and the tactical operations center for the Third Military Corps; and Cu Chi, the biggest American infantry base in the arc north of Saigon.

Allied spokesmen said more than 3,000 enemy troops had been killed since the offensive began Sunday, but American and South Vietnamese casualties also were soaring. On both sides they appeared to be the heaviest since the enemy offensives last February and last May.

South Vietnamese military headquarters said 417 government troops had been killed 1,383 wounded and 60 were missing. There was no complete count of American casualties, but U.S. spokesmen said more than 200 American troops had been killed and several hundred wounded.

Civilian casualties jumped to nearly 200 dead and more than 500 wounded after delayed reports told of a North Vietnamese attack on a government refugee village in the Central Highlands in which at least 78 civilians were killed and 100 were wounded.

Allied spokesmen reported more than 1,000 enemy troops killed during the past 24 hours.

New Rice President Bows, Resigns Post

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Dr. William Masterson, newly appointed president of Rice University, became a victim of the current wave of campus unrest as he bowed today to student-faculty protesters and resigned before ever taking the post.

About 1,000 of the 2,900 students and 200 faculty member at the Houston, Tex., school massed last Saturday to protest an alleged breach of agreement by the university trustees in selecting Masterson.

They charged the Rice trustees picked Masterson without consulting with a nine-member student-faculty presidential recommendation committee even through such consultation had been agreed upon.

Masterson, 54, told the truestees that to accept the presidency would "create unnecessary dissension" in view of the controversy over the method of his selection. He will continue in his present post as president of the University of Chattanooga in Tennessee.

Elsewhere there were these developments:

WILEY COLLEGE, Marshall, Tex.—President T. Winston Cole ordered the 750-student Methodist Negro college closed after students barricaded buildings for the second time in 10 days.

The demonstrators were demanding Cole's resignation, more Negro faculty members and cafeteria workers and restoration of intercollegiate athletics.

STILLMAN COLLEGE Tuscaloosa, Ala.—The number of students locked in the union building dwindled to 25 after the administration took no drastic action to have them removed. The 800-student predominantly Negro college was closed in the face of sit-ins backing a list of demands.

PENNSYLVANIA STATE UNIVERSITY, University Park, Pa.—About 500 students demonstrated for the second day in a row pressing demands for a greater voice in university affairs and more Negro students and professors.

RUTGERS UNIVERSITY, Newark N.J.—Officials said they would respond today to demands made by 30 Negro students who have occupied the major classroom building since Monday. Students from several other schools came to picket in support of the dissident group.

PRINCETON UNIVERSITY —Negro students urged a support for a one-day class boycott to protest the university's investments in companies which have business dealings with the Republic of South Africa.

At Claremont two bombs exploded at two of the Claremont Colleges late yesterday, injuring a young woman employee and causing light damage to the building.

Officers said Mary N. Keating, 20, was injured when she picked up a bomb which had arrived in the mail at Carnegie Hall, Pomona College's administration building. It blew up, severely injuring her right hand and burning her face. She may lose the hand, authorities said.

The other explosion went off minutes later in a restroom at Valch Hall dormitory on the Scripps College campus, police said. No one was injured.

Police said they had no suspects.

Runoff Is Forced For Miller Seat

MARTINEZ (AP) — Republican John Nejedly was the top vote getter in yesterday's special state Senate election to fill the vacancy created by the death of Democrat George Miller Jr.

But the Contra Costa County district attorney failed to get a majority of the votes and will have to face the top Democrat in a runoff.

With 67,971 votes counted, Nejedly had 25,962. His closest rival, Democrat George Miller III, 23, had 14,757. Young Miller is the son of the late state senator.

Next in the voting came two more Democrats. Supervisor Tom Coll, 47, Concord, had 8,268, and Walnut Creek banker Forney H. (Pete) Stark, 39, had 9,763. None of the other 11 candidates on the ballot had over 1,000 votes.

More than 700 special honors and awards, including about 200 medals, were conferred on Herbert Hoover during his lifetime.

G.M. Plans To Recall 4.9 Million Vehicles

DETROIT (UPI) — General Motors Corp. announced today it plans to recall 4.9 million cars and trucks, including 2.4 million 1965 through 1968 model Chevrolets in which exhaust fumes could enter the passenger compartment.

It was the biggest recall ever announced.

"The possible entry of exhaust emissions into certain of the Chevrolet models involved occurs only when the exhaust pipe is substantially out of design position or deteriorated from use," G.M. said.

The 2.4 million Chevrolets included certain Biscayne, Bel Air, Impala and Caprice models for the years 1965 through 1968, and 38,000 of this year's models with optional 350 cubic inch engines.

The recall of the other 2.5 million 1968 and 1969 Chevrolets, Pontiacs, Oldsmobiles, Buicks, Cadillacs and GMC trucks were to replace a part in a four-barrel Quadra-Jet carburetor.

G.M. said there were reported cases in which exhaust fumes "were claimed to be entering the cars." The carburetor part failed in 48 cases, GM said.

G.M. said exhaust could enter the passenger compartments of the 2.4 million Chevrolets only if three conditions existed—"a neglected exhaust system, the development of a nearby body opening and a negative air pressure in the interior."

"However, to prevent the possibility of such entry, G.M. dealers will reseal the nearby body joints and replace a drain plug in the body which was used to remove the surplus of bonderizing solution during manufacture," G.M. said.

The recall campaign was more than double the size of any such campaign previously announced. From September of 1966 until today, G.M. had recalled 2.7 million vehicles.

G.M emphasized that "very few" of the cars being recalled "may be unsafe."

"It is like calling in the haystack to find the needle," the company said. "The very few cases of possible defect which prompted the recall decision are clearly the exceptions, but the G.M. concern for safety and idea of excellence tolerates not even an exception."

G.M. said it would notify owners to return the cars and trucks to dealers for service.

"The replacements and servicing will be made at no cost to the owners," it said.

The carburetor failure "could cause the carburetor throttle to stick in a partially open position," G.M. said.

"The defect in the Quadra-Jet carburetor may occur in a small part known as the fast-idle cam," it said. "Experience indicates that, after the carburetor has been operated for an extended period, the cam may crack and ultimately break apart."

Sniffles May Delay Launch Of Apollo 9

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — All three crew members of the Apollo 9 mission developed mild sore throats and nasal condition today and the space agency said the ailments could cause a day or two delay in Friday's scheduled launching. (See also Apollo feature, page 34.)

Doctors reported that Air Force Cols. James A. McDivitt and David R. Scott and civilian astronaut Russell L. Schweikart reported the sicknesses this morning. Officials said their conditions will be observed carefully throughout the day and that a decision on a launch time would be made tomorrow.

Presently, the Apollo 9 mission is to lift off at 8 a.m. PST Friday. The three astronauts are to circle the earth for 10 days to prove the flight worthiness of the lunar excursion module (LEM) vehicle designed to land two men on the moon.

Dr. Charles A. Berry, director of medical operations for the Space Agency, will make a recommendation on whether the launching should be delayed for medical reasons after examining the astronauts tomorrow morning.

Pleasure Faire Asks For Repeat

Ronald Patterson of Los Angeles, who has sponsored the Elizabethan Pleasure Faire in Santa Venetia the last two years, is making plans for a repeat performance in September.

On Friday at 11 a.m., he will ask County Zoning Administrator Thomas E. Cordill for a use permit to sponsor the fair during the four weekends in September. The fair was held three weekends last year.

driving behind Johnson, estimated his speed at 35 to 50 miles an hour in the 25 m.p.h. zone. The car stopped 614 feet from the first impact point.

Johnson had received a citation just an hour earlier from Novato police for driving 70 in a 50 MPH zone of Highway 101.

Mederous told the highway patrol Johnson was "getting on it pretty good" in second gear when the wheels broke traction and the car hit the center island.

Miss Wright's death was the fourth traffic fatality in Marin this year. There had been one by this date last year.

Miss Wright, a junior at San Marin High School, had lived all her life in Marin. She is survived by her mother, Shirley F. Wright of Novato; a sister, Cindy Wright of Novato; three brothers, Howard L. Wright, a Coast Guardsman in San Diego, and Kevin H. and Matthew Wright of Novato.

Funeral will be at 11 a.m. Friday at Good Shepherd Lutheran Church, Novato. Burial will be at Golden Gate National Cemetery, Colma. Friends may call at Keaton's Chapel of Marin, Novato, until 10:45 a.m. Friday.

Boy, 15, Cited Over Marijuana

A 15-year-old Kentfield boy whose mother called the sheriff's department because she suspected he was using marijuana has been cited to Marin Juvenile Hall.

Deputies said they found several partially smoked marijuana cigarettes and a plastic bag of the weed in the youth's room Monday after the mother admitted them to the house.

The boy, who arrived home while the officers were in his room, said he had taken the marijuana from his older brother, who now faces drug charges.

Takes No Action

Sausalito School District trustees, meeting in closed session last night to discuss the rehiring of an administrative employee, took no action, but may later in open session, reported Supt. Philip W. Schneider.

NIXON

and in later discussion the United States will support Germany in its negotiations over Berlin.

Nixon told the Bundestag that he wanted to speak of the "principles and ideals that will continue to bind us together in the years ahead."

His address, added unexpectedly to a heavy schedule after afternoon sessions with Kiesinger, was broadcast nationwide by German television.

Nixon said that, in addition to being bound together in the Western alliance, Germany and the United States were "bound together, too, by the economic factors that two great and productive peoples have produced in our two countries."

"We know," Nixon said, "that a strong and productive German economy is essential for a strong free world economy just as is a strong economy in the United States."

The President said that, as a person who began his political career as a congressman and served for four years in the Senate and eight as vice president, "there will be no greater honor than the one I have today to address my fellow legislators."

He visibly enjoyed the good-natured response he drew from the legislators on his references to his political life.

A German government spokesman said Nixon told Kiesinger he will make his trip to West Berlin tomorrow not as a provocation but to show the United States is standing by Berlin, whatever the West German government decides to do about holding its disputed presidential election there next Wednesday.

It was widely assumed the two statesmen also discussed the diplomatic hassle between President Charles de Gaulle of France and Prime Minister Harold Wilson of Britain concerning the future of the Common Market and the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

The spokesman said Nixon expressed the view the difficulties in Europe were transient and "no critical situation had arisen."

Kiesinger, in turn, agreed that exaggeration should be avoided and there was no reason for hectic reaction. He said a united Europe was the aim of Bonn's policies and differences over methods and form of this unity were secondary.

Most newsmen at the briefing took these remarks to refer to the French-British quarrel.

Reed School Improvements Win Approval

Reed School District trustees last night authorized improvements in Reed School up to $34,000, Supt. H. Joe Edgington reported.

Trustees asked Edgington to prepare bid documents for new carpeting, portable cabinets, classroom furniture, minor remodeling and painting.

The project will be financed by the $1.6 million bond issue of 1967, Edgington said.

In an economy move, trustees voted to discontinue the $15,000-a-year director of research post authorized two years ago.

The board discussed hiring Charles L. Jenks, present research director, in the fall on an hourly salary basis to complete research projects now underway, but took no action, Edgington said.

A request by the county auditor to adjust the district's unsecured property tax rate was postponed for further study.

sisted they would have to study the bill further before deciding how they would vote on it.

Petris' bill would keep BCDC going until a regional government is established to take over its functions. The commission is to go out of business late this year under current law.

"It is now up to the public to fight for it," Petris said of his bill when he introduced it.

Edwin Drechsel Sued For Divorce

Belvedere City Councilman Edwin J. Drechsel, 54, has been sued for divorce in Marin Superior Court by his wife of 26 years, Mary Alice, who charged cruelty.

Drechsel is also an editor of U. S. News and World Report.

The family home is at 316 San Rafael Avenue, Belvedere.

Mrs. Drechsel asked interim support of $1,200 a month for herself and a daughter, Barbara Ann, 19. There is also a son, John M., who is 24.

Mrs. Drechsel also asked a share of an unknown amount of community property.

Nixon Picks Morton As Party Boss

WASHINGTON (AP) — The White House said today that President Nixon will recommend the selection of Rep. Rogers C. B. Morton of Maryland as the new chairman of the Republican National Committee.

The administration's communications director, Herbert Klein, made the announcement.

Klein also said that Murray Chotiner, the Los Angeles attorney prominently mentioned for the No. 2 position on the GOP committee "will not serve at the national committee."

Klein said Chotiner's decision to bow out of contention for a committee post was by "mutual agreement" between Chotiner and Morton.

Morton was said to have told White House aides he would not agree to take the post as chairman if Chotiner were to become executive director and thus in effect direct the committee's organizational and other operations.

Reported plans to name Chotiner to a top post also were given as a reason for the resignation last week of Ray C. Bliss of Akron, Ohio, as national chairman.

Bliss directed the committee during Nixon's successful campaign for the nomination and the election. He took over the post after the 1964 defeat of the GOP presidential ticket headed by Sen. Barry Goldwater, and was credited with building up the party toward its triumph last year.

basic issues were Dumke's alleged failure to communicate and consult with faculty.

Dumke said yesterday he had no comment on the faculty referendum. Last year, he said he had worked to win better pay and working conditions for faculty members.

Meriam reported that "the board supports the chancellor" but he said no vote was taken on Dumke during a closed session, which the chancellor was asked to leave.

A reporter asked Meriam if the board was happy with Dumke.

"We're not going to poll the board at this time on happiness with the chancellor," Meriam replied.

He was asked if Dumke's job was in danger. "Not as of today," Meriam said. "There's no guaranteed tenure with any chancellor any more than there is with any president of a university," he said.

In reply to another question about board oppostition to Dumke, Meriam said trustees spent "several minutes" discussing support of the chancellor.

Meriam noted that only a minority of college faculty members was on record against Dumke. But he said a vote of all faculty could well carry the same results.

"We're not trying to interpret the numbers so far as the board of trustees is concerned," Meriam said. But he added that there is question whether faculty voted more to oppose Dumke or to support their own Academic Senate.

Rescue On For Downed Fliers

LEMOORE, Calif. (UPI) — Rescue operations began at dawn today for two Lemoore Naval Air Station fliers whose prop-driven A1E Skyraider crashed in the snow-covered Sierra near Mount Whitney yesterday while on a search for another downed plane.

The pilots, who suffered only minor injuries, were identified as Lt. Cmdr. G. W. Lubbers, Lemoore, and Lt. J. R. McDaniel, Hanford.

They were participating in a search for a TA4 Skyhawk jet trainer which was believed to have crashed in Eastern Tulare County Monday.

An Air Force paramedic jumped from a helicopter last night from Edwards AFB into the area of the second crash with medical supplies and equipment.

He removed the two pilots from their craft and set up a shelter for protection from the 50 knot winds.

to ourselves here. We have to talk to those who voted 'no' by not voting."

One resident said the board "could continue bond issues from now until breakfast but until it gives people the answers they're looking for," they aren't going to pass.

Mrs. Max Thelen Jr. of 199 Mountain View Avenue suggested that the district consult with those who opposed the bond measure and ask them to participate.

Plank outlined the four choices before the board: maintain the present bond proposal and call for another election in June; authorize building the first phase of the Glenwood Middle School with existing bond funds, $428,000; operate a middle school, sixth, seventh and eighth grades, at Davidson Junior High School on double session; extended the school year to 12 months.

Board members agreed that the middle school concept, which would take sixth graders out of elementary schools, should be started this fall by having two sessions at Davidson Junior High School.

Plank explained that this would eliminate portable classrooms and relieve the load at neighborhood elementary schools. There could be up to 600 pupils accommodated at each session, he said.

The disadvantages would be a shorter school day, reduced activities and higher transportation costs, he said.

"We have to do something this fall anyway," said Board Member John C. Pfeiffer. "I don't think we should postpone the middle school concept."

McMullen strongly opposed building only phase one of a Glenwood Middle School which would consist of the central facilities such as the library and result in housing pupils in portable classrooms.

There was no board comment on the plan to have year-round school, which was expected to bring strong protests from parents, but one resident felt it would have value as a scare.

Board members called for the county counsel's office to draw up a resolution calling for the bond election in June.

The YES committee is scheduled to make its recommendation on the election proposal at the board's next meeting March 11.

If it is determined an election isn't feasible, it can be cancelled, Plank said. If board action is required before then to qualify for a June election before school closes, there will be a special board session, Plank noted.

warranted recognition to a teachers' union.

Reagan declared "no one was authorized" to negotiate the agreement, and the proposal would constitute the union as a bargaining agent for the faculty although it only has about 300 members of the school's 1,100 teachers.

Acting President S. I. Hayakawa warned that campus troubles could continue "because the students are going to feel the teachers have sold out."

The trustees' Faculty and Staff Affairs Committee had voted to accept new procedures for faculty discipline proposed by the Academic Senate, which may become part of a settlement with striking teachers.

Trustees yesterday discussed methods to find out when faculty members are absent from their classes without autorization.

The teachers continued their strike today while waiting to learn whether trustees will approve a proposed settlement.

The proposed pact stipulates that teachers, who struck Jan. 6, would not return to classes unless a "peaceful and free academic atmosphere prevails on the campus."

OBITUARIES

Gordon H. Fernald Dies At 86

Gordon H. Fernald of Mill Valley died yesterday at a local convalescent hospital following a short illness. He was 86.

Fernald died shortly after he had been taken to the hospital for X-rays following a fall in his home. He had been ill for two weeks prior to the accident and death was attributed to natural causes by the Marin County Coroner's Office, pending an autopsy.

Fernald was a native of Massachusetts and lived at 53 Eldridge Avenue.

He is survived by his son, Gordon H. Fernald Jr. of Portland, and two grandchildren.

Funeral will be tomorrow at a time not yet set at the Russell and Gooch Funeral Chapels in Mill Valley. Burial will be at the Montecito Memorial Park in San Bernardino.

EWART G. DICK

Funeral for Ewart Gladstone Dick, a retired Army captain of San Rafael, will be at 2 p.m. tomorrow at the Post Chapel of the Presidio of San Francisco.

Dick, 79, of 305 Vendola Drive, died Sunday in a San Francisco hospital following a long illness.

A native of Jefferson City, Mo., Dick had lived most of his life in Seattle, Wash. He retired from the Army in 1946 and had lived in Marin for 15 years. He was a member of the American Legion in Seattle.

Survivors are his wife, Grace Helen Dick; a daughter, Mrs. Conrad R. Sovig of San Rafael; a son, Ewart Dick of Seattle, and two brothers, Lawson and Gordon Dick of Mississippi.

Memorial contributions may be made to the Heart Fund.

DOUGLAS F. OBEE

M/Sgt. Douglas F. Obee, 54, of 651 Louise Avenue, Novato, died yesterday in a local hospital of an apparent heart attack.

A native of the Panama Canal Zone, he had served in the Armed Forces for 24 years prior to retiring in 1959 at Hamilton Air Force Base.

He is survived by his wife, Fern O. Obee of the home; a daughter, Mrs. Susan Southwick of Katmandu, Nepal; his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Floyd P. Obee of Portland, Ore., and a sister, Mrs. Jane Weisgerber of Puerto Vallerta, Mexico.

Funeral will be at 2 p.m. Friday in the Protestant chapel at Hamilton Air Force Base. Interment will be at Mount Tamalpais Cemetery in San Rafael.

whereby Arques will remove all decking from Dock No. 1 along Sonoma Street within 60 days at his expense. The piers and pilings will remain.

The agreement, worked out by Deputy County Counsel Joseph A. Forest and Arques' attorney David B. Gold, also calls for removal of electrical violations and other structures encroaching on public streets.

On Dock No. 2, near Waldo Street, the permanent dock will remain but the fingers will be removed. What was previously described as a "piledriver" on Humboldt Street will be removed to private property by Arques. It turned out to be, not a piledriver, but an A-frame lighter.

Forest said Dock No. 2 will continue to have electrical service, but service will be disconnected from Dock No. 1

Several houseboat residents who live along Dock No. 1 complained they have no place to live if electricity is cut off.

Supervisors said they would have to consult with Arques to see what arrangements can be made for electricity.

"This takes care of all violations on the Arques property," Forest announced. "We will dismiss all legal actions pending against him."

Fund-Raising Dance Slated On March 8

Final plans were made last night by the San Anselmo Parks and Recreation Commission for a fund-raising dance to be held at 7:30 p.m., March 8 at the Robson-Harrington Park mansion at 237 Crescent Road.

Commission Chairman Robert England reported that funds from the invitational dance will be used to furnish the newly-acquired park building. Music is by the Bill Elliott band.

HERBERT MAIER

Private funeral for Herbert Maier, retired National Park Service official and brother of Mrs. Elsie Kellers of Mill Valley, has been held in Oakland where he lived for many years.

Maier, who died Sunday, was with the National Park Service from 1937 until his retirement in 1962.

He was active in conservation work as a 17-year director of the National Conference on State Parks and as a member of the Sierra Club, the Wilderness Society and the Save-The-Redwoods League.

He designed the museum and other structures in Yosemite National Park before joining the service. In 1961 he received the Distinguished Service Citation from Interior Secretary Stewart Udall.

Other survivors are his wife, Susan Maier; three daughters, Mrs. Margot M. Young and Mrs. Phyllis M. Zagone, both of Oakland, and Mrs. Barbara M. Cheatham of Los Angeles, and another sister, Mrs. Lydia Weiss of Oakland.

G.M. Plans To Recall 4.9 Million Vehicles

DETROIT (UPI) — General Motors Corp. announced today it plans to recall 4.9 million cars and trucks, including 2.4 million 1965 through 1968 model Chevrolets in which exhaust fumes could enter the passenger compartment.

It was the biggest recall ever announced.

"The possible entry of exhaust emissions into certain of the Chevrolet models involved occurs only when the exhaust pipe is substantially out of design position or deteriorated from use," G.M. said.

The 2.4 million Chevrolets included certain Biscayne, Bel Air, Impala and Caprice models for the years 1965 through 1968, and 38,000 of this year's models with optional 350 cubic inch engines.

The recall of the other 2.5 million 1968 and 1969 Chevrolets, Pontiacs, Oldsmobiles, Buicks, Cadillacs and GMC trucks were to replace a part in a four-barrel Quadra-Jet carburetor.

G.M. said there were reported cases in which exhaust fumes "were claimed to be entering the cars." The carburetor part failed in 48 cases, GM said.

G.M. said exhaust could enter the passenger compartments of the 2.4 million Chevrolets only if three conditions existed—"a neglected exhaust system, the development of a nearby body opening and a negative air pressure in the interior."

"However, to prevent the possibility of such entry, G.M. dealers will reseal the nearby body joints and replace a drain plug in the body which was used to remove the surplus of bonderizing solution during manufacture," G.M. said.

The recall campaign was more than double the size of any such campaign previously announced. From September of 1966 until today, G.M. had recalled 2.7 million vehicles.

G.M emphasized that "very few" of the cars being recalled "may be unsafe."

"It is like calling in the haystack to find the needle," the company said. "The very few cases of possible defect which prompted the recall decision are clearly the exceptions, but the G.M. concern for safety and idea of excellence tolerates not even an exception."

G.M. said it would notify owners to return the cars and trucks to dealers for service.

"The replacements and servicing will be made at no cost to the owners," it said.

The carburetor failure "could cause the carburetor throttle to stick in a partially open position," G.M. said.

"The defect in the Quadra-Jet carburetor may occur in a small part known as the fast-idle cam," it said. "Experience indicates that, after the carburetor has been operated for an extended period, the cam may crack and ultimately break apart."

Sniffles May Delay Launch Of Apollo 9

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — All three crew members of the Apollo 9 mission developed mild sore throats and nasal condition today and the space agency said the ailments could cause a day or two delay in Friday's scheduled launching. (See also Apollo feature, page 34.)

Doctors reported that Air Force Cols. James A. McDivitt and David R. Scott and civilian astronaut Russell L. Schweikart reported the sicknesses this morning. Officials said their conditions will be observed carefully throughout the day and that a decision on a launch time would be made tomorrow.

Presently, the Apollo 9 mission is to lift off at 8 a.m. PST Friday. The three astronauts are to circle the earth for 10 days to prove the flight worthiness of the lunar excursion module (LEM) vehicle designed to land two men on the moon.

Dr. Charles A. Berry, director of medical operations for the Space Agency, will make a recommendation on whether the launching should be delayed for medical reasons after examining the astronauts tomorrow morning.

Pleasure Faire Asks For Repeat

Ronald Patterson of Los Angeles, who has sponsored the Elizabethan Pleasure Faire in Santa Venetia the last two years, is making plans for a repeat performance in September.

On Friday at 11 a.m., he will ask County Zoning Administrator Thomas E. Cordill for a use permit to sponsor the fair during the four weekends in September. The fair was held three weekends last year.

driving behind Johnson, estimated his speed at 35 to 50 miles an hour in the 25 m.p.h. zone. The car stopped 614 feet from the first impact point.

Johnson had received a citation just an hour earlier from Novato police for driving 70 in a 50 MPH zone of Highway 101.

Mederous told the highway patrol Johnson was "getting on it pretty good" in second gear when the wheels broke traction and the car hit the center island.

Miss Wright's death was the fourth traffic fatality in Marin this year. There had been one by this date last year.

Miss Wright, a junior at San Marin High School, had lived all her life in Marin. She is survived by her mother, Shirley F. Wright of Novato; a sister, Cindy Wright of Novato; three brothers, Howard L. Wright, a Coast Guardsman in San Diego, and Kevin H. and Matthew Wright of Novato.

Funeral will be at 11 a.m. Friday at Good Shepherd Lutheran Church, Novato. Burial will be at Golden Gate National Cemetery, Colma. Friends may call at Keaton's Chapel of Marin, Novato, until 10:45 a.m. Friday.

Boy, 15, Cited Over Marijuana

A 15-year-old Kentfield boy whose mother called the sheriff's department because she suspected he was using marijuana has been cited to Marin Juvenile Hall.

Deputies said they found several partially smoked marijuana cigarettes and a plastic bag of the weed in the youth's room Monday after the mother admitted them to the house.

The boy, who arrived home while the officers were in his room, said he had taken the marijuana from his older brother, who now faces drug charges.

Sausalito School District trustees, meeting in closed session last night to discuss the rehiring of an administrative employee, took no action, but may later in open session, reported Supt. Philip W. Schneider.

NIXON

and in later discussion the United States will support Germany in its negotiations over Berlin.

Nixon told the Bundestag that he wanted to speak of the "principles and ideals that will continue to bind us together in the years ahead."

His address, added unexpectedly to a heavy schedule after afternoon sessions with Kiesinger, was broadcast nationwide by German television.

Nixon said that, in addition to being bound together in the Western alliance, Germany and the United States were "bound together, too, by the economic factors that two great and productive peoples have produced in our two countries."

"We know," Nixon said, "that a strong and productive German economy is essential for a strong free world economy just as is a strong economy in the United States."

The President said that, as a person who began his political career as a congressman and served for four years in the Senate and eight as vice president, "there will be no greater honor than the one I have today to address my fellow legislators."

He visibly enjoyed the good-natured response he drew from the legislators on his references to his political life.

A German government spokesman said Nixon told Kiesinger he will make his trip to West Berlin tomorrow not as a provocation but to show the United States is standing by Berlin, whatever the West German government decides to do about holding its disputed presidential election there next Wednesday.

It was widely assumed the two statesmen also discussed the diplomatic hassle between President Charles de Gaulle of France and Prime Minister Harold Wilson of Britain concerning the future of the Common Market and the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

The spokesman said Nixon expressed the view the difficulties in Europe were transient and "no critical situation had arisen."

Kiesinger, in turn, agreed that exaggeration should be avoided and there was no reason for hectic reaction. He said a united Europe was the aim of Bonn's policies and differences over methods and form of this unity were secondary.

Most newsmen at the briefing took these remarks to refer to the French-British quarrel.

Reed School Improvements Win Approval

Reed School District trustees last night authorized improvements in Reed School up to $34,000, Supt. H. Joe Edgington reported.

Trustees asked Edgington to prepare bid documents for new carpeting, portable cabinets, classroom furniture, minor remodeling and painting.

The project will be financed by the $1.6 million bond issue of 1967, Edgington said.

In an economy move, trustees voted to discontinue the $15,000-a-year director of research post authorized two years ago.

The board discussed hiring Charles L. Jenks, present research director, in the fall on an hourly salary basis to complete research projects now underway, but took no action, Edgington said.

A request by the county auditor to adjust the district's unsecured property tax rate was postponed for further study.

Petris' bill would keep BCDC going until a regional government is established to take over its functions. The commission is to go out of business late this year under current law.

"It is now up to the public to fight for it," Petris said of his bill when he introduced it.

Edwin Drechsel Sued For Divorce

Belvedere City Councilman Edwin J. Drechsel, 54, has been sued for divorce in Marin Superior Court by his wife of 26 years, Mary Alice, who charged cruelty.

Drechsel is also an editor of U. S. News and World Report.

The family home is at 316 San Rafael Avenue, Belvedere.

Mrs. Drechsel asked interim support of $1,200 a month for herself and a daughter, Barbara Ann, 19. There is also a son, John M., who is 24.

Mrs. Drechsel also asked a share of an unknown amount of community property.

Nixon Picks Morton As Party Boss

WASHINGTON (AP) — The White House said today that President Nixon will recommend the selection of Rep. Rogers C. B. Morton of Maryland as the new chairman of the Republican National Committee.

The administration's communications director, Herbert Klein, made the announcement.

Klein also said that Murray Chotiner, the Los Angeles attorney prominently mentioned for the No. 2 position on the GOP committee "will not serve at the national committee."

Klein said Chotiner's decision to bow out of contention for a committee post was by "mutual agreement" between Chotiner and Morton.

Morton was said to have told White House aides he would not agree to take the post as chairman if Chotiner were to become executive director and thus in effect direct the committee's organizational and other operations.

Reported plans to name Chotiner to a top post also were given as a reason for the resignation last week of Ray C. Bliss of Akron, Ohio, as national chairman.

Bliss directed the committee during Nixon's successful campaign for the nomination and the election. He took over the post after the 1964 defeat of the GOP presidential ticket headed by Sen. Barry Goldwater, and was credited with building up the party toward its triumph last year.

basic issues were Dumke's alleged failure to communicate and consult with faculty.

Dumke said yesterday he had no comment on the faculty referendum. Last year, he said he had worked to win better pay and working conditions for faculty members.

Meriam reported that "the board supports the chancellor" but he said no vote was taken on Dumke during a closed session, which the chancellor was asked to leave.

A reporter asked Meriam if the board was happy with Dumke.

"We're not going to poll the board at this time on happiness with the chancellor," Meriam replied.

He was asked if Dumke's job was in danger. "Not as of today," Meriam said. "There's no guaranteed tenure with any chancellor any more than there is with any president of a university," he said.

In reply to another question about board oppostition to Dumke, Meriam said trustees spent "several minutes" discussing support of the chancellor.

Meriam noted that only a minority of college faculty members was on record against Dumke. But he said a vote of all faculty could well carry the same results.

"We're not trying to interpret the numbers so far as the board of trustees is concerned," Meriam said. But he added that there is question whether faculty voted more to oppose Dumke or to support their own Academic Senate.

Rescue On For Downed Fliers

LEMOORE, Calif. (UPI) — Rescue operations began at dawn today for two Lemoore Naval Air Station fliers whose prop-driven A1E Skyraider crashed in the snow-covered Sierra near Mount Whitney yesterday while on a search for another downed plane.

The pilots, who suffered only minor injuries, were identified as Lt. Cmdr. G. W. Lubbers, Lemoore, and Lt. J. R. McDaniel, Hanford.

They were participating in a search for a TA4 Skyhawk jet trainer which was believed to have crashed in Eastern Tulare County Monday.

An Air Force paramedic jumped from a helicopter last night from Edwards AFB into the area of the second crash with medical supplies and equipment.

He removed the two pilots from their craft and set up a shelter for protection from the 50 knot winds.

to ourselves here. We have to talk to those who voted 'no' by not voting."

One resident said the board "could continue bond issues from now until breakfast but until it gives people the answers they're looking for," they aren't going to pass.

Mrs. Max Thelen Jr. of 199 Mountain View Avenue suggested that the district consult with those who opposed the bond measure and ask them to participate.

Plank outlined the four choices before the board: maintain the present bond proposal and call for another election in June; authorize building the first phase of the Glenwood Middle School with existing bond funds, $428,000; operate a middle school, sixth, seventh and eighth grades, at Davidson Junior High School on double session; extended the school year to 12 months.

Board members agreed that the middle school concept, which would take sixth graders out of elementary schools, should be started this fall by having two sessions at Davidson Junior High School.

Plank explained that this would eliminate portable classrooms and relieve the load at neighborhood elementary schools. There could be up to 600 pupils accommodated at each session, he said.

The disadvantages would be a shorter school day, reduced activities and higher transportation costs, he said.

"We have to do something this fall anyway," said Board Member John C. Pfeiffer. "I don't think we should postpone the middle school concept."

McMullen strongly opposed building only phase one of a Glenwood Middle School which would consist of the central facilities such as the library and result in housing pupils in portable classrooms.

There was no board comment on the plan to have year-round school, which was expected to bring strong protests from parents, but one resident felt it would have value as a scare.

Board members called for the county counsel's office to draw up a resolution calling for the bond election in June.

The YES committee is scheduled to make its recommendation on the election proposal at the board's next meeting March 11.

If it is determined an election isn't feasible, it can be cancelled, Plank said. If board action is required before then to qualify for a June election before school closes, there will be a special board session, Plank noted.

warranted recognition to a teachers' union.

Reagan declared "no one was authorized" to negotiate the agreement, and the proposal would constitute the union as a bargaining agent for the faculty although it only has about 300 members of the school's 1,100 teachers.

Acting President S. I. Hayakawa warned that campus troubles could continue "because the students are going to feel the teachers have sold out."

The trustees' Faculty and Staff Affairs Committee had voted to accept new procedures for faculty discipline proposed by the Academic Senate, which may become part of a settlement with striking teachers.

Trustees yesterday discussed methods to find out when faculty members are absent from their classes without autorization.

The teachers continued their strike today while waiting to learn whether trustees will approve a proposed settlement.

The proposed pact stipulates that teachers, who struck Jan. 6, would not return to classes unless a "peaceful and free academic atmosphere prevails on the campus."

OBITUARIES

Gordon H. Fernald Dies At 86

Gordon H. Fernald of Mill Valley died yesterday at a local convalescent hospital following a short illness. He was 86.

Fernald died shortly after he had been taken to the hospital for X-rays following a fall in his home. He had been ill for two weeks prior to the accident and death was attributed to natural causes by the Marin County Coroner's Office, pending an autopsy.

Fernald was a native of Massachusetts and lived at 53 Eldridge Avenue.

He is survived by his son, Gordon H. Fernald Jr. of Portland, and two grandchildren.

Funeral will be tomorrow at a time not yet set at the Russell and Gooch Funeral Chapels in Mill Valley. Burial will be at the Montecito Memorial Park in San Bernardino.

EWART G. DICK

Funeral for Ewart Gladstone Dick, a retired Army captain of San Rafael, will be at 2 p.m. tomorrow at the Post Chapel of the Presidio of San Francisco.

Dick, 79, of 305 Vendola Drive, died Sunday in a San Francisco hospital following a long illness.

A native of Jefferson City, Mo., Dick had lived most of his life in Seattle, Wash. He retired from the Army in 1946 and had lived in Marin for 15 years. He was a member of the American Legion in Seattle.

Survivors are his wife, Grace Helen Dick; a daughter, Mrs. Conrad R. Sovig of San Rafael; a son, Ewart Dick of Seattle, and two brothers, Lawson and Gordon Dick of Mississippi.

Memorial contributions may be made to the Heart Fund.

DOUGLAS F. OBEE

M/Sgt. Douglas F. Obee, 54, of 651 Louise Avenue, Novato, died yesterday in a local hospital of an apparent heart attack.

A native of the Panama Canal Zone, he had served in the Armed Forces for 24 years prior to retiring in 1959 at Hamilton Air Force Base.

He is survived by his wife, Fern O. Obee of the home; a daughter, Mrs. Susan Southwick of Katmandu, Nepal; his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Floyd P. Obee of Portland, Ore., and a sister, Mrs. Jane Weisgerber of Puerto Vallerta, Mexico.

whereby Arques will remove all decking from Dock No. 1 along Sonoma Street within 60 days at his expense. The piers and pilings will remain.

The agreement, worked out by Deputy County Counsel Joseph A. Forest and Arques' attorney David B. Gold, also calls for removal of electrical violations and other structures encroaching on public streets.

On Dock No. 2, near Waldo Street, the permanent dock will remain but the fingers will be removed. What was previously described as a "piledriver" on Humboldt Street will be removed to private property by Arques. It turned out to be, not a piledriver, but an A-frame lighter.

Forest said Dock No. 2 will continue to have electrical service, but service will be disconnected from Dock No. 1

Several houseboat residents who live along Dock No. 1 complained they have no place to live if electricity is cut off.

Supervisors said they would have to consult with Arques to see what arrangements can be made for electricity.

"This takes care of all violations on the Arques property," Forest announced. "We will dismiss all legal actions pending against him."

Fund-Raising Dance Slated On March 8

Final plans were made last night by the San Anselmo Parks and Recreation Commission for a fund-raising dance to be held at 7:30 p.m., March 8 at the Robson-Harrington Park mansion at 237 Crescent Road.

Commission Chairman Robert England reported that funds from the invitational dance will be used to furnish the newly-acquired park building. Music is by the Bill Elliott band.

HERBERT MAIER

Private funeral for Herbert Maier, retired National Park Service official and brother of Mrs. Elsie Kellers of Mill Valley, has been held in Oakland where he lived for many years.

Maier, who died Sunday, was with the National Park Service from 1937 until his retirement in 1962.

He was active in conservation work as a 17-year director of the National Conference on State Parks and as a member of the Sierra Club, the Wilderness Society and the Save-The-Redwoods League.

He designed the museum and other structures in Yosemite National Park before joining the service. In 1961 he received the Distinguished Service Citation from Interior Secretary Stewart Udall.

Other survivors are his wife, Susan Maier; three daughters, Mrs. Margot M. Young and Mrs. Phyllis M. Zagone, both of Oakland, and Mrs. Barbara M. Cheatham of Los Angeles, and another sister, Mrs. Lydia Weiss of Oakland.

A. B. TICHENOR

Alfred B. Tichenor, 65, vice president and industrial realtions director of the Matson Navigation Co., died at a Ross hospital yesterday after a short illness.

Tichenor had lived in Greenbrae for 20 years. A native of Dunkirk, Ohio, he had lived in California for 24 years. He was a member of the board of trustees of the Golden Gate College of San Francisco.

He is survived by his wife, Evelyn, who lives at 129 Bretano Way, Greenbrae, a son, Air Force Capt. Alfred H. Tichenor, stationed at Suffolk Air Force Base, N.Y., and a sister, Lois Tichenor of Akron, Ohio.

Funeral will be at 1:30 p.m. tomorrow at the Harry M. Williams Mortuary, Third and E Streets, San Rafael. Burial will be in Mount Tamalpais Cemetery.

ANDREW LEZZENI

Private funeral for Andrew A. Lezzeni, 80, a retired carpenter who lived in Fairfax, was held yesterday at Keaton's Mortuary, San Rafael. Burial was in Mount Olivet Cemetery.

'Oakland 7' Prosecution Rests Case

I-J Special Report

OAKLAND — The prosecution ended its case against the "Oakland Seven" yesterday with the introduction of contested photographs allegedly showing demonstrators "obstructing police" during antidraft demonstrations in October 1967.

Charles Garry, attorney for the seven men accused of felony conspiracy to get others to commit misdemeanors, missed the last hour of questioning yesterday after he was stricken in the Alameda County Superior Court room with a severe case of indigestion.

Before he became ill, Garry objected to the photographs because they show demonstrators allegedly obstructing traffic, not obstructing police. Prosecuting attorneys argued that since it is the duty of a police officer to keep traffic open, the conduct was designed to obstruct an officer.

The trial was adjourned until tomorrow when Garry is expected to be back in court to move for dismissal of the felony conspiracy charges, contending that a conspiracy has not been proven.

Among the seven on trial is Michael J. Smith, a former Corte Madera resident.

Better School Nurse Pay Under Discussion

A deviation from the salary schedule policy was discussed yesterday by the salary negotiation panel of San Anselmo School District to make the district nurse eligible for higher pay.

Supt. Stephen L. Parodi said that Mrs. Opal Torrance, school nurse, cannot move up on the salary schedule now

She has many college credit units above the required 120 for a bachelor of arts degree but they are not the right ones, said Parodi. If such deviation were approved by the board, it would allow Mrs. Torrance to be raised from her current salary of $8.122 annually to $10.057 under the present schedule.

The panel took no action on this or other matters discussed yesterday.

Mrs. Beverly Ludwig, teacher chairman of the negotiational group, said she felt the article in the Feb. 19 Independent-Journal gave a higher percentage of proposed teacher pay hike than will be the case.

(The report said teachers were asking for an approximately 20 per cent increase. Teachers, now paid $891,838, are to be paid $1.093,361.)

Mrs. Ludwig told the panel the raise will not be that high, considering that some teachers will be leaving and those coming in to replace them will come in at a lower pay scale.

A report will be made on the panel discussion at the March 4 board meeting Parodi said.

At that time, according to Paroid, Trustee Franklin C. Latcham plans to ask that a closed session be set with the board's negotiating committee in order to furnish guidelines for the committee.

Latcham, a member of the board's committee, was present at yesterday's meeting but the other trustee member, Elmer A. Weden Jr., was absent. Four teacher-negotiators were present

Nuclear Pact Gets Senate Panel Nod

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Foreign Relations Committee approved by a 14-0 vote today the treaty designed to prevent the spread of nuclear weapons.

Chairman J. W. Fulbright said he expected a report on the action would be completed by March 6 and the treaty then sent to the floor for a vote.

Guilty Plea In Check Case

A 23-year-old Canadian, who police officers said had a system for swindling banks, pleaded guilty Monday to two charges of passing forged checks. Two other counts were dismissed by the district attorney's office

Ronald Victory MacWillians was ordered to return to Marin Superior Court Monday.

He was accused of swindling four banks in San Rafael and San Anselmo of $1,000 each.

Sonoma, Marin Face Regional Plan Cuts

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — Legislation to set up a regional government in the Bay Area, to be unveiled Monday, will eliminate major chunks of several of the nine counties in the area, including part of Marin and Southern Sonoma counties, it was learned yesterday.

The staff of the Joint Legislative Committee on Bay Area Regional Organization (BARO) proposed in December that the regional government cover all territory within the nine counties, but the bill being drawn by the committee's chairman, Assemblyman John T. Knox, D-Richmond, will be based on the watershed boundaries of the Bay Area Regional Water Quality Control Board, the Independent-Journal was told by a Knox aide.

In Marin, the northwest section of the county above Marshall would not be included in the Knox bill, and the boundary would cross Sonoma County just south of Cotati.

The northern sections of Napa and Solano counties, and the eastern portions of Contra Costa and Alameda counties also will be excluded from the proposed regional government. Only San Francisco would be totally included.

The boundary changes were designed to eliminate opposition to the bill from remote areas which do not consider themselves immediately concerned with Bay Area problems, according to Knox's aide.

The Knox bill, as proposed by the BARO staff, will provide that the regional government be set up only if approved by the voters in a referendum at the 1970 primary election, the aide reported.

Gov. Ronald Reagan, he noted, has seen the proposed legislation, and his only comment was to insist that it include the provision to put the proposal to a vote of the people.

Many proponents of regional government have objected to a referendum on the ground that the proposal is too complicated to be left to the judgment of the voters. Regional government proposals generally have been defeated when put to a referendum.

15 Per Cent Pay Boost Plea Likely

The Petaluma Board of Education went behind closed doors last night to hear Supt. Lesly H. Meyer report that the Association of Petaluma Area Teachers may request a 15 per cent wage increase package.

George W. Castleberry, business manager of the Petaluma schools, said negotiations have not gone far enough to determine how much the request would cost the districts.

Castleberry said that a 5 per cent salary increase would mean $180,000 in additional costs. The present teachers' payroll amounts to $3,648,000.

He said it is also impossible to determine if a tax rate increase would be necessary to meet the requests. He noted that the high school district has some taxing power remaining, but any tax increase for the elementary district would have to be put to a vote.

The teachers' association met Monday at Petaluma Senior High School with members of the negotiating committee and heard that the requested increase will include a salary raise and finance a larger teaching staff to reduce class size.

Lens Svinth, negotiations committee chairman, told the teachers he felt 5 per cent of the increase should go toward hospital and medical insurance for teachers to make it tax free.

Svinth said the committee feels that 5 per cent should go to salary increases and told the teachers they rank 86th in pay among the Bay Area districts. He said the committee is hoping that 5 per cent of the increased funds will be supplied by the state with the district paying the remaining 10 per cent out of the $310,000 in reserve funds.

Negotiations between the teachers' committee and Meyer will continue for two more weeks. On March 10 the committee will present the district's offer at an association meeting and recommend either acceptance or rejection.

The education board is scheduled to take action on the salary request at the March 11 meeting.

The Petaluma Board of Education also:

SCHEDULING — Heard reports from staff members of Petaluma Senior High and Rancho Cotate High on plans to offer a more flexible class schedule for the 1969-70 year.

APPOINTED — Named Thomas R. Goff of Rohnert Park to the Northern Area Advisory Committee.

RESIGNATION — Accepted the resignation of Mrs. Elra Gullicksrud as kindergarten teacher at Grant School for family reasons.

EMPLOYED — Hired Alberta Carter as a kindergarten teacher at Grant School for $2,118 and Richard Glover as industrial arts teacher at Kenilworth Junior High School for $3,148.

BUDGET — Heard report that the preliminary budget for the 1969-70 year will be presented at the March 25 board meeting.

Donation To Help Boys' Club Gym

Construction of the gymnasium at the Petaluma Boys' Club, which has been stymied by a lack of funds, will be resumed soon, according to Daniel Libarle, president.

He said the resumed construction was made possible by a gift of $3,200 by the Petaluma Leghorns, a now defunct semi-professional football team that played only for charity.

Libarle said the Leghorns, which stopped play in 1965, had the money remaining unused in the treasury. He said in 22 years of play, the team donated nearly $30,000 to charity.

The funds will be used to purchase laminated beams which will permit construction of the roof. The foundation and walls have been completed for nearly six months.

Although the Leghorns' gift will not finance the entire project, Libarle said the club still hopes to have the gymnasium completed by September when school opens.

Since the club requested financial assistance from the community last December, nearly $7,000 has been received. Libarle said a major portion of that amount has been used to pay old bills.

Knowledge Of Strike Admitted

I-J Special Report

FORT IRWIN — The Army knew of plans for a sitdown strike at the Presidio of San Francisco stockade last Oct. 14, but released prisoners from their cells anyway because it did not believe the prisoners would mutiny that day, a sergeant testified yesterday in the mutiny trial of one of 27 men accused after the strike.

The seriousness of the charge and its penalty yesterday prompted Charles E. Goodell, R-N.Y., to ask Army Secretary Stanley R. Resor for a complete report on the mutiny charges.

Goodell said he was also concerned about the stockade conditions which precipitated the demonstration and the basis for denying prisoner requests for press interviews.

In the second day of the court-martial of Pfc. John Colip, 20, of Sacramento, yesterday, Military Police Sgt. Terry Rains admitted under cross examination he had advance knowledge of the plans. He said the prisoners would not have been released if he had known they were going to mutiny.

Colip is the fourth soldier to face trial on the mutiny charge. Three others have been convicted and sentenced to 14, 15 and 16 years at hard labor.

Two of the 27 escaped from the stockade last Dec. 24. One of the escapees was Pvt. Keith Mather, one of the Marin City Nine who chained themselves to clergymen in an antiwar protest at St. Andrew Presbyterian Church in Marin City.

Twenty-one other men are awaiting trial.

Cotati School Board Seeking To Fill A Seat

Cotati School District trustees last night began the search to replace Trustee Robert W. Waldron who resigned Feb. 11 after 13 years on the board.

The board requested suggestions from citizens of Cotati and Rohnert Park, the citizen's advisory committee and Parent-Teacher Associations.

Waldron's term expires in June 1971. The board has until mid-April to appoint his successor.

The Cotati School District trustees also:

FURNITURE — Called for bids for furniture for the new Thomas Page School, to be opened at the March 25 meeting.

SCHOOL SITE — Received recommendation from the Sonoma County Planning Commission that the board consider purchase in the B-section of Rohnert Park for the next school site.

BUS — Heard a report from Supt. Duncan Coleman that an additional bus might be needed by September, to bus students from the over-crowded Waldo Rohnert School to the Cotati school.

RENTAL — Heard a report that administrators are talking with Norman Spivock on the possibility of renting classroom space above the present district administration offices. Coleman said three or four classes could be held there.

Pittsburg Schools Tax Hike Loses Again

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — For the second time in four months, voters in the Pittsburg Unified School District yesterday turned down a proposed $1 tax increase on the current $3 rate.

School officials had said unless the measure passed operations would be "curtailed drastically." The vote was 2,971 to 2,540.

Sounds ridiculous, doesn't it?
But what if everybody in this country were to throw their hands up in despair and say they don't give a hoot.
Indeed, there would be no tomorrow.
But fortunately, Americans have a way of solving their problems.
And that's just what's going to happen in these troubled times. Simply because it's always been an American tradition.
Now, how can you, as one little ole citizen in this big, wide country of ours, be of any help?
Well, take a minute and think about a U.S. Savings Bond.
That's right, a U.S. Savings Bond.

No, it isn't an immediate remedy for all our ills. But it helps.
If everybody were to buy just one $25.00 Savings Bond (cost $18.75), your country would be stronger economically to wipe out some of those scars we've been sporting.
Of course, everybody would be helping themselves, too. If you were to sign up on a Bond purchase plan where you work or bank, you'd have quite a nice nest egg for yourself one of these days.
You'd have a lot more dollars in the kitty for things like college educations, that new home, or a secure retirement.
So think about a U.S. Savings Bond today.
And then go out and buy one.
Tomorrow.

Sonoma, Marin Face Regional Plan Cuts

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — Legislation to set up a regional government in the Bay Area, to be unveiled Monday, will eliminate major chunks of several of the nine counties in the area, including part of Marin and Southern Sonoma counties, it was learned yesterday.

The staff of the Joint Legislative Committee on Bay Area Regional Organization (BARO) proposed in December that the regional government cover all territory within the nine counties, but the bill being drawn by the committee's chairman, Assemblyman John T. Knox, D-Richmond, will be based on the watershed boundaries of the Bay Area Regional Water Quality Control Board, the Independent-Journal was told by a Knox aide.

In Marin, the northwest section of the county above Marshall would not be included in the Knox bill, and the boundary would cross Sonoma Country just south of Cotati.

The northern sections of Napa and Solano counties, and the eastern portions of Contra Costa and Alameda counties also will be excluded from the proposed regional government. Only San Francisco would be totally included.

The boundary changes were designed to eliminate opposition to the bill from remote areas which do not consider themselves immediately concerned with Bay Area problems, according to Knox's aide.

The Knox bill, as proposed by the BARO staff, will provide that the regional government be set up only if approved by the voters in a referendum at the 1970 primary election, the aide reported.

Gov. Ronald Reagan, he noted, has seen the proposed legislation, and his only comment was to insist that it include the provision to put the proposal to a vote of the people.

Many proponents of regional government have objected to a referendum on the ground that the proposal is too complicated to be left to the judgment of the voters. Regional government proposals generally have been defeated when put to a referendum.

15 Per Cent Pay Boost Plea Likely

The Petaluma Board of Education went behind closed doors last night to hear Supt. Lesly H. Meyer report that the Association of Petaluma Area Teachers may request a 15 per cent wage increase package.

George W. Castleberry, business manager of the Petaluma schools, said negotiations have not gone far enough to determine how much the request would cost the districts.

Castleberry said that a 5 per cent salary increase would mean $180,000 in additional costs. The present teachers' payroll amounts to $3,648,000.

He said it is also impossible to determine if a tax rate increase would be necessary to meet the requests. He noted that the high school district has some taxing power remaining, but any tax increase for the elementary district would have to be put to a vote.

The teachers' association met Monday at Petaluma Senior High School with members of the negotiating committee and heard that the requested increase will include a salary raise and finance a larger teaching staff to reduce class size.

Lens Svinth, negotiations committee chairman, told the teachers he felt 5 per cent of the increase should go toward hospital and medical insurance for teachers to make it tax free.

Svinth said the committee feels that 5 per cent should go to salary increases and told the teachers they rank 86th in pay among the Bay Area districts. He said the committee is hoping that 5 per cent of the increased funds will be supplied by the state with the district paying the remaining 10 per cent out of the $310,000 in reserve funds.

Negotiations between the teachers' committee and Meyer will continue for two more weeks. On March 10 the committee will present the district's offer at an association meeting and recommend either acceptance or rejection.

The education board is scheduled to take action on the salary request at the March 11 meeting.

The Petaluma Board of Education also:

SCHEDULING — Heard reports from staff members of Petaluma Senior High and Rancho Cotate High on plans to offer a more flexible class schedule for the 1969-70 year.

APPOINTED — Named Thomas R. Goff of Rohnert Park to the Northern Area Advisory Committee.

RESIGNATION — Accepted the resignation of Mrs. Elra Gullicksrud as kindergarten teacher at Grant School for family reasons.

EMPLOYED — Hired Alberta Carter as a kindergarten teacher at Grant School for $2,118 and Richard Glover as industrial arts teacher at Kenilworth Junior High School for $3,148.

BUDGET — Heard report that the preliminary budget for the 1969-70 year will be presented at the March 25 board meeting.

Donation To Help Boys' Club Gym

Construction of the gymnasium at the Petaluma Boys' Club, which has been stymied by a lack of funds, will be resumed soon, according to Daniel Libarle, president.

He said the resumed construction was made possible by a gift of $3,200 by the Petaluma Leghorns, a now defunct semi-professional football team that played only for charity.

Libarle said the Leghorns, which stopped play in 1965, had the money remaining unused in the treasury. He said in 22 years of play, the team donated nearly $30,000 to charity.

The funds will be used to purchase laminated beams which will permit construction of the roof. The foundation and walls have been completed for nearly six months.

Although the Leghorns' gift will not finance the entire project, Libarle said the club still hopes to have the gymnasium completed by September when school opens.

Since the club requested financial assistance from the community last December, nearly $7,000 has been received. Libarle said a major portion of that amount has been used to pay old bills.

Knowledge Of Strike Admitted

I-J Special Report

FORT IRWIN — The Army knew of plans for a sitdown strike at the Presidio of San Francisco stockade last Oct. 14, but released prisoners from their cells anyway because it did not believe the prisoners would mutiny that day, a sergeant testified yesterday in the mutiny trial of one of 27 men accused after the strike.

The seriousness of the charge and its penalty yesterday prompted Charles E. Goodell, R-N.Y., to ask Army Secretary Stanley R. Resor for a complete report on the mutiny charges.

Goodell said he was also concerned about the stockade conditions which precipitated the demonstration and the basis for denying prisoner requests for press interviews.

In the second day of the court-martial of Pfc. John Colip, 20, of Sacramento, yesterday, Military Police Sgt. Terry Rains admitted under cross examination he had advance knowledge of the plans. He said the prisoners would not have been released if he had known they were going to mutiny.

Colip is the fourth soldier to face trial on the mutiny charge. Three others have been convicted and sentenced to 14, 15 and 16 years at hard labor.

Two of the 27 escaped from the stockade last Dec. 24. One of the escapees was Pvt. Keith Mather, one of the Marin City Nine who chained themselves to clergymen in an antiwar protest at St. Andrew Presbyterian Church in Marin City.

Twenty-one other men are awaiting trial.

Cotati School Board Seeking To Fill A Seat

Cotati School District trustees last night began the search to replace Trustee Robert W. Waldron who resigned Feb. 11 after 13 years on the board.

The board requested suggestions from citizens of Cotati and Rohnert Park, the citizen's advisory committee and Parent-Teacher Associations.

Waldron's term expires in June 1971. The board has until mid-April to appoint his successor.

The Cotati School District trustees also:

FURNITURE — Called for bids for furniture for the new Thomas Page School, to be opened at the March 25 meeting.

SCHOOL SITE — Received recommendation from the Sonoma County Planning Commission that the board consider purchase in the B-section of Rohnert Park for the next school site.

BUS — Heard a report from Supt. Duncan Coleman that an additional bus might be needed by September, to bus students from the over-crowded Waldo Rohnert School to the Cotati school.

RENTAL — Heard a report that administrators are talking with Norman Spivock on the possibility of renting classroom space above the present district administration offices. Coleman said three or four classes could be held there.

Pittsburg Schools Tax Hike Loses Again

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — For the second time in four months, voters in the Pittsburg Unified School District yesterday turned down a proposed $1 tax increase on the current $3 rate.

School officials had said unless the measure passed operations would be "curtailed drastically." The vote was 2,971 to 2,540.

Garden Trash Proposed For Land Restoring

The Marin Conservation League has suggested that garden trash, which will come under a burning ban at the end of the year, be used to build land or houses.

The league, in a letter to county supervisors and mayors of Marin cities, proposed that chopped, stacked and treated garden cuttings could be a "great source of compost available to the county for recreation of our lands."

Not only could the cuttings be used for compost but they might be pressed into building panels which the league describes as "light, insulative and acoustical," or into hardboard panels. Use of cuttings to make hardboard panels would reduce the pressure to cut down trees, the league suggests.

Another possible compost use would be to burn cuttings to generate electricity, suggests the letter signed by league president Harold E. Gregg of Forest Knolls.

The league agreed with the aim of the Bay Area Air Pollution Control District in imposing the ban to cut smog, the letter says, but believes that some "coordinated" plan is necessary to dispose of wastes previously burned, noting the "extensive gardens" in Marin.

Hiring Promise For At Least 125 Positions

Business representatives told a meeting of welfare mothers and unemployed persons in San Rafael Monday night that they would hire a substantial number of persons out of a proposed skills center in Marin County.

Earl O'Grady, representing the Pacific Telephone Co., said the utility would create up to 125 positions for the hard core unemployed in Marin this year, according to David Rollison, a community worker for the Marin County Economic Opportunity Council, which arranged the meeting in the county courthouse.

Representatives of the Pacific Gas and Electric Co. and McGraw-Hill Book Co. also said their companies would do a "fair share" of hiring from the skills center.

Thomas Henderson of URS Systems Inc. of Palo Alto, management consultants, told the meeting his firm would help EOC set up the center.

Felony Charges To Be Reduced

The district attorney's office has decided that the theft of an adding machine from a San Rafael service station by two men—whom blood tests showed to be extremely intoxicated—was more in the nature of petty theft than armed robbery.

Felony charges were dropped Monday against Douglas Rice, 26, of Sebastopol, and Robert John Marlowe, 31, of San Francisco, who allegedly knocked down a service station attendant and took an adding machine on Jan. 24.

The pair will be charged with petty theft, according to Deputy District Attorney Ernest Zunino.

Sausalitan Bound Over On Car Theft

A 20-year-old Sausailto man was bound over to Marin Superior Court Monday on his third charge of car theft within a year.

Held to answer for stealing a car in San Rafael on Jan. 2 was Hans Von Atzigen of 317 First Street. Von Atzigen was recently released from jail after serving a six-month stentence for stealing two cars.

Approve Contract

Almonte Sanitary District directors have authorized the Penetryn Vo. of Menlo Park to inspect district sewer lines by television and leaks at an estimated cost of $625 to $855, board member David J. Beasley reported yesterday.

Garden Trash Proposed For Land Restoring

The Marin Conservation League has suggested that garden trash, which will come under a burning ban at the end of the year, be used to build land or houses.

The league, in a letter to county supervisors and mayors of Marin cities, proposed that chopped, stacked and treated garden cuttings could be a "great source of compost available to the county for recreation of our lands."

Not only could the cuttings be used for compost but they might be pressed into building panels which the league describes as "light, insulative and acoustical," or into hardboard panels. Use of cuttings to make hardboard panels would reduce the pressure to cut down trees, the league suggests.

Another possible compost use would be to burn cuttings to generate electricity, suggests the letter signed by league president Harold E. Gregg of Forest Knolls.

The league agreed with the aim of the Bay Area Air Pollution Control District in imposing the ban to cut smog, the letter says, but believes that some "coordinated" plan is necessary to dispose of wastes previously burned, noting the "extensive gardens" in Marin.

Hiring Promise For At Least 125 Positions

Business representatives told a meeting of welfare mothers and unemployed persons in San Rafael Monday night that they would hire a substantial number of persons out of a proposed skills center in Marin County.

Earl O'Grady, representing the Pacific Telephone Co., said the utility would create up to 125 positions for the hard core unemployed in Marin this year, according to David Rollison, a community worker for the Marin County Economic Opportunity Council, which arranged the meeting in the county courthouse.

Representatives of the Pacific Gas and Electric Co. and McGraw-Hill Book Co. also said their companies would do a "fair share" of hiring from the skills center.

Thomas Henderson of URS Systems Inc. of Palo Alto, management consultants, told the meeting his firm would help EOC set up the center.

Felony Charges To Be Reduced

The district attorney's office has decided that the theft of an adding machine from a San Rafael service station by two men—whom blood tests showed to be extremely intoxicated—was more in the nature of petty theft than armed robbery.

Felony charges were dropped Monday against Douglas Rice, 26, of Sebastopol, and Robert John Marlowe, 31, of San Francisco, who allegedly knocked down a service station attendant and took an adding machine on Jan. 24.

The pair will be charged with petty theft, according to Deputy District Attorney Ernest Zunino.

Sausalitan Bound Over On Car Theft

A 20-year-old Sausailto man was bound over to Marin Superior Court Monday on his third charge of car theft within a year.

Held to answer for stealing a car in San Rafael on Jan. 2 was Hans Von Atzigen of 317 First Street. Von Atzigen was recently released from jail after serving a six-month stentence for stealing two cars.

Approve Contract

Almonte Sanitary District directors have authorized the Penetryn Vo. of Menlo Park to inspect district sewer lines by television and leaks at an estimated cost of $625 to $855, board member David J. Beasley reported yesterday.

LEVI ESHKOL
Fatal heart attack

Levi Eshkol, Israeli Chief, Dies At 73

JERUSALEM (AP) — Premier Levi Eshkol, the second man to head Israel's government during the Jewish state's turbulent 21-year life, died today of a heart attack, the government announced. He was 73.

Deputy Premier Yigal Allon is expected to take over the government, possibly remaining at the helm until general elections in November.

But Eshkol's death raised the prospect of intense political rivalry between Allon and Defense Minister Moshe Dayan at a time of grave crisis for Israel, with Arab guerrilla attacks increasing and with such nominal Israeli allies as the United States openly opposed to Israel's policy of retaliation.

Eshkol succeeded David Ben-Gurion as premier in 1963 and headed the government during Israel's lightning victory over the Arab sin the June 1967 war.

He had been ill with pneumonia several times in recent months. On Feb. 3, he collapsed with a heart attack after a crisis shook his cabinet. But his doctor, Prof. Moshe Rachmilewitz, said the premier had recovered completely from the first attack and "yesterday acted as chairman of a ministerial committee."

Rachmilewitz said the second attack occurred about an hour before Eshkol died at his home in Jerusalem at 8:15 a.m. His wife was at his bedside. Four daughters also survive him.

In Damascus, the Al Fatah guerrilla organization claimed Eshkol was fatally injured when Al Fatah commandos made a rocket attack on his country home Monday night.

"This is the most ridiculous and childish announcement that the primitive Fatah propaganda's wild imagination has ever fabricated," said Israeli Foreign Ministry spokesman David Rivlin.

Flash Fire Kills Nine In New York

NEW YORK (AP) — A flash fire raced through a midtown Fifth Avenue office building, late yesterday, killing nine persons and leaving seven others critically burned.

Most of the victims were trapped on the third floor of the five-story building at 48th Street, near Rockefeller Center. Some were jammed in an elevator disabled by the flames and others were piled against a door.

"They were huddled together but you couldn't really see them," said Fireman William Moore. "You could see a hand here and a head there and you grabbed what you could."

Dozens of others scrambled to safety. They ran down smoke-filled stairwells or clambered down aerial ladders while firemen barked orders to prevent panic. Some were carried out by police.

The blaze broke out shortly after 4:30 p.m., apparently in the third-floor offices of architectural designer David Rosen.

Cause was undetermined but Chief John T. O'Hagen said two gallon cans of a flammable liquid were found on the third floor "and we have to assume they contributed to it."

State Garbage Dump Fiscal Aid Proposed

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — A bill appropriating $25 million to the state Department of Public Health to lend to public agencies for garbage and refuse facilities has been introduced by a Los Angeles legislator.

The bill by Sen. Ralph C. Dills, D-Gardena, would earmark the funds for purchasing land and building disposal facilities.

Among the beneficiaries of the bill would be Bay Area cities, counties and special districts, which face a ban on all backyard burning after Dec. 31 of this year. The ban is expected to increase the use of existing dumps, and require development of new ones.

137 Strep Cases Reported Last Week

There were 137 cases of streptococcus infections reported to the Marin County Health Department last week.

Also reported were 32 cases of gonorrhea, seven of infectious hepatitis, two of tuberculosis and one each of meningitis and measles.

Water Rec Bill Revived By McCarthy

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — Legislation to require that recreational uses be considered in state flood control or water conservation programs has been introduced for a second year by Sen. John F. McCarthy, R-San Rafael.

His bill also would authorize the state to help finance recreation facilities in federal projects, and to allocate money to local governments to buy land for recreation. The local governments would develop and operate the recreation facilities under contracts with the Department of Water Resources.

McCarthy won unanimous passage of the same bill in the 1968 session of the Legislature, but the state finance and water resources departments convinced Ronald Reagan to veto it. They said the bill could open the door to new uses of hard-pressed state funds.

Terming their opposition "shortsighted," McCarthy said "the time to build in the conservation and recreation facilities is when the project is being built. To go back and do them later would be much more expensive — so much more, in fact, that there would be a good chance they never would be built, and our number of recreational and conservation facilities would continue to dwindle in relation to our population,' McCarthy said yesterday when he indroduced his bill.

"The average taxpayer, who ultimately foots all the bills, is more interested in reducing the overall cost than he is in avoiding a small increase in a departmental budget which might make such a reduction possible," said McCarthy.

"A bureaucrat in charge of a budget, however, has trouble seeing past the end of his balance sheet," he said.

Year's Probation On Marijuana Count

Patrick E. Pendleton, 20, of San Anselmo, who had admitted selling marijuana in Sausalito last January, was placed on one year's probation Monday and given a 30-day suspended sentence in Marin County Jail.

He was arrested during last February's countywide narcotics roundup.

College Fees Hike Decried

SACRAMENTO — Assemblyman William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael, said yesterdey he opposes proposed increases in fees for students at the University of California and other colleges, but will "reluctantly support" them if no other source of money for new facilities is found.

The increases have been proposed in a bill by Assembly Speaker Robert T. Monagan, R-Tracy, and would range from $24 to $798. They would apply only to students who come from families with more than $10,000 a year gross income, and the mean increase would run about $150 a year, Monagan estimated when he introduced his bill earlier this month.

It would apply to about 70 per cent of the students now attending the university and 60 per cent at the state colleges, he figured.

Bagley termed the proposal "a step backward from the 'free higher education system' we've had in California."

Monagan's proposal is "more fair" than a fee hike affecting all students would be, Bagley said, but he noted that "the middle class these days is taking a beating."

Bagley, chairman of the revenue and taxation committee, to which the Monagan proposal may be referred, said he preferred to finance the need for new educational facilities by a withholding tax, which would produce a "one-time gain" of $400 million to $500 million in the first year because the state would be collecting for two years at one time.

LEVI ESHKOL
Fatal heart attack

Levi Eshkol, Israeli Chief, Dies At 73

JERUSALEM (AP) — Premier Levi Eshkol, the second man to head Israel's government during the Jewish state's turbulent 21-year life, died today of a heart attack, the government announced. He was 73.

Deputy Premier Yigal Allon is expected to take over the government, possibly remaining at the helm until general elections in November.

But Eshkol's death raised the prospect of intense political rivalry between Allon and Defense Minister Moshe Dayan at a time of grave crisis for Israel, with Arab guerrilla attacks increasing and with such nominal Israeli allies as the United States openly opposed to Israel's policy of retaliation.

Eshkol succeeded David Ben-Gurion as premier in 1963 and headed the government during Israel's lightning victory over the Arab sin the June 1967 war.

He had been ill with pneumonia several times in recent months. On Feb. 3, he collapsed with a heart attack after a crisis shook his cabinet. But his doctor, Prof. Moshe Rachmilewitz, said the premier had recovered completely from the first attack and "yesterday acted as chairman of a ministerial committee."

Rachmilewitz said the second attack occurred about an hour before Eshkol died at his home in Jerusalem at 8:15 a.m. His wife was at his bedside. Four daughters also survive him.

In Damascus, the Al Fatah guerrilla organization claimed Eshkol was fatally injured when Al Fatah commandos made a rocket attack on his country home Monday night.

"This is the most ridiculous and childish announcement that the primitive Fatah propaganda's wild imagination has ever fabricated," said Israeli Foreign Ministry spokesman David Rivlin.

Flash Fire Kills Nine In New York

NEW YORK (AP) — A flash fire raced through a midtown Fifth Avenue office building, late yesterday, killing nine persons and leaving seven others critically burned.

Most of the victims were trapped on the third floor of the five-story building at 48th Street, near Rockefeller Center. Some were jammed in an elevator disabled by the flames and others were piled against a door.

"They were huddled together but you couldn't really see them," said Fireman William Moore. "You could see a hand here and a head there and you grabbed what you could."

Dozens of others scrambled to safety. They ran down smoke-filled stairwells or clambered down aerial ladders while firemen barked orders to prevent panic. Some were carried out by police.

The blaze broke out shortly after 4:30 p.m., apparently in the third-floor offices of architectural designer David Rosen.

Cause was undetermined but Chief John T. O'Hagen said two gallon cans of a flammable liquid were found on the third floor "and we have to assume they contributed to it."

State Garbage Dump Fiscal Aid Proposed

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — A bill appropriating $25 million to the state Department of Public Health to lend to public agencies for garbage and refuse facilities has been introduced by a Los Angeles legislator.

The bill by Sen. Ralph C. Dills, D-Gardena, would earmark the funds for purchasing land and building disposal facilities.

Among the beneficiaries of the bill would be Bay Area cities, counties and special districts, which face a ban on all backyard burning after Dec. 31 of this year. The ban is expected to increase the use of existing dumps, and require development of new ones.

137 Strep Cases Reported Last Week

There were 137 cases of streptococcus infections reported to the Marin County Health Department last week.

Also reported were 32 cases of gonorrhea, seven of infectious hepatitis, two of tuberculosis and one each of meningitis and measles.

Water Rec Bill Revived By McCarthy

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — Legislation to require that recreational uses be considered in state flood control or water conservation programs has been introduced for a second year by Sen. John F. McCarthy, R-San Rafael.

His bill also would authorize the state to help finance recreation facilities in federal projects, and to allocate money to local governments to buy land for recreation. The local governments would develop and operate the recreation facilities under contracts with the Department of Water Resources.

McCarthy won unanimous passage of the same bill in the 1968 session of the Legislature, but the state finance and water resources departments convinced Ronald Reagan to veto it. They said the bill could open the door to new uses of hard-pressed state funds.

Terming their opposition "shortsighted," McCarthy said "the time to build in the conservation and recreation facilities is when the project is being built. To go back and do them later would be much more expensive — so much more, in fact, that there would be a good chance they never would be built, and our number of recreational and conservation facilities would continue to dwindle in relation to our population,' McCarthy said yesterday when he indroduced his bill.

"The average taxpayer, who ultimately foots all the bills, is more interested in reducing the overall cost than he is in avoiding a small increase in a departmental budget which might make such a reduction possible," said McCarthy.

"A bureaucrat in charge of a budget, however, has trouble seeing past the end of his balance sheet," he said.

Home-Rule Spending Bill Clears A Hurdle

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — Legislation to permit counties and cities to use money allocated from the state general fund for local purposes at their own discretion yesterday cleared its first hurdle with unanimous approval by the Assembly Revenue and Taxation Committee.

The legislation, affecting some $233 million a year, would implement Proposition 7, which passed on the November general election ballot. The proposition dropped the requirement in the state constitution that certain funds allocated to cities and counties be used only for "state purposes."

The three bills implementing the proposition originally were authored by former Assemblyman John G. Veneman, R-Modesto, who has joined the Nixon administration, and now are sponsored by Assemblyman William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael.

Bagley, stepping down temporarily as chairman of the committee, said the bills were consistent with the home-rule concept that local government should be responsible for its own affairs.

The $233 million comes from cigarette taxes and motor vehicle and trailer coach fees that actually are in lieu of local property taxes, Bagley explained.

One example of the change the bills would permit affects these motor vehicle license fees. Under the present restriction that they be spent only on "state purposes," they can be spent only on major roads or streets. Under the bill, they could be spent as the local government wants.

The committee accepted a proposal by the state Department of Finance that the bills carry a letter stating the Legislature does not intend to add to the funds if counties and cities fail to use the funds to meet state standards on such matters as roads.

Highway 17 Slated For Resurfacing Job

The 2.3 mile section of Highway 17 between the Richmond-San Rafael Bridge and Highway 101 in San Rafael will be resurfaced, the state Division of Highways has reported.

The division has called for bids on the project, to resurface east and westbound lanes and revise signing and lighting as required, to be opened March 26 in Sacramento. A total of $260,000 is available for the project.

Quorum Lacking

The Tiburon Board of Adjustments did not meet last night for lack of a quorum. The meeting has been rescheduled for 8 p.m. today in city hall.

McCarthy Bill Could Bring Dog Races To Civic Center

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — Dog racing might come some day to the Marin County Civic Center fairgrounds, under a bill introduced yesterday by Sen. John F. McCarthy, R-San Rafael.

"There is a tremendous amount of interest in dog racing," he told the Independent-Journal, "not only for the sport, but also because of money the betting would raise for the state."

He estimated the state's annual take from dog racing would be from $15 million to $25 million.

The racing would be permitted at fairgrounds such as the future one at the Civic Center, the California Exposition and at private race tracks.

McCarthy introduced the same bill last year, but it was defeated.

"It's a clean sport," he said of dog racing and betting, "and even could help reduce property taxes."

McCarthy also introduced a bill to increase the pay of the secretary of the California Horse Racing Board from $14,000 to $18,000 a year.

Head-On Crash Injures Drivers

Two drivers were injured in a head-on collision today at 1:41 a.m. on Highway 101 at the Petaluma River overpass, south of Petaluma.

Veronica Preston, 31, of 1276 Berrydale Drive, Petaluma, was reported in satisfactory condition at Hillcrest Hospital with cuts and bruises. Raymond R. Brown, 44, of San Lorenzo, was treated for minor cuts.

The California Highway Patrol said the southbound car driven by Brown crossed into the northbound lane and struck the car driven by Mrs. Preston.

Bagley Tries Again On Ban Of 'Incest'

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — Assemblyman William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael, yesterday introduced legislation to eliminate what he termed "political incest" in local government.

His bill would require that an appointee to any governing body be ineligible to use the term "incumbent" or any comparable designation on the ballot or the ballot position assigned to an incumbent.

A similar bill by Bagely was vetoed without explanation last year by Gov. Ronald Reagan. Small districts, particularly irrigation districts, were known to have lobbyied for its veto. They claimed that they had difficulty getting persons to join their governing boards, and that Bagley's bill would make it harder.

Bagley's new bill would apply the restriction to any appointee joining a board at any time. The only exceptions would be appointees filling seats vacated by death or disability.

Last year, his bill would have applied only to persons appointed within six months of an election.

"It is a much too prevalent practice for members of special districts, including school districts, who do not intend to run for reelection, to resign prior to the end of their term," said Bagley.

"This 'instant incumbency' is oft-times motivated by political considerations," he declared, so the appointee often is a "friend who won't rock the boat."

The practice "subverts the election process," said Bagley, and "has produced an incestual self-perpetuation among many special district boards."

11 Students Get Life Memberships

Eleven San Rafael High School seniors have been awarded life membership in the California Scholarship Federation for their high grades during their high school years.

They are Karen Armington, Terry Castle, Jennifer Davis, Jeff Godwin, Deborah Hoyt, Maggie Joost, Richard Kadel, Johathan Marlowe, Carol Patterson, Deborah Roberts and Linda Soares.

Home-Rule Spending Bill Clears A Hurdle

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — Legislation to permit counties and cities to use money allocated from the state general fund for local purposes at their own discretion yesterday cleared its first hurdle with unanimous approval by the Assembly Revenue and Taxation Committee.

The legislation, affecting some $233 million a year, would implement Proposition 7, which passed on the November general election ballot. The proposition dropped the requirement in the state constitution that certain funds allocated to cities and counties be used only for "state purposes."

The three bills implementing the proposition originally were authored by former Assemblyman John G. Veneman, R-Modesto, who has joined the Nixon administration, and now are sponsored by Assemblyman William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael.

Bagley, stepping down temporarily as chairman of the committee, said the bills were consistent with the home-rule concept that local government should be responsible for its own affairs.

The $233 million comes from cigarette taxes and motor vehicle and trailer coach fees that actually are in lieu of local property taxes, Bagley explained.

One example of the change the bills would permit affects these motor vehicle license fees. Under the present restriction that they be spent only on "state purposes," they can be spent only on major roads or streets. Under the bill, they could be spent as the local government wants.

The committee accepted a proposal by the state Department of Finance that the bills carry a letter stating the Legislature does not intend to add to the funds if counties and cities fail to use the funds to meet state standards on such matters as roads.

Highway 17 Slated For Resurfacing Job

The 2.3 mile section of Highway 17 between the Richmond-San Rafael Bridge and Highway 101 in San Rafael will be resurfaced, the state Division of Highways has reported.

The division has called for bids on the project, to resurface east and westbound lanes and revise signing and lighting as required, to be opened March 26 in Sacramento. A total of $260,000 is available for the project.

Quorum Lacking

The Tiburon Board of Adjustments did not meet last night for lack of a quorum. The meeting has been rescheduled for 8 p.m. today in city hall.

McCarthy Bill Could Bring Dog Races To Civic Center

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — Dog racing might come some day to the Marin County Civic Center fairgrounds, under a bill introduced yesterday by Sen. John F. McCarthy, R-San Rafael.

"There is a tremendous amount of interest in dog racing," he told the Independent-Journal, "not only for the sport, but also because of money the betting would raise for the state."

He estimated the state's annual take from dog racing would be from $15 million to $25 million.

The racing would be permitted at fairgrounds such as the future one at the Civic Center, the California Exposition and at private race tracks.

McCarthy introduced the same bill last year, but it was defeated.

"It's a clean sport," he said of dog racing and betting, "and even could help reduce property taxes."

McCarthy also introduced a bill to increase the pay of the secretary of the California Horse Racing Board from $14,000 to $18,000 a year.

Head-On Crash Injures Drivers

Two drivers were injured in a head-on collision today at 1:41 a.m. on Highway 101 at the Petaluma River overpass, south of Petaluma.

Veronica Preston, 31, of 1276 Berrydale Drive, Petaluma, was reported in satisfactory condition at Hillcrest Hospital with cuts and bruises. Raymond R. Brown, 44, of San Lorenzo, was treated for minor cuts.

The California Highway Patrol said the southbound car driven by Brown crossed into the northbound lane and struck the car driven by Mrs. Preston.

Bagley Tries Again On Ban Of 'Incest'

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — Assemblyman William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael, yesterday introduced legislation to eliminate what he termed "political incest" in local government.

His bill would require that an appointee to any governing body be ineligible to use the term "incumbent" or any comparable designation on the ballot or the ballot position assigned to an incumbent.

A similar bill by Bagely was vetoed without explanation last year by Gov. Ronald Reagan. Small districts, particularly irrigation districts, were known to have lobbyied for its veto. They claimed that they had difficulty getting persons to join their governing boards, and that Bagley's bill would make it harder.

Bagley's new bill would apply the restriction to any appointee joining a board at any time. The only exceptions would be appointees filling seats vacated by death or disability.

Last year, his bill would have applied only to persons appointed within six months of an election.

"It is a much too prevalent practice for members of special districts, including school districts, who do not intend to run for reelection, to resign prior to the end of their term," said Bagley.

"This 'instant incumbency' is oft-times motivated by political considerations," he declared, so the appointee often is a "friend who won't rock the boat."

The practice "subverts the election process," said Bagley, and "has produced an incestual self-perpetuation among many special district boards."

11 Students Get Life Memberships

Eleven San Rafael High School seniors have been awarded life membership in the California Scholarship Federation for their high grades during their high school years.

They are Karen Armington, Terry Castle, Jennifer Davis, Jeff Godwin, Deborah Hoyt, Maggie Joost, Richard Kadel, Johathan Marlowe, Carol Patterson, Deborah Roberts and Linda Soares.

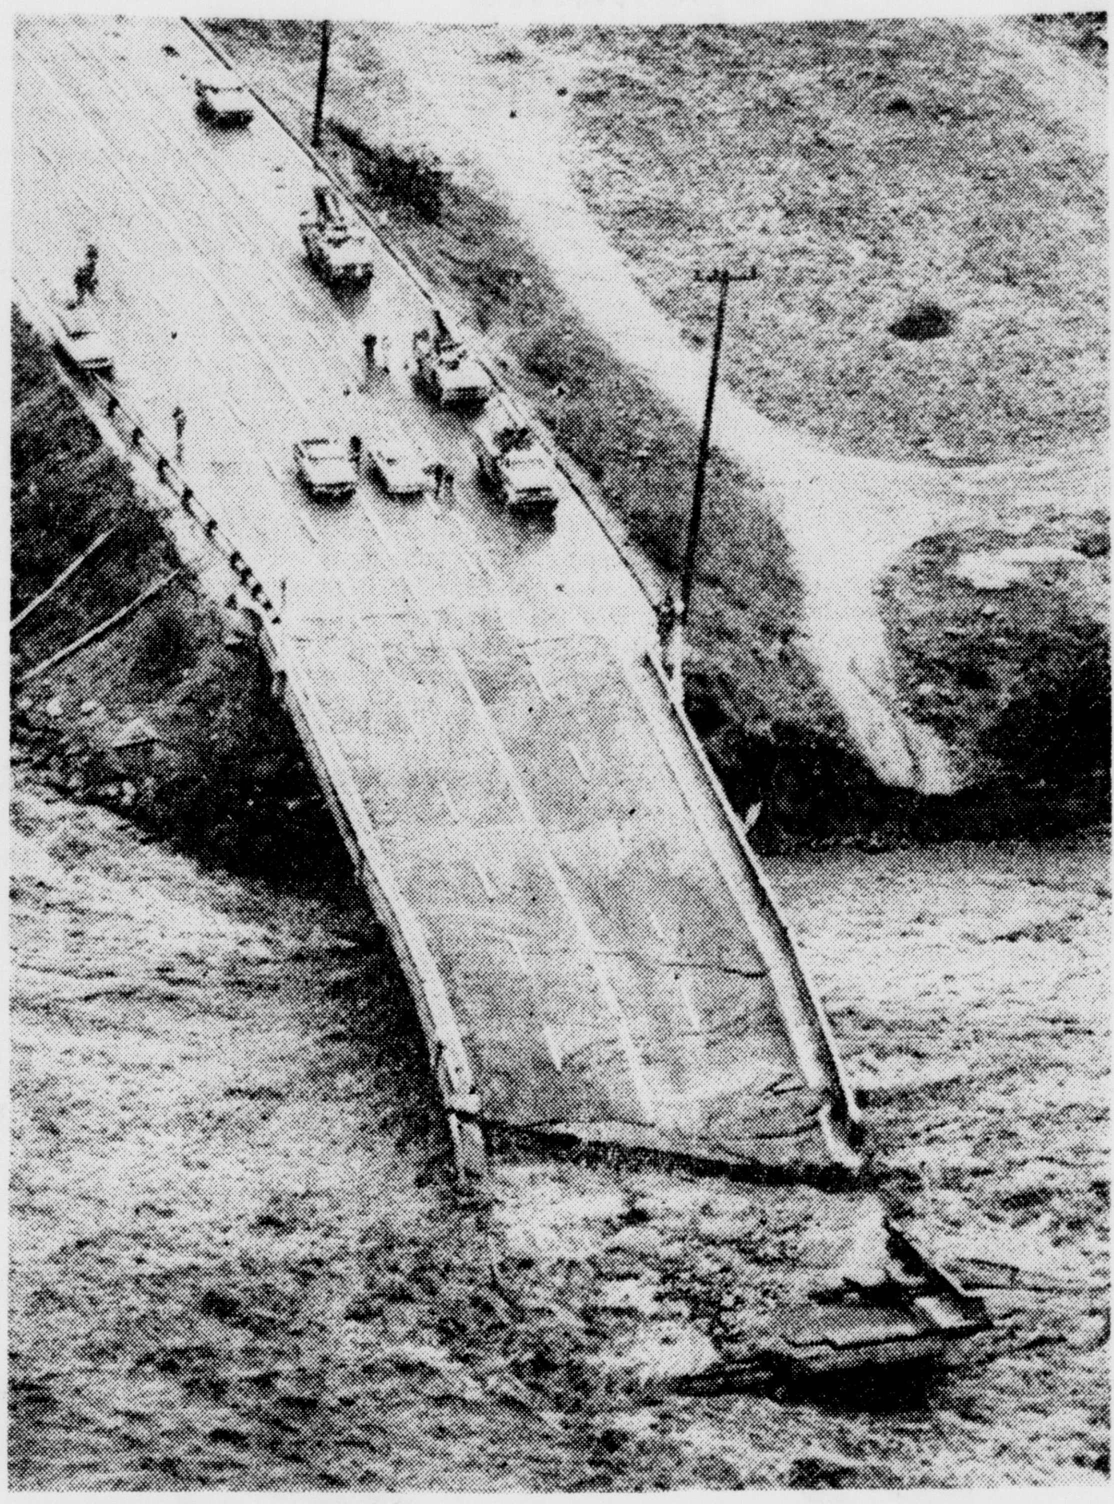
FRESNO FLOODED—Overflow from broken canal banks swirls through northern downtown Fresno, chief city of the San Joaquin Valley. Fresno State College, all public and parochial schools and many business establishments closed their doors yesterday because of flooding. Other valley towns, principally Madera, and Salinas to the west, also had residents fleeing high water.



BRIDGE OUT — Rampaging floodwaters in Tujunga Wash have torn away midstream foundations of the Wentworth Street bridge, blocking the thoroughfare. The normally dry drainage channel has trapped cars, swept away houses and drowned at least one person yesterday.

persons huddled inside. Seventeen were buried alive.

"I heard the roar of the mudslide coming and then the explosion as the butane tanks went," said Teresa Wilkins, 58, who was atop a fire truck pushed outside by the wall of mud and debris. "It was awful."

The dead were neighbors in the isolated Silverado Canyon 45 miles southeast of Los Angeles. They were among hundreds whose homes were damaged or destroyed by mudslides and flooding rivers after the wettest January and February on record.

Near San Bernardino, an engineer was drowned when carried away by a wash as he tried to help a stalled car.

Two pilots in an AL3 Skyraider plane from Lemoore Naval Air Station near Fresno escaped serious injury when their plane crashed in stormy weather in the Mount Whitney area. The plane was searching for a TA4F missing near Sequoia National Park since Monday.

Marilyn Skates, 26, lived on the edge of the Tujunga Wash. She watched the homes of six neighbors tumble into the raging, 300-foot wide torrent fed by record winter rains.

Her $16,000 home teetered on the brink of the hillside, the water clawing at the sodden earth beneath the foundation.

"Why doesn't it fall into the water like the rest?" she asked. "Go. Go. Go. Fall over," she shouted. "How can a house just stand there like that?"
It went yesterday.

A hillside at Mount Baldy village, east of Los Angeles, gave way yesterday morning and crushed a two-story house. Trapped and killed inside were Denise Stewart, 16; her sister, Ann, 12, and a brother, David, 6.

Their 50-year-old father, Donald James Stewart, dropped dead outside the home of a heart attack.

Gov. Ronald Reagan ordered National Guardsmen to active duty in San Bernardino County to aid in evacuating 300 persons hit by floods and to guard against looting. Armories were opened to house refugees.

Two crocodiles and two hippopotimi broke loose Tuesday from the Africa, U.S.A. wild animal compound in Acton, northeast of Los Angeles. They were last seen making their way down the flood-swollen Santa Clara River.

A spokesman for the compound said the four beasts were considered "extremely dangerous" and that big game hunters would attempt to destroy them from helicopters when the weather breaks.

Farther downstream, the Santa Clara river ripped through its banks and virtually wiped out the Ventura Marina.

Harbor officials estimated that at least 200 small craft including several luxury yachts were sunk. Damage to private property was estimated at $2 million and the loss to boat owners at another $2 million.

The soggy earth, loosened by 23 days of rain since Jan. 23, shifted in many areas, cracking open water and sewer pipes. In Sunland, a 21-inch sewer main broke and disgorged thousands of gallons of waste along a surface street.

Residents of Saugus and the Antelope Valley were advised to boil water before cooking or drinking because of defective fresh water lines.

To the north, hundreds of families were evacuated in the San Joaquin Valley due to flooding. At Salinas officials asked for Army help due to the flood threat.

Even Death Valley, normally arid, reported nearly an inch of rain with all exit roads washed out or covered with debris from cloudbursts.

In neighboring Nevada, many desert areas were blanketed in snow. About 100 travelers were reported snowbound in the old desert mining town of Goldfield. Reno's airport has been closed since Monday.

California's Sierra Nevada was coated with the heaviest snow since 1952 and major routes were closed. A 187 inch snow pack was reported at Soda Springs and authorities warned of avalanche danger, predicting floods from runoff next spring.

At Mammoth Lakes in the Sierra Nevada a lodge operator reported food was running low and danger from fires because equipment was stranded.

While skies cleared over many of the hard-hit areas of Southern California today and fair weather was predicted for tomorrow, the Weather Bureau said there was a good chance of showers again Friday and Saturday.

Southern Pacific crews worked today to restore passenger train service between Northern and Southern California — curtailed for two days from storm damage to tracks. Only S.P. line open out of Los Angeles was to San Diego.

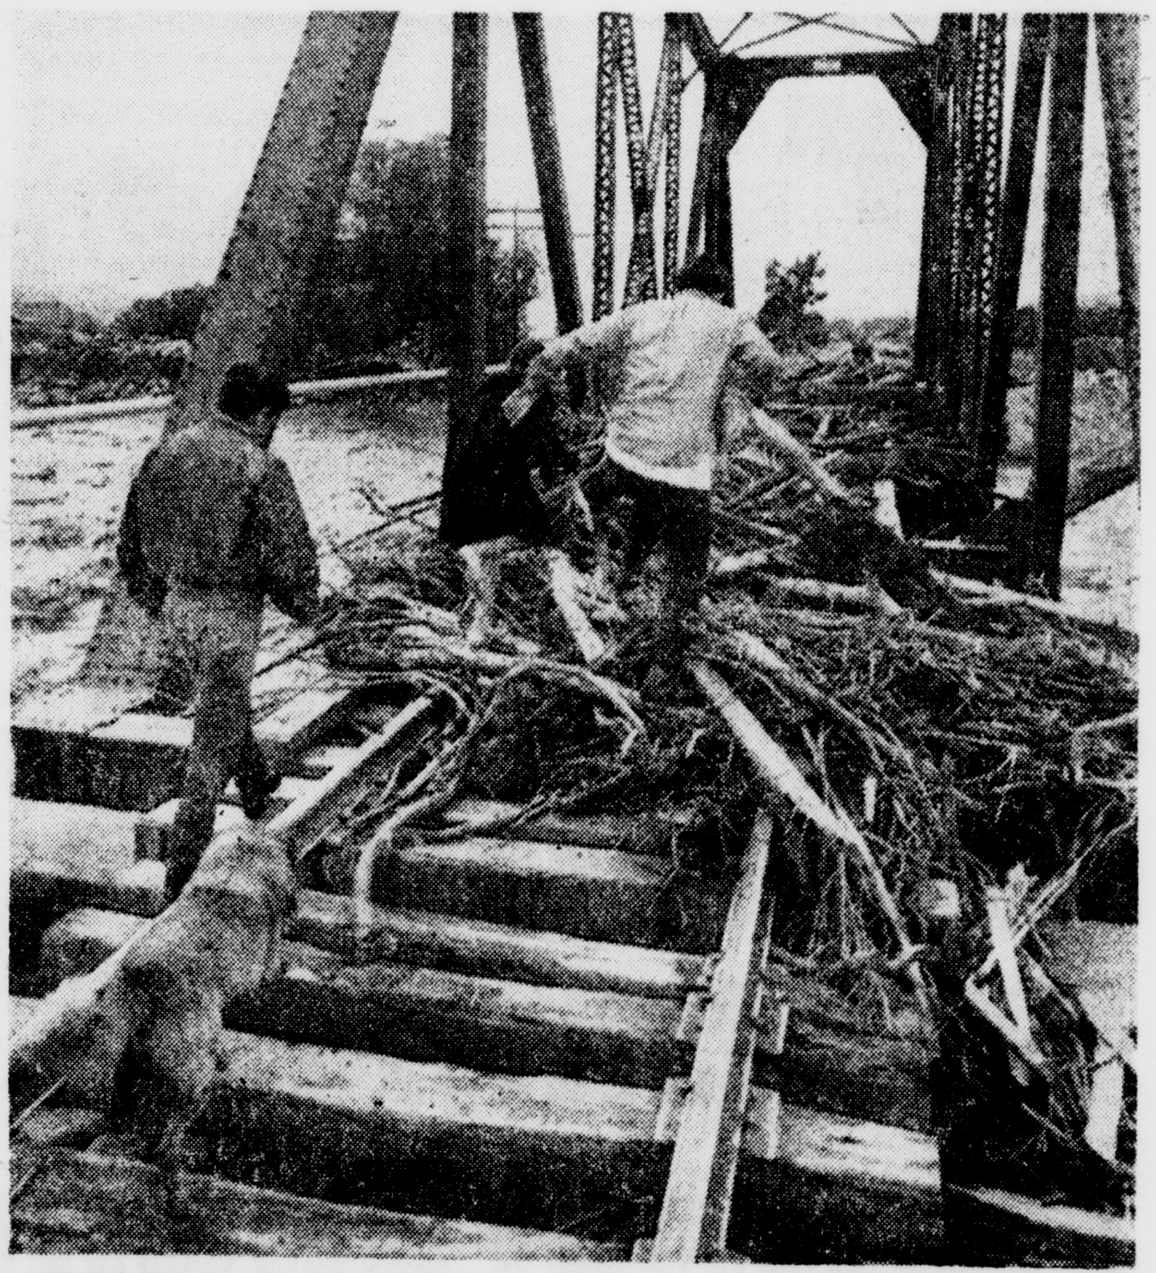
Workmen spent Monday and yesterday clearing mud slides on the coast route near Bradley.

Other crews repaired washouts near Saugus where damage and high water caused the inland Oakland-Los Angeles train to halt yesterday at Fresno.

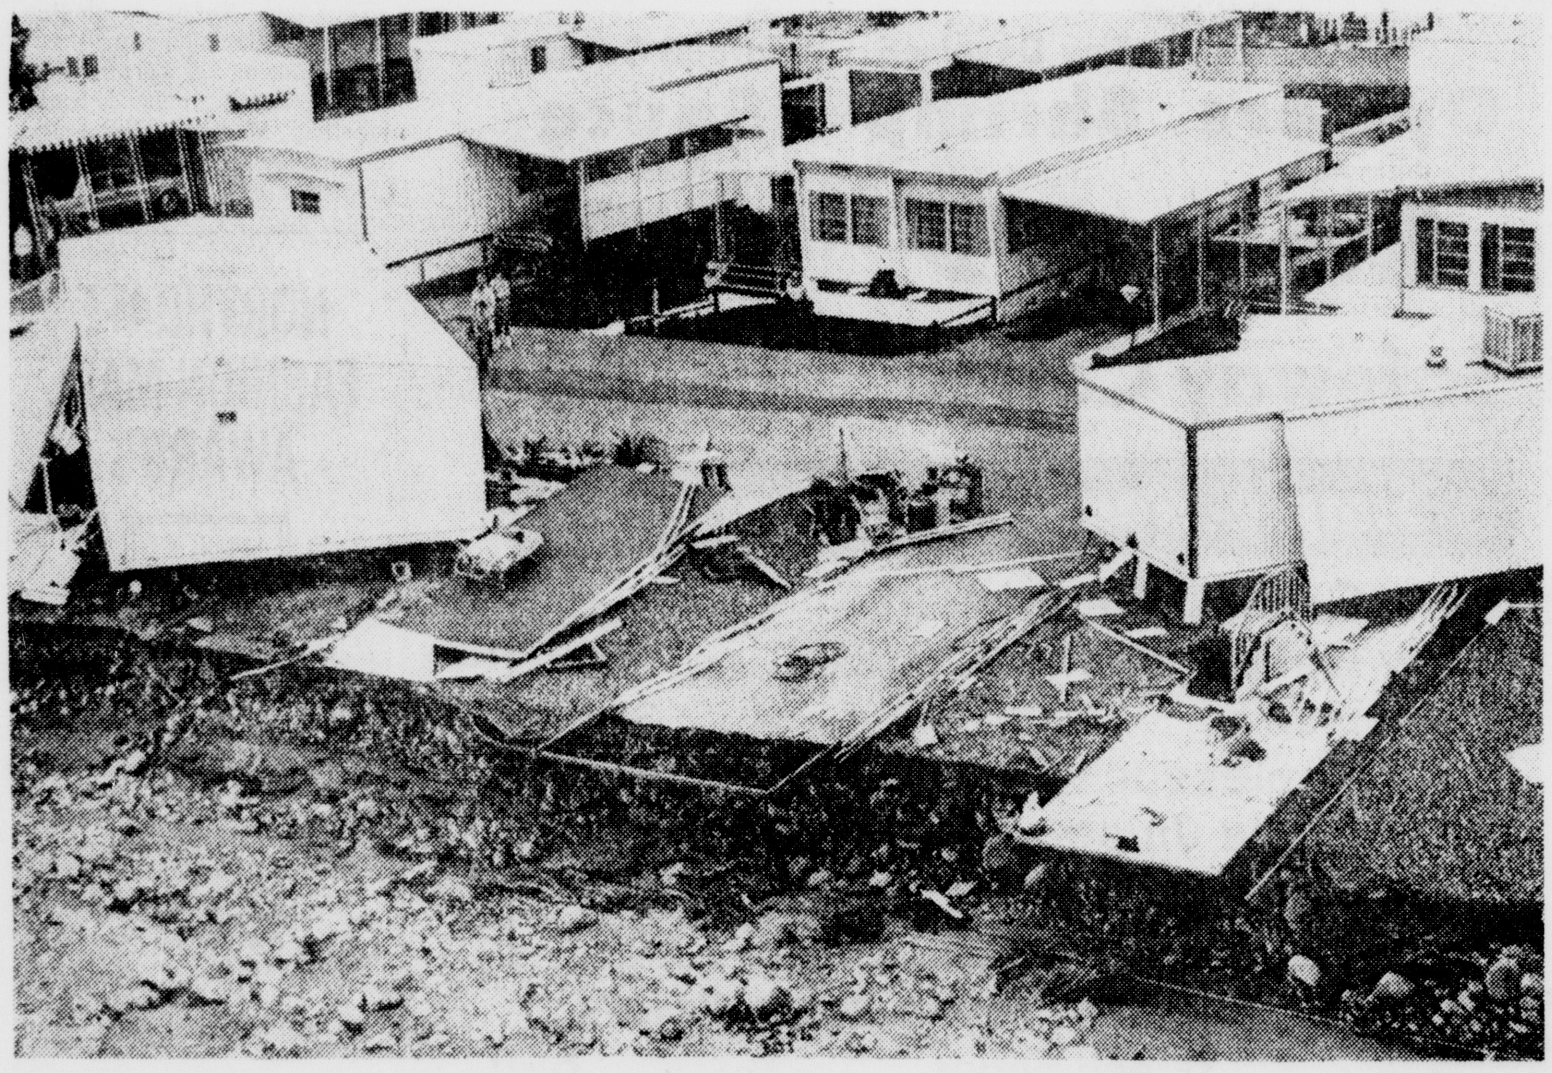
Passengers were bused from Fresno to Los Angeles.

At Barstow, 25 cars of a Santa Fe Railway freight train bound for Bakersfield were derailed last night after a fill under the tracks was weakened by the flooding Mojave River.

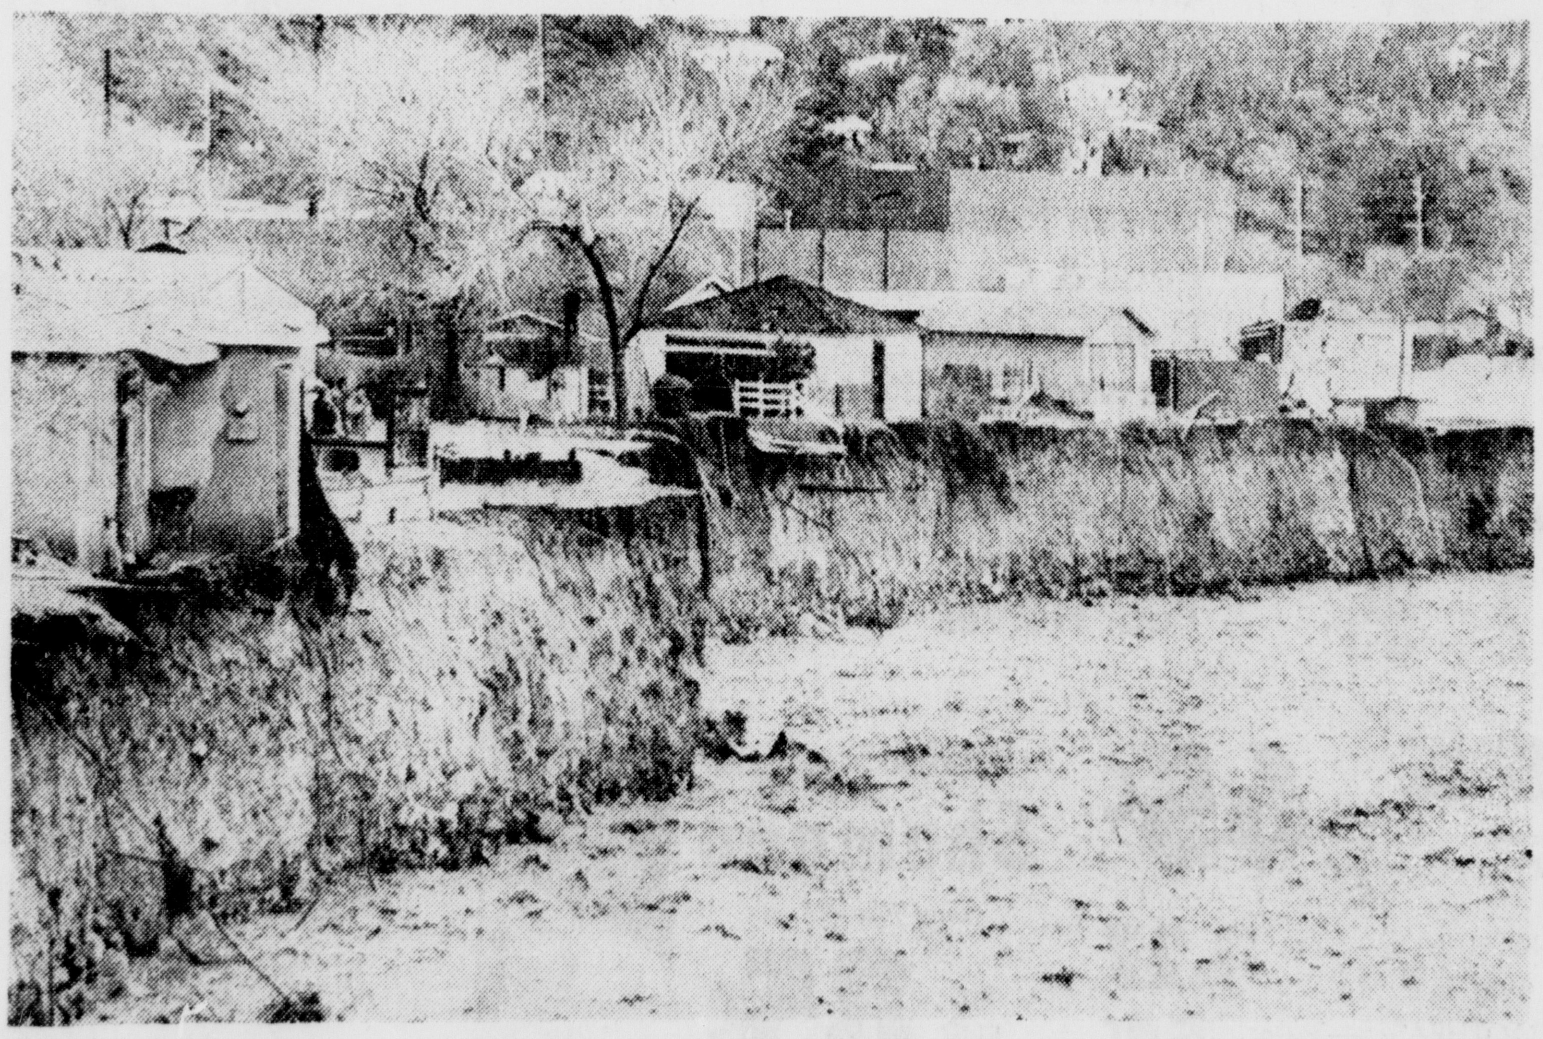
None of the six men on the train was reported injured.



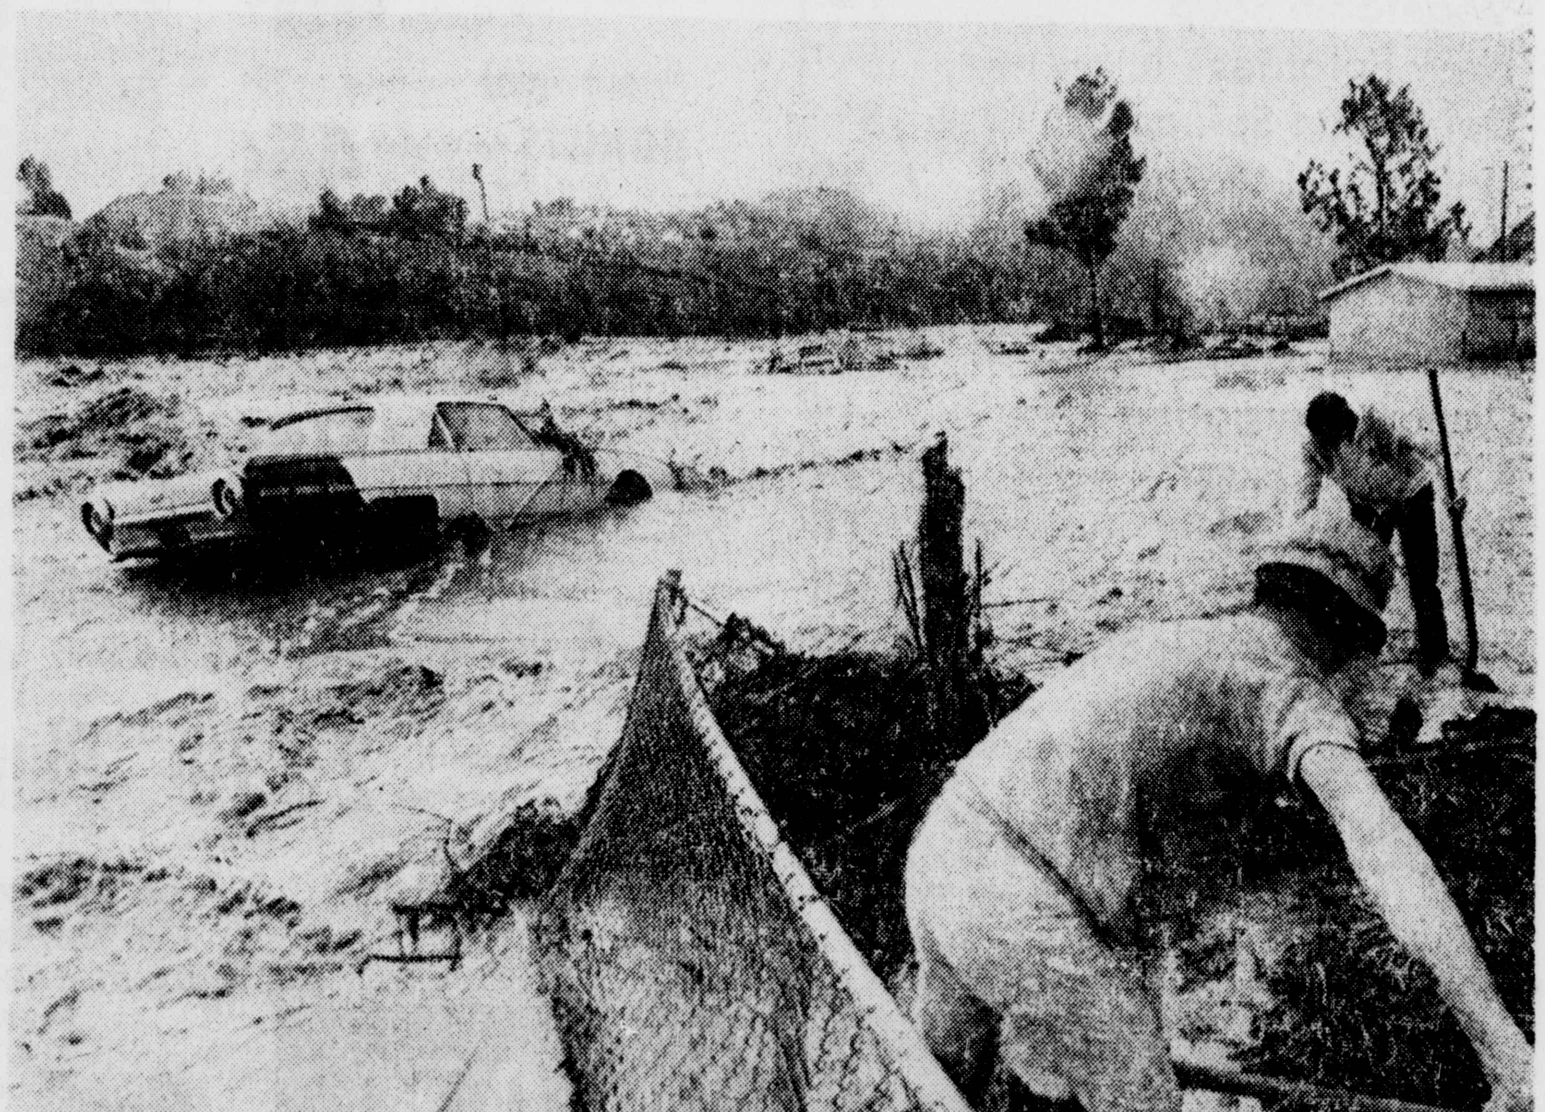
LITTERED PATH TO SAFETY — Residents of Santa Paula, Ventura County, pick their way across a bridge spanning raging Santa Paula Creek. High water earlier yesterday dropped debris onto the span, and forced nearly 4,000 residents to flee their homes.



FLOOD AFTERMATH — Trailer homes in Santa Paula, Ventura County, lie helter skelter along the banks of Santa Paula Creek. Raging waters sweeping through the east side of the town late Monday ripped them from their places and forced evacuation of nearly a third of the town's 18,000 residents.



HOMES DESTROYED — Powered by record rains, Tujunga Wash floodwaters gnaw into the hillsides of Sunland, Los Angeles County. Seven homes already have toppled into the current; these homes have been evacuated because officials fear they likewise will fall.



NEIGHBOR HELPS NEIGHBOR — Residents of Tujunga Wash outside Los Angeles struggle to build dikes holding back waters roaring down the normally dry channel. The neighborhood was menaced yesterday by mud slides from above and undercutting of house foundations by the torrent below. (AP Wirephotos and UPI Telephotos)

Call Leads Officers To Body Of Dentist

OAKLAND (AP) — Police, following directions from a teenage girl charged with armed robbery, have found the body of a slain dentist.

TERRY PHELPS
Tip by telephone

Police Sgts. Roy Anderson and Ray Gaul said yesterday they talked by telephone with Miss Terry Phelps, 19, of Jackson, Mich., then discovered the body of Dr. Glen Ivar Olsen, 54, of Oakland in Joaquin Miller Park in the Oakland hills.

Detectives said Olsen's car was found at the girl's apartment in Michigan.

Murder warrants were issued for Miss Phelps and a companion, Chester Johnson, 21, long sought in Michigan as a parole violator.

Anderson and Gaul left for Grand Rapids, Mich., to talk further with the girl, who had been arraigned on a charge of robbing a Muskegon Heights, Mich., grocery of $1,250.

Michigan officers recovered Olsen's car at the apartment where Miss Phelps was arrested, police said.

Olsen had been shot through the head from behind and also shot twice in the chest.

Dr. Olsen was last seen last Wednesday when he left home to visit his son, Steven, 23.

After he failed to arrive, police were notified and a nationwide, all-points bulletin was issued for his car.

That paid off yesterday with a telegram from Michigan state police, saying the car was in Muskegon and the Phelps woman was being held on the robbery charge.

The murder warrants were issued in Oakland following the long distance phone questioning.

The Olsen car was found parked in Muskegon, officers said.

After the grocery was held up, witnesses reported the California license number of a getaway car and it was found quickly, police said.

Brookside School Hit By Thief; $34 Taken

Thirty-four dollars in cash was stolen from Brookside School at 116 Butterfield Road, San Anselmo, Albert Ledditt, maintenance man, reported to police yesterday.

Ledditt said entry was made Monday night when someone pried a window open. Burglars emptied contents of desk drawers onto the floor and left the office in a mess, Ledditt reported.

Alcoholism Therapists' Pay Settled

Therapists who treat alcoholism at the Marin Institute in San Rafael will get $18 per therapy hour from April through June, the Marin County Board of Supervisors decided late yesterday.

The institute, located at 745 B Street, received $22,450 from the county for the first six months of this fiscal year. This straight payment will continue through next month, then switch to $18 per hour from April.

Daniel Myerson, director of the institute, and Municipal Judge Alvin H. Goldstein, a director, argued that the pay should be at least $20 per hour.

Dr. Clyde G. Miller, director of the Community Mental Health Center, recommended pay of $17.59 per hour. He was supported by Asst. County Administrator Thomas F. Campanella.

Supervisor Louis H. Baar moved for the $18 per hour. This was seconded by Supervisor William A. Gnoss and approved 4 to 1. The only dissenter was Supervisor Michael Wornum, who said that a change should not be made so close to the end of this fiscal year. "I'd just as soon continue as we are."

Chairman John F. McInnis acknowledged that the institute providing valuable community service by treating alcoholics, but said it should try to generate community contribution to help pay for the cost.

In Fair Condition

Rose Marie Noack, 36, of 35 Rodeo Avenue, Apt. 34, Sausalito, was reported in fair condition today at Marin General Hospital after being admitted at 2 a.m. for a possible overdose of pills.

Novato Council Slaps Planners' Sign Denial

The Novato City Council in its continuing tug-of-war with the city's planning commission last night by a 3-1 vote overrode the previous night's action of the commission and granted a sign to Schuman's Travel Center, vehicle dealership at 7123 Redwood Highway.

Councilman Douglas M. Merrill, who opposed listing items on the sign voted against it. Mayor Harley McAskill was absent.

The planning commission by a 4-3 vote Monday night denied the same sign.

Councilman J. Wayne Womack said he "took exception to the planning commission's viewing the sign as product advertising and felt that the listing of campers, trailers and motor homes was allowed by the sign ordinance.

Womack said that the council had to look at all sides of the question and not the least of which was the tax dollar which business brought into the city.

Councilman Joseph Gargiulo said he wanted to encourage business and thought that Novato ought to "loosen up" in its attitude toward business. He cited recent controversy over a Denny's restaurant sign as an example of restraint on business.

To which Womack added that the Denny's sign and the Schuman sign had brought "nit picking" between the commission and the council. He

The council then asked the commission to look over the ordinance to see if the section on product advertising needed clarification.

The council then amended the sign ordinance to define shopping centers and the in-window signs allowed in them.

The Novato City Council Also:

MASTER PLAN — Approved the master plan for Loyal Davis for 49 apartments on 4.5 acres east of Railroad Avenue south of Orange Avenue.

PARKETTE — Approved a request by the Novato Garden Club Inc. to name the Parkette on Highway 101 and Grant Avenue "Cavallero Corner" in honor of the late Fire Chief George Cavallero. City Mgr. Charles A. Brown is to work with the club designing a suitable plaque for the park.

FREEWAY — Approved a revision with the state Division of Highways on the De Long Avenue-Freeway offramp, whereby traffic using the De Long offramp will go north on Reichert Avenue and cross the Northwestern Pacific Railroad at Sweetser Avenue; the Grant Avenue crossing of the railroad will be closed and Grant Avenue become a dead end street on the east. All costs of the project, estimated at $29,000 will be paid by the state.

AUDIT — Approved contracting with Sleezer and Eckhoff, certified public accountants of San Rafael at $1,600 maximum for the 1968-69 audit. Soderblom and Co. which has done the audit in the past had asked for an increase from $1,600 to $2,600.

RECOMMENDATIONS — Recommended that the state Public Utilities Commission deny the application of National Executive Services Inc. for limousine service to Bay Area airports from Novato. The council recommended that the PUC grant an extension of the Eastshore Lines service for Novato. The company now serves West Novato area with a commute bus and wants to start others.

NUISANCE — Declared two abandoned and unused houses on the property of Victor Kreloff at 699 Tamalpais Avenue a nuisance and ordered them removed.

CODES — Approved a notice to the state that the city was enforcing the state building codes, as required by law every two years.

PATH — Asked the staff to estimate the cost of a path beside Novato Boulevard from Diablo Avenue west by the Catholic Church for pedestrians and bicycles.

SEASHORE — Passed a resolution reaffirming one passed by the previous council declaring that Novato is the gateway to the Point Reyes National Seashore via Highway 101, Highway 37 and Novato boulevard.

FUNDS — Authorized City Manager Brown to write a letter for the Mayor's signature, asking if Gov. Ronald Reagan could expedite funds for the Novato downtown study from the Department of Housing and Urban Development. Novato has an application approved by HUD for a $31,020 federally assisted downtown study.

BROWN — Accepted the Novato Federated Women's Club request to name March 6 as "you're a Good Man Charlie Brown" day in honor of the new city manager. The council, department heads and city manager will meet with the club at the Novato Moose Lodge that day at 11 a.m.

APPOINTMENTS — In the absence of Mayor McAskill, postponed making appointments to fill vacancies on the downtown study committee, the ambulance service study committee and the beautification committee.

Call Leads Officers To Body Of Dentist

TERRY PHELPS
Tip by telephone

OAKLAND (AP) — Police, following directions from a teenage girl charged with armed robbery, have found the body of a slain dentist.

Police Sgts. Roy Anderson and Ray Gaul said yesterday they talked by telephone with Miss Terry Phelps, 19, of Jackson, Mich., then discovered the body of Dr. Glen Ivar Olsen, 54, of Oakland in Joaquin Miller Park in the Oakland hills.

Detectives said Olsen's car was found at the girl's apartment in Michigan.

Murder warrants were issued for Miss Phelps and a companion, Chester Johnson, 21, long sought in Michigan as a parole violator.

Anderson and Gaul left for Grand Rapids, Mich., to talk further with the girl, who had been arraigned on a charge of robbing a Muskegon Heights, Mich., grocery of $1,250.

Michigan officers recovered Olsen's car at the apartment where Miss Phelps was arrested, police said.

Olsen had been shot through the head from behind and also shot twice in the chest.

Dr. Olsen was last seen last Wednesday when he left home to visit his son, Steven, 23.

After he failed to arrive, police were notified and a nationwide, all-points bulletin was issued for his car.

That paid off yesterday with a telegram from Michigan state police, saying the car was in Muskegon and the Phelps woman was being held on the robbery charge.

The murder warrants were issued in Oakland following the long distance phone questioning.

The Olsen car was found parked in Muskegon, officers said.

After the grocery was held up, witnesses reported the California license number of a getaway car and it was found quickly, police said.

Brookside School Hit By Thief; $34 Taken

Thirty-four dollars in cash was stolen from Brookside School at 116 Butterfield Road, San Anselmo, Albert Ledditt, maintenance man, reported to police yesterday.

Ledditt said entry was made Monday night when someone pried a window open. Burglars emptied contents of desk drawers onto the floor and left the office in a mess, Ledditt reported.

Alcoholism Therapists' Pay Settled

Therapists who treat alcoholism at the Marin Institute in San Rafael will get $18 per therapy hour from April through June, the Marin County Board of Supervisors decided late yesterday.

The institute, located at 745 B Street, received $22,450 from the county for the first six months of this fiscal year. This straight payment will continue through next month, then switch to $18 per hour from April.

Daniel Myerson, director of the institute, and Municipal Judge Alvin H. Goldstein, a director, argued that the pay should be at least $20 per hour.

Dr. Clyde G. Miller, director of the Community Mental Health Center, recommended pay of $17.59 per hour. He was supported by Asst. County Administrator Thomas F. Campanella.

Supervisor Louis H. Baar moved for the $18 per hour. This was seconded by Supervisor William A. Gnoss and approved 4 to 1. The only dissenter was Supervisor Michael Wornum, who said that a change should not be made so close to the end of this fiscal year. "I'd just as soon continue as we are."

Chairman John F. McInnis acknowledged that the institute providing valuable community service by treating alcoholics, but said it should try to generate community contribution to help pay for the cost.

In Fair Condition

Rose Marie Noack, 36, of 35 Rodeo Avenue, Apt. 34, Sausalito, was reported in fair condition today at Marin General Hospital after being admitted at 2 a.m. for a possible overdose of pills.

Novato Council Slaps Planners' Sign Denial

The Novato City Council in its continuing tug-of-war with the city's planning commission last night by a 3-1 vote overrode the previous night's action of the commission and granted a sign to Schuman's Travel Center, vehicle dealership at 7123 Redwood Highway.

Councilman Douglas M. Merrill, who opposed listing items on the sign voted against it. Mayor Harley McAskill was absent.

The planning commission by a 4-3 vote Monday night denied the same sign.

Councilman J. Wayne Womack said he "took exception to the planning commission's viewing the sign as product advertising and felt that the listing of campers, trailers and motor homes was allowed by the sign ordinance.

Womack said that the council had to look at all sides of the question and not the least of which was the tax dollar which business brought into the city.

Councilman Joseph Gargiulo said he wanted to encourage business and thought that Novato ought to "loosen up" in its attitude toward business. He cited recent controversy over a Denny's restaurant sign as an example of restraint on business.

To which Womack added that the Denny's sign and the Schuman sign had brought "nit picking" between the commission and the council. He

The council then asked the commission to look over the ordinance to see if the section on product advertising needed clarification.

The council then amended the sign ordinance to define shopping centers and the in-window signs allowed in them.

The Novato City Council Also:

MASTER PLAN — Approved the master plan for Loyal Davis for 49 apartments on 4.5 acres east of Railroad Avenue south of Orange Avenue.

PARKETTE — Approved a request by the Novato Garden Club Inc. to name the Parkette on Highway 101 and Grant Avenue "Cavallero Corner" in honor of the late Fire Chief George Cavallero. City Mgr. Charles A. Brown is to work with the club designing a suitable plaque for the park.

FREEWAY — Approved a revision with the state Division of Highways on the De Long Avenue-Freeway offramp, whereby traffic using the De Long offramp will go north on Reichert Avenue and cross the Northwestern Pacific Railroad at Sweetser Avenue; the Grant Avenue crossing of the railroad will be closed and Grant Avenue become a dead end street on the east. All costs of the project, estimated at $29,000 will be paid by the state.

AUDIT — Approved contracting with Sleezer and Eckhoff, certified public accountants of San Rafael at $1,600 maximum for the 1968-69 audit. Soderblom and Co. which has done the audit in the past had asked for an increase from $1,600 to $2,600.

RECOMMENDATIONS — Recommended that the state Public Utilities Commission deny the application of National Executive Services Inc. for limousine service to Bay Area airports from Novato. The council recommended that the PUC grant an extension of the Eastshore Lines service for Novato. The company now serves West Novato area with a commute bus and wants to start others.

NUISANCE — Declared two abandoned and unused houses on the property of Victor Kreloff at 699 Tamalpais Avenue a nuisance and ordered them removed.

CODES — Approved a notice to the state that the city was enforcing the state building codes, as required by law every two years.

PATH — Asked the staff to estimate the cost of a path beside Novato Boulevard from Diablo Avenue west by the Catholic Church for pedestrians and bicycles.

SEASHORE — Passed a resolution reaffirming one passed by the previous council declaring that Novato is the gateway to the Point Reyes National Seashore via Highway 101, Highway 37 and Novato boulevard.

Kennel Approved But Conditions Protested

A dog and cat kennel was approved 4 to 2 last night by the San Rafael Planning Commission, but so many conditions were attached the applicants' attorney said it amounted to a denial.

The commission granted the use permit to Robert Rudholm and Stanley Goldberg to build the facility at 535 Jacoby Street, with the permit to expire in five years. Commissioners John J. Adams and James Dougan voted no and Thomas R. O'Toole was absent.

The permit requires the applicants to dedicate a 59-foot wide strip for a proposed street and to improve their half when the street goes through, or, if the street is not built, to improve Jacoby Street in front of their property.

Other requirements include a program for maximum control of nosie, odor, rodents and insects.

Albert Bianchi, attorney for the applicants, objected to having to promise to improve half of a proposed street when his client's business did not make the street necessary. He also urged the commission to grant the permit without a time limit, because commission requirements had increased the cost of the facility.

Major opposition came from adjoining property owners. Dino Ghilotti spoke frequently on the plan, with objections centering on the fact that Rudholm and Goldberg were not being required to improve Jacoby immediately as he had to do. He also objected that the applicants were only being required to supply five parking spaces while he had to have 25 for his office building and construction company yard.

Property owners on the other side, who had objected at length during a December meeting on the plan, reported last night they still opposed it.

Bianchi indicated he would appeal the decision to the city council.

The San Rafael Planning Commission also:

OFFICE — Approved a two-story office building and warehouse at 87-93 Jordan Street, on condition owner, Robert Cook, dedicate a five-foot drainage easement.

APARTMENTS — Authorized converting office space in a commercial building at 2130 Fourth Street into two apartments, with the requirement that the owner, Mrs. Louis J. Robello, rearrange on-site parking spaces.

MUSIC SALES — Approved using extensive office space at 4238 Redwood Highway for piano and organ sales, as requested by the William J. Ruhnke Co.

Minister Will Autograph Book

Rev. Larry Beggs of Mill Valley will autograph his book "Huckleberry's for Runaways" and talk of how parents can communicate with children beginning at 2 p.m. Saturday at the Book Depot in Mill Valley.

Beggs is founder of the Huckleberry House in San Francisco, now operating on Seventh Avenue. The Book Depot is located in the Greyhound bus depot.

Planners Put Over All Of The Agenda

The Mill Valley Planning Commission Monday night postponed all five items scheduled for action on its agenda, according to Planning Director Harvey E. Bragdon.

First, the commissioners delayed to March 10 a request for adoption of a bicycle trails plan, asking that trails included in adopted master plans be coordinated on a map for commission review.

The commission also asked that Edna Maguire students who had petitioned for the bicycle trails be present at the March 10 meeting to present their case, Bragdon said.

A minor subdivision requested by the Bank of America for property on Highway 101 west Frontage Road adjacent to Sycamore Avenue was postponed pending study of the committments made by the city in 1965 during annexation hearings before the county's Local Agency Formation Commission, he said.

Discussion of the Arroyo Corte Madera del Presidio and Miller Avenue elements of the 701 planning study were postponed for further committee study.

Discussion of the housing element to be included in the city's general plan was postponed until a county-wide workshop to be scheduled has been held.

A density increase request by Cal-Fong Investment Co. for 27.5 acres in the Alto Bowl was postponed to March 10.

Birds have the highest body temperatures of all creatures, ranging from 104 to 110 degrees.

Recall Threat Defied; Hub Revisions Stand

Despite pleas and even threats of recall from a group of residents who fear that planned traffic improvements will eventually bring a highway through their backyards, the San Anselmo Council last night stuck with its decision to remodel the Hub.

On Jan. 21 the council voted 4-1 to do a $103,000 job which will make the Hub intersection a typical four-direction crossways rather than the confusing bevy of streets it is now.

Also approved by the council at that time was the designation of Center Boulevard as the route to be emphasized as a thoroughfare to Fairfax rather than Sir Francis Drake Boulevard.

Few of the 80 or more persons at last night's meeting seriously objected to revamping the Hub, but many of those present live ner Center Boulevard and have opposed this route since the plan was first presented last summer.

A petition bearing 180 signatures asking the council to rescind its designation of Center Boulevard as a federal secondary road and also to abandon current plans for the Hub was presented last night.

A vote on rescinding the Center Boulevard designation lost 3-2 with Councilmen Robert M. Scott and Woodrow V. Capurro voting to rescind.

A motion to abandon the plans for reconstruction of the Hub was presented by Capurro but died for the lack of a second.

The three councilmen who stuck by their guns and maintained that the Hub improvement is necessary and Center Boulevard the best choice of a route to the west, were threatened with recall at one point in the evening.

Councilman James F. Reed said he would "hate to go out" on a recall but would not change his vote.

Innuendoes were also tossed about concerning councilmen who might have "interests in West Marin." (Residents of the Center Boulevard area have long maintained that improving their street will benefit only developers of land to the West.)

A poll of the council showed that none of the five councilmen owned property outside San Anselmo, and Councilman Scott said that if he had any money to invest, "it wouldn't be in Marin."

The San Anselmo City Council also:

NO PARKING — Approved a red curb for 218, 222, 228, 232 and 238 Saunders Avenue after residents of homes there complained that students of Sir Francis Drake High School create a nuisance by parking in front of their homes.

APPEALS — Approved requests of the Easter Seal Society for Crippled Children and Adults and the Marin Figure Skating Club to solicit funds in San Anselmo.

CLAIM — Denied a claim by Thomas G. Sgro of San Rafael for $1,620 for damages allegedly suffered to his car in a city parking lot.

LIGHTS — Decided to spend $751 to replace underground wiring for lights at the Saunders Avenue bridge and turn maintenance of the lights over to the Pacific Gas and Electric Co.

Launch Cosmos

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union today launched Cosmos 267, an unmanned spacecraft designed for some unspecified mission.

Jail Sentence Set On Battery, Driving

Lloyd Patrick Brickman, 24, of Corte Madera, yesterday was sentenced to 120 days in Marin County Jail, fined $302 and placed on three years probation for striking a California Highway Patrol officer and for drunken driving.

Brickman, who was arrested May 12, 1968, was originally charged with another felony count of battery on a police officer and a misdemeanor charge of hit and run driving. These charges were dismissed after he pleaded guilty to one count of battery and the drunk charge.

APPEALS — Approved requests of the Easter Seal Society for Crippled Children and Adults and the Marin Figure Skating Club to solicit funds in San Anselmo.

CLAIM — Denied a claim by Thomas G. Sgro of San Rafael for $1,620 for damages allegedly suffered to his car in a city parking lot.

LIGHTS — Decided to spend $751 to replace underground wiring for lights at the Saunders Avenue bridge and turn maintenance of the lights over to the Pacific Gas and Electric Co.

Launch Cosmos

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union today launched Cosmos 267, an unmanned spacecraft designed for some unspecified mission.

Jail Sentence Set On Battery, Driving

Lloyd Patrick Brickman, 24, of Corte Madera, yesterday was sentenced to 120 days in Marin County Jail, fined $302 and placed on three years probation for striking a California Highway Patrol officer and for drunken driving.

Brickman, who was arrested May 12, 1968, was originally charged with another felony count of battery on a police officer and a misdemeanor charge of hit and run driving. These charges were dismissed after he pleaded guilty to one count of battery and the drunk charge.

Clay Bertrand Story Rocks Shaw's Trial

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — A lawyer who says he had Le Harvey Oswald as a client several months before President Kennedy was killed has testified that the mysterious Clay Bertrand of the Clay Shaw case did not exist.

Bertrand "was a figment of my imagination," Dean Andrews Jr. testified yesterday at Shaw's trial on a charge of conspiring to kill Kenedy.

It is the name Bertrand that Dist. Atty Jim Garrison contends Shaw used as an alias in plotting with Oswald and others to kill Kennedy.

Andrews had testified before a Warren Commission investigator and two grand juries, and he told the FBI that a man he knew as Clay Bertrand telephoned him the day after Oswald's arrest to ask that he go to Dallas to take over as defense lawyer.

But yesterday he said he had "let my mouth run ahead of my brain."

"I can't give you any explanation. . . . Once you make a fool of yourself you're stuck with it."

Andrews, a short heavy man whose speech is laced with slang, said he sought fame—and wound up convicted of perjury. His case is pending on appeal.

"It's page after page of bull," he said, when Asst. Dist. Atty. James L. Alcock asked him to explain his previous testimony.

"If you want to call it that, that's your privilege," said Andrews. "I call them conflicting statements."

Andrews testified that the telephone call was from an old client, Eugene Davis, on a minor legal matter. Andrews said Davis, in casual conversation, told him he'd never be a famous lawyer unless he grabbed big cases like one developing in Dallas.

Andrews said when he was telling the FBI his story it suddenly dawned on him that he was about to subject Davis to "a lot of heat and pressure that didn't belong to him." So he substituted the name Clay Bertrand, which he said was the first one that popped into his mind.

Stereo Set Taken

Dr. James T. English, of 46 Diablo Drive, Kentfield, reported to the sheriff's department that on Sunday someone had smashed a window of his home and had stolen a stereo set and a tape recorder.

Bound Over On Drug Charges

Elie Antonine Olson, 22, of Mill Valley, was bound over to Marin Superior Court yesterday on a charge of possessing marijuana in Mill Valley last October.

Charges had been dismissed earlier at the request of the district attorney's office when witnesses for the prosecution failed to appear for a preliminary hearing, but the complaint was refiled.

Olson was arrested Oct. 19 after his landlady became worried when she could not rouse the youth whom she knew was at home. Police said they found him asleep on his bed with two bags of what appeared to be marijuana next to him.

GRANT B. COOPER
Subdues client

An Emotional Sirhan Halts Proceedings

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Enraged because his diaries with their murderous thoughts are being aired in court, Sirhan Bishara Sirhan wants to "give up and go to the gas chamber," his lawyer says, by pleading guilty to killing Sen. Robert F. Kennedy.

But the attorney said he would not permit Sirhan to enter such a plea.

'BLOWN TOP'

"He's blown his top," said Grant B. Cooper after Sirhan's courtroom outburst—the second of the day—caused adjournment of yesterday afternoon's session when it was barely getting started. "He's blown his top and we're trying to control him."

After court, the four-man defense team and Sirhan's 55-year old mother spent more than an hour with the 24-year-old Jordanian. "When we left him," said Cooper, "he was real calm."

Of a possible plea of guilty—with the verdict of life imprisonment or death still in the hands of the jury-Cooper said: "We're not going to let him...as lawyers we're not going to let our client run the case. He doesn't know what he's doing."

PLEADS TO JUDGE

In court, as a handwriting expert was preparing to testify, Sirhan rose white-faced and trembling, a pleading hand extended to Judge Herbert V. Walker, and said: "Your honor, forgive me for interrupting..." At that point Cooper asked for the adjournment.

Earlier in the day, the judge had sent for Sirhan and told him to listen to his lawyers, that they were able men. Cooper said that at that time Sirhan was "determined he was going in to plead guilty" but calmed down.

When the defense lost its fight against admission of the diaries —on grounds of illegal search— Sirhan raged that "if he was going to be tried this way he might as well give up and go to the gas chamber," Cooper said.

Again and again, in handwriting that ranged from mannered to agitated scrawl, Sirhan built in the notebooks a drumbeat of threats against Kennedy and, in one case, then U.N. Ambassador Arthur Goldberg. In one sequence Sirhan wrote of the "glorious United States," in another he used an obscenity as an adjective.

'AN OBSESSION'

"My determination to eliminate RFK is becoming more the more sic of an unshakable obsession," he wrote on one page dated May 18, 1968. "RFK must die, RFK must be killed, Robert F. Kennedy must be assassinated...Robert F. Kennedy must be assassinated before 5 June 1968..."

Sirhan shot Kennedy the morning of that day. If he confided his reason into the diary, it did not show in the eight pages made public yesterday.

The defense is not denying that Sirhan killed Kennedy and doesn't plan much challenge to the prosecution's case of premeditation.

HERE'S AN IDEA for a snack or tasty lunch that has all the fun of pizza and is quick to make. Toasted English muffins are heaped with a combination of cheese, wieners and pork and beans.

Tasty Variation On Pizza With Pork, Beans, Wieners

Variation on a pizza snack — this recipe uses English muffins for a beginning, with cheese, wieners and pork and beans combined in a topping.

ENGLISH PIZZA

6 English muffins
1 can (1 lb. 5 oz.) pork and beans
2 wieners, chopped
¼ cup sweet pickle relish
1 tablespoon horseradish mustard
2 tablespoons catsup
⅔ cup grated mellow Cheddar or American cheese
Oregano leaves
Parsley flakes

Split English muffins in half and toast under broiler until golden brown. Combine pork and beans, chopped wieners, relish, mustard, and catsup. Spoon this bean mixture onto the 12 toasted English muffin halves. Sprinkle each pizza with grated cheese, oregano, and parsley according to your own taste.

Broil 5 to 6 inches from heat for five minutes.Makes six servings.

Salami Mix-Up

Here's mix-up magic for menus: cut 12 ounces of salami in wedges and combine with two packages (10 ounces each) of frozen mixed vegetables, one can (4 ounces) sliced water chestnuts. Add to this one can (10½ ounces) condensed celery soup mixed with one cup of milk. Mix lightly and turn into a two-quart casserole. Bake in a moderate oven (350° F.) 20 minutes. Top with one can (3 ounces) Chinese noodles. This casserole gives four to six servings.

Sherried Bananas Make Different Dessert Dish

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press

Knowing cooks often use bananas for quick-to-make desserts. Skillet-cooked, broiled or baked they're great to serve "as is" or with a topping of vanilla ice cream or whipped cream.

Different parts of the country have different ways of preparing the bananas "as is." In New Orleans, Brennan's Restaurant serves Bananas Foster. For this dish, butter is melted in a chafing dish and blended with brown sugar. Then the bananas are added, cooked slightly and sprinkled with cinnamon. Now comes the exotic final touch: bnanana liqueur and rum are ignited and the bananas are basted with the flaming liquor. Quite a dish!

In California and Florida, bananas baked with butter, honey, and orange juice are popular. This way the bananas may be offered as dessert or as a meat accompaniment.

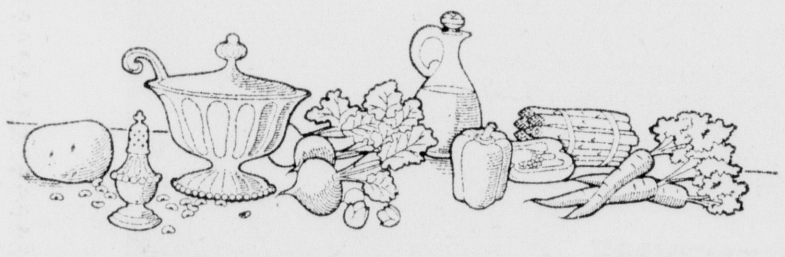
The following recipe for Sherried Bananas comes from Georgia. The original recipe called for lots more sugar and was served as an accompaniment for pork or ham. The friend who gave us the recipe prefers a smaller amount of sugar and offers these sherried bananas with ice cream.

SHERRIED BANANAS

6 green-tipped bananas
⅓ cup butter or margarine
⅔ cup sugar
Pinch of salt
½ cup sherry (dry, medium or sweet)
1½ pints vanilla ice cream

Peel bananas and cut in half crosswise. In a 10-inch skillet, heat butter; add bananas and gently cook until lightly browned. Add sugar and salt, and when sugar dissolves and bubbles, add sherry and continue cooking about 5 minutes. Serve warm with ice cream.

Makes 6 servings.



A SUNDAY DINNER

Here's Roast Lamb Idea With Vegetable Marinade

ROAST LAMB BOULESTIN

Steamed Rice	Asparagus
Chocolate Mousse	Beverage

½ leg of lamb, about 4½ pounds
1 cup dry vermouth
1 small onion, peeled and sliced
1 small carrot, pared and sliced
1 tablespoon minced parsley
1 bay leaf
½ teaspoon thyme
¼ teaspoon peppercorns
2 tablespoons butter
2 tablespoons flour
1 can (10½ ounces) condensed chicken broth
1 tablespoon currant jelly

Cut away most of fat from lamb but do not disturb the string tieing it. Mix together the next 7 ingredients and pour over lamb. Cover and refrigerate overnight, basting a few times. Remove from marinade (save it) and roast lamb in a 325-degree oven until medium well-done (170 degrees on a meat thermometer) — about 2 hours. Cut away strings from lamb and remove to serving platter; keep warm. Meanwile simmer marinade (including vegetables and seasonings) until liquid is reduced to about ¼ cup; strain. Melt butter; stir in flour; remove from heat; gradually stir in the ¼ cup strained marinade and undiluted chicken broth, keeping smooth; whisk in mustard and currant jelly. Cook, stirring constantly, over moderately low heat until thickened. Pour off fat from roasting pan; add sauce; stir over low heat to get up drippings; pour through fine-mesh strainer. Re-heat and serve with lamb.

Better Dessert

Better than ambrosia, a combination of golden cling peach slices, pineapple chucks, crisp grapes and banana slices can double as dessert or salad in summer meals. Drain a (1 lb.) can of cling peach slices. Combine with other fruits and sprinkle lightly with powdered sugar, if desired. Fold dairy sour dream into fruit and sprinkle generously with coconut flakes. Chill slightly before serving.

Try Some Cooking With Soul

Begining tomorrow several Marin housewives will demonstrate their soul food dishes at the Marin co-op during the three-day black history and soul food festival.

Several of their recipes are given here so that other Marin families may try them.

RED BEANS

2 cups dried red beans
1 large onion, chopped
2 teaspoons salt
5 cups water
Salt pork or ham, diced
Pepper to taste

Wash beans; let stand in water one or two hours (or overnight) to soften. Rinse in cold water. Put in a pot with all other ingredients. Bring to a boil, then reduce heat to simmer. Let simmer 4 to 6 hours. Serve over rice. — Mrs. Billie Johnson, Corte Madera

CRACKLING BREAD

2 cups corn meal
1 cup flour
1 egg
1 teasp. baking powder
1 teaspoon salt
2 cups milk
½ lb. fresh side of pork, cooked

Combine corn meal, flour, salt and baking powder. Add milk and egg, stir well. Add the pork, which has been cut into small pieces and cooked until all the fat is removed (leaves about 2 cups pork). Stir, pour into greased muffin tins or baking pan. Bake in 350 degree oven for 20 to 25 minutes. Serve hot. — Daisy Rosebourgh, Mill Valley

MIXED GREENS

2 bunches of turnip greens with roots
1 bunch mustard greens
½ lb. salt pork
1 tsp. sugar

Cook pork in 4 cups water until tender. Add the well-washed greens (tops only). Cook 45 minutes or until greens are tender. Add the turnip roots, whole or sliced, according to size, and cook until well done. (Chinese mustard, a milder flavored form, may be used if desired.) — Daisy Rosebourgh, Mill Valley

CRAB GUMBO

2 Large crabs, cleaned and cracked
½ lb. raw shelled shrimp
1 small pkg. (3 oz.) dried shrimp
2 pkgs. frozen okra
1 large onion
¼ c. shortening
1 large can tomatoes
2 T flour
1 gumbo file powder
Salt and pepper

Remove crab body meat. Crack legs and claws. Cut up okra while still frozen. Also cut up large onion. Mix okra and onion together. Add salt and pepper. Have frying pan ready with shortening; when fat is quite hot, pour in okra and onion mixture; fry until okra is firm (do not have heat so low it will stew.) The pour in large can of tomatoes. Cook together for twenty minutes. Have large pot ready with 2½ quarts water, pour in okra and tomato mixture. When it starts to boil, put in crab, shrimps and dried shrimps. Let simmer together about 30 minutes. Brown 2 T. flour, stir in some of the liquid until it thickens, add to the mixture. Add the gumbo file powder and let simmer for 20 minutes. Remove from heat and serve. — Mrs. H. C. Dedrick, Marin City

HOG'S HEAD CHEESE

1 Hog's head
Salt and pepper
1 cup vinegar
3 or 4 green onions, chopped fine
¼ bell pepper, chopped fine
3 medium sour pickles, chopped
Monosodium glutamate (MSG)
Cayenne pepper

Clean head, cover with water and bring to boil with salt and pepper. Cook until well done. Take out meat and mash. Add vinegar, onion, green pepper, pickles. Add MSG, salt, and pepper, to taste. Mold in a pan and let chill. — Mrs. Maudie Mack, San Francisco.

YAM MERINGUE PIE

3 or 4 medium yams
1 stick butter
¾ cup sugar
3 eggs
1 tsp. nutmeg
2 tsp. vanilla

Boil yams. Skin, add butter, and mash. Add nutmeg and vanilla. Break in eggs and beat with rotary beater to blend. Put in unbaked pie shell. Bake ½ hour in 400 degree oven; reduce heat to 350 degrees for another half hour. Spread with meringue and bake in 350 degree oven until golden brown.

Meringue:

3 egg whites
6 T. sugar
½ t. vanilla
¼ t. cream of tartar

Beat egg whites, gradually add sugar, 1 tablespoon at a time, add cream of tartar and vanilla. Spread meringue on top of baked pie. See above.

Pastry:

1½ cups all-purpose flour
½ t. salt
½ cup shortening
4 or 5 T. cold water

Sift flour and salt together. Cut in shortening until in pea-sized pieces. Add as much of the water as is necessary to make it hold together. Roll out and place in 9" pie pans. — Mrs. Mildred Smith, Tamalpais Valley.

CUSTARD PIE

2 cups milk
scant cup sugar
1 T Flour
4 eggs
1 tsp. vanilla
½ stick butter

Mix butter, flour, and sugar together, and blend with beater. Add eggs, one at a time. Add vanilla and milk. Stir. Pour into unbaked pie shell. Bake in slow 250 degree oven until done (test with knife.)

FLAKY PASTRY

2 cups flour
1 t. salt
⅔ cup shortening

Mix and sift flour and salt. Cut in shortening with knife. Add enough cold water to make stiff dough. Roll out lightly on floured board. Fold and put in (preferably glass) pie pan. — Mrs. Martha Thompson, Tamalpais Valley.

Poulet Auberge In Cognac Sauce

Poulet auberge, or rotisserie chicken, is served with a rich, cognac-flavored sauce at a restaurant in Cognac, France, where the famous brandy is produced.

Brush a 4 to 5-pound roasting chicken with butter and cook on rotisserie about an hour, or until done; baste often with mixture of ½ cup each of chicken broth and butter. Place a small pan on grill beneath chicken to catch drippings. Remove chicken to platter, pour ¼ cup of cognac on it and light with long match. The heat from the chicken will warm this amount of cognac enough for it to flame.

With long-handled spoon, baste the chicken with sauce until flames die. Keep chicken warm, and remove platter droppings and those from the pan to make sauce. Heat them with 1 cup of cream, add salt and pepper to taste and thicken by stirring in lumps of beurre manie made by blending 2 tablespoons of flour with an equal amount of butter. If desired, strain sauce before serving. Garnish platter with parsley.

HERE'S AN IDEA for a snack or tasty lunch that has all the fun of pizza and is quick to make. Toasted English muffins are heaped with a combination of cheese, wieners and pork and beans.

Tasty Variation On Pizza With Pork, Beans, Wieners

Variation on a pizza snack — this recipe uses English muffins for a beginning, with cheese, wieners and pork and beans combined in a topping.

ENGLISH PIZZA

6 English muffins
1 can (1 lb. 5 oz.) pork and beans
2 wieners, chopped
¼ cup sweet pickle relish
1 tablespoon horseradish mustard
2 tablespoons catsup
⅔ cup grated mellow Cheddar or American cheese
Oregano leaves
Parsley flakes

Split English muffins in half and toast under broiler until golden brown. Combine pork and beans, chopped wieners, relish, mustard, and catsup. Spoon this bean mixture onto the 12 toasted English muffin halves. Sprinkle each pizza with grated cheese, oregano, and parsley according to your own taste.

Broil 5 to 6 inches from heat for five minutes.Makes six servings.

Now in California America's No. 1 pre-soak

Colgate's enzyme active AXION

Soaks out stains and dirt that bleaches can't bleach out, detergents can't wash out!

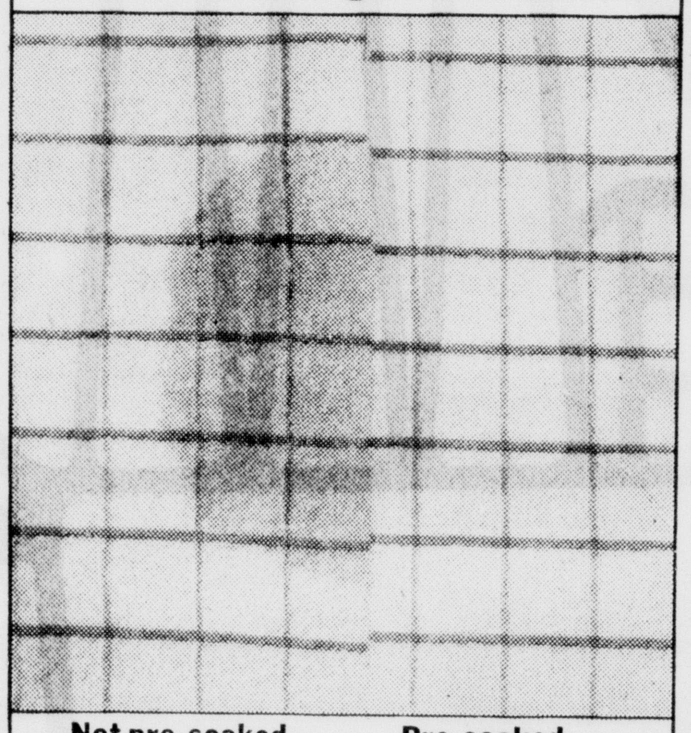
Axion may be new to you. But all over America more women are using Axion than all the other pre-soaks put together. Axion is an incredible new discovery. It is entirely different from any detergent. It is entirely different from any bleach. It is an enzyme active pre-soak that cleans away stains no other kind of washing product has ever been able to do.

Works on the stain—not on the fabric

Axion with active enzymes is the latest result of Colgate research. Axion's active enzymes biologically break down the molecular structure of the most stubborn stains... loosen stains so they wash away easily during the regular wash cycle.

Yet Axion won't harm synthetic fabrics or washable colors. So you can safely use Axion where you could never use chlorine bleach. Axion's enzyme active formula was developed to concentrate on stains and dirt... for cleaning, whitening, and brightening far beyond detergent or bleach.

See the difference. Both towels washed in detergent and bleach



Not pre-soaked, the stain remains!	Pre-soaked in Axion, the stain is gone!

This test shows what Axion can do! Both of these towels had set beef liver stains. The one on the right was pre-soaked in Axion. Then they both were machine-washed with regular detergent and bleach. The towel that was only washed in bleach and detergent is still badly stained. The towel pre-soaked in Axion—stain free, really clean!

Axion attacks stain after stain

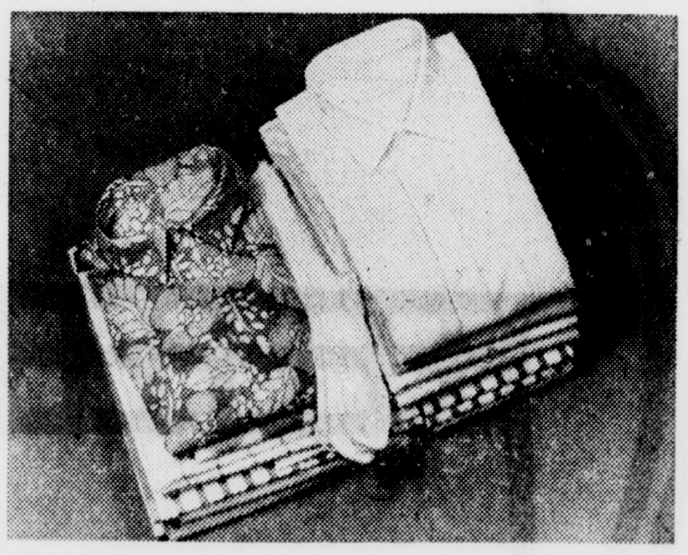
Blood. Gravy. Sauces. Chocolate. Fruit stains. Dirt on white socks. Grass. Yellowing on pillowcases. Baby foods. Perspiration stains. Diaper stains. Grime on shirt collars and cuffs. And many more.

Important—saves you money

Axion helps keep laundry new... doesn't damage fabrics the way harsh bleaches can. Dozens of costly items will last longer and look better. So it's obvious you can save money by using Axion.

Works on your whole wash

You will see a striking difference in your entire wash the first time you pre-soak with Axion. Your whites will be noticeably brighter and cleaner. And pleasantly fresh-smelling. Perspiration stains will be gone. Yellowed sheets and soiled pillowcases will be white again. Those grimy children's white socks, your husband's shirt collars and cuffs—so clean you'll find it hard to believe. And, just by following package instructions you can use Axion effectively on synthetic fabrics and colors you wouldn't dare bleach. In fact, once you start using Axion, you'll find yourself pre-soaking everything you wash, every time you wash!



Axion is the Number 1 pre-soak!

More women use Axion than all the other pre-soaks put together. So be sure you try Axion—with active enzymes. Soaks out stains and dirt detergents can't wash out, bleaches can't bleach out!

SOUL FOOD

Annual Negro Festival Begins

Soul food cookery, fashion, art and the dance will be featured at the second annual Negro history and soul food festival, opening tomorrow and staged through Saturday at the Marin Co-op in Corte Madera.

Cooking samples based on soul food recipes of Marin Co-op members will be given throughout the three-day festival, beginning at 2:30 p.m. tomorrow and Friday and at 11 a.m. Saturday. Specialties include crackling cornbread and mixed greens, crab gumbo, candied yams, bread pudding, red beans and rice, chitlings, sweet potato pie, custard pie and cabbage greens.

THE SOUL food cooks are Mmes Ephorn Freeman and Mattie Knighten of Marin City, Dolores Talley and Miss Daisy Rosebourgh of Mill Valley, Mmes. Billie Johnson and Jacqueline Branch of Corte Madera, Mmes. Mildred Smith and Martha Thompson of Tamalpais Valley and Mrs. Maudie Mack of San Francisco.

Mrs. Rhoda Knighten of Marin City is chairman of the festival, which will feature a fashion show of African prints worn by Marin teen-age models. The style shows will be given tomorrow and Friday at 3:30 p.m. and three times on Saturday, beginning at 11 a.m.

The models are Vicki Gross, Debbie Turner, Pam McConnell, Barbie Theiss, Cindy Norall, Belinda Johnson and Jeanine Brewer. Coordinators for the show are Grace Hughes and Jane Brenlin.

African dances will be performed by Allison Walker at 3:45 p.m. Friday and on Saturday at noon by Lorena Lee and Theresa Edwards and at 1 p.m. by Margo Jones.

AFRICAN SCULPTURE and masks will be loaned by two Co-op members. Also displayed will be sculpture by Nelson Crutchfield and ceramics by Robert Chives.

A black history display will be set up, and other displays will feature posters, books and magazines on black culture. Librarians Barbara Dillon and Joanne Hirabayashi will offer a black history bibliography for children.

Food demonstrations tomorrow will be held at 2:30 p.m., with Mrs. Billie Johnson doing red beans and rice, and Mrs. Dolores Talley with her recipe for cabbage greens. Friday at 2 p.m. Mrs. Jacqueline Branch will demonstrate her candied yams, and at 2:30 p.m. Miss Daisy Rosebourgh will provide sample of her recipes for crackling cornbread and mixed greens.

Saturday food demonstrations will be crab gumbo, chitlings, bread pudding, hog's head cheese, custard pie and sweet potatoe meringue pie. Cooks will be Mmes. H. C. Diedrick, Ephorn Freeman, Mattie Knighten, Maudie Mack, Martha Thompson and Mildred Smith.

CHAIRMEN OF displays are Mark Wittenburg and Mmes. Mattalyn Pitts and Wyna Jones. Mrs. S. I. Hayakawa and John Wallace are publicity chairmen.

Recipes will be given for the soul food dishes by the Marin cooks. Here is Mrs. Freeman's method for preparing chitlings.

CHITLINGS

5 lbs. chitlings
1 hog maw
1 cup chopped onion
1 cup chopped celery
1 bell pepper
3 cloves garlic
seasoning salt
black pepper
1 Tbsp. flour (optional)

Clean chitlings, remove all fat and washing throughly. Cut hog maw in small pieces. Put chitlings and hog maw in a large pot, covering with water to a depth of three inches. Add other ingredients, cover and cook for 3 to 4 hours or until chitlings are tender. Add flour to thicken gravy if desired. Serve over rice.

SOME OF the ingredients used in the soul food recipes by Marinites are explained by chairman of the Negro History Week and Soul Food Festival Mrs. Rhoda Knighten, left, to Co-op shopper Mrs. Victor Van Lint. The festival, at which samples and recipes for the soul food dishes will be available, opens tomorrow at the Marin Co-op in Corte Madera.

CHITLINGS ARE a favorite item among soul food dishes and Mrs. Ephorn Freeman begins to prepare her recipe in her kitchcen at her Marin City home. She takes them frozen from their container in the refrigerator for washing and removal of fat, as shown. Then it's into the cooking pot with bell pepper, onion, celery and seasonings for three to four hours until chitlings are tender. Frozen chitlings and hog maw are available at some Marin super markets. (See Mrs. Freeman's recipe in story. For more soul food recipes see today's I-J Food Page.)

Johannesburg Doctor Suggests Establishing Clinical Network

WASHINGTON (AP) — A South African doctor suggests establishing a worldwide network of "German measles service clinics" to help women of child-bearing age—to whom the disease is a potential terror.

The idea, Dr. J. H. S. Gear of Johannesburg said, would be to have special facilities where such women could:

Be tested to determine whether they ever had the disease and therefore might be immune. About 80 per cent of women are immune.

Have a pregnancy test if they were found not immune.

If not pregnant, be vaccinated against the disease.

German measles is relatively mild in children and most adults. But if it strikes a woman in the first six months of pregnancy—especially the first three—her baby may be defective.

A woman could not be given German measles vaccine during her pregnancy because it contains living, though toned-down virus.

Gear made his suggestion at a news conference during an international conference on German measles immunization.

He said it might be at least a partial approach to effective use of one or more of the vaccines expected to become generally available in the not-too-distant future. Some may be available by next fall.

A major alternative procedure, he and some other doctors indicated, would be to vaccinate children more or less universally.

The idea would be to eradicate the disease so it could not be transmitted from children to women of child-bearing age. But even advocates of such a system concede there would be practical problems involved in widespread vaccination.

Clista Ellis Is Bride Of Mark Vann Melanson

The Episcopal Church of Our Saviour in Mill Valley was the setting for the wedding Saturday of Clista Lee Ellis and Mark Vann Melanson of San Rafael.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wayne D. Ellis of Mill Valley. Her sister, Trudy Lynn Ellis, was maid of honor, and the bridesmaids were Kathy Owen of Mill Valley and Lorena Block of Seattle.

David Denning of San Rafael served as best man. Ushering the guests were Danny and Paul Dimick of Sacramento, William Murphy, Ross Melanson and Jim Edwards of San Rafael.

A reception was given afterward at Bob's of Marin in Corte Madera. The couple will make their home in San Rafael after a wedding trip to Lake Tahoe.

The bride is a Tamalpais High School graduate, attended College of Marin and is employed with Pacific Telephone Co. in Mill Valley.

Mark is the son of Capt. and Mrs. George E. Melanson of San Rafael. A San Rafael High School graduate, he is serving with the Navy and will be stationed in Vietnam.

SOUL FOOD

Annual Negro Festival Begins

Soul food cookery, fashion, art and the dance will be featured at the second annual Negro history and soul food festival, opening tomorrow and staged through Saturday at the Marin Co-op in Corte Madera.

Cooking samples based on soul food recipes of Marin Co-op members will be given throughout the three-day festival, beginning at 2:30 p.m. tomorrow and Friday and at 11 a.m. Saturday. Specialties include crackling cornbread and mixed greens, crab gumbo, candied yams, bread pudding, red beans and rice, chitlings, sweet potato pie, custard pie and cabbage greens.

THE SOUL food cooks are Mmes Ephorn Freeman and Mattie Knighten of Marin City, Dolores Talley and Miss Daisy Rosebourgh of Mill Valley, Mmes. Billie Johnson and Jacqueline Branch of Corte Madera, Mmes. Mildred Smith and Martha Thompson of Tamalpais Valley and Mrs. Maudie Mack of San Francisco.

Mrs. Rhoda Knighten of Marin City is chairman of the festival, which will feature a fashion show of African prints worn by Marin teen-age models. The style shows will be given tomorrow and Friday at 3:30 p.m. and three times on Saturday, beginning at 11 a.m.

The models are Vicki Gross, Debbie Turner, Pam McConnell, Barbie Theiss, Cindy Norall, Belinda Johnson and Jeanine Brewer. Coordinators for the show are Grace Hughes and Jane Brenlin.

African dances will be performed by Allison Walker at 3:45 p.m. Friday and on Saturday at noon by Lorena Lee and Theresa Edwards and at 1 p.m. by Margo Jones.

AFRICAN SCULPTURE and masks will be loaned by two Co-op members. Also displayed will be sculpture by Nelson Crutchfield and ceramics by Robert Chives.

A black history display will be set up, and other displays will feature posters, books and magazines on black culture. Librarians Barbara Dillon and Joanne Hirabayashi will offer a black history bibliography for children.

Food demonstrations tomorrow will be held at 2:30 p.m., with Mrs. Billie Johnson doing red beans and rice, and Mrs. Dolores Talley with her recipe for cabbage greens. Friday at 2 p.m. Mrs. Jacqueline Branch will demonstrate her candied yams, and at 2:30 p.m. Miss Daisy Rosebourgh will provide sample of her recipes for crackling cornbread and mixed greens.

Saturday food demonstrations will be crab gumbo, chitlings, bread pudding, hog's head cheese, custard pie and sweet potatoe meringue pie. Cooks will be Mmes. H. C. Diedrick, Ephorn Freeman, Mattie Knighten, Maudie Mack, Martha Thompson and Mildred Smith.

CHAIRMEN OF displays are Mark Wittenburg and Mmes. Mattalyn Pitts and Wyna Jones. Mrs. S. I. Hayakawa and John Wallace are publicity chairmen.

Recipes will be given for the soul food dishes by the Marin cooks. Here is Mrs. Freeman's method for preparing chitlings.

CHITLINGS

5 lbs. chitlings
1 hog maw
1 cup chopped onion
1 cup chopped celery
1 bell pepper
3 cloves garlic
seasoning salt
black pepper
1 Tbsp. flour (optional)

Clean chitlings, remove all fat and washing throughly. Cut hog maw in small pieces. Put chitlings and hog maw in a large pot, covering with water to a depth of three inches. Add other ingredients, cover and cook for 3 to 4 hours or until chitlings are tender. Add flour to thicken gravy if desired. Serve over rice.

SOME OF the ingredients used in the soul food recipes by Marinites are explained by chairman of the Negro History Week and Soul Food Festival Mrs. Rhoda Knighten, left, to Co-op shopper Mrs. Victor Van Lint. The festival, at which samples and recipes for the soul food dishes will be available, opens tomorrow at the Marin Co-op in Corte Madera.

CHITLINGS ARE a favorite item among soul food dishes and Mrs. Ephorn Freeman begins to prepare her recipe in her kitchcen at her Marin City home. She takes them frozen from their container in the refrigerator for washing and removal of fat, as shown. Then it's into the cooking pot with bell pepper, onion, celery and seasonings for three to four hours until chitlings are tender. Frozen chitlings and hog maw are available at some Marin super markets. (See Mrs. Freeman's recipe in story. For more soul food recipes see today's I-J Food Page.)

HELEN HELP US!

By HELEN BOTTEL

Why Not Let Husband Have Two Families And Be Happy?

DEAR HELEN:

I have been married 16 years to a man who is a good provider and a doubly good lover. We really love each other, and we can also talk out our problems. But on this problem, I must confess, I can't see his point of view.

You see, he says his heart is big enough for two, and he wants to have an affair with a divorced friend of mine. He says this shouldn't hurt our marriage a bit, as he will love us equally. In fact, he even suggested that I babysit her children on the nights he is with her, and she could babysit mine when we want to go out together. Very cozy.

He told me he could sneak around and I might never know, but he prefers honesty, and he would never deceive either of us. He says the other woman loves him so much she will go along, knowing he will never leave me.

Well, I said I can't accept this. His answer is that if I make him give up his "second wife" he'll take to drink and probably lose his job.

So it comes to this: I don't want to share my husband, but I don't want to live with a drunken bum. He says no matter what happens I will be better off than she, for if he turns into a bum, I'll still have him, and if I learn to share I'll have him.

Please understand that we never have had trouble being compatible — in every way. What my husband wants is two women to love equally — and he thinks we should be friends, even to going out as a family group, with all seven of our combined children. — POLYGAMY OR LONELINESS?

DEAR P OR L:

Since you can talk out your problems together, be maddeningly reasonable. Tell your husband and your mutual friend that after careful consideration, you've decided it's monogamy or nothing and if he turns into a drunken bum, well, tough, baby — she can rehabilitate him, not you! Then (if you're a good actress) imply divorce might be the answer. After all, you're not without prospects, and he's so great with children he'd probably enjoy being married to the mother of five. He'd scarcely have time for booze then, would he? And smile as you say it!

In other words, call "Big Heart's" bluff. Make it clear that while you love him, you and the children won't share him with another woman or a bottle. Sixteen compatible years will do the rest. Here's for 35 more of the same! — H.

Carolyn Troester Is Engaged To Wed Philip C. Strick Jr.

The engagement of Carolyn Troester of Belmont to Philip C. Strick Jr. of San Rafael has been announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frederick William Troester of Belmont. The announcement was also made at the Delta Gamma sorority house at the University of Pacific, where Carolyn is a senior.

CAROLYN TROESTER

The bride-elect, who is the sister of Scott Troester of Belmont, is a graduate of Crescenta Valley High School in La Crescenta and of Glendale Junior College.

Philip is the son of the senior Philip C. Stricks of San Rafael and the brother of Stephen S. Strick. He is a graduate of La Sierra High School in Sacramento and of the University of Pacific, where he is now taking graduate work in the school of education. He was 1966 National Collegiate Athletic Association swimming champion, a contestant in the Olympic swimming trials and named outstanding senior athlete at Pacific last year.

The couple plan a July 19 wedding at Morris Chapel at the university in Stockton.

Clayton Huey Is Married On Saturday

Immediate family members attended the ceremony Saturday uniting in marriage Mrs. Grafton Geering and Clayton S. Huey. The wedding was held at the First Presbyterian Church in San Rafael.

The bride has three daughters: Mmes. Sheila Keppel and Nancy Davidson of Berkeley and Martha Klore of Santa Barbara.

Mr. Huey is a graduate of the University of Washington. He is employed by Chevron Research Company in Richmond. Robert Huey of Seattle, Wash. and Philip Huey of El Segunda are his brothers. He is the father of Mrs. John Gamblin of Yorba Linda and Douglas Huey of Indianapolis, Ind.

The couple will live in San Rafael following a wedding trip to Carmel.

Medicine Can Be Lifeline Or A Garrote

WASHINGTON, D.C. (WMMS) — Like a rope, the drug your doctor prescribes can be either a lifeline or a garrote—depending on whether it's used properly or not.

Most people realize that medicine cabinets should be cleaned out. But safety rules for prescription drugs are more intricate than that, according to an informative pamphlet listing 23 rules, including:

Never take a medicine in the dark.

If new symptoms develop after medication, tell your doctor.

Keep the label up when pouring from a medicine bottle so that the drippage does not destroy the label.

Fuller explanations are given in the pamphlet, available free from Sue Boe, Pharmaceutical Manufacturers Association, 1155 Fifteenth Street, N. W., Washington, D.C. 20005.

So it comes to this: I don't want to share my husband, but I don't want to live with a drunken bum. He says no matter what happens I will be better off than she, for if he turns into a bum, I'll still have him, and if I learn to share I'll have him.

Please understand that we never have had trouble being compatible — in every way. What my husband wants is two women to love equally — and he thinks we should be friends, even to going out as a family group, with all seven of our combined children. — POLYGAMY OR LONELINESS?

DEAR P OR L:

Since you can talk out your problems together, be maddeningly reasonable. Tell your husband and your mutual friend that after careful consideration, you've decided it's monogamy or nothing and if he turns into a drunken bum, well, tough, baby — she can rehabilitate him, not you! Then (if you're a good actress) imply divorce might be the answer. After all, you're not without prospects, and he's so great with children he'd probably enjoy being married to the mother of five. He'd scarcely have time for booze then, would he? And smile as you say it!

In other words, call "Big Heart's" bluff. Make it clear that while you love him, you and the children won't share him with another woman or a bottle. Sixteen compatible years will do the rest. Here's for 35 more of the same! — H.

Carolyn Troester Is Engaged To Wed Philip C. Strick Jr.

The engagement of Carolyn Troester of Belmont to Philip C. Strick Jr. of San Rafael has been announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frederick William Troester of Belmont. The announcement was also made at the Delta Gamma sorority house at the University of Pacific, where Carolyn is a senior.

The bride-elect, who is the sister of Scott Troester of Belmont, is a graduate of Crescenta Valley High School in La Crescenta and of Glendale Junior College.

Philip is the son of the senior Philip C. Stricks of San Rafael and the brother of Stephen S. Strick. He is a graduate of La Sierra High School in Sacramento and of the University of Pacific, where he is now taking graduate work in the school of education. He was 1966 National Collegiate Athletic Association swimming champion, a contestant in the Olympic swimming trials and named outstanding senior athlete at Pacific last year.

The couple plan a July 19 wedding at Morris Chapel at the university in Stockton.

Clayton Huey Is Married On Saturday

Immediate family members attended the ceremony Saturday uniting in marriage Mrs. Grafton Geering and Clayton S. Huey. The wedding was held at the First Presbyterian Church in San Rafael.

The bride has three daughters: Mmes. Sheila Keppel and Nancy Davidson of Berkeley and Martha Klore of Santa Barbara.

Mr. Huey is a graduate of the University of Washington. He is employed by Chevron Research Company in Richmond. Robert Huey of Seattle, Wash. and Philip Huey of El Segunda are his brothers. He is the father of Mrs. John Gamblin of Yorba Linda and Douglas Huey of Indianapolis, Ind.

The couple will live in San Rafael following a wedding trip to Carmel.

Medicine Can Be Lifeline Or A Garrote

WASHINGTON, D.C. (WMMS) — Like a rope, the drug your doctor prescribes can be either a lifeline or a garrote—depending on whether it's used properly or not.

Most people realize that medicine cabinets should be cleaned out. But safety rules for prescription drugs are more intricate than that, according to an informative pamphlet listing 23 rules, including:

Never take a medicine in the dark.

If new symptoms develop after medication, tell your doctor.

Keep the label up when pouring from a medicine bottle so that the drippage does not destroy the label.

Fuller explanations are given in the pamphlet, available free from Sue Boe, Pharmaceutical Manufacturers Association, 1155 Fifteenth Street, N. W., Washington, D.C. 20005.

Path Finders Set Patio Living As Program Title For Meeting

With thoughts turning to spring, the subject "Patio Living, California Style" is chosen by the Path Finders for its first meeting of the year at Marin Art and Garden Center tomorrow at 10 a.m. in the Magnolia Tea Room on the center grounds in Ross.

Mrs. T. N. Hopkins, home economist for the North Bay Division of Pacific Gas and Electric, will present an illustrated lecture.

She will emphasize various menus suitable for delicious barbecue meals, distribute recipe folders, answer questions and demonstrate techniques.

In a short business meeting to follow, Mrs. John Gentles, Path Finders' president, will receive reports from group chairmen.

New members interested in active participation in Center Path Finders are constantly being sought and are invited to attend this open meeting.

MARIN TOASTMISTRESS Club will host the last in a series of speech contests tomorrow evening at Bob's of Marin, with a 7 p.m. dinner meeting. Mrs. Ernest Widlund is president of the club.

Contest chairman is Mrs. William Heinemann and contestants include Mmes. Paul Satur, Mrs. Raymond Robson, Theodore Scudder and David Maxwell. Guests will attend from the San Rafael Toastmistress Club and Napa Valley and Santa Rosa clubs.

EIGHTY DOMINICAN College seniors will be entertained at a formal candlelight supper tomorrow evening by the officers of the alumnae association.

The 6 p.m. dinner will be served on tables set with rose colored linen edged in white lace made especially for the occasion, in the dining room at Calereuga on the San Rafael campus.

Mrs. William Talbot Jr. and Mrs. James Madden, chairmen for the affair, will greet guests.

Mmes. Reed Volin, James McCone Jr., Frank Ortman Jr., John Cottrell, Charles Sweeney, Thomas Perlite and Charles Gardiner will also be in the receiving line.

College president Sister M. Samuel, o.p., Sister M. Patricia, o.p. and Miss Wanda Collins, dean of students, will be among the honored guests.

THE LEAGUE of Women Voters of Southern Marin will begin its study of local public education at meetings tonight and tomorrow.

Discussions will include presentation of a variety of suggestions for financing schools and for maintaining community support. Member response to such questions as these will be sought:

Should school districts be able to set their own tax rates as all other governing bodies do without going to the voter? How much fund support should the state give to the schools for operating expenses? How can school boards maintain the support of their communities?

It is not necessary to be a league member to attend meetings. Time and date are given in the Marin Datebook.

TWO MORE winners in the Betty Crocker Search for the American Homemaker of Tomorrow have been announced for their high schools. Terry Frances Castle is the winner among the senior girls at San Rafael High School, and Mary V. Upshaw was the winner for Terra Linda High School.

They will be among the high school seniors whose written tests will be judged in the statewide contest. State winners will compete nationally for the top honor. State winners will be guests with their school advisers on a trip to Washington D.C. and Colonial Williamsburg. The national winner and three runners-up will receive college scholarships.

HONORARY LIFE memberships were given to two members, Mrs. Harry Eide and Mrs. Harry Magill, by the Lu Sutton Parent-Teacher Association.

Mrs. Eide was presented the award in recognition of her continuing service to youth as a leader of Cub Scouts, Blue Birds and 4-H groups and as a teacher in the church school and with girls at Juvenile Hall. She has been a volunteer in the activities program and library service at Lu Sutton School. Mrs. Eide is currently the Community Club leader for the Novato Aggies 4-H Club and is in charge of the library volunteer program at the school, which allows the library to be open throughout the day.

Mrs. Magill is a past P-TA unit president in Mill Valley and at Lu Sutton, a Cub Scout and Brownie Troop leader and church school teacher. Last spring Mrs. Magill conducted swimming classes for the Head Start program, and she has been the North Marin coordinator for the vision screen program of the Marin Clunty Association of Delta Gamma Alumnae.

THE FILM, "Marijuana," will be featured at the Laurel Dell Parent-Teacher Association meeting at 7:45 tomorrow. Inspector Dennis Sawdon of the Marin County drug abuse bureau will lead the discussion.

Next week the film will be shown to Laurel Dell's intermediate pupils, and Sgt. Lou Foster, San Rafael juvenile officer, will answer the youngsters' queries.

IN THE SPOTLIGHT at the Corinthian Yacht Club dinner program Friday will be the John Williams family, famous ice skaters.

A three-part program will feature a talk by Mr. and Mrs. Williams and their children, Debbie, 16 and Robbie, 13, two films, "The Williams Family in Action," and "Opening Night of the Ice Follies." The Williams family, who skated professionally for both Ice Follies and Holiday on Ice companies, are now living in San Rafael.

Cocktails will be served at 6 p.m., dinner at 7:30 p.m. and the program will start at 8:30 p.m. John Cutler is program chairman.

MARIN STAR Theta Rho Girls 121 of the Independent Order of Odd Fellows will hold initation ceremonies on Friday in San Rafael. Candidates for initiation are Anne Wolf, Pam Grundmen, Cathy McNulty, Lois Vanderkyle, Julia Bishop and Felice Arroyo, all from Novato.

The Odd Fellows and Rebekahs of California will offer members of the Junior Odd Fellows and Theta Rho girls the opportunity to enter the United Nations Pilgrimage for Youth contest.

The Junior Odd Fellows and two Theta Rho girls will be awarded a four week educational bus tour to visit the United Nations and American historical sites.

Marin Star has entered Chris Kelly of Novato and Jo Baker of San Rafael in the contest.

MILL VALLEY Bethel 119 of the International Order of Job's Daughters will hold a visiting bethel meeting tonight at 7:30 p.m. in the Mill Valley Masonic Temple.

Members of other bethels are invited to attend. Honored queen Marsha Phipps will preside. Refreshments chairman is Cynthia Postel.

Initiated at the last meeting were Laura Finzen and Joyce Bromm.

MARIN DELTA Zeta Alumnae will meet tomorrow at noon at the home of president Mrs. Headley Brown, 1293 Idylberry, Lucas Valley. Dessert and coffee will be served.

Tickets will be distributed for the annual benefit party for the hearing handicapped to be held on April 11 at the Marin Country Club.

Mrs. Brown announces the appointment of Mrs. Graham Blevins of Terra Linda as the new recommendations chairman.

MRS. HENRY FOWLER, school secretary for over 10 years, was given the annual life membership award by the Penngrove School Parent-Teacher Association.

DENICE JAMISON

Duffy-Jamison Engagement

The engagement of Denice C. Jamison of Corte Madera to Lt. Lawrence T. Duffy of Vandenburg Air Force Base was announced Saturday night at a party at the Corte Madera home of the bride's aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Stahl.

Fifty relatives and friends attended the party at which the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Jamison, made the announcement.

Denice was graduated from Presentation High School in San Francisco, attended San Francisco College for Women and is a graduate of the University of San Francisco. She is a member of the Young Republicans and is employed by the U.S Civil Service Commission in San Francisco.

The future bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William O. Duffy of San Francisco. He is the brother of Mrs. Cecilia Brown of San Francisco, Lt. Col. William Duffy with the Army in Germany and Gerald Duffy of Daly City. Lawrence was graduated from St. Ignatius High School in San Francisco and the University of Santa Clara.

The couple plan to wed next month at St. Patrick's Church in Larkspur.

She Smooths Path For Young Singer

By ARLEEN ABRAHAMS

NEW YORK (AP) — One might call Toni Hedderich a Miss Lonelyhearts for young American opera singers.

Her advice, though, is mainly career oriented and is given on a person to person basis — only after she has heard the artist.

While teaching opera hopefuls in Germany several years ago, Mrs. Hedderich, a former leading dramatic coloratura of the Berlin Staatsoper, became concerned about the plight of the many young American opera singers roaming Europe.

"Ever since the war," she explains, "young Americans seeking an operatic career in the States had been advised to go to Europe to get experience, since without experience, for the most part, they could not hope to land a job in the American opera houses."

(In the United States, she claims, experience is hard to come by due to the lack of small professional opera companies and quality workshops.)

However, as she explains through an interpreter in her native German, "Most of them only met with frustration and disappointment. Some weren't ready to sing at opera house level; others didn't have the right instruction or voice training." But for many, she says, it was simply a case of not knowing where and when to apply.

"They might apply in Berlin when there was no opening at that company, when instead, they should have applied to the Hamburg company. Then they might not have the proper introduction or entree to the right opera personnel . . . the ones who could employ them."

Recently, aided by the perfection of a new video tape which reproduces the human voice without distortion and/or improvement and the development of special cameras by her son, Michael, Mrs. Hedderich came up with a solution. She would come to the States and Canada and videotape young artists singing two or three arias in costume. The tapes would then be shown to more than 60 directors of German, Austrian, Swiss and Danish opera houses. Each singer whose tape was accepted would receive a report after each tape was shown. And the singer would be encouraged to call on her for advice about his or her operatic career while in Europe. The program was launched this fall.

Less than half the singers who apply are taped.

"If they're no good I tell them to take their money and invest it elsewhere," she says. (The cost for the entire project for any singer she tapes is $850 — there is no charge for auditioning with her.)

Mrs. Hedderich, who believes a successful opera career to be the result of 10 per cent natural voice and 90 per cent hard work, adds that, "If a singer isn't ready but shows promise, I may recommend more study or a different type of teacher."

She recalls the case of a young man she auditioned as a heroic tenor for Wagnerian operas.

"He thought in order to have a career in Germany he would have to sing those parts. He came across very poorly; he was struggling so." A few days later at her request, she heard him again — this time singing different types of roles. "It was obvious that he wasn't a heroic tenor at all," she says with a smile, "but a lyric tenor. I advised him to practice and study the lyric roles. My adivse probably saved his voice."

Her advice isn't only directed at matters concerning a singer's voice. "I'm developing them as a total person," she explains, "and being a total person means being involved with many aspects" — not the least of which is the romantic.

Mrs. Hedderich, whose late husband also was an opera singer, acknowledges that it's common for a singer to get involved with someone in the same field. "But unless it's real love or if the person is truly interested in this career, I try to discourage it. After all, the director of one opera house may not be there forever."

Mrs. Hedderich admits that she herself didn't face any of the problems most of today's young opera singers encounter in trying to develop a career. Actually she likens her discovery to "you know . . . that American film star with the legs. (Betty Grable)

"I was very young and singing in a small opera house when a singer from the Staatsoper in Dresden heard me," she recalls. 'She recommended me to the opera houses in Bern and Hamburg and I received invitations from both houses. Then I met someone on the street who said that Berlin needed a Queen of the Night ("Magic Flute"). I auditioned and got the role. Actually I never even thought about being a success; it just snowballed. Imagine being a grand prima donna in just about two years. It should happen to some of my young Americans!"

Richard Geissinger To Wed Miss Taylor

The engagement of Elizabeth Jean Taylor of San Anselmo and Richard Clinton Geissinger of Mill Valley was announced at a family dinner party.

ELIZABETH TAYLOR

Elizabeth is the daughter of Mrs. Ernest H. Taylor of San Anselmo and the late Mr. Taylor. The future brdiegroom's parents are Lt. Col. and Mrs. Carl B. Geissinger of Mill Valley.

The bride-elect is a graduate of Sir Francis Drake High School and is a student at College of Marin. She is the sister of David D. Taylor and Mrs. Mary Jean Sheran of San Anselmo and the Rev. A. Robert Taylor of Newark.

Richard's brothers are Carl B. Geissinger of Mill Valley, Norbert Geissinger with the Navy and stationed in San Diego, and Jerry Geissinger with the Army, stationed at Ft. Sam Houston, Tex. He was graduated from Tamalpais High School and is a student at College of Marin. Richard is employed with Shoeland in San Rafael.

Bridge Marathon Set By Reed Sunny Hills Guild

The Reed Guild of Sunny Hills is again sponsoring a bridge marathon which involves some 200 Marin women and lasts from September until May. Mrs. Marvin Wood, newly elected president of the guild, has announced that the program, now in its third year, is under the direction of Mrs. Phillip Brown, chairman.

A. Bea Wood, a member of the Reed Guild for four years, is a former vice president of the organization. The other project of the Tiburon women is to staff a hamburger stand at the Grape Festival. Membership is open, she says, "to any adult female willing to devote time and effort to our projects."

Mrs. Wood and her husband, a commodity broker, have lived in Tiburon's Reedlands district for seven years. They belong to the Tiburon Peninsula Club and the San Francisco Golf Club.

The new president enjoys golf, tennis, knitting, sewing, gardening, travel, her role of homemaker, and care of the family's pet dogs.

Other incoming officers are Mmes. Bernard Page, vice president; Alice Royo, corresponding secretary; Luther Chestnut III, recording secretary; and B. P. Hovey, treasurer.

Resilient Fabrics

Resiliency describes that property of a fabric to spring back after crushing. Cotton, linen, rayon are not naturally resilient and gain the property to a degree through wrinkle-resistant finishes. Wool, silk and the chemical man-made fibers are naturally resilient.

John Gilleran To Wed Theresa M. Gratto

Mr. and Mrs. David L. Gratto of Kentfield have announced the engagement of their daughter Theresa Margaret Gratto to John Joseph Gilleran Jr. of San Rafael.

THERESA GRATTO

A graduate of Marin Catholic High School, Theresa attended Chico State College and is enrolled in the dental assisting program at the College of Marin. She is the sister of Mary Ethel Gratto and Leon Francis Gratto of Kentfield and David L. Gratto Jr.

John is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John J. Gilleran of San Rafael. He also is a Marin Catholic High School graduate and attends the College of Marin.

Dick Andrus-Miss Shiek Are Married

St. Raphael's Church in San Rafael was the setting for the nuptials of Audrey Shiek and Richard Andrus, both of San Rafael, on Feb. 14.

Marilyn Bareis was maid of honor for the evening ceremony, and Robert Copeland served as best man.

After the wedding a reception was held at Shelter Bay Clubhouse in Mill Valley.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Shiek of St. Cloud, Minn. She was graduated from Cathedral High School in St. Cloud and is employed with Pacific Telephone Co. in San Rafael.

The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Andrus of Dickinson, N.D. He is a graduate of Dickinson High School and is employed with the merchant marine.

EIGHTY DOMINICAN College seniors will be entertained at a formal candlelight supper tomorrow evening by the officers of the alumnae association.

The 6 p.m. dinner will be served on tables set with rose colored linen edged in white lace made especially for the occasion, in the dining room at Calereuga on the San Rafael campus.

Mrs. William Talbot Jr. and Mrs. James Madden, chairmen for the affair, will greet guests.

Mmes. Reed Volin, James McCone Jr., Frank Ortman Jr., John Cottrell, Charles Sweeney, Thomas Perlite and Charles Gardiner will also be in the receiving line.

College president Sister M. Samuel, o.p., Sister M. Patricia, o.p. and Miss Wanda Collins, dean of students, will be among the honored guests.

THE LEAGUE of Women Voters of Southern Marin will begin its study of local public education at meetings tonight and tomorrow.

Discussions will include presentation of a variety of suggestions for financing schools and for maintaining community support. Member response to such questions as these will be sought:

Should school districts be able to set their own tax rates as all other governing bodies do without going to the voter? How much fund support should the state give to the schools for operating expenses? How can school boards maintain the support of their communities?

It is not necessary to be a league member to attend meetings. Time and date are given in the Marin Datebook.

TWO MORE winners in the Betty Crocker Search for the American Homemaker of Tomorrow have been announced for their high schools. Terry Frances Castle is the winner among the senior girls at San Rafael High School, and Mary V. Upshaw was the winner for Terra Linda High School.

They will be among the high school seniors whose written tests will be judged in the statewide contest. State winners will compete nationally for the top honor. State winners will be guests with their school advisers on a trip to Washington D.C. and Colonial Williamsburg. The national winner and three runners-up will receive college scholarships.

HONORARY LIFE memberships were given to two members, Mrs. Harry Eide and Mrs. Harry Magill, by the Lu Sutton Parent-Teacher Association.

Mrs. Eide was presented the award in recognition of her continuing service to youth as a leader of Cub Scouts, Blue Birds and 4-H groups and as a teacher in the church school and with girls at Juvenile Hall. She has been a volunteer in the activities program and library service at Lu Sutton School. Mrs. Eide is currently the Community Club leader for the Novato Aggies 4-H Club and is in charge of the library volunteer program at the school, which allows the library to be open throughout the day.

Mrs. Magill is a past P-TA unit president in Mill Valley and at Lu Sutton, a Cub Scout and Brownie Troop leader and church school teacher. Last spring Mrs. Magill conducted swimming classes for the Head Start program, and she has been the North Marin coordinator for the vision screen program of the Marin Clunty Association of Delta Gamma Alumnae.

THE FILM, "Marijuana," will be featured at the Laurel Dell Parent-Teacher Association meeting at 7:45 tomorrow. Inspector Dennis Sawdon of the Marin County drug abuse bureau will lead the discussion.

Next week the film will be shown to Laurel Dell's intermediate pupils, and Sgt. Lou Foster, San Rafael juvenile officer, will answer the youngsters' queries.

IN THE SPOTLIGHT at the Corinthian Yacht Club dinner program Friday will be the John Williams family, famous ice skaters.

A three-part program will feature a talk by Mr. and Mrs. Williams and their children, Debbie, 16 and Robbie, 13, two films, "The Williams Family in Action," and "Opening Night of the Ice Follies." The Williams family, who skated professionally for both Ice Follies and Holiday on Ice companies, are now living in San Rafael.

Cocktails will be served at 6 p.m., dinner at 7:30 p.m. and the program will start at 8:30 p.m. John Cutler is program chairman.

MARIN STAR Theta Rho Girls 121 of the Independent Order of Odd Fellows will hold initation ceremonies on Friday in San Rafael. Candidates for initiation are Anne Wolf, Pam Grundmen, Cathy McNulty, Lois Vanderkyle, Julia Bishop and Felice Arroyo, all from Novato.

The Odd Fellows and Rebekahs of California will offer members of the Junior Odd Fellows and Theta Rho girls the opportunity to enter the United Nations Pilgrimage for Youth contest.

The Junior Odd Fellows and two Theta Rho girls will be awarded a four week educational bus tour to visit the United Nations and American historical sites.

Marin Star has entered Chris Kelly of Novato and Jo Baker of San Rafael in the contest.

MILL VALLEY Bethel 119 of the International Order of Job's Daughters will hold a visiting bethel meeting tonight at 7:30 p.m. in the Mill Valley Masonic Temple.

Members of other bethels are invited to attend. Honored queen Marsha Phipps will preside. Refreshments chairman is Cynthia Postel.

Initiated at the last meeting were Laura Finzen and Joyce Bromm.

MARIN DELTA Zeta Alumnae will meet tomorrow at noon at the home of president Mrs. Headley Brown, 1293 Idylberry, Lucas Valley. Dessert and coffee will be served.

Tickets will be distributed for the annual benefit party for the hearing handicapped to be held on April 11 at the Marin Country Club.

Mrs. Brown announces the appointment of Mrs. Graham Blevins of Terra Linda as the new recommendations chairman.

MRS. HENRY FOWLER, school secretary for over 10 years, was given the annual life membership award by the Penngrove School Parent-Teacher Association.

DENICE JAMISON

Duffy-Jamison Engagement

The engagement of Denice C. Jamison of Corte Madera to Lt. Lawrence T. Duffy of Vandenburg Air Force Base was announced Saturday night at a party at the Corte Madera home of the bride's aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Stahl.

Fifty relatives and friends attended the party at which the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Jamison, made the announcement.

Denice was graduated from Presentation High School in San Francisco, attended San Francisco College for Women and is a graduate of the University of San Francisco. She is a member of the Young Republicans and is employed by the U.S Civil Service Commission in San Francisco.

The future bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William O. Duffy of San Francisco. He is the brother of Mrs. Cecilia Brown of San Francisco, Lt. Col. William Duffy with the Army in Germany and Gerald Duffy of Daly City. Lawrence was graduated from St. Ignatius High School in San Francisco and the University of Santa Clara.

The couple plan to wed next month at St. Patrick's Church in Larkspur.

She Smooths Path For Young Singer

By ARLEEN ABRAHAMS

NEW YORK (AP) — One might call Toni Hedderich a Miss Lonelyhearts for young American opera singers.

Her advice, though, is mainly career oriented and is given on a person to person basis — only after she has heard the artist.

While teaching opera hopefuls in Germany several years ago, Mrs. Hedderich, a former leading dramatic coloratura of the Berlin Staatsoper, became concerned about the plight of the many young American opera singers roaming Europe.

"Ever since the war," she explains, "young Americans seeking an operatic career in the States had been advised to go to Europe to get experience, since without experience, for the most part, they could not hope to land a job in the American opera houses."

(In the United States, she claims, experience is hard to come by due to the lack of small professional opera companies and quality workshops.)

However, as she explains through an interpreter in her native German, "Most of them only met with frustration and disappointment. Some weren't ready to sing at opera house level; others didn't have the right instruction or voice training." But for many, she says, it was simply a case of not knowing where and when to apply.

"They might apply in Berlin when there was no opening at that company, when instead, they should have applied to the Hamburg company. Then they might not have the proper introduction or entree to the right opera personnel . . . the ones who could employ them."

Recently, aided by the perfection of a new video tape which reproduces the human voice without distortion and/or improvement and the development of special cameras by her son, Michael, Mrs. Hedderich came up with a solution. She would come to the States and Canada and videotape young artists singing two or three arias in costume. The tapes would then be shown to more than 60 directors of German, Austrian, Swiss and Danish opera houses. Each singer whose tape was accepted would receive a report after each tape was shown. And the singer would be encouraged to call on her for advice about his or her operatic career while in Europe. The program was launched this fall.

Less than half the singers who apply are taped.

"If they're no good I tell them to take their money and invest it elsewhere," she says. (The cost for the entire project for any singer she tapes is $850 — there is no charge for auditioning with her.)

Mrs. Hedderich, who believes a successful opera career to be the result of 10 per cent natural voice and 90 per cent hard work, adds that, "If a singer isn't ready but shows promise, I may recommend more study or a different type of teacher."

She recalls the case of a young man she auditioned as a heroic tenor for Wagnerian operas.

"He thought in order to have a career in Germany he would have to sing those parts. He came across very poorly; he was struggling so." A few days later at her request, she heard him again — this time singing different types of roles. "It was obvious that he wasn't a heroic tenor at all," she says with a smile, "but a lyric tenor. I advised him to practice and study the lyric roles. My adivse probably saved his voice."

Her advice isn't only directed at matters concerning a singer's voice. "I'm developing them as a total person," she explains, "and being a total person means being involved with many aspects" — not the least of which is the romantic.

Mrs. Hedderich, whose late husband also was an opera singer, acknowledges that it's common for a singer to get involved with someone in the same field. "But unless it's real love or if the person is truly interested in this career, I try to discourage it. After all, the director of one opera house may not be there forever."

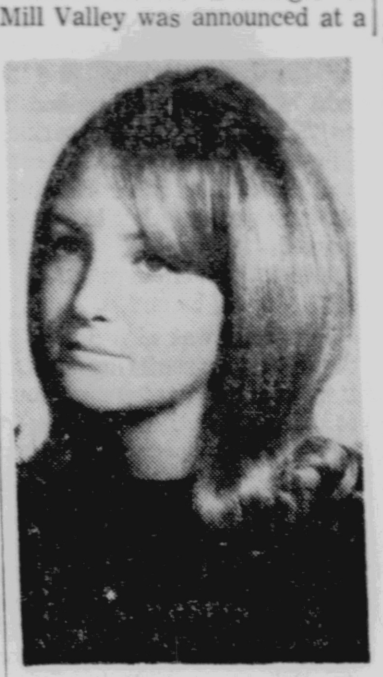
Mrs. Hedderich admits that she herself didn't face any of the problems most of today's young opera singers encounter in trying to develop a career. Actually she likens her discovery to "you know . . . that American film star with the legs. (Betty Grable)

"I was very young and singing in a small opera house when a singer from the Staatsoper in Dresden heard me," she recalls. 'She recommended me to the opera houses in Bern and Hamburg and I received invitations from both houses. Then I met someone on the street who said that Berlin needed a Queen of the Night ("Magic Flute"). I auditioned and got the role. Actually I never even thought about being a success; it just snowballed. Imagine being a grand prima donna in just about two years. It should happen to some of my young Americans!"

TONI HEDDRICH

Richard Geissinger To Wed Miss Taylor

The engagement of Elizabeth Jean Taylor of San Anselmo and Richard Clinton Geissinger of Mill Valley was announced at a family dinner party.



ELIZABETH TAYLOR

Elizabeth is the daughter of Mrs. Ernest H. Taylor of San Anselmo and the late Mr. Taylor. The future brdiegroom's parents are Lt. Col. and Mrs. Carl B. Geissinger of Mill Valley.

The bride-elect is a graduate of Sir Francis Drake High School and is a student at College of Marin. She is the sister of David D. Taylor and Mrs. Mary Jean Sheran of San Anselmo and the Rev. A. Robert Taylor of Newark.

Richard's brothers are Carl B. Geissinger of Mill Valley, Norbert Geissinger with the Navy and stationed in San Diego, and Jerry Geissinger with the Army, stationed at Ft. Sam Houston, Tex. He was graduated from Tamalpais High School and is a student at College of Marin. Richard is employed with Shoeland in San Rafael.

Bridge Marathon Set By Reed Sunny Hills Guild

The Reed Guild of Sunny Hills is again sponsoring a bridge marathon which involves some 200 Marin women and lasts from September until May. Mrs. Marvin Wood, newly elected president of the guild, has announced that the program, now in its third year, is under the direction of Mrs. Phillip Brown, chairman.

A. Bea Wood, a member of the Reed Guild for four years, is a former vice president of the organization. The other project of the Tiburon women is to staff a hamburger stand at the Grape Festival. Membership is open, she says, "to any adult female willing to devote time and effort to our projects."

Mrs. Wood and her husband, a commodity broker, have lived in Tiburon's Reedlands district for seven years. They belong to the Tiburon Peninsula Club and the San Francisco Golf Club.

The new president enjoys golf, tennis, knitting, sewing, gardening, travel, her role of homemaker, and care of the family's pet dogs.

Other incoming officers are Mmes. Bernard Page, vice president; Alice Royo, corresponding secretary; Luther Chestnut III, recording secretary; and B. P. Hovey, treasurer.

John Gilleran To Wed Theresa M. Gratto

Mr. and Mrs. David L. Gratto of Kentfield have announced the engagement of their daughter Theresa Margaret Gratto to John Joseph Gilleran Jr. of San Rafael.

THERESA GRATTO

A graduate of Marin Catholic High School, Theresa attended Chico State College and is enrolled in the dental assisting program at the College of Marin. She is the sister of Mary Ethel Gratto and Leon Francis Gratto of Kentfield and David L. Gratto Jr.

John is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John J. Gilleran of San Rafael. He also is a Marin Catholic High School graduate and attends the College of Marin.

Dick Andrus-Miss Shiek Are Married

St. Raphael's Church in San Rafael was the setting for the nuptials of Audrey Shiek and Richard Andrus, both of San Rafael, on Feb. 14.

Marilyn Bareis was maid of honor for the evening ceremony, and Robert Copeland served as best man.

After the wedding a reception was held at Shelter Bay Clubhouse in Mill Valley.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Shiek of St. Cloud, Minn. She was graduated from Cathedral High School in St. Cloud and is employed with Pacific Telephone Co. in San Rafael.

The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Andrus of Dickinson, N.D. He is a graduate of Dickinson High School and is employed with the merchant marine.

Resilient Fabrics

Resiliency describes that property of a fabric to spring back after crushing. Cotton, linen, rayon are not naturally resilient and gain the property to a degree through wrinkle-resistant finishes. Wool, silk and the chemical man-made fibers are naturally resilient.

'Honky Tonk' Sausalito Signs Face City Boot

If Sausalito officials follow up some tough talk by city councilmen last night, the city will be missing a lot of "honky tonk" signs and displays within a few days.

Councilman George Hoffman complained of a fire engine parked all day in a two-hour zone to advertise Gatsby's Bar and unauthorized signs outside the Designers Market. "Honky Tonk," he called it, and to add insult to inury the fire engine was fresh-bought surplus from the City of Sausalito.

Hoffman also complained that he counted 51 cars, most of them wrecked, outside a car repair shop at 3001 Bridgeway, and councilman Robin Sweeny said someone had put out big signs and held garage sales on recent weekend at 1417½ Bridgeway.

From the audience, Carl W. Spring chimed in to complain of a continuing garage sale, with signs, at Sausalito Boulevard and Spencer Avenue, a truck and sign perpetually parked outside Barney West's tiki factory on Bridgeway, and goods for sale stored on city streets by Sausalito Nursery.

City Mgr. George M. Patterson and Police Chief James D. Wright took fistfuls of notes and indicated steps would be taken to curb the offending practices.

Communists Try Bottling Scotch

LONDON (London Express) — Two Communist countries will soon be producing Scotch whiskey. The label may be red but the Communists claim it will be real Scotch.

Bulgaria and Hungary recently announced that they would import "original whisky essence" from Scotland.

In Hungary a new distillery is being finished in the town of Szabedgyhaza. It soon will start producing Scotch and the plan provides for half a million bottles in the first year.

The Bulgarians are reconstructing the state wine plant outside the capital Sofia and intend not only to cease importing whisky but also export it to other Communist countries.

Policy Session

The Planning Process Committee of the Marin County Comprehensive Health Planning Council will have an orientation session on policy at 7:30 p.m. tomorrow at the Coral Room at Marin General Hospital, Kentfield.

Council Reviews Waterfront Plan

The Sausalito City Council last night cast favoring glances on a central waterfront plan proposed by property owners, then sent it on to the city planning consultants to see how it fits with the consultants' waterfront plan.

The owners' plan, approved last week by the planning commission, covers the area from the ferryboat Berkeley to Pine Street. It calls for expanding the Sausalito Yacht Harbor to 680 berths, a motel and professional-administrative office development at the base of the Sandspit on Bay Street, and commercial development on the old Arques shipyard between Johnson and Pine Streets.

Attorney Hugh G. Lawrence, representing the yacht harbor and Madden and Lewis, Inc., said he could not speak for MacMarin, Inc., operator of the Spinnaker restaurant at the end of the sandspit. This apparently indicated dissatisfaction with the plan by MacMarin, but Lawrence did not elaborate.

Councilman Jan Paul Dyk said he was apprehensive of the effect a motel downtown would have on traffic and shops, but Lawrence said it would have less effect than a comparable-sized retail store.

Councilmen gave cautious approval in principle, but sent the plan along to William T. Spangle and Associates without commiting themselves to approve any part of it.

Acting on suggestions of Councilman George Hoffman, the council told City Mgr. George M. Patterson to prepare ordinances for several parking changes.

Meter fees downtown will be boosted to 20 cents an hour, city residents will be allowed free parking from 9 a.m. to noon in city lot No. 1, part of parking lot No. 3 will be limited to two-hour or four-hour parking, and the rest of lot No. 3 will be boosted to 75 cents for all-day parking. More all-day meters at 50 cents will be installed in the Humboldt Avenue parking lot to be improved north of Lot 3; merchant-validated parking in lot No. 1 will be ended.

Patterson was also told to go ahead with removing meters from 12-minute green curb zones to be scattered downtown for quick pickup shopping. The administration can act on green curbs without an ordinance.

The council heard a proposal it become a "world city" and work toward international peace by Watana Keovimol, a Thai who is ambassador at large for the World Constitution and Parliament Association. Keovimol presented a letter from the mayor of Wolfach, Germany, a world city and site last summer of the world constitutional convention. Althya C. Youngman of Sausalito, who was a delegate to the convention, added her voice to Keovimol's for peace and for world city status for Sausalito.

The Sausalito City Council also:

ABANDONMENT — Rejected a request by Malcolm Dewees to buy the West Street right-of-way adjoining his property to enlarge a town house development he plans.

RECREATION — Was told the city has hired Richard Paris, 25, as a part-time director for the teen center now being renovated in the old Star of the Sea church hall.

FIREWORKS — Approved a request by Sausalito Artists and Merchants Association to have a fireworks display July 4, but postponed any promise to help pay for it.

SAUSALITO CANAL — Gave its blessing to proposed dredging of the Saucelito Canal through Richardson Bay if the Bay Conservation and Development Commission is satisfied spoils dumping proposed will have no ill effect on the bay and if project beneficiaries carry the local cost. William Hess of the Marin County Public Works Department said it is planned to dump the 700,000 cubic yards of spoils near Alcatraz and Treasure Island, where they presumably would be washed out to sea. The Army Corps of Engineers would finance half the $1 million cost, he said, but local financing is still up in the air.

Underwater Films

Several underwater films will be shown without charge at 7:30 p. m. Saturday at Bamboo Reef Undersea Products, 3765 Redwood Highway, San Rafael, Daniel J. McSweeney, assistant manager, said today.

Great Decisions 1969 Talks Begin Friday

Great Decisions 1969 will begin at 7:30 p.m. Friday at the home of Donald P. Bowden, 400 West Blithedale Avenue, Mill Valley.

The series of eight discussions on United States foreign policy is open to all interested persons, according to Bowden.

Early West Marin Will Be Discussed

Attorney Thomas J. Barfield of Bolinas will talk about "Looking Back in West Marin" at a general meeting of the Marin Medical Society and Auxiliary at 7 p.m. March 6 at the Meadow Club, west of Fairfax.

Barfield will tell about the early history of West Marin with emphasis on Bolinas.

Highway Signs Changes Studied

Corte Madera planning commissioners and chamber of commerce representatives spoke favorably last night of including a special section in the proposed sign ordinance for highway business signs.

Commission Chairman C. William Thomas said no action was taken at the adjourned meeting but that participants felt that signs of highway-oriented businesses should be different from those for neighborhood stores.

Another meeting on the sign ordinance will be set March 10 at the planners regular session, Thomas said.

NOVATO BALLET DANCERS

Nancy Jones (foreground) and (left to right) Marion Manning, Bonnie Bent and Maribeth Patterson practice for their parts in "Glazounov Waltz," a 30-minute ballet to be presented by the Novato Ballet Guild on March 14 and 21 at 8 p.m. and March 22 at 2:30 p.m. at the Novato Community House. Also to be presented are two other ballets, "Undersea Ballet" with a cast of 35 and "Saturdays" a ballet with a Western flavor and music by Aaron Copeland.

Council Reviews Waterfront Plan

The Sausalito City Council last night cast favoring glances on a central waterfront plan proposed by property owners, then sent it on to the city planning consultants to see how it fits with the consultants' waterfront plan.

The owners' plan, approved last week by the planning commission, covers the area from the ferryboat Berkeley to Pine Street. It calls for expanding the Sausalito Yacht Harbor to 680 berths, a motel and professional-administrative office development at the base of the Sandspit on Bay Street, and commercial development on the old Arques shipyard between Johnson and Pine Streets.

Attorney Hugh G. Lawrence, representing the yacht harbor and Madden and Lewis, Inc., said he could not speak for MacMarin, Inc., operator of the Spinnaker restaurant at the end of the sandspit. This apparently indicated dissatisfaction with the plan by MacMarin, but Lawrence did not elaborate.

Councilman Jan Paul Dyk said he was apprehensive of the effect a motel downtown would have on traffic and shops, but Lawrence said it would have less effect than a comparable-sized retail store.

Councilmen gave cautious approval in principle, but sent the plan along to William T. Spangle and Associates without commiting themselves to approve any part of it.

Acting on suggestions of Councilman George Hoffman, the council told City Mgr. George M. Patterson to prepare ordinances for several parking changes.

Meter fees downtown will be boosted to 20 cents an hour, city residents will be allowed free parking from 9 a.m. to noon in city lot No. 1, part of parking lot No. 3 will be limited to two-hour or four-hour parking, and the rest of lot No. 3 will be boosted to 75 cents for all-day parking. More all-day meters at 50 cents will be installed in the Humboldt Avenue parking lot to be improved north of Lot 3; merchant-validated parking in lot No. 1 will be ended.

Patterson was also told to go ahead with removing meters from 12-minute green curb zones to be scattered downtown for quick pickup shopping. The administration can act on green curbs without an ordinance.

The council heard a proposal it become a "world city" and work toward international peace by Watana Keovimol, a Thai who is ambassador at large for the World Constitution and Parliament Association. Keovimol presented a letter from the mayor of Wolfach, Germany, a world city and site last summer of the world constitutional convention. Althya C. Youngman of Sausalito, who was a delegate to the convention, added her voice to Keovimol's for peace and for world city status for Sausalito.

The Sausalito City Council also:

ABANDONMENT — Rejected a request by Malcolm Dewees to buy the West Street right-of-way adjoining his property to enlarge a town house development he plans.

RECREATION — Was told the city has hired Richard Paris, 25, as a part-time director for the teen center now being renovated in the old Star of the Sea church hall.

FIREWORKS — Approved a request by Sausalito Artists and Merchants Association to have a fireworks display July 4, but postponed any promise to help pay for it.

SAUSALITO CANAL — Gave its blessing to proposed dredging of the Saucelito Canal through Richardson Bay if the Bay Conservation and Development Commission is satisfied spoils dumping proposed will have no ill effect on the bay and if project beneficiaries carry the local cost. William Hess of the Marin County Public Works Department said it is planned to dump the 700,000 cubic yards of spoils near Alcatraz and Treasure Island, where they presumably would be washed out to sea. The Army Corps of Engineers would finance half the $1 million cost, he said, but local financing is still up in the air.

Underwater Films

Several underwater films will be shown without charge at 7:30 p. m. Saturday at Bamboo Reef Undersea Products, 3765 Redwood Highway, San Rafael, Daniel J. McSweeney, assistant manager, said today.

Great Decisions 1969 Talks Begin Friday

Great Decisions 1969 will begin at 7:30 p.m. Friday at the home of Donald P. Bowden. 400 West Blithedale Avenue, Mill Valley.

The series of eight discussions on United States foreign policy is open to all interested persons, according to Bowden.

Early West Marin Will Be Discussed

Attorney Thomas J. Barfield of Bolinas will talk about "Looking Back in West Marin" at a general meeting of the Marin Medical Society and Auxiliary at 7 p.m. March 6 at the Meadow Club, west of Fairfax.

Barfield will tell about the early history of West Marin with emphasis on Bolinas.

Highway Signs Changes Studied

Corte Madera planning commissioners and chamber of commerce representatives spoke favorably last night of including a special section in the proposed sign ordinance for highway business signs.

Commission Chairman C. William Thomas said no action was taken at the adjourned meeting but that participants felt that signs of highway-oriented businesses should be different from those for neighborhood stores.

Another meeting on the sign ordinance will be set March 10 at the planners regular session, Thomas said.

'Honky Tonk' Sausalito Signs Face City Boot

If Sausalito officials follow up some tough talk by city councilmen last night, the city will be missing a lot of "honky tonk" signs and displays within a few days.

Councilman George Hoffman complained of a fire engine parked all day in a two-hour zone to advertise Gatsby's Bar and unauthorized signs outside the Designers Market. "Honky Tonk," he called it, and to add insult to inury the fire engine was fresh-bought surplus from the City of Sausalito.

Hoffman also complained that he counted 51 cars, most of them wrecked, outside a car repair shop at 3001 Bridgeway, and councilman Robin Sweeny said someone had put out big signs and held garage sales on recent weekend at 1417½ Bridgeway.

From the audience, Carl W. Spring chimed in to complain of a continuing garage sale, with signs, at Sausalito Boulevard and Spencer Avenue, a truck and sign perpetually parked outside Barney West's tiki factory on Bridgeway, and goods for sale stored on city streets by Sausalito Nursery.

City Mgr. George M. Patterson and Police Chief James D. Wright took fistfuls of notes and indicated steps would be taken to curb the offending practices.

Communists Try Bottling Scotch

LONDON (London Express) — Two Communist countries will soon be producing Scotch whiskey. The label may be red but the Communists claim it will be real Scotch.

Bulgaria and Hungary recently announced that they would import "original whisky essence" from Scotland.

In Hungary a new distillery is being finished in the town of Szabedgyhaza. It soon will start producing Scotch and the plan provides for half a million bottles in the first year.

The Bulgarians are reconstructing the state wine plant outside the capital Sofia and intend not only to cease importing whisky but also export it to other Communist countries.

Policy Session

The Planning Process Committee of the Marin County Comprehensive Health Planning Council will have an orientation session on policy at 7:30 p.m. tomorrow at the Coral Room at Marin General Hospital, Kentfield.

Reserve Wing To Be Moved To Travis AFB

The 349th Military Airlift Wing, a reserve unit which has been headquartered at Hamilton Air Force Base since 1959, will be moved to Travis Air Force Base July 1, according to an announcement today by the wing information office.

This will mean that approximately 150 full-time military men who have been at Hamilton will be transferred to Travis. Many of these men have their homes in the area and will be required to move.

MANY TRANSFERS

There were 34 Civil Service employees in the wing when it was recalled to active duty in January last year, but 29 of these have transferred to other units at Hamilton, according to the information officers. It is not known now if the remaining five will move with the wing to Travis.

There were 950 reservists called to active duty with the 349th when the Pueblo was seized. Since that time, many of these men have been assigned to other units at Hamilton, Korea, England and other bases, with 450 men now at Hamilton.

All of the men assigned to other bases will be returned to Hamilton before June. Those who request it, will be returned to reserve status. Only those that were on full-time status with the wing or who request to stay in the regular military, will be transferred to Travis, according to the information office.

After the transfer, the men on reserve status will take their training at Travis instead of Hamilton.

ASSOCIATE WING

When the wing is moved to Travis, it will be changed to an associate wing of the Military Airlift Command. It has been flying the C130 cargo planes, but will change to the C141 Starlifter jet transport planes.

The men in the reserves will work beside those in the regular service under the change instead of working independently as in the past. They will continue their flying missions to airbases throughout the world, according to wing officers.

Officials at Hamilton have not yet assigned the hangar space or office space to any other units, it was also reported.

Construction Up In January

Building permits issued in Marin last month were 85.8 per cent higher than those issued in the same month a year ago, it was reported today by the Marin County Chamber of Commerce and Visitors Bureau.

A total of $4,744,000 in building permits was issued compared to $2,533,924 in January 1968, and was the highest for the month since 1965.

Permits for dwelling units totaled 169, compared to 57 in January 1968, with the majority of the gain in apartment units, which totaled 104.

San Rafael had the highest total $1,676,144, of which $639,541 was commercial and Novato had a total of $1,099,650, practically all accounted for by permits for 76 dwelling units.

Youth Accused Of Bad Check

Phillip Charles Verheyden of 500 South Eliseo Drive, San Rafel, was arrested yesterday by Mill Valley police on suspicion of passing forged checks.

Verheyden, 22, posted $2,000 bail to appear at 2 p.m. today in Marin Municipal Court for arraignment.

On Jan. 4, police said, Verheyden purchased a stereo record system from Accurate TV at 1 Throckmorton Avenue with a $215 check drawn on his own bank account but signed with a fictitious name.

Batteries Stolen

Doug Dicker reported to Corte Madera police yesterday that someone cut a hole through the fence on his auto agency property at 201 Casa Buena Drive and removed four batteries from new cars parked nearby. Value of the batteries was not given, said police.

OIL STAIN—Rolfe C. Croker of San Rafael cleans the bow of his Cal 36, the Ano Nuevo, which was in Santa Barbara during the oil well leak. (Independent-Journal photo)

STORM, THEN BLOB

Oil Damages San Rafael Yacht Caught In Santa Barbara Port

A San Rafael racing sloop, en route home from Mexico, received a staining dose of the brownish oil from Santa Barbara's runaway well, the vessel's owner said yesterday.

The boat, a Cal 36 owned by Rolfe C. Croker of San Rafael, was moored in the Santa Barbara Harbor for two weeks while the oil licked at its sleek lines.

More than 30 miles of beaches and harbors were ultimately coated by the gummy slick.

Croker, president of the Pacific Coast Title Co., said the boat, the Ano Nuevo, was being sailed home in spurts after finishing fourth in its class in the 1,000-mile Los Angeles to Mazatlan race in November. Croker skippered a crew of five in the race.

Croker said a friend sailed the Ano Nuevo to San Diego. There, Croker took over and, about four weeks ago, reached Santa Barbara.

"We tried to get out one day," he said, "but a storm drove us back. Then the oil came.

"We would clean the boat to the water line and the rain would splash the oil back up," Croker said. "Then they told us we had to stop using detergents in the water because of the added threat to wildlife.

More than 150 birds have been found dead as a result of the oil.

"We avoided all the oil slicks on the way home," Croker said. "But there was residue on the water and it was enough to splash up."

Croker finally returned the Ano Nuevo to its berth at the Marin Yacht Club in San Rafael last week and has begun new cleanup operations.

He estimated $625 worth of damage to the $30,000 sloop. The vessel will have to be lifted from the water to clean the keel, Croker said.

PG&E Board Subpoened By Marinite

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — The entire board of directors of the Pacific Gas and Electric Co. has been subpoened to appear before the state Public Utilities Commission at the request of former commissioner William M. Bennett of Kent Woodlands.

Bennett, who had the subpoenas issued by the commission's staff, said he wanted to ask the directors about the utility's "political expenses" and "why they have to spend money advertising a necessity." The utility has reported it spends $2.5 million a year on promotion, arguing increased use of its services helps keep rates down.

The commission, however, is to hear a motion by PG&E attorneys to quash the subpoenas at 10 a.m. tomorrow in the State Building. The attorneys' motion termed them "vexatious, unreasonable, unnecessary and burdensome."

Bennett claimed the directors' testimony should be part of the commission's hearing on a $6.79 million gas rate increase. The increase, supported in a stipulation by the commission's staff, will be effective March 7 if approved by the commission. It would hike the average homeowner's monthly gas bill by 14 cents, the PUC staff has reported.

Among those subpoened was David Packard of Palo Alto, former board member now of Washington, D. C. who resigned when he was named undersecretary of defense.

Youngsters may have been responsible for a burglary Sunday at the home of Elmer S. Albritton at 55 Upland Road, Kentfield, according to sheriff's deputies. A smashed pumpkin was left behind, and the house had been ransacked with a stereo set taken.

Flood Control Tax Hike To Be Viewed

I-J Special Report

SANTA ROSA — Sonoma County supervisors next week will consider a request to increase the tax rate of the Petaluma Area Flood Control District to the full 25-cent limit.

Carl Jackson, assistant engineer for the Sonoma County Flood Control and Water Conservation District, said the present tax rate of 18 cents per $100 assessed valuation is not enough to support the programs needed to curtail nuisance flooding in the Petaluma basin.

The Petaluma Flood Control Advisory Committee last week approved the recommended tax hike. The 7-cent increase would bring an additional $42,000 to the district, according to Jackson.

He said it would provide funds for the second segment of new drain facilities to carry water from the Cherry Street-Magnolia Avenue area across Petaluma Boulevard where it will discharge into the Petaluma River.

Jackson said it would also provide funds for the first phase of the Washington Creek project, running along McDowell Boulevard to a point 500 feet east of the roadway. The project involves lining the creek with concrete as far as Maria Drive to stop erosion and the installation of fencing along the creek bed.

The engineer said he did not know how the supervisors might react to the tax increase proposed. Other district rates in Sonoma County will remain stable, he said. Petaluma Supervisor Leigh S. Shoemaker did not attend the committee meeting when the tax hike was approved.

Three Fined On Drunken Driving

Three persons have been sentenced in Marin Municipal Court or drunken driving in Marin County .

Ernest Elie Blum, 62, of 1 Meyer Place, Kentfield, who was arrested Feb. 6 in Larkspur, was fined $302 and placed on six months probation.

Ronald Lee Werkheister, 26, of Fort Barry, was fined $125 and put on six months probation. He was arrested Saturday in Sausalito.

David Ralph Reed, 32, who was arrested Feb. 21 on Highway 101, was fined $200 and placed on six months probation. He lives at 57 Corte Solano, Greenbrae.

Thieves Invade Three Autos, Get $300 In Loot

Thieves have entered three autos in the San Rafael area in the past week and stolen more than $300 in goods, police reported.

Tilford J. Land of 108 La Brea Way, Santa Venetia, reported that $138 worth of items, including a $125 pair of binoculars, was stolen Monday or Tuesday from his camper-truck while parked either at his home or at Vallecito School in Terra Linda.

Stereophonic tapes worth $150 were reported stolen yesterday by Gary V. Muir of 1104 Sir Francis Drake Boulevard, San Anselmo, from his car in the Pacific Telephone Co. lot on H Street.

Cherie K. Reid of 109 Mount Lassen Drive, San Rafael, told police thieves stole the auto stereophonic set from her auto last Thursdy while it was parked at Terra Linda High School, where she is a student.

Sanity Trial Set

A jury trial in Marin Superior Court will be held to determine the sanity of Stephen K. Solon, 25, of Larkspur, charged with joyriding and stealing a credit card. A date for the trial will be set next Monday. He was arrested in Larkspur Jan. 20.

Death Penalty Of Quentin Inmate Upheld

The California Supreme Court yesterday unanimously upheld the death sentence of San Quentin inmate Thomas Lamas Varnum, 28, who faces the gas chamber for a 1962 kidnap-murder in Los Angeles.

The high court's ruling came as attorneys for five other condemned prisoners opened an attack on the death penalty before the U.S. Supreme Court, a new penalty trial was ordered for a sixth and still another received a stay of execution.

The various legal actions left the numbers of inmates still with firm date for the gas chamber at four. One of those, Walter C. Hines, is involved in the U.S. Supreme Court appeal.

NOT SET YET

Varnum's new execution date has not been set. His attorneys argued before the state court that a prospective juror in Varnum's third penalty trial was improperly excused because he opposed the death penalty.

Justice Raymond L. Sullivan, however, said in the court's opinion that the juror had said she would oppose a death sentence no matter how strong the case against Varnum. Justices Raymond E. Peters, Matthew O. Tobriner and Otto M. Kaus filed a concurring opinion saying they believed capital punishment is unconstitutional and concurred with the judgment only because the court's majority had upheld the death penalty last year.

In another case, the court overturned the death sentence of Earl Clarence Sears, 61, because jurors were improperly selected. Sears, of Cupertino, was convicted of murdering his stepdaughter.

The challenge to the constitutionality of the death penalty before the U.S. Supreme Court was brought on behalf of Hines, Robert Page Anderson, Frederick Saterfield, Dorman Fred Talbot and Gerald Albert Beivelman.

TRIALS ORDERED

New penalty trials have been ordered for both Anderson and Saterfield and Beivelman faces a sanity trial, beginning in Marin Superior Court Friday, to determine whether he is sane enough to be executed. Talbot received a stay from U.S. Supreme Court Justice William O. Douglas earlier this month.

Attorneys for the five are seeking condemnation of the death penalty as violating the U.S. Constitution's prohibition against cruel and unusual punishment.

At a minimum, they urged the court to order hearings at which they would produce statistical, psychological and sociological data they said would demonstrate that capital punishment is not superior to life imprisonment as a deterrent to crime and that executions "are the shame of our society."

The five are appealing last November's 4-3 decision by the California Supreme Court upholding the death penalty.

In another legal action, Justice Douglas granted a stay to Edmund Earl Reeves, 31, who had been scheduled for the gas chamber next Wednesday. Reeves, who has received four previous stays, is seeking a new trial on grounds that California law unfairly allows trial judges too much discretion in imposing the death penalty.

Reeves, convicted of murdering an oil field worker near Bakersfield in 1965, contends he was not adequately represented by his court-appointed attorney.

Besides Varnum, those still facing execution dates are William Albert Tahl, March 19, and Hines and Paul Eugene LaVergne, March 26.

Pleads Guilty To Petty Theft

Richard Thomas Govednick, 22, of San Francisco, arrested in Sausalito Nov. 10 wandering down the street with a sports car tonneau cover over his shoulder, yesterday pweaded guilty to petty theft and being drunk in public.

Charges against him of possessing methamphetamine and concealing stolen property were dismissed.

Judge Peter Allen Smith of Marin Municipal Court set sentencing for March 21.

Fire Destroys Interior Shop In Northgate Shopping Area

One store was destroyed by fire and three others damaged by smoke last night at the Northgate Shopping Center in Terra Linda.

The fire, which took San Rafael firemen two hours to put out, gutted Fleischman's Interiors. The cause of the fire, which caused damage estimated at $19,500 to Fleischman's and three neighboring businesses, has not been determined.

The owner of the interior decorating firm, Fred Fleischman, 67, of 41 Elm Street, apparently suffered a heart attack while watching the fire and was taken by San Rafael police to Marin General Hospital after firemen administered oxygen. He was reported in fair condition at the hospital today.

Fire officials said smoke damaged the Morris Plan Co. of California, Cox's TV Sales & Service and the Northgate Travel Agency. Plate glass windows in the three firms were also broken, officials said.

Firemen responded to the firecall at 7:45 p.m. and did not leave the scene until 10:31 p.m.

San Anselman Faces Felony Wife Beating

Joseph Patrick Hartley, 34, of San Anselmo, was bound over to Marin Superior Court yesterday on a charge of felony wife beating. He was ordered to appear in Superior Court Monday for arraignment.

His wife, Jean, who has since been divorced from him, reported that her husband struck her several times with his open hand and then grabbed her by the hair and swung her about the room on Dec. 28.

Tuition Vote Split

An Assembly bill to impose tuition on students at the University of California and the state colleges was defeated on Monday in the Education Committee when seven Republicans voted for it and five Democrats opposed it, two votes short of the nine needed for committee approval. The Associated Press incorrectly reported yesterday that seven Democrats had voted for it and five Democrats against it.

Petaluman Arraigned In Kidnaping

John E. Barry, 36, of 428 Upham Street, Petaluma, was arraigned yesterday in Petaluma Municipal Court on a charge of kidnaping a 20-year-old youth at gunpoint Sunday night.

Barry was released on $1,250 bail and told to appear for a preliminary hearing at 2 p.m. Monday.

Police said Barry is accused of abducting Steven Harr of 700 Sixth Street, Petaluma. They said Barry forced Harr from a car at Wickersham Park and while pointing a shotgun at him, forced him into his camper-truck for a short drive while he questioned him about another youth. Harr was not harmed.

Public defender Marteen Miller was appointed to represent Barry on the kidnaping charge and for a misdemeanor count of brandishing a gun. Judge Alexander F. McMahon said he would set bail at the low figure of $1,250 if Barry would agree to turn all of his guns into the police.

Police said they later obtained five rifles and a shotgun at the Barry home.

Pleads Innocent To Drug Possession

Peter Bradford Oczkus, 18, of 118 Elena Circle, San Rafael, pleaded innocent in Marin Municipal Court yesterday to a charge of possessing marijuana Jan. 4 in San Rafael. A preliminary hearing was set for March 31.

Oczkus was arrested in a car on Las Gallinas Road.

Richard Thomas Govednick, 22, of San Francisco, arrested in Sausalito Nov. 10 wandering down the street with a sports car tonneau cover over his shoulder, yesterday pwaded guilty to petty theft and being drunk in public.

Charges against him of possessing methamphetamine and concealing stolen property were dismissed.

Judge Peter Allen Smith of Marin Municipal Court set sentencing for March 21.

Fire Destroys Interior Shop In Northgate Shopping Area

One store was destroyed by fire and three others damaged by smoke last night at the Northgate Shopping Center in Terra Linda.

The fire, which took San Rafael firemen two hours to put out, gutted Fleischman's Interiors. The cause of the fire, which caused damage estimated at $19,500 to Fleischman's and three neighboring businesses, has not been determined.

The owner of the interior decorating firm, Fred Fleischman, 67, of 41 Elm Street, apparently suffered a heart attack while watching the fire and was taken by San Rafael police to Marin General Hospital after firemen administered oxygen. He was reported in fair condition at the hospital today.

Fire officials said smoke damaged the Morris Plan Co. of California, Cox's TV Sales & Service and the Northgate Travel Agency. Plate glass windows in the three firms were also broken, officials said.

Firemen responded to the firecall at 7:45 p.m. and did not leave the scene until 10:31 p.m.

San Anselman Faces Felony Wife Beating

Joseph Patrick Hartley, 34, of San Anselmo, was bound over to Marin Superior Court yesterday on a charge of felony wife beating. He was ordered to appear in Superior Court Monday for arraignment.

His wife, Jean, who has since been divorced from him, reported that her husband struck her several times with his open hand and then grabbed her by the hair and swung her about the room on Dec. 28.

Tuition Vote Split

An Assembly bill to impose tuition on students at the University of California and the state colleges was defeated on Monday in the Education Committee when seven Republicans voted for it and five Democrats opposed it, two votes short of the nine needed for committee approval. The Associated Press incorrectly reported yesterday that seven Democrats had voted for it and five Democrats against it.

Petaluman Arraigned In Kidnaping

John E. Barry, 36, of 428 Upham Street, Petaluma, was arraigned yesterday in Petaluma Municipal Court on a charge of kidnaping a 20-year-old youth at gunpoint Sunday night.

Barry was released on $1,250 bail and told to appear for a preliminary hearing at 2 p.m. Monday.

Police said Barry is accused of abducting Steven Harr of 700 Sixth Street, Petaluma. They said Barry forced Harr from a car at Wickersham Park and while pointing a shotgun at him, forced him into his camper-truck for a short drive while he questioned him about another youth. Harr was not harmed.

Public defender Marteen Miller was appointed to represent Barry on the kidnaping charge and for a misdemeanor count of brandishing a gun. Judge Alexander F. McMahon said he would set bail at the low figure of $1,250 if Barry would agree to turn all of his guns into the police.

Police said they later obtained five rifles and a shotgun at the Barry home.

Pleads Innocent To Drug Possession

Peter Bradford Oczkus, 18, of 118 Elena Circle, San Rafael, pleaded innocent in Marin Municipal Court yesterday to a charge of possessing marijuana Jan. 4 in San Rafael. A preliminary hearing was set for March 31.

Oczkus was arrested in a car on Las Gallinas Road.

New Juvenile Hall Boys' Dorm Revived

A request to reconsider a new boys' dormitory at Juvenile Hall was granted by the Marin County Board of Supervisors yesterday, after the probation chief predicted the present building wouldn't hold up after 1971.

The board put the request from Walter H. Busher with other items it plans to reconsider in more detail during budget discussions.

Busher asked for $26.000 for planning the 15-bed wing for junior boys in the 1969-70 budget and $309,000 for construction in the 1970-71 budget, with a July 1971 target date for occupancy. The building would replace a leased portable unit now in use.

The request was deleted from Busher's proposed budget by the county administrator who recommended continuing the existing arrangement.

Busher argued that younger boys have recently moved in and the building is expected to receive heavier use than under the older youths who formerly occupied it.

Administrator Alan Bruce recommended waiting a year to see how much the building actually deteriorates under the new use.

And Supervisor Michael T. Wornum, who with other supervisors recently visited the juvenile facility, commented, "As an architect, I think it (the existing dorm) is terrible. As a supervisor, I think . . . physically it is something we can live with."

However the board agreed to go along with chairman John F. McInnis' recommendation to study the request at a later date.

A request for $115,000 for restroom facilities and lighting the Marin County Fairgrounds, asked by the board of Fair/Marin, didn't fare so well.

Wornum, pointing out the board had agreed there would not be a fair at the fairgrounds this year, commented: "Surely it doesn't make sense to put in lighting for a fair we're not going to hold."

The board agreed and put the matter over for consideration later, perhaps next year.

In another request for reconsideration of budget cuts, Pierre W. Joske, director of the parks and recreation, criticized what he believes are "one-side reductions" in the capital improvements program.

Joske has explained that his department's request for land acquisition and development through 1974-75 was cut $2.4 million, which represented 88 per cent of the total amount cut from the county's capital improvement budget.

Supervisor Louis H. Baar pointed out the original request was about $11 million.

Joske submitted alternatives to the department's original request was about $11 million.

Joske submitted alternatives to the department's original requests and the board agreed to consider them, along with a map of all park lands and their uses in Marin, Tuesday.

Credit Card Penalty 40 Days

Algis Michael Budry, 39, seaman and writer of no fixed address, received a sentence in Marin County Jail of 40 days, not four months, as incorrectly reported in Saturday's Independent-Journal.

He also was given credit for time already served, 41 days, by Judge Harold J. Haley of Marin Superior Court.

Budry, who was arrested by the California Highway Patrol Nov. 5 on Highway 101, had another person's credit card in his possession.

He did not receive a suspended prison sentence, as reported, but was placed on probation for two years.

San Rafael Burglary Denied By Novatan

Raymond Bruce Edwards, 26, pleaded innocent Monday in Marin Superior Court to burglarizing a San Rafael home Dec. 1. A jury trial was set for the week of May 26.

Edwards, who lives at 809 Atherton Avenue, Novato, is accused of burgling the home of David Elliott Stovel on Lochinvar Road.

Adjourned Session

The Gallinas Village Community Services District will hold an adjourned meeting at 7:30 p.m. today at the Santa Venetia Presbyterian Church to discuss cleaning up Pueblo Park.

Two Encounter Sessions Set

Two encounter groups, one for students from 15 to 25 years of age and one for couples, will be sponsored by the Marin Fellowship of Unitarians, 240 Channing Way, Terra Linda.

Sessions will be once weekly for four weeks with the student group starting at 7 p.m. Friday and the couples group at 7 p.m. March 6.

Registration is open to the public through Bettye Doty at the church office. Leader of the groups will be Dominic Cirincione, a member of the Center for the Study of Man.

The period of the Mayan Empire began in 731 A.D.

Singles Face Possible Cuts In Welfare Aid

The standard $158 per month general relief given to single persons may have to be reduced because the county is running out of relief funds, Marin County supervisors hinted yesterday. (Another board of supervisors story, page 1.)

The supervisors voted a $10,000 emergency appropriation to meet general relief payments through next Tuesday, at which time supervisors will get a report from Betty Presley, director of public social services, on where, if any, the cuts can be made.

Miss Presley reported yesterday she needs $91,000 additional funds to meet general relief payments through June 30. She said the deficit was caused by an alarming increase in the number of relief applicants, the court injunction against residency requirements, and inclement weather which reduces jobs.

GREATER CRISIS

She said other counties like San Francisco and Alameda are facing even greater shortages in general relief funds.

County Auditor-Controller Michael Mitchell reported that a windfall of $115,000 is expected because of extra interest earnings from investment of county funds. Mitchell said this could be used to plug the general relief deficit.

"If we use this for general relief, aren't we jeopardizing our general reserve fund?" asked Supervisor Louis H. Baar. The county's general reserve for contingencies, which started with $350,000, is now down to $115,500, with four more lean months to go this fiscal year.

Supervisor Peter R. Arrigoni Jr. noted that the bulk of general relief payments go to single persons. Thus far this year, $135,432 has been spent for single persons and $29,881 for families on general relief.

BIGGEST SLICE

"The biggest amount goes to single persons. Any chance to cut down on this?" asked Arrigoni.

County Administrator Alan Bruce suggested that another alternative would be to deny aid to employable persons after a certain number of days.

"By next week, we want to know all alternates under our control that would cut the deficit by 50 per cent," said chairman John F. McInnis. He emphasized that such alternates will be studied by the supervisors next week in determining whether any cuts are possible and by how much.

Forum On Drugs Slated Sunday

A free public forum on drugs in modern society entitled "Drugs — Use of Abuse?" will be conducted at 7 p.m. Sunday at the Marinwood Community Center by the Marin Covenant Church.

Ronald Shafer, professional service representative for Smith, Kline and French laboratories, and Dr. Samuel Anderson, a San Rafael psychiatrist, will speak and Autenrieb of Terra Linda, a pharmacist, and Rev. Gary R. Copeland, pastor of the Covenant Church will participate.

The program will cover questions such as: What Do They Do: Why are they being used? What are the legal aspects of drugs: Where does on turn for help if it is needed?"

County Seeks Ordinance To Help Check Tomales Bay Development

Marin County supervisors yesterday asked the county planning commission to draft an ordinance to control development in Tomales Bay and expressed concern about subdividing within proposed Point Reyes National Seashore boundaries.

The ordinance is aimed at regulating the construction of piers such as the 224-foot pier with a two-story house planned by R. K. Joerger of Millbrae just north of Inverness Yacht Club.

County Planning Dir. Paul C. Zucker presented an interim ordinance yesterday as requested by the supervisors. The ordinance would have been in effect for 90 days and have required a use permit before any development in Tomales Bay.

Supervisors decided that an emergency measure is not necessary since no widespread construction is going on in the bay.

They decided that a normal ordinance processed by the planning commission, with advertised hearings, would be preferable. "Let's refer it to the planning commission for routine processing," said chairman John F. McInnis.

"If long piers suddenly start up, we can still issue an emergency ordinance," added Michael Wornum.

Wornum, alarmed by reports of impending subdivision of forest areas near Point Reyes Seashore, today asked that the matter be put on the agenda next week for discussion.

"The report of subdividing into 40-acre lots, cutting of timber, piers on Tomales Bay — they're all coming to a head," warned Wornum. He said the supervisors should take some action to show their concern.

Supervisor Peter H. Arrigoni Jr. asked the county administrator to get a copy of the San Mateo County ordinance which prohibits logging in certain areas of that county.

Harold E. Gregg, president of the Marin Conservation League, waved a sheaf of papers from the audience section. "Here it is," he smiled.

McInnis suggested that airmail letters or telegrams be sent to Reps. Don H. Clausen R-First District, and William Mailliard, R-Sixth District.

County Administrator Alan Bruce reported that Sen. Alan Cranston has indicated he is prepared to introduce legislation to increase federal appropriation to purchase more land for the Point Reyes Seashore.

Supervisors asked Bruce to bring in a report on the status of development in and around the seashore next week.

The Marin County Board of Supervisors also:

ROAD MAINTENANCE — Approved a resolution to set up the Inverness Road Division in Inverness Subdivision No. 2 for that residents can pay for maintenance of their roads — Rannoch, Keith and Sterling Ways. Initial outlay will be about $5,100, and annual maintenance about $500. Assistant County Counsel Richard V. Godino said an election must be held to get residents' approval to impose the road maintenance tax.

VEHICLE PURCHASE — Approved a resolution authorizing the Office of Procurement, Department of General Services of the State of California, to purchase vehicles for the county. Purchasing agent Doug Edelen said cars can be purchased more cheaply through the state.

NOVATO LIBRARY — Postponed until budget time a request by County Libarian Bruce D. Bajema to increase the working hours of two part-time staff workers at the Novato branch of the county library. An added $1,523 would have been needed to pay for added staff time between now and June 30.

CHILD CARE — Added Edgewood child care center in San Francisco to the list of child care institutions approved for use by the probation and public social services departments. The rate for each child placed there is $435 per month.

EASTER SEAL — Formally proclaimed March 1 through April 6 as Easter Seal month and posed for photographs with Easter Seal girl Claudia Johnson, 6, of San Rafael, and sports announcer Russ Hodges of Mill Valley, Marin chairman of the Easter Seal campaign.

CRIME LAB — Gave preliminary support to an application for federal aid to set up a regional crime laboratory in Marin County, as requested by the Centralized Police Services Council.

TIBURON TRAILS — Continued until April 1 a hearing on a proposed Tiburon hiking and riding trails system. Zucker asked for continuance because the Tiburon City Council will not act on the plan until March 24.

HOUSING — Approved spending $2,300 to generate a $21,400 one-time state-federal grant for emergency housing needs of welfare recipients over the recommendation to reject the plan by Administrator Alan Bruce, who feared it might create a precedent for dipping into reserve funds.

FOOD STAMPS — Authorized Wells Fargo, Bank of America and Crocker-Citizens banks as the agencies to sell food stamps to welfare recipients beginning April 1 at a fee of 90 cents per transaction.

NEWS STAND — Authorized a contract for maintenance and operation of a news-cigar stand in the Hall of Justice, to be run by a blind operator under supervision of the state's rehabilitation program.

DAMAGE SUIT — Authorized county counsel to defend the county in a $290,000 damage suit filed by Burnett Bolloten and others. The suit contends that adoption of the Fairfax Area Master Plan dininished the value of their land.

HUMAN RIGHTS — Approved revising the county code to permit members of the human rights commission to serve more than two terms, as is the practice with other county commissions.

S.F. State Unrest To Be Viewed

Two students and two professors at San Francisco State College, all Marin residents, will present their differing views of campus troubles on the KTIM radio Sounding Board program at 9 a.m. tomorrow.

On the program will be Dr. Joel Gustafson, associate dean of the school of biology, who supports acting college president S. I. Hayakawa, and Daniel G. Knapp, professor of English who is on strike.

Students who will speak are Marilyn Drath of San Rafael, in sympathy with student strikers, and Steve Diaz, a member of the Committee for an Academic Environment. Questions may be telephoned to the studio during the broadcast.

The program, moderated by Kitty Oppenheimer, will be rebroadcast at 10:05 a.m. Sunday.

Four Drivers Are Fined On Drunken Driving

Four persons have been sentenced in Marin Municipal Court for drunken driving in Marin County.

Wilfred Donald Wamsley, 49, of 4 South Ridgewood Drive, Kentfield, was placed on six months probation and fined $302. He was arrested Oct. 29 in San Anselmo.

Bruce Edward Maynard, 23, of 690 Rosal Way, San Rafael, was placed on one year probation and fined $125. He was arrested Nov. 3 on Villa Street in San Rafael.

Donald Albert Woodmansee, 54, of San Francisco, who was arrested Dec. 1 on the Sausalito Lateral, was fined $100 and given six months probation.

Lucille Eleanor Krieger, 47, of Agate Beach, Bolinas, who was arrested Nov. 17 in San Rafael, was fined $125 and placed on six months probation.

Bay Transplant Patient Dies

STANFORD (AP) — Stanford University Hospital's latest heart transplant recipient, Douglas Allan Sr., 55, died yesterday as he was being treated for acute rejection symptoms.

Allan had received a new heart Feb. 15 from an anonymous donor who died at the hospital of a brain injury.

Doctors said an autopsy will be conducted in an effort to determine the exact cause of Allan's death.

Allan, a Menlo Park insurance broker, had suffered from severe arteriosclerotic heart disease, doctors said.

His was the twelfth heart transplant performed by the team headed by Dr. Norman Shumway. Four patients are still alive.

Allan is survived by his wife, Virginia and a son, Douglas Jr., who is stationed with the U.S. Army at Petaluma.

Sacramento Tax Hike Defeated

SACRAMENTO (AP)—Voters in the Sacramento City School District yesterday defeated 28,495 to 16,160 a proposed $1.11 increase in the property tax rate.

School officials had said the increase was vital to the district.

Similar attempts to increase the school tax were voted down in 1960 and 1962.

Recently the school board said that if the override failed, steps would have to be taken to dismiss 74 teachers because of lack of funds.

County Seeks Ordinance To Help Check Tomales Bay Development

Marin County supervisors yesterday asked the county planning commission to draft an ordinance to control development in Tomales Bay and expressed concern about subdividing within proposed Point Reyes National Seashore boundaries.

The ordinance is aimed at regulating the construction of piers such as the 224-foot pier with a two-story house planned by R. K. Joerger of Millbrae just north of Inverness Yacht Club.

County Planning Dir. Paul C. Zucker presented an interim ordinance yesterday as requested by the supervisors. The ordinance would have been in effect for 90 days and have required a use permit before any development in Tomales Bay.

Supervisors decided that an emergency measure is not necessary since no widespread construction is going on in the bay.

They decided that a normal ordinance processed by the planning commission, with advertised hearings, would be preferable. "Let's refer it to the planning commission for routine processing," said chairman John F. McInnis.

"If long piers suddenly start up, we can still issue an emergency ordinance," added Michael Wornum.

Wornum, alarmed by reports of impending subdivision of forest areas near Point Reyes Seashore, today asked that the matter be put on the agenda next week for discussion.

"The report of subdividing into 40-acre lots, cutting of timber, piers on Tomales Bay — they're all coming to a head," warned Wornum. He said the supervisors should take some action to show their concern.

Supervisor Peter H. Arrigoni Jr. asked the county administrator to get a copy of the San Mateo County ordinance which prohibits logging in certain areas of that county.

Harold E. Gregg, president of the Marin Conservation League, waved a sheaf of papers from the audience section. "Here it is," he smiled.

McInnis suggested that airmail letters or telegrams be sent to Reps. Don H. Clausen R-First District, and William Mailliard, R-Sixth District.

Both Pleasure And Pain In Being Hornswoggled

HORNSWOGGLE: verb transitive (origin unknown): Bamboozle, hoax. — Webster's Third International. Dictionary.

A fine old word is "hornswoggle," and a fine old practice, to which the citizen is frequently subjected.

Let's take an example right here in Marin.

BACK IN THE EARLY 1950s, county supervisors decided that property must be acquired for an expansion of county government facilities. The old courthouse was bursting at the seams, and county departments were in rented offices scattered all around town (a situation that still prevails).

After missing one chance to obtain the land at a lower price, the supervisors bought 140 acres in Santa Venetia for $3,000 per acre as the site for a future Civic Center.

Then, in 1957, with $550,000 on hand in a Civic Center fund squirreled up from taxes, they set about starting the building program. Then-County Administrator Donald A. Jensen assured them there would be enough money for the Civic Center buildings by 1961.

THE CHOICE of an architect then became a matter of great moment. The supervisors (all except William D. Fusselman) were delighted when they obtained (at four per cent above the normal fee) the services of the world-famous Frank Lloyd Wright.

In March of 1958, Wright displayed his plans. There, in the drawings, were the two wings since denominated Administration Building and Hall of Justice, the Veterans Memorial Auditorium, the county fairgrounds.

Wright gave his estimates: $2,724,000 for the first wing, $1,400,000 for the second.

Some changes were subsequently made, adding a million dollars to the estimate for the first wing. So when the low bid came in at $3,638,735, the supervisors (all except Fusselman) were overjoyed.

SOME STRANGE THINGS happened thereafter, though.

Recently, a new board of supervisors asked County Auditor-Controller Michael Mitchell for an accounting of what had been spent and remained to be spent on the Civic Center.

Here are his figures: Administration building, $5,147,141; Hall of Justice, $11,778,717; further requirements through June 30, 1975, estimated at $4,053,400. (That last figure, incidentally, includes an additional 15 or 16 acres of land.)

These figures left something out, however. Not included were the fairgrounds and Veterans Memorial Auditorium, and 80 acres of the original 140 which is fairgrounds site.

These, according to Mitchell, add $3,961,000 to the total— of which $2,066,000 will be county money with the remainder coming from state horse racing pari-mutuel funds.

This brings the total projected cost of the project to $24,960,258—call it $25 million for a nice round figure.

THERE IS A PLEASANT sensation in viewing the sweeping, neo-Roman lines of the Administration Building, the Hall of Justice, the Veterans Memorial Auditorium. Our breasts swell with pride. We beam with satisfaction.

Such pleasant sensations are the hallmark of expert and thorough hornswoggling. But they are alloyed somewhat by Mitchell's figures, which remind us of another characteristic of that ancient and dishonorable practice:

The cost of being hornswoggled is painful indeed.

Why They Jump

Many theories have been advanced to explain San Francisco's high rate of suicide. Among them is the idea that San Francisco is the end of the trail for those who are driven westward in a lemming-like desire to reach the frontier. Another is that San Francisco is a glamor city and that people are attracted by its promise of pleasure only to find that the individual's sense of hopelessness is accentuated in the faceless big city.

But recently a professor at Berkeley, Dr. Richard H. Seiden, examined these theories and came up with some statistics which tend to disprove them. Dr. Seiden found that 78 per cent of the suicides had been residents of the city for more than five years. But he found there were more unmarried people, more older people and more alcoholics than in most other American cities — all of which correlate with suicide.

AFFAIRS OF STATE

You Can Fool All The People Some Of The Time, But . . .

By HENRY C. MacARTHUR

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — It will be more than surprising if the state legislature doesn't run into more trouble than it cares to contemplate when the knotty problem of "property tax relief" comes up again this year.

Property owners of California are slowly beginning to wake up to the fact that the so-called relief they voted in 1968 by amending the constitution consists of little more than delusion.

FOR INSTANCE, in Sacramento, almost the entire amount of relief, $70 for last year, is wiped out by an increase in the tax rate this year, and the property owners have not as yet even started receiving the rebate.

In neighboring Yolo County, the assessor has sent out notices of new assessments, raising cash values of property with consequent increases in assessed values nearly three times the amount on which the taxpayers paid last year.

State Sen. John G. Schmitz, R-Tustin, is one legislator who recognizes the ridiculous attempts to convince the people of the state they are going to get some benefits from tax relief.

"Politics and politicians," he says, "are unfortunately well known for glaring inconsistency.

"Never has there been a more striking example than the game of political musical chairs now being played in the debate over Governor Reagan's proposed budget and tax cut."

Schmitz says it is true that $422 million of tax increase dollars has been distributed to counties in the name of "property tax relief," but, "There is nothing to keep county supervisors from raising local taxes so as to wipe out any saving to the taxpayer.

"Exactly this has happened in a number of counties already, and may be expected in others."

IF SCHMITZ had predicted that this situation would occur in all other counties, he might not have been far wrong.

As has been stated many times in this column, no meaningful tax reductions can be accomplished without decreases in spending. And with state spending up to more than $6 billion next year, as well as prospective corresponding increases in local government spending, there is little chance that the taxpayer is going to be able to veer away from the state of bankruptcy to which the multiferous taxing agencies are driving him.

ABAG Police Study Seen As Monster

In your issue of Feb. 5 you had an editorial entitled "ABAG Not Policeman in "Law and Order" Job and you said ABAG appointed a committee to "draw up a plan for joint operations by law enforcement agencies when riots or other disorders call for more lawmen than one jurisdiction has available". This one is risky, to give such powers to ABAG, but the next one is really dangerous, being "supposed to set up a program for riot control training for officers, since many of the smaller police departments lack funds to train their men in such work."

This emanates from the Federal National Advisory Commission on Crime and Disorder and is funded by a $19 million grant of federal funds. From there it goes to the California Council on Criminal Justice and then to the Association of Bay Area Governments (ABAG).

I hold Supervisor John E. McInnis in high regard, but he has created a monster which will be used by an active minority to foister their viewpoints on the public. . .

We need to support the idea of local police authority responsible to the community and oppose all efforts by federal, state or ABAG to even have a finger in controlling our police. . . Get involved and do your share to help our local police and keep them independent.

Residence Rule Seen As Handicap

Recently, you ran an article under a byline on your front page urging the board of supervisors to limit the selection of the new chief probation officer to county residents.

As a former member of the Juvenile Justice Commission of Marin for six years, I know that all the surrounding counties with whom we compete in hiring, canvass the entire state to obtain the services of the best qualified person for the post. Marin County would be foolish to allow some vague interpretation of the law to interfere with obtaining the best possible candidate.

Incidentally, the Marin Board of Supervisors has established some very high educational and experience standards for this post. Such standards combined with a county residence qualification would severly limit the candidates eligible for such position, and possibly could even result in finding no candidates meeting such qualifications from within the county.

The state law merely states that a county officer shall be an elector of the state at the time of his official appointment.

JOHN E. CAHILL
San Francisco

(Editor's note: The writer of this letter is mistaken. The Independent-Journal did not run a front page story urging the board of supervisors to do anything; it ran a front-page story describing sections of state law which govern selection of a chief probation officer. One of these sections requires that he be an elector of the county — not just of the state. Incidentally, San Francisco, from which the letter comes, has run up against this provision in connection with its hiring of a new chief probation officer.)

Thanks For Setting Record Straight

On Wednesday, Feb. 19, Fred Hartley, the president of Union Oil Co., took full page ads in many newspapers to "please, let's set the record straight: . . . I was falsely charged with callously saying: 'I'm amazed at the publicity for the loss of a few birds! I said no such thing at any time.' . . .

After reading the 800-odd word ad I agreed he was misquoted. What he is saying, and said, is:

"In perspective, I'm amazed at the publicity for the loss of a relatively few birds."

I'm glad he spent a few thousand to get this straightened out.

ABAG Activities Hint Power Grab

Due to the recent flood of news releases from ABAG it is becoming evident that it is in the process of attempting to win support for a regional government. Perhaps the powers of such a government would be limited at the beginning but would gradually be increased as is the normal procedure with empire building bureaucrats.

The whole idea of a regional government is simply a power grab by the social planners who desire a centralized power structure from which to scheme rather than work with the numerous cities that are subject to the will of their respective citizens. The federal government, by subsidizing ABAG, is a party to this dastardly plot. The continuation of ABAG is a useless expenditure of the taxpayers' money.

I suggest that the Law Enforcement Task Force Unit of ABAG include in its agenda the crimes of embezzlement and legalized plunder of taxpayers' money.

Kook Revolutionists Tip Their Hands

A very recent article by William Buckley thus quotes Jerry Rubin, the leader of the Yippies:

"Three years ago we were going to overthrow Washington from Telegraph Avenue."

By "Washington" Jerry undoubtedly meant the government of the United States.

Unfortunately Buckley did not mention that Telegraph Avenue is the street that leads directly to the U.C. campus at Berkeley, via Sather Gate.

It's a good thing that kooks like Rubin are poor poker players They "tip their hands."

TRY AND STOP ME

By BENNETT CERF

Buddy Hackett tells about an ingenious dentist who found a way to handle a particularly nervous lady patient. She panicked regularly the moment she seated herself in his chair, and clamped her mouth so tightly that he couldn't pry it open. So one afternoon he had his girl assistant sneak up behind her, and as soon as he was ready to drill, she got the signal to jab the lady in the rear with a hatpin. The patient opened her mouth to holler — and that was that.

His ministrations completed, the dentist consoled the patient, "Now that wasn't so bad after all, was it?" "Not quite," she admitted, still trembling, "but I certainly didn't expect to feel the pain so far down!"

OVERHEARD:

Diplomatic nurse to nervous patient in anteroom: "Don't let the doctor frighten you, my dear. Doctors are like politicians — they view with alarm so that they can point with pride."

Barber to pestiferous customer: "Yes, there is one sure cure for dandruff. It was invented by a Frenchman. His name was Guillotine."

Hanoi Playing Careful Game: Negotiate To Prolong The War

By ROSCOE and GEOFFREY DRUMMOND

WASHINGTON — It must seem criminal to most Americans that after both sides have agreed to discuss real peace terms, Hanoi day after day refuses to negotiate seriously.

That's an understandable reaction, but in order not to risk losing the peace through impatience, we must realize what the North Vietnamese are up to.

They are conducting their side of the Paris talks according to plan — their plan — and to counter it we need to understand it.

FROM ITS standpoint, Hanoi is pursuing a rational and well-conceived course of planned inaction in Paris.

The North Vietnamese and the Viet Cong never wanted to negotiate a peace. They wanted — always said they wanted, always said they would get — a military victory giving them control of South Vietnam.

They failed. They finally agreed to talk because they were losing so badly militarily that they had no alternative.

But to them the negotiating table is simply an extension of the war — until they find it won't work.

Having failed to get control of South Vietnam by war, Hanoi and the VC are aiming to get control by negotiation.

This is why, for the present, they are continuing to stall any meaningful talks despite their promise that ending the bombing of the north would bring "prompt and productive" negotiation.

HANOI STALLS for two purposes:

It knows it can't get a one-sided peace settlement in Paris unless it can win a major military victory in South Vietnam. It keeps searching out opportunities for a new offensive, but thus far it finds the South Vietnamese and allied forces too alert and too strong.

But Hanoi has an additional reason for stalling. It believes that if it waits long enough to make the prospects of peace seem more elusive, the anti-Vietnam, peace-at-any-price people will come to its aid in the United States and will become so vocal and potent that President Nixon can be pushed into almost any kind of settlement in order to get it over with.

These are the reasons we should not expect early results from the Paris talks. This is why Mr. Nixon declines to put any time limit on how long it will take. The North Vietnamese Communists are counting on help from the American peace movement to pressure President Nixon into a frantic capitulation, and they figure their delaying tactics will contribute.

BUT POSSIBLY Hanoi is misjudging the willingness of the American peace movement to help it take South Vietnam by negotiation. If the American peace movement wants to bring peace nearer, its leaders will have to make it evident that they are not going to play Hanoi's game in the United States.

Then Hanoi will have to begin to negotiate seriously in Paris. The Communists in South Vietnam are continuing to lose momentum, both politically and militarily, and the likelihood of a successful new offensive to enhance their bargaining position is fading.

Writing from Saigon, here is the judgment of one of the most careful and experienced American reporters in Southeast Asia, Robert S. Elegant of the Los Angeles Times:

"Throughout South Vietnam, even in the worst provinces, the tide is turning. Exploiting Communist disarray after last year's Tet offensive, the allies are winning the war militarily and beginning to win the political war."

Despite this, Hanoi is continuing to demand all or nothing in Paris. But if Hanoi sees that President Nixon is not going to be pushed or, if pushed, is not going to yield to such demands, then real negotiations will begin and an honorable peace will be within reach.

Vote Now Would Doom ABM Plan, Laird Told

By ROBERT S. ALLEN and JOHN A. GOLDSMITH

WASHINGTON — Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird is being told that, if the Senate were to vote today, deployment of the controversial Sentinel antiballistic missile system probably would be killed.

Laird himself, a couple of weeks ago said he saw no shifting of views in the Senate which voted support for the "thin" Sentinel deployment on three occasions last year.

It is assumed at the capitol that Laird, until recently a member of the GOP congressional leadership, is simply whistling in the dark. Strategists say views are changing, in the House as well as the Senate, and that Laird must know about them.

LAST YEAR Sen. Fred R. Harris, D-Okla., voted on two occasions in support of the Sentinel ABM system.

Now Harris says that, with a new administration in office, he is "far more skeptical" about the Pentagon's deployment plan. Harris has recently become chairman of the Democratic National Committee, and the party chairman's skeptical comments will make it easier for other Democrats to take a similar stand.

A rebuff for the ABM system would require a vote change by Harris and perhaps four or five other erstwhile Sentinel supporters. There have been a couple of developments to promote such Senate switches.

In the first place, the Democratic leaders who did the legislative maneuvering for President Johnson's ABM need not perform that service for President Nixon.

MOREOVER the Sentinel opposition has broadened. A straw in the wind is the shift of Rep. Thomas M. Pelly, D-Wash., who now opposes the ABM deployment because it would mean that his Seattle constituents would live in the shadow of nuclear warheads.

Secretary Laird's announced "review" of the Sentinel system is shaping up as a search for an alternate deployment plan which would remove anti-missile batteries from metropolitan areas. It is designed to quiet the sort of opposition voiced by Pelly.

A revised plan may moderate that sort of opposition in specific areas. Senators, however, will come under local pressures no matter where in their states the nuclear-tipped missiles are finally emplaced. Now that local opposition has been aroused, a revised deployment plan may not be enough.

ALSO symptomatic are the activities of the influential Senate-House Atomic Energy Committee.

Last year the committee chairman, Sen. John O. Pastore, D-R.I., was one of the Democratic leaders of the successful battles in support of the Sentinel system.

This year, with the advent of a new Congress, Rep. Chet Holifield D-Cal., has taken over as committee chairman. Holifield is planning to hold ABM hearings this time in the Atomic Energy Committee. A major argument against the Sentinel's effectiveness has been that its radars would be blinded (and its missiles misguided), by the electromagnetic effects of the first nuclear warhead destroying the first incoming missile. The committee is qualified to assess that objection.

Both Pleasure And Pain In Being Hornswoggled

HORNSWOGGLE: verb transitive (origin unknown): Bamboozle, hoax. — Webster's Third International. Dictionary.

A fine old word is "hornswoggle," and a fine old practice, to which the citizen is frequently subjected.

Let's take an example right here in Marin.

BACK IN THE EARLY 1950s, county supervisors decided that property must be acquired for an expansion of county government facilities. The old courthouse was bursting at the seams, and county departments were in rented offices scattered all around town (a situation that still prevails).

After missing one chance to obtain the land at a lower price, the supervisors bought 140 acres in Santa Venetia for $3,000 per acre as the site for a future Civic Center.

Then, in 1957, with $550,000 on hand in a Civic Center fund squirreled up from taxes, they set about starting the building program. Then-County Administrator Donald A. Jensen assured them there would be enough money for the Civic Center buildings by 1961.

THE CHOICE of an architect then became a matter of great moment. The supervisors (all except William D. Fusselman) were delighted when they obtained (at four per cent above the normal fee) the services of the world-famous Frank Lloyd Wright.

In March of 1958, Wright displayed his plans. There, in the drawings, were the two wings since denominated Administration Building and Hall of Justice, the Veterans Memorial Auditorium, the county fairgrounds.

Wright gave his estimates: $2,724,000 for the first wing, $1,400,000 for the second.

Some changes were subsequently made, adding a million dollars to the estimate for the first wing. So when the low bid came in at $3,638,735, the supervisors (all except Fusselman) were overjoyed.

SOME STRANGE THINGS happened thereafter, though.

Recently, a new board of supervisors asked County Auditor-Controller Michael Mitchell for an accounting of what had been spent and remained to be spent on the Civic Center.

Here are his figures: Administration building, $5,147,141; Hall of Justice, $11,778,717; further requirements through June 30, 1975, estimated at $4,053,400. (That last figure, incidentally, includes an additional 15 or 16 acres of land.)

These figures left something out, however. Not included were the fairgrounds and Veterans Memorial Auditorium, and 80 acres of the original 140 which is fairgrounds site.

These, according to Mitchell, add $3,961,000 to the total— of which $2,066,000 will be county money with the remainder coming from state horse racing pari-mutuel funds.

This brings the total projected cost of the project to $24,960,258—call it $25 million for a nice round figure.

THERE IS A PLEASANT sensation in viewing the sweeping, neo-Roman lines of the Administration Building, the Hall of Justice, the Veterans Memorial Auditorium. Our breasts swell with pride. We beam with satisfaction.

Such pleasant sensations are the hallmark of expert and thorough hornswoggling. But they are alloyed somewhat by Mitchell's figures, which remind us of another characteristic of that ancient and dishonorable practice:

The cost of being hornswoggled is painful indeed.

Why They Jump

Many theories have been advanced to explain San Francisco's high rate of suicide. Among them is the idea that San Francisco is the end of the trail for those who are driven westward in a lemming-like desire to reach the frontier. Another is that San Francisco is a glamor city and that people are attracted by its promise of pleasure only to find that the individual's sense of hopelessness is accentuated in the faceless big city.

But recently a professor at Berkeley, Dr. Richard H. Seiden, examined these theories and came up with some statistics which tend to disprove them. Dr. Seiden found that 78 per cent of the suicides had been residents of the city for more than five years. But he found there were more unmarried people, more older people and more alcoholics than in most other American cities — all of which correlate with suicide.

AFFAIRS OF STATE

You Can Fool All The People Some Of The Time, But . . .

By HENRY C. MacARTHUR

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — It will be more than surprising if the state legislature doesn't run into more trouble than it cares to contemplate when the knotty problem of "property tax relief" comes up again this year.

Property owners of California are slowly beginning to wake up to the fact that the so-called relief they voted in 1968 by amending the constitution consists of little more than delusion.

FOR INSTANCE, in Sacramento, almost the entire amount of relief, $70 for last year, is wiped out by an increase in the tax rate this year, and the property owners have not as yet even started receiving the rebate.

In neighboring Yolo County, the assessor has sent out notices of new assessments, raising cash values of property with consequent increases in assessed values nearly three times the amount on which the taxpayers paid last year.

State Sen. John G. Schmitz, R-Tustin, is one legislator who recognizes the ridiculous attempts to convince the people of the state they are going to get some benefits from tax relief.

"Politics and politicians," he says, "are unfortunately well known for glaring inconsistency.

"Never has there been a more striking example than the game of political musical chairs now being played in the debate over Governor Reagan's proposed budget and tax cut."

Schmitz says it is true that $422 million of tax increase dollars has been distributed to counties in the name of "property tax relief," but, "There is nothing to keep county supervisors from raising local taxes so as to wipe out any saving to the taxpayer.

"Exactly this has happened in a number of counties already, and may be expected in others."

IF SCHMITZ had predicted that this situation would occur in all other counties, he might not have been far wrong.

As has been stated many times in this column, no meaningful tax reductions can be accomplished without decreases in spending. And with state spending up to more than $6 billion next year, as well as prospective corresponding increases in local government spending, there is little chance that the taxpayer is going to be able to veer away from the state of bankruptcy to which the multiferous taxing agencies are driving him.

ABAG Police Study Seen As Monster

In your issue of Feb. 5 you had an editorial entitled "ABAG Not Policeman in "Law and Order" Job and you said ABAG appointed a committee to "draw up a plan for joint operations by law enforcement agencies when riots or other disorders call for more lawmen than one jurisdiction has available". This one is risky, to give such powers to ABAG, but the next one is really dangerous, being "supposed to set up a program for riot control training for officers, since many of the smaller police departments lack funds to train their men in such work."

This emanates from the Federal National Advisory Commission on Crime and Disorder and is funded by a $19 million grant of federal funds. From there it goes to the California Council on Criminal Justice and then to the Association of Bay Area Governments (ABAG).

I hold Supervisor John E. McInnis in high regard, but he has created a monster which will be used by an active minority to foister their viewpoints on the public. . .

We need to support the idea of local police authority responsible to the community and oppose all efforts by federal, state or ABAG to even have a finger in controlling our police. . . Get involved and do your share to help our local police and keep them independent.

Residence Rule Seen As Handicap

Recently, you ran an article under a byline on your front page urging the board of supervisors to limit the selection of the new chief probation officer to county residents.

As a former member of the Juvenile Justice Commission of Marin for six years, I know that all the surrounding counties with whom we compete in hiring, canvass the entire state to obtain the services of the best qualified person for the post. Marin County would be foolish to allow some vague interpretation of the law to interfere with obtaining the best possible candidate.

Incidentally, the Marin Board of Supervisors has established some very high educational and experience standards for this post. Such standards combined with a county residence qualification would severely limit the candidates eligible for such position, and possibly could even result in finding no candidates meeting such qualifications from within the county.

The state law merely states that a county officer shall be an elector of the state at the time of his official appointment.

JOHN E. CAHILL
San Francisco

(Editor's note: The writer of this letter is mistaken. The Independent-Journal did not run a front page story urging the board of supervisors to do anything; it ran a front-page story describing sections of state law which govern selection of a chief probation officer. One of these sections requires that he be an elector of the county — not just of the state. Incidentally, San Francisco, from which the letter comes, has run up against this provision in connection with its hiring of a new chief probation officer.)

Thanks For Setting Record Straight

On Wednesday, Feb. 19, Fred Hartley, the president of Union Oil Co., took full page ads in many newspapers to "please, let's set the record straight: . . . I was falsely charged with callously saying: 'I'm amazed at the publicity for the loss of a few birds! I said no such thing at any time.' . . .

After reading the 800-odd word ad I agreed he was misquoted. What he is saying, and said, is:

"In perspective, I'm amazed at the publicity for the loss of a relatively few birds."

I'm glad he spent a few thousand to get this straightened out.

ABAG Activities Hint Power Grab

Due to the recent flood of news releases from ABAG it is becoming evident that it is in the process of attempting to win support for a regional government. Perhaps the powers of such a government would be limited at the beginning but would gradually be increased as is the normal procedure with empire building bureaucrats.

The whole idea of a regional government is simply a power grab by the social planners who desire a centralized power structure from which to scheme rather than work with the numerous cities that are subject to the will of their respective citizens. The federal government, by subsidizing ABAG, is a party to this dastardly plot. The continuation of ABAG is a useless expenditure of the taxpayers' money.

I suggest that the Law Enforcement Task Force Unit of ABAG include in its agenda the crimes of embezzlement and legalized plunder of taxpayers' money.

TRY AND STOP ME

By BENNETT CERF

Buddy Hackett tells about an ingenious dentist who found a way to handle a particularly nervous lady patient. She panicked regularly the moment she seated herself in his chair, and clamped her mouth so tightly that he couldn't pry it open. So one afternoon he had his girl assistant sneak up behind her, and as soon as he was ready to drill, she got the signal to jab the lady in the rear with a hatpin. The patient opened her mouth to holler — and that was that.

His ministrations completed, the dentist consoled the patient. "Now that wasn't so bad after all, was it?" "Not quite," she admitted, still trembling, "but I certainly didn't expect to feel the pain so far down!"

OVERHEARD:

Diplomatic nurse to nervous patient in anteroom: "Don't let the doctor frighten you, my dear. Doctors are like politicians — they view with alarm so that they can point with pride."

Barber to pestiferous customer: "Yes, there is one sure cure for dandruff. It was invented by a Frenchman. His name was Guillotine."

Hanoi Playing Careful Game: Negotiate To Prolong The War

By ROSCOE and GEOFFREY DRUMMOND

WASHINGTON — It must seem criminal to most Americans that after both sides have agreed to discuss real peace terms, Hanoi day after day refuses to negotiate seriously.

That's an understandable reaction, but in order not to risk losing the peace through impatience, we must realize what the North Vietnamese are up to.

They are conducting their side of the Paris talks according to plan — their plan — and to counter it we need to understand it.

FROM ITS standpoint, Hanoi is pursuing a rational and well-conceived course of planned inaction in Paris.

The North Vietnamese and the Viet Cong never wanted to negotiate a peace. They wanted — always said they wanted, always said they would get — a military victory giving them control of South Vietnam.

They failed. They finally agreed to talk because they were losing so badly militarily that they had no alternative.

But to them the negotiating table is simply an extension of the war — until they find it won't work.

Having failed to get control of South Vietnam by war, Hanoi and the VC are aiming to get control by negotiation.

This is why, for the present, they are continuing to stall any meaningful talks despite their promise that ending the bombing of the north would bring "prompt and productive" negotiation.

HANOI STALLS for two purposes:

It knows it can't get a one-sided peace settlement in Paris unless it can win a major military victory in South Vietnam. It keeps searching out opportunities for a new offensive, but thus far it finds the South Vietnamese and allied forces too alert and too strong.

Could Council Administer Fairfax In Time Spent Discussing Job?

By now, Fairfax has probably put in more than 100 hours on its long-standing city administrator controversy, despite Mayor Robert R. Souza's Dec. 7 promise:

"I feel the council will be able to implement these ideas if we can get a cross-section of opinion."

One of the "ideas" was to hire a city administrator immediately. (The post has been vacant since the resignation last June of David J. Sumbardo.)

The major, in his December speech, didn't specify a large cross-section, and apparently the 76 persons at the Congress for Community Progress weren't what he had in mind, for he has steadfastly ignored their recommendation.

IN DISCUSSIONS since that December meeting, councilmen have hit the new theme — difference in "philosophy" over the very existence of the job.

But the three members who vote against hiring an administrator must not really be against it — they've spent hours this month discussing hiring City Clerk Frances Lestanguet as city administrator.

Meanwhile, Councilman Cornelis Van Vliet summed up his opinion of the town meeting by commenting that with only 76 attending, "That's hardly a mandate about how people feel."

The council has scheduled discussions of town meeting recommendations for the next several council meetings — a plan which may be a waste of time if the council doesn't believe the congress was representative.

And Fairfax rarely gets through its agenda on the first try anyway.

ONE OF THE NEWEST members of the Ecumenical Association for Housing — Marin County, a group working for housing for low and moderate income persons, is the Marin County Real Estate Board.

The board joined through its subcommittee of the national Build America Better Committee, specifically to help the ecumenical association find sites for its projects, according to Laurene Curley, subcommittee chairman.

AT LEAST one group is unhappy with Marin Municipal Water District, despite the grand jury's report that it is doing a fine job.

San Anselmo recently learned that a water district estimate to install a meter was 50 per cent low — $400 less than the actual cost.

There were also complaints of slowness in billing by the water district. A lag of months was reported by city officials.

THE PEOPLE'S SCHOOLS

AFT, Though Minority, Not Bashful In Demands

By BRYCE W. ANDERSON

The role of the American Federation of Teachers in unrest on California campuses has created considerable confusion.

The AFT falls far short of representing a majority of teachers at University of California or any of the state colleges. The union's own figures (doubtless somewhat inflated) give it about 25 per cent of the faculty at San Francisco State and Chico State Colleges, and lower percentages on other campuses.

Nevertheless, the union contends that it should be recognized as spokesman for the teachers.

MAJOR OFF-CAMPUS backing for this AFT contention has come from San Francisco's Mayor Joseph L. Alioto. He has repeatedly urged that the California State Colleges Board of Trustees should negotiate with the AFT, and has even proposed that the Legislature pass a special law providing for such negotiation.

What would the AFT insist on if given such bargaining rights? It has published lists of "demands" at both San Francisco and San Jose State Colleges — although a strike at the latter was called off without the demands being met. These lists, however, apparently represent only a small part of the demands the union is prepared to push.

A BETTER IDEA of the breadth of the union's demands is provided by a list of 48 of them taken down by a secretary during a two-day session with representatives of Chancellor Glenn Dumke of the state colleges. The session was held last Dec. 27 and 28 in an attempt to head off the San Francisco State strike. Here are some of the 48 demands made by union representatives during that discussion:

"The grievances of the Black Students Union and the Third World Liberation Front must be resolved and implementation assured. . . .

"Approval in advance is to be given to whatever college constitution emerges from the constitutional convention to be called by the Academic Senate . . .

"Regardless of academic rank, there is to be automatic progression through the salary scale until the top step of the professor salary is reached . . .

"NO FACULTY member is to be required to teach or perform other duties on campus if he thinks that an atmosphere incompatible with academic pursuits is present...

"The maximum teaching load for faculty members teaching undergraduates is to be nine units." (Present standard at the state colleges is 12 units; standard teaching load in high schools is generally 20 to 25 units.)

"In no case shall the student-teacher ratio for any department exceed 17 to 1. . . .

"A faculty member shall, after one year of employment, be entitled to a one-year leave of absence without pay . . . During such leave he is to receive credit toward his normal salary step increase, and the period is to count toward tenure. . . .

"Each faculty member is to receive $500 annually for . . . research and/or travel. . . .

"One thousand dollars per fulltime faculty member is to be allocated for employment of student and graduate assistants." In addition, there is to be "a minimum of $3,000 for every four fulltime faculty members" for more graduate assistants.

"THERE MUST be one fulltime secretary for every six fulltime faculty members . . .

"Each faculty member who requests it shall be provided with a one-man office. . . .

"All grievance procedures will be specified by the union . . .

"Decisions made by the faculty with respect to assignment of faculty members. . . . are to be final and not subject to administrative reversal. . . .

"The faculty is to be given sole authority over graduation requirements."

Early Session For Trustees

Dixie School District trustees will meet at 7:30 p.m. today at 35 Trellis Drive, Terra Linda.

The meeting will start a half-hour early so that after the regular meeting, trustees will have time to meet in closed session to discuss probationary teachers and their continued employment.

During the regular meeting, the Negotiating Council of the Dixie Teachers Association will present requests for salary raises for the coming school year.

Trustees will also review a claim by contractor Joseph Filippo that he has an extra $1,300 coming to him for added site work performed on the additions to Oak View School in San Rafael Park.

IN DISCUSSIONS since that December meeting, councilmen have hit the new theme — difference in "philosophy" over the very existence of the job.

But the three members who vote against hiring an administrator must not really be against it — they've spent hours this month discussing hiring City Clerk Frances Lestanguet as city administrator.

Meanwhile, Councilman Cornelis Van Vliet summed up his opinion of the town meeting by commenting that with only 76 attending, "That's hardly a mandate about how people feel."

The council has scheduled discussions of town meeting recommendations for the next several council meetings — a plan which may be a waste of time if the council doesn't believe the congress was representative.

And Fairfax rarely gets through its agenda on the first try anyway.

ONE OF THE NEWEST members of the Ecumenical Association for Housing — Marin County, a group working for housing for low and moderate income persons, is the Marin County Real Estate Board.

The board joined through its subcommittee of the national Build America Better Committee, specifically to help the ecumenical association find sites for its projects, according to Laurene Curley, subcommittee chairman.

AT LEAST one group is unhappy with Marin Municipal Water District, despite the grand jury's report that it is doing a fine job.

San Anselmo recently learned that a water district estimate to install a meter was 50 per cent low — $400 less than the actual cost.

There were also complaints of slowness in billing by the water district. A lag of months was reported by city officials.

THE PEOPLE'S SCHOOLS

AFT, Though Minority, Not Bashful In Demands

By BRYCE W. ANDERSON

The role of the American Federation of Teachers in unrest on California campuses has created considerable confusion.

The AFT falls far short of representing a majority of teachers at University of California or any of the state colleges. The union's own figures (doubtless somewhat inflated) give it about 25 per cent of the faculty at San Francisco State and Chico State Colleges, and lower percentages on other campuses.

Nevertheless, the union contends that it should be recognized as spokesman for the teachers.

MAJOR OFF-CAMPUS backing for this AFT contention has come from San Francisco's Mayor Joseph L. Alioto. He has repeatedly urged that the California State Colleges Board of Trustees should negotiate with the AFT, and has even proposed that the Legislature pass a special law providing for such negotiation.

What would the AFT insist on if given such bargaining rights? It has published lists of "demands" at both San Francisco and San Jose State Colleges — although a strike at the latter was called off without the demands being met. These lists, however, apparently represent only a small part of the demands the union is prepared to push.

A BETTER IDEA of the breadth of the union's demands is provided by a list of 48 of them taken down by a secretary during a two-day session with representatives of Chancellor Glenn Dumke of the state colleges. The session was held last Dec. 27 and 28 in an attempt to head off the San Francisco State strike. Here are some of the 48 demands made by union representatives during that discussion:

"The grievances of the Black Students Union and the Third World Liberation Front must be resolved and implementation assured. . . .

"Approval in advance is to be given to whatever college constitution emerges from the constitutional convention to be called by the Academic Senate . . .

"Regardless of academic rank, there is to be automatic progression through the salary scale until the top step of the professor salary is reached . . .

"NO FACULTY member is to be required to teach or perform other duties on campus if he thinks that an atmosphere incompatible with academic pursuits is present...

"The maximum teaching load for faculty members teaching undergraduates is to be nine units." (Present standard at the state colleges is 12 units; standard teaching load in high schools is generally 20 to 25 units.)

"In no case shall the student-teacher ratio for any department exceed 17 to 1. . . .

"A faculty member shall, after one year of employment, be entitled to a one-year leave of absence without pay . . . During such leave he is to receive credit toward his normal salary step increase, and the period is to count toward tenure. . . .

"Each faculty member is to receive $500 annually for . . . research and/or travel. . . .

"One thousand dollars per fulltime faculty member is to be allocated for employment of student and graduate assistants." In addition, there is to be "a minimum of $3,000 for every four fulltime faculty members" for more graduate assistants.

"THERE MUST be one fulltime secretary for every six fulltime faculty members . . .

"Each faculty member who requests it shall be provided with a one-man office. . . .

"All grievance procedures will be specified by the union . . .

"Decisions made by the faculty with respect to assignment of faculty members. . . . are to be final and not subject to administrative reversal. . . .

"The faculty is to be given sole authority over graduation requirements."

Early Session For Trustees

Dixie School District trustees will meet at 7:30 p.m. today at 35 Trellis Drive, Terra Linda.

The meeting will start a half-hour early so that after the regular meeting, trustees will have time to meet in closed session to discuss probationary teachers and their continued employment.

During the regular meeting, the Negotiating Council of the Dixie Teachers Association will present requests for salary raises for the coming school year.

Trustees will also review a claim by contractor Joseph Filippo that he has an extra $1,300 coming to him for added site work performed on the additions to Oak View School in San Rafael Park.

CITY COUNCIL OF THE CITY OF NOVATO

RESOLUTION NO. 23-69

RESOLUTION GIVING NOTICE OF PROPOSED ANNEXATION TO THE CITY OF NOVATO OF UNINHABITED TERRITORY DESCRIBED HEREIN AND DESIGNATED "CENTER ROAD ANNEXATION NO. 3" AND GIVING NOTICE OF TIME AND PLACE FOR HEARING OF PROTESTS THERETO.

BE IT RESOLVED BY THE COUNCIL OF THE CITY OF NOVATO:

1. That is has come to the attention of the City Council of the City of Novato, and this Council finds, that it would be for the best interests of said City and of the residents of the contiguous area herein described to alter the boundaries of said City by annexing thereto and incorporating therein as a part thereof under the provisions of the annexation of Uninhabited Territory Act of 1939, as amended, certain property situated in the County of Marin, State of California, hereby designated "Center Road Annexation No. 3", and described in Exhibit "A" attached hereto and made a part hereof.

2. The reasons why the City of Novato desires said annexation are as follows:

(a) Said territory because of its location and other features should be governed in its development by the same zoning and planning regulations which govern territory within the City of Novato.

(b) Because of its location, said territory will receive the benefit of and should therefore participate in supporting the municipal services of said city.

3. The City of Novato has heretofore filed with the Local Agency Annexation Commission of Marin County, a notice of intention to annex the territory more particularly described in Exhibit "A". Said notice contained the specific boundaries of the territory proposed to be annexed. The description of said territory was submitted to the Marin County Boundary Commission, and the attached description in accordance with the report of said Commission. Thereafter, the Local Agency Annexation Commission of Marin County after public hearing did approve said proposed annexation.

4. That Tuesday, March 25, 1969, at the hour of 8:00 o'clock P.M., in the Council Chambers, Novato Community House, in the City of Novato, County of Marin, California, is hereby fixed as the time and place when and where any person owning real property within the uninhabited territory above described and proposed to be annexed to the City of Novato, and having any objections to the proposed annexation, may appear before the Council of the City of Novato and show cause why such uninhabited territory should not be so annexed to the City of Novato. The protest must be in writing, may be filed at any time before the hour set for hearing objections to the proposed annexation, and shall state the name or names of the owner or owners of property affected and the description and area of such property, in general terms.

5. The City Clerk of the City of Novato is hereby authorized and directed to cause a copy of this resolution to be published at least twice, but not oftener than once a week, in the Novato Advance, a newspaper of general circulation published in said City of Novato and in the Independent-Journal, a newspaper of general circulation published in the County of Marin, said publication to be complete at least twenty (20) days prior to the date set for hearing.

6. The City Clerk is directed to cause written notice to be given to such other persons as may be legally entitled thereto in the manner required by law.

* * * * *

I HEREBY CERTIFY that the foregoing resolution was duly and regularly adopted by the City Council of the City of Novato, Marin County, California, at a regular meeting thereof, held on the 11th day of February, 1969, by the following vote, to wit:

AYES: COUNCILMEN GARGIULO, WOMACK, SILVA, McASKILL

NOES: COUNCILMEN NONE

ABSENT: COUNCILMEN MERRILL

CITY COUNCIL OF THE CITY OF NOVATO
RESOLUTION NO. 23-69

RESOLUTION GIVING NOTICE OF PROPOSED ANNEXATION TO THE CITY OF NOVATO OF UNINHABITED TERRITORY DESCRIBED HEREIN AND DESIGNATED "CENTER ROAD ANNEXATION NO. 3" AND GIVING NOTICE OF TIME AND PLACE FOR HEARING OF PROTESTS THERETO.

BE IT RESOLVED BY THE COUNCIL OF THE CITY OF NOVATO:

1. That is has come to the attention of the City Council of the City of Novato, and this Council finds, that it would be for the best interests of said City and of the residents of the contiguous area herein described to alter the boundaries of said City by annexing thereto and incorporating therein as a part thereof under the provisions of the annexation of Uninhabited Territory Act of 1939, as amended, certain property situated in the County of Marin, State of California, hereby designated "Center Road Annexation No. 3", and described in Exhibit "A" attached hereto and made a part hereof.

2. The reasons why the City of Novato desires said annexation are as follows:

(a) Said territory because of its location and other features should be governed in its development by the same zoning and planning regulations which govern territory within the City of Novato.

(b) Because of its location, said territory will receive the benefit of and should therefore participate in supporting the municipal services of said city.

3. The City of Novato has heretofore filed with the Local Agency Annexation Commission of Marin County, a notice of intention to annex the territory more particularly described in Exhibit "A". Said notice contained the specific boundaries of the territory proposed to be annexed. The description of said territory was submitted to the Marin County Boundary Commission, and the attached description in accordance with the report of said Commission. Thereafter, the Local Agency Annexation Commission of Marin County after public hearing did approve said proposed annexation.

4. That Tuesday, March 25, 1969, at the hour of 8:00 o'clock P.M., in the Council Chambers, Novato Community House, in the City of Novato, County of Marin, California, is hereby fixed as the time and place when and where any person owning real property within the uninhabited territory above described and proposed to be annexed to the City of Novato, and having any objections to the proposed annexation, may appear before the Council of the City of Novato and show cause why such uninhabited territory should not be so annexed to the City of Novato. The protest must be in writing, may be filed at any time before the hour set for hearing objections to the proposed annexation, and shall state the name or names of the owner or owners of property affected and the description and area of such property, in general terms.

5. The City Clerk of the City of Novato is hereby authorized and directed to cause a copy of this resolution to be published at least twice, but not oftener than once a week, in the Novato Advance, a newspaper of general circulation published in said City of Novato and in the Independent-Journal, a newspaper of general circulation published in the County of Marin, said publication to be complete at least twenty (20) days prior to the date set for hearing.

6. The City Clerk is directed to cause written notice to be given to such other persons as may be legally entitled thereto in the manner required by law.

* * * * *

I HEREBY CERTIFY that the foregoing resolution was duly and regularly adopted by the City Council of the City of Novato, Marin County, California, at a regular meeting thereof, held on the 11th day of February, 1969, by the following vote, to wit:

AYES: COUNCILMEN GARGIULO, WOMACK, SILVA, McASKILL
NOES: COUNCILMEN NONE
ABSENT: COUNCILMEN MERRILL

Bug-Like Lunar Excursion Craft Due Its First Test On Weekend

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

It's an ungainly-looking craft, like a fat bug with antenna for feelers and portholes for eyes. It is the only major piece of Apollo hardware that has not been flown by man in space.

"It" is the lunar excursion module — LEM to its friends — and it is the American moon landing ship, a spindley-legged craft which eventually will ferry two astronauts to the lunar surface.

Apollo 9 astronauts, Air Force Lt. Cols. James A. McDivitt and David R. Scott and civilian astronaut Russell L. Schweickart, give it a practical tryout in a 10-day orbiting trip Friday. They'll not actually land on the moon, but if the Apollo 9 mission succeeds, only one more preliminary flight is planned before that historic feat is attempted.

McDivitt, who will command the Apollo 9 flight, spoke of the LEM as "a very flimsy craft — like a tissue paper spacecraft. If we're not careful, we could easily put a foot through it." Nor is it designed for comfort: there aren't any seats in it. The two men who pilot it must do so standing up.

The LEM will be launched into space by the same Saturn 5 rocket carrying the Apollo 9. McDivitt, Scott and Schweickart will ride in the main Apollo ship, with the LEM resting in an adapter section between the third stage and the spaceship.

Once in orbit, the astronauts will link up with the LEM and McDivitt and Schweickart will crawl into it through a connecting tunnel.

Then they'll separate, move up to 110 miles away, and practice rendezvous and docking maneuvers with Scott in the main Apollo ship.

Plans also call for Schweickart to take a two-hour space walk, in which he'll transfer from the LEM to Apollo and back again. This is to rehearse an emergency in which passage through the tunnel is impossible.

The space walk is planned the third day of the trip and also will serve to evaluate the suit that later astronauts will wear while strolling on the moon.

Schweickart will slip through the LEM's open outside hatch, feet first, carrying on his back a portable life support system, filled with oxygen. He'll grab a handrail on the left side of the LEM hatch and then sit on the top rung of a ladder on the side of the module.

He'll have a standard movie camera with him and will be photographed himself by Scott.

Only the space walker's grasp on the hand rail and a 25-foot safety line attached to him from the LEM will keep the astronaut from floating away. He'll slip his feet into glass fiber restraining devices on the LEM — "golden slippers" — and rest before beginning the transfer to the command ship.

He'll make his way hand over hand along rails to the command module hatch, slip inside so Scott can grab his leg, then return to the LEM.

The actual transfer is expected to take only 20 minutes, but Schweickart will be outside two hours, including rest periods and picture-taking.

If all goes well, Apollo 10 is set for a May 17 launching and Apollo 11 — the planned moon landing flight — will be attempted in mid-July.

Surplus For Childrens' Food Urged

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Gov. Ronald Reagan was under challenge today to use a state budget surplus to help feed "starving children" in California rather than to cut the state personal income tax.

The proposal came from Democratic ssemblyman Mike Cullen of Long Beach yesterday during a hearing on a bill to boost welfare payments to the elderly by $7.50 a month.

John Montgomery, Reagan's social welfare director, contended that monthly maximum payments of $188.50 to the elderly are adequate, but Aid to Families with Dependent Children (AFDC) is not. The top payment in that category is $191 for a family of four.

Cullen then noted that Reagan had told Californians on television, with "some glee," in early February that his new budget contained a multimillion dollar surplus. He proposed to give $100 million of it back in a one-time state personal income tax cut in 1970.

Cullen asked Montgomery if the average taxpayer might not forego the tax hike in order to "bring those children up to the bare nutritional standard."

He suggested that Reagan was a man "who's got everything on television and can tell the people that these kids are starving.'

Montomery said it would be presumptious for him to speak for the governor, who was traveling to Los Angeles at the time, and that "I'm not agreeing that children are starving in California."

Pueblo Crew Reports Prison Death Threats

CORONADO (UPI) — Some USS Pueblo sailors had to be beaten or threatened with death before they would talk to their North Korean captors. Others didn't.

The variations in behavior grew more apparent as the Navy today continued summoning Pueblo men one by one to tell their stories at a court of inquiry into their behavior while prisoners.

Six more men were called to testify in open court today. Two of them have won high praise from their shipmates for keeping up a strong front to the North Koreans during the 11 month captivity that followed the vessel's seizure Jan. 23, 1968.

Intercommunications electrician 1/C Victor D. Escamilla, 27, Amarillo, Tex., voluntarily took punishment for the whole crew when the North Koreans were trying to find out who damaged a shower window.

Electrician's Mate 1/C William G. Hagenson, 38, Bremerton, Wash., has been praised by Pueblo officers for his work as leading petty officer in one of the cells where the Pueblo men were held.

Cmdr. William R. Newsome, court counsel, is trying to find how much pressure was required to force each man to depart from the Armed Forces Code of Conduct for prisoners of war. The code, which has become a major issue in the Pueblo hearings, says a captured U.S. serviceman may tell the enemy only his name, rank, service number and date of birth.

The irritation of Newsome and the assistant counsel, Cmdr. William Clemons, with some of the answers they were getting showed up earlier this week when Clemons bluntly asked one sailor:

"Did you resist to the fullest extent of which you were capable?"

"I wouldn't say to the fullest," the man replied.

All Pueblo enlisted men eventually completed a questionnaire for the North Koreans, giving their past Navy stations, social background, and names of relatives.

The North Koreans demanded the form be filled out the first day the Americans were in prison. It provided the first test of the code.

Reinecke Talks Of College Role

SANTA BARBARA (AP)—Lt. Gov. Ed Reinecke says California universities might put more emphasis on research and graduate student education if junior colleges can assume a bigger load for undergraduate instruction.

Reinecke addressed a convention of the Council of California Growers last night.

He said the junior college system might become almost an extension of high school, allowing a broader base of young people to get a two-year college education.

Those qualified could then continue at four-year colleges and universities and those not oriented toward higher education would have a firm base for technical training, Reinecke said.

He said this would also allow four-year schools to be more research and graduate student-oriented.

Collegians Lose Bid To Return To Class

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Five expelled College of San Mateo students lost their bid for a federal injunction to allow them to return to classes pending a hearing of criminal charges against them.

The students' participation in campus demonstrations last December resulted in expulsion.

They told U.S. District Judge Stanley A. Weigel yesterday that if they resisted expulsion in administrative hearings the testimony could be used later in criminal court trials against them.

Judge Weigel disagreed, saying that since they had a choice of whether or not to testify, they were not being denied due process.

The judge added: "It is not a denial by the college of their right to testify nor the college's fault that the evidence might be used in criminal proceedings."

The question of using possibly self-incriminating evidence in the criminal cases should be raised at the trials, he said.

The students are Donald Grimes of Menlo Park; Douglas Campbell of San Mateo, Isidro Gali of Half Moon Bay and Warren Furutani and Vincent Maninno, both of El Granada.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Jogging Held Not The Only Answer To Overeating Danger

VAN DELLEN

A physician from Michigan City, Ind., sent me a note on jogging that he believes is important enough to be published.

"Jogging has become popular to prevent heart disease and combat obesity, but other measures are also important. Smoking, eating too much fat, and worry and anxiety could nullify the salutary effects of jogging.

"RECENT EVIDENCE is very convincing that the American diet, rich in fat, and cane sugar, is a cause of coronary heart disease, and contributory to thrombosis (clot formation), stroke, high blood pressure, and obesity.

Extensive studies demonstrated a sharp reduction in the number of deaths from coronary heart attacks when a low-fat diet was followed.

"Evidence is also strong that excess salt aggravates hypertension, and Japanese investigators have shown that the greater the amount of salt consumed, the higher the incidence of stroke.

"So keep jogging, but remember, the dining table is not a safe place any more. Don't postpone dieting until the last bit of proof comes in; if you do, we may not be able to get in touch with you in the near future." (signed) S. K. Robinson, M.D.

THIS LETTER AGAIN demonstrates that there are many facets to hardening of the arteries. Fatty deposits that build up in the artery wall and narrow the passageway, are composed mainly of cholesterol.

When arteries feeding blood to the heart or brain become clogged, the outcome is a heart attack or stroke.

Following a cholesterol-lowering diet lessens the chance or postpones arteriosclerosis. But, cholesterol in the blood can be lowered via exercise. Heavy smoking, stress, and anxiety also play a role.

Dr. Van Dellen will answer questions on medical topics if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request to the I-J.)

FIGHTING FATHER TIME

J. M. W. writes: According to a magazine series, persons who do not accept old age may develop hypertension. Aging I cannot deny; it shows and I accept it. I dress nicely, dye my hair, weigh only 110 pounds and am about 5 feet tall. Why should I get hypertension? I'm happy and could use a little more money, but who couldn't?

REPLY

Whether or not one accepts old age is unrelated to hypertension. I admire your philosophy. Keep it up.

REORDERED MEDICINE

Mrs. J. writes: Several years ago my doctor prescribed a drug for hot flushes. Since then, whenever the flushes bother me, I have the prescription refilled. Is it dangerous to take this kind of medicine for a long time?

REPLY

You didn't say what the medicine is, but I doubt that the preparation is dangerous; if it were, refilling it would require a new prescription or a call to your physician by the druggist.

WHAT SLEEPWALKING IS

Mrs. J. writes: Is sleepwalking in a young adult indicative of an emotional disturbance?

REPLY

Yes. Many authorities regard sleepwalking (somnambulism) as a more vivid type of dream brought on by a deeper emotional disturbance than that underlying ordinary dreams. In more technical terms, "The impulses of the id reach the motor organs (muscles), eluding conscious control."

SORE TONGUE AND THROAT

A reader writes: Can allergy cause a sore tongue and throat?

REPLY

Yes, but infection and irritation are more common culprits. Allergies are more likely to cause painless swelling of the tissues. Early symptoms of a cold sometimes resemble allergies.

COLORLESS SKIN SPOTS

T. B. writes: Why do some black people get white spots on their skin?

REPLY

These areas represent depigmentation, which occurs in all races, but the contrast is more noticeable in Negroes and those with a deep tan.

BLINKING LIKELY TO PASS

Mrs. N. writes: My 5-year-old son has begun to blink has eyes. Should we ignore this or have him examined by an eye doctor?

REPLY

This habit usually is a passing phase in preschoolers but when it persists for months, an eye examination is in order.

PREGNANCY AND ACHES

Mrs. O. writes: I have suffered from headaches off and on for five years, except for nine months while I was carrying my baby. What is the relationship between pregnancy and headaches?

REPLY

Changes galore occur in the glandular and emotional systems during pregnancy. As a result, some women feel wonderful and lose their aches and pains at this time. Perhaps your head pain falls into the same category.

CONSTANT DIARRHEA

A reader writes: Is it dangerous to have diarrhea all the time?

REPLY

This situation is not normal, but I can't say it is dangerous if you have had it for years.

Today's health hint:

Exercise restores muscle tone.

Bug-Like Lunar Excursion Craft Due Its First Test On Weekend

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

It's an ungainly-looking craft, like a fat bug with antenna for feelers and portholes for eyes. It is the only major piece of Apollo hardware that has not been flown by man in space.

"It" is the lunar excursion module — LEM to its friends — and it is the American moon landing ship, a spindley-legged craft which eventually will ferry two astronauts to the lunar surface.

Apollo 9 astronauts, Air Force Lt. Cols. James A. McDivitt and David R. Scott and civilian astronaut Russell L. Schweickart, give it a practical tryout in a 10-day orbiting trip Friday. They'll not actually land on the moon, but if the Apollo 9 mission succeeds, only one more preliminary flight is planned before that historic feat is attempted.

McDivitt, who will command the Apollo 9 flight, spoke of the LEM as "a very flimsy craft — like a tissue paper spacecraft. If we're not careful, we could easily put a foot through it." Nor is it designed for comfort: there aren't any seats in it. The two men who pilot it must do so standing up.

The LEM will be launched into space by the same Saturn 5 rocket carrying the Apollo 9. McDivitt, Scott and Schweickart will ride in the main Apollo ship, with the LEM resting in an adapter section between the third stage and the spaceship.

Once in orbit, the astronauts will link up with the LEM and McDivitt and Schweickart will crawl into it through a connecting tunnel.

Then they'll separate, move up to 110 miles away, and practice rendezvous and docking maneuvers with Scott in the main Apollo ship.

Plans also call for Schweickart to take a two-hour space walk, in which he'll transfer from the LEM to Apollo and back again. This is to rehearse an emergency in which passage through the tunnel is impossible.

The space walk is planned the third day of the trip and also will serve to evaluate the suit that later astronauts will wear while strolling on the moon.

Schweickart will slip through the LEM's open outside hatch, feet first, carrying on his back a portable life support system, filled with oxygen. He'll grab a handrail on the left side of the LEM hatch and then sit on the top rung of a ladder on the side of the module.

He'll have a standard movie camera with him and will be photographed himself by Scott.

Only the space walker's grasp on the hand rail and a 25-foot safety line attached to him from the LEM will keep the astronaut from floating away. He'll slip his feet into glass fiber restraining devices on the LEM — "golden slippers" — and rest before beginning the transfer to the command ship.

He'll make his way hand over hand along rails to the command module hatch, slip inside so Scott can grab his leg, then return to the LEM.

The actual transfer is expected to take only 20 minutes, but Schweickart will be outside two hours, including rest periods and picture-taking.

If all goes well, Apollo 10 is set for a May 17 launching and Apollo 11 — the planned moon landing flight — will be attempted in mid-July.

Surplus For Childrens' Food Urged

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Gov. Ronald Reagan was under challenge today to use a state budget surplus to help feed "starving children" in California rather than to cut the state personal income tax.

The proposal came from Democratic ssemblyman Mike Cullen of Long Beach yesterday during a hearing on a bill to boost welfare payments to the elderly by $7.50 a month.

John Montgomery, Reagan's social welfare director, contended that monthly maximum payments of $188.50 to the elderly are adequate, but Aid to Families with Dependent Children (AFDC) is not. The top payment in that category is $191 for a family of four.

Cullen then noted that Reagan had told Californians on television, with "some glee," in early February that his new budget contained a multimillion dollar surplus. He proposed to give $100 million of it back in a one-time state personal income tax cut in 1970.

Cullen asked Montgomery if the average taxpayer might not forego the tax hike in order to "bring those children up to the bare nutritional standard."

He suggested that Reagan was a man "who's got everything on television and can tell the people that these kids are starving."

Montomery said it would be presumptious for him to speak for the governor, who was traveling to Los Angeles at the time, and that "I'm not agreeing that children are starving in California."

Pueblo Crew Reports Prison Death Threats

CORONADO (UPI) — Some USS Pueblo sailors had to be beaten or threatened with death before they would talk to their North Korean captors. Others didn't.

The variations in behavior grew more apparent as the Navy today continued summoning Pueblo men one by one to tell their stories at a court of inquiry into their behavior while prisoners.

Six more men were called to testify in open court today. Two of them have won high praise from their shipmates for keeping up a strong front to the North Koreans during the 11 month captivity that followed the vessel's seizure Jan. 23, 1968.

Intercommunications electrician 1/C Victor D. Escamilla, 27, Amarillo, Tex., voluntarily took punishment for the whole crew when the North Koreans were trying to find out who damaged a shower window.

Electrician's Mate 1/C William G. Hagenson, 38, Bremerton, Wash., has been praised by Pueblo officers for his work as leading petty officer in one of the cells where the Pueblo men were held.

Cmdr. William R. Newsome, court counsel, is trying to find how much pressure was required to force each man to depart from the Armed Forces Code of Conduct for prisoners of war. The code, which has become a major issue in the Pueblo hearings, says a captured U.S. serviceman may tell the enemy only his name, rank, service number and date of birth.

The irritation of Newsome and the assistant counsel, Cmdr. William Clemons, with some of the answers they were getting showed up earlier this week when Clemons bluntly asked one sailor:

"Did you resist to the fullest extent of which you were capable?"

"I wouldn't say to the fullest," the man replied.

All Pueblo enlisted men eventually completed a questionnaire for the North Koreans, giving their past Navy stations, social background, and names of relatives.

The North Koreans demanded the form be filled out the first day the Americans were in prison. It provided the first test of the code.

Reinecke Talks Of College Role

SANTA BARBARA (AP)—Lt. Gov. Ed Reinecke says California universities might put more emphasis on research and graduate student education if junior colleges can assume a bigger load for undergraduate instruction.

Reinecke addressed a convention of the Council of California Growers last night.

He said the junior college system might become almost an extension of high school, allowing a broader base of young people to get a two-year college education.

Those qualified could then continue at four-year colleges and universities and those not oriented toward higher education would have a firm base for technical training, Reinecke said.

He said this would also allow four-year schools to be more research and graduate student-oriented.

Collegians Lose Bid To Return To Class

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Five expelled College of San Mateo students lost their bid for a federal injunction to allow them to return to classes pending a hearing of criminal charges against them.

The students' participation in campus demonstrations last December resulted in expulsion.

They told U.S. District Judge Stanley A. Weigel yesterday that if they resisted expulsion in administrative hearings the testimony could be used later in criminal court trials against them.

Judge Weigel disagreed, saying that since they had a choice of whether or not to testify, they were not being denied due process.

The judge added: "It is not a denial by the college of their right to testify nor the college's fault that the evidence might be used in criminal proceedings."

The question of using possibly self-incriminating evidence in the criminal cases should be raised at the trials, he said.

The students are Donald Grimes of Menlo Park; Douglas Campbell of San Mateo, Isidro Gali of Half Moon Bay and Warren Furutani and Vincent Maninno, both of El Granada.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Jogging Held Not The Only Answer To Overeating Danger

VAN DELLEN

A physician from Michigan City, Ind., sent me a note on jogging that he believes is important enough to be published.

"Jogging has become popular to prevent heart disease and combat obesity, but other measures are also important. Smoking, eating too much fat, and worry and anxiety could nullify the salutary effects of jogging.

"RECENT EVIDENCE is very convincing that the American diet, rich in fat, and cane sugar, is a cause of coronary heart disease, and contributory to thrombosis (clot formation), stroke, high blood pressure, and obesity.

Extensive studies demonstrated a sharp reduction in the number of deaths from coronary heart attacks when a low-fat diet was followed.

"Evidence is also strong that excess salt aggravates hypertension, and Japanese investigators have shown that the greater the amount of salt consumed, the higher the incidence of stroke.

"So keep jogging, but remember, the dining table is not a safe place any more. Don't postpone dieting until the last bit of proof comes in; if you do, we may not be able to get in touch with you in the near future." (signed) S. K. Robinson, M.D.

THIS LETTER AGAIN demonstrates that there are many facets to hardening of the arteries. Fatty deposits that build up in the artery wall and narrow the passageway, are composed mainly of cholesterol.

When arteries feeding blood to the heart or brain become clogged, the outcome is a heart attack or stroke.

Following a cholesterol-lowering diet lessens the chance or postpones arteriosclerosis. But, cholesterol in the blood can be lowered via exercise. Heavy smoking, stress, and anxiety also play a role.

Dr. Van Dellen will answer questions on medical topics if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request to the I-J.)

FIGHTING FATHER TIME

J. M. W. writes: According to a magazine series, persons who do not accept old age may develop hypertension. Aging I cannot deny; it shows and I accept it. I dress nicely, dye my hair, weigh only 110 pounds and am about 5 feet tall. Why should I get hypertension? I'm happy and could use a little more money, but who couldn't?

REPLY

Whether or not one accepts old age is unrelated to hypertension. I admire your philosophy. Keep it up.

REORDERED MEDICINE

Mrs. J. writes: Several years ago my doctor prescribed a drug for hot flushes. Since then, whenever the flushes bother me, I have the prescription refilled. Is it dangerous to take this kind of medicine for a long time?

REPLY

You didn't say what the medicine is, but I doubt that the preparation is dangerous; if it were, refilling it would require a new prescription or a call to your physician by the druggist.

WHAT SLEEPWALKING IS

Mrs. J. writes: Is sleepwalking in a young adult indicative of an emotional disturbance?

REPLY

Yes. Many authorities regard sleepwalking (somnambulism) as a more vivid type of dream brought on by a deeper emotional disturbance than that underlying ordinary dreams. In more technical terms, "The impulses of the id reach the motor organs (muscles), eluding conscious control."

SORE TONGUE AND THROAT

A reader writes: Can allergy cause a sore tongue and throat?

REPLY

Yes, but infection and irritation are more common culprits. Allergies are more likely to cause painless swelling of the tissues. Early symptoms of a cold sometimes resemble allergies.

COLORLESS SKIN SPOTS

T. B. writes: Why do some black people get white spots on their skin?

REPLY

These areas represent depigmentation, which occurs in all races, but the contrast is more noticeable in Negroes and those with a deep tan.

BLINKING LIKELY TO PASS

Mrs. N. writes: My 5-year-old son has begun to blink has eyes. Should we ignore this or have him examined by an eye doctor?

REPLY

This habit usually is a passing phase in preschoolers but when it persists for months, an eye examination is in order.

PREGNANCY AND ACHES

Mrs. O. writes: I have suffered from headaches off and on for five years, except for nine months while I was carrying my baby. What is the relationship between pregnancy and headaches?

REPLY

Changes galore occur in the glandular and emotional systems during pregnancy. As a result, some women feel wonderful and lose their aches and pains at this time. Perhaps your head pain falls into the same category.

CONSTANT DIARRHEA

A reader writes: Is it dangerous to have diarrhea all the time?

REPLY

This situation is not normal, but I can't say it is dangerous if you have had it for years.

Today's health hint:

Exercise restores muscle tone.

SUMMONS
(General)
No. 53057

SUPERIOR COURT OF THE STATE OF CALIFORNIA FOR THE COUNTY OF MARIN.

MAIDA HELEN BARRICK Plaintiff vs.
KENNETH ROBERT BARRICK
Defendant

THE PEOPLE OF THE STATE OF CALIFORNIA to the above named Defendant:

You are directed to file with the clerk of this court in which the above entitled action is brought a written pleading in response to the complaint within ten days after the service on you of this summons, if served within the above named county, or within thirty days if served elsewhere (except that if the action is against the state pursuant to Section 738.5 of the Code of Civil Procedure, within 180 days). You are notified that unless you so file a written responsive pleading, the plaintiff will take judgment for any money or damages demanded in the complaint, as arising upon contract, or will apply to the court for any other relief demanded in the complaint.

You may seek the advice of an attorney on any matter connected with the complaint or this summons. Such attorney should be consulted within the time limit stated in this summons for filing a written pleading to the complaint.

Dated February 10, 1969.

Sonoma County Retirement Fete

Neal D. Smith, retiring Sonoma County administrator, will be honored at a testimonial dinner at 6:30 p.m. Friday at the Villa Chantecler in Healdsburg.

Smith, the county's first administrator, has held that post since 1954. He retires officially March 1 and will be succeeded by David Nichols, assistant administrator.

In addition to county department heads and commissioners, all Sonoma County city councils will be represented as well as the Redwood Empire Association and Sonoma County Mayor's and Councilmen's Association. Many former supervisors who served with Smith are expected to attend.

BEST SHOWS FOR TONIGHT

Best bets on television tonight:

KPIX (5), KXTV (10), 7:30 p.m.—Folk singer Buffy St. Marie, comedian John Byner, the pop group Gary Puckett and the Union Gap, Pat Paulson and John Hartford join Glen Campbell for an hour of laughter and music.

KPIX (5), 8:30 p.m.—"David Frost presents Noel Coward" is a one hour Group W special. Coward plays and sings several of his songs, reads from two of his plays and covers a wide and witty range of anecdotes.

KGO (7) KNTV (11), 8:30 p.m.—Anthony Quinn, Claudia Cardinale, Alain Delon, Michele Morgan, George Segal and Maurice Ronet star in the movie drama "Lost Command."

KRON (4), KCRA (3), 9 p.m.—Hosts Jimmy Durante and Don Knotts are joined by guest stars Jane Powell and the Baja Marimba Band for an hour of comedy and song on the "Kraft Music Hall."

KQED (9), 9:30 p.m.—"Performance" presents three student groups from the San Francisco Conservatory of Music in compositions by Telemann and Vivaldi, and in "madrigals."

11 To Graduate From Guide Dog Training

Ten men and women will be graduated from the training course of Guide Dogs for the Blind, Inc. in San Rafael in a ceremony beginning at 2:30 p.m. Saturday.

Graduating will be Floyd Brown of El Paso, Tex.; Edwin Deutscher of Portland, Ore.; Mrs. Jane Eagle of Venice, Los Angeles County; Nuncie Evans and Mrs. Quetana Moris, both of Sacramento; David Norvell of Spokane, Wash.; Les Pedersen of College Place, Wash.; Mrs. Bernice Perkins of Balboa Island; Ernest Schellbach of Seattle, and Richard Zlab of Denver.

There will be a dog obedience demonstration and a tour of the kennels at the school, 350 Los Ranchitos Road.

Home Looted

Reported to the sheriff's department yesterday was a burglary at the home of Barbara Curley of 101 Edgewood Avenue, Kent Woodlands, in which a stereo tape recorder and a brandy snifter containing cash were taken. Entry had been made through a door which had been forced open.

TV REVIEW

A Fine Way To Spend 90 Minutes

By RICK DU BROW

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — The conflict betwen a nonconformist young scientist and the square, suburban company that employed him was the basis of an original CBS-TV drama, "The Experiment," last night.

Although the 90-minute drama by Ellen M. Violett was sometimes diffuse—and a little preachy with several cliche characters—it was by far the best of the "CB Playhouse" productions to date.

It was a very fine way to spend 90 minutes for several reasons. One is that, despite the occasional decline ito stereotyped reactions, the feel of the so-called generation gap was transmitted with more genuineness than one might have expected.

Another reason is that the performances by M. K. Douglas, son of Kirk Douglas, and Tisha Sterling, daughter of Ann Southern and Robert Sterling, were true and forceful and affecting as the young scientist and the girl who lives with him, pretending to be his wife.

In the story, the young lovers are just out of college, where he has been a brilliant student, wrapped up mainly in his work, and where she has been a political activist. But more than their specific roles, Miss Sterling and Douglas were wholly believable in expressing the relationship of their contemporary love and wishes. In her idealism and directness, Miss Sterling particularly scored in getting across what many young persons find wrong with establishment values.

The catalyst—the recruiter who brings Douglas into the firm—was portrayed by that fine actor John Astin, who had the interesting role of a middleaged man who sympathized with the young man because of his own past idealism—but who had long since bent to compromise.

Barry Sullivan did his usual professional job with an ill-defined role—a pivotal member of the firm whose troubles with his own daughter lead him to a distressing showdown with Miss Sterling, especially after he finds out she is not married to Douglas. The daughter was played by Susan Strasberg.

Trio Named For Scholar Test

Three seniors at Marin Catholic High School will represent their school in competition for Bank of America scholarships.

The students, who won plaques for their scholarship and extra-curricular activities, are Henry L. Catala in science and mathematics, Patrica Dillman in fine arts and Richard Howard in liberal arts.

They will compete with other Bay Area students for awards of $25 to $1,000.

Is there something more to life ?

Perhaps you feel there is. If you want a wholeness and richness to life beyond the ordinary — more happiness, a more expansive love, even more life to live, then what you really need is an understanding that God is Life. Hear this public lecture "The Way of Abundant Life" by PAUL K. WAVRO, C.S.B., a member of the Board of Lectureship of The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Mass.

BEST SHOWS FOR TONIGHT

Best bets on television tonight:

KPIX (5), KXTV (10), 7:30 p.m.—Folk singer Buffy St. Marie, comedian John Byner, the pop group Gary Puckett and the Union Gap, Pat Paulson and John Hartford join Glen Campbell for an hour of laughter and music.

KPIX (5), 8:30 p.m.—"David Frost presents Noel Coward" is a one hour Group W special. Coward plays and sings several of his songs, reads from two of his plays and covers a wide and witty range of anecdotes.

KGO (7) KNTV (11), 8:30 p.m.—Anthony Quinn, Claudia Cardinale, Alain Delon, Michele Morgan, George Segal and Maurice Ronet star in the movie drama "Lost Command."

KRON (4), KCRA (3), 9 p.m.—Hosts Jimmy Durante and Don Knotts are joined by guest stars Jane Powell and the Baja Marimba Band for an hour of comedy and song on the "Kraft Music Hall."

KQED (9), 9:30 p.m.—"Performance" presents three student groups from the San Francisco Conservatory of Music in compositions by Telemann and Vivaldi, and in "madrigals."

TV REVIEW

A Fine Way To Spend 90 Minutes

By RICK DU BROW

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — The conflict between a nonconformist young scientist and the square, suburban company that employed him was the basis of an original CBS-TV drama, "The Experiment," last night.

Although the 90-minute drama by Ellen M. Violett was sometimes diffuse—and a little preachy with several cliche characters—it was by far the best of the "CB Playhouse" productions to date.

It was a very fine way to spend 90 minutes for several reasons. One is that, despite the occasional decline ito stereotyped reactions, the feel of the so-called generation gap was transmitted with more genuineness than one might have expected.

Another reason is that the performances by M. K. Douglas, son of Kirk Douglas, and Tisha Sterling, daughter of Ann Southern and Robert Sterling, were true and forceful and affecting as the young scientist and the girl who lives with him, pretending to be his wife.

In the story, the young lovers are just out of college, where he has been a brilliant student, wrapped up mainly in his work, and where she has been a political activist. But more than their specific roles, Miss Sterling and Douglas were wholly believable in expressing the relationship of their contemporary love and wishes. In her idealism and directness, Miss Sterling particularly scored in getting across what many young persons find wrong with establishment values.

The catalyst—the recruiter who brings Douglas into the firm—was portrayed by that fine actor John Astin, who had the interesting role of a middleaged man who sympathized with the young man because of his own past idealism—but who had long since bent to compromise.

Barry Sullivan did his usual professional job with an ill-defined role—a pivotal member of the firm whose troubles with his own daughter lead him to a distressing showdown with Miss Sterling, especially after he finds out she is not married to Douglas. The daughter was played by Susan Strasberg.

Sonoma County Retirement Fete

Neal D. Smith, retiring Sonoma County administrator, will be honored at a testimonial dinner at 6:30 p.m. Friday at the Villa Chantecler in Healdsburg.

Smith, the county's first administrator, has held that post since 1954. He retires officially March 1 and will be succeeded by David Nichols, assistant administrator.

In addition to county department heads and commissioners, all Sonoma County city councils will be represented as well as the Redwood Empire Association and Sonoma County Mayor's and Councilmen's Association. Many former supervisors who served with Smith are expected to attend.

11 To Graduate From Guide Dog Training

Ten men and women will be graduated from the training course of Guide Dogs for the Blind, Inc. in San Rafael in a ceremony beginning at 2:30 p.m. Saturday.

Graduating will be Floyd Brown of El Paso, Tex.; Edwin Deutscher of Portland, Ore.; Mrs. Jane Eagle of Venice, Los Angeles County; Nuncie Evans and Mrs. Quetana Moris, both of Sacramento; David Norvell of Spokane, Wash.; Les Pedersen of College Place, Wash.; Mrs. Bernice Perkins of Balboa Island; Ernest Schellbach of Seattle, and Richard Zlab of Denver.

There will be a dog obedience demonstration and a tour of the kennels at the school, 350 Los Ranchitos Road.

Home Looted

Reported to the sheriff's department yesterday was a burglary at the home of Barbara Curley of 101 Edgewood Avenue, Kent Woodlands, in which a stereo tape recorder and a brandy snifter containing cash were taken. Entry had been made through a door which had been forced open.

Trio Named For Scholar Test

Three seniors at Marin Catholic High School will represent their school in competition for Bank of America scholarships.

The students, who won plaques for their scholarship and extra-curricular activities, are Henry L. Catala in science and mathematics, Patrica Dillman in fine arts and Richard Howard in liberal arts.

They will compete with other Bay Area students for awards of $25 to $1,000.

Is there something more to life ?

Perhaps you feel there is. If you want a wholeness and richness to life beyond the ordinary — more happiness, a more expansive love, even more life to live, then what you really need is an understanding that God is Life. Hear this public lecture "The Way of Abundant Life" by PAUL K. WAVRO, C.S.B., a member of the Board of Lectureship of The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Mass.

Farallon Swimmer, Prep Coaches Talk To Kids, Dads

By GARY TISCHLER

Some heroes and greats just don't look the part.

This one didn't wear a cape, had no cleft chin and no certificate from Charles Atlas. He looked like some nice kid's middle-aged father, wearing dark suit, white shirt, red tie, sporting glasses and a slightly receding hairline. He was Stewart Evans, Lt. Col. U.S. Army, the man who in August, 1967, became the first man to swim from the Farallon Islands to the Marin County mainland.

Last night he came as an athlete, telling about 60 pairs of fathers and sons the effort that went into his singular feat. He was guest speaker at a fathers-sons night of the Parents-Teachers Association of Santa Venetia Middle aschool.

It was all part of an evening designed to introduce the junior high-aged boys to the facilities and promise of athletics in high school, particularly at San Rafael and Terra Linda High Schools, and beyond.

Also on hand were San Rafael High School football coach Bob Muster, San Rafael High, wrestling coach Larry Lack, Terra Linda High athletic director and football coach Don Lucas, and Terra Linda H.S. track and field coach Barry Amsden, explaining the particular programs available at their schools, and what to expect of them.

There was also Jack MacPhee from the Marvel Athletic Club, with weightlifting demonstrations by two members of his club.

Evans, a 42-year-old Signal Corps officer stuck to familiar nautical ground.

"It's fairly easy to describe football and basketball players," he kidded. "But with us distance swimmers, they say he must be some kind of nut."

"It's impossible to say why you want to do this," he added. "But not many men can do it. But it takes drive and desire. If you think you can do it, you can do it."

Evans described how he began training himself for his record 28-mile, 14-hour swim, first acclimating himself to the cold, day by day, hour by hour.

"The first time I stepped into the water, I thought I couldn't stay another minute," he said. "But you build up a layer of insulation, fat, and you get used to it."

Attired in swim cap, trunks and 10 pounds of grease, Evans set out at 10 p.m. and started toward Marin. By 6 a.m., after encountering assorted sea life including a school of jelly fish, he began to feel some pain in his left shoulder, pain finally dulled by aspirins.

"But at 6:30, the sun came up. I could see land," he said. "You know, you swim all night, and you can feel pretty low. But the sight of that land, well your spirits perk up."

He hopes to swim the English Channel back and forth.

"That will be my last swim," he said. "If I do it."

That was one individual view of athletics offered the youngsters and their fathers. The others were less exciting but probably more real.

Muster described the steadily improving nature, both in won-lost records against outside foes, and in facilities and equipment, of football in Marin County.

Lack gave the youngsters a small introduction to wrestling, a sport he calls one of the "least-known, but most popular sports in the world, and the most purely combative sport I know of." He also described San Rafael High School's extensive intramural and recreation program.

Lucas told the youngsters, 70 per cent of whom are headed for Terra Linda, that "at Terra Linda, we have a total comprehensive interscholastic athletic grogram, pointing out that in addition to regular sports, the school has a water polo team, and plans to add a soccer and gymnastics team next school year.

"I won't guarantee you that you'll be able to play football at Terra Linda," Lucas said. "But there is a place for you, if you're ready to give the supreme effort. That's what it takes. I know of two boys who couldn't chew gum and walk at the same time when they were freshmen. They were varsity starters last year."

Novato Man Hears All The Shoe Jokes

SHAMUS SHORTS:

As you will remember, last week we left R. J. deRecat of Novato nursing an Excedrin headache after he discovered some of the Rick Barry basketball shoes he distributes were encased in plastic bags bearing a picture of Mr. Barry in a San Francisco Warrior uniform. As the shoes were given away as a promotional gimmick by the rival Oakland Oaks, who paid handsomely for Barry's talents, Mr. deRecat was slightly embarrassed by the boo boo.

JUDGE SMITH

He writes a sequel to the saga of the shoe: "Two weeks ago I spent half an hour on the Alex Hannum TV show discussing basketball and, of course, the value of a good basketball shoe. Comments about my TV debut were nothing compared to the 24 hours I experienced since your basketball shoe-Excedrin headache article. I've been on the receiving end of every bag and shoe joke that has ever been thought up.

"I'm reasonably sure the plastic bags will become collectors' items as a result of the mixup. This little incident has caused a mild run nationally to buy the shoes and secure the bag. I've always wanted to know what my bag was in life, and now, inadvertantly, I've found it."

That's A Strong Bench

MARIN MUNICIPAL JUDGE Peter Allen Smith is president of the Central Marin Babe Ruth League, giving that junior baseball organization a strong bench, I'd say.

JUNIOR FIGURE skating whiz Juli McKinstry of San Rafael is in Colorado Springs, Colo. this week, spectating the world championships in her sport. The 12-year-old girl's coach, Skippy Baxter of Santa Rosa, wanted Juli to see the world competition for which she hopes to qualify some day.

COACH PETE LIMM of College of Marin may have the best indoor baseball team this side of Houston. Due to the inclement weather, his Tars have been limited to practice in the Kentfield gymnasium but are as yet undefeated with a victory and a tie in their outdoor games. They're the only players I know who get floor burns sliding into second base.

49er Bosley Is A Sub

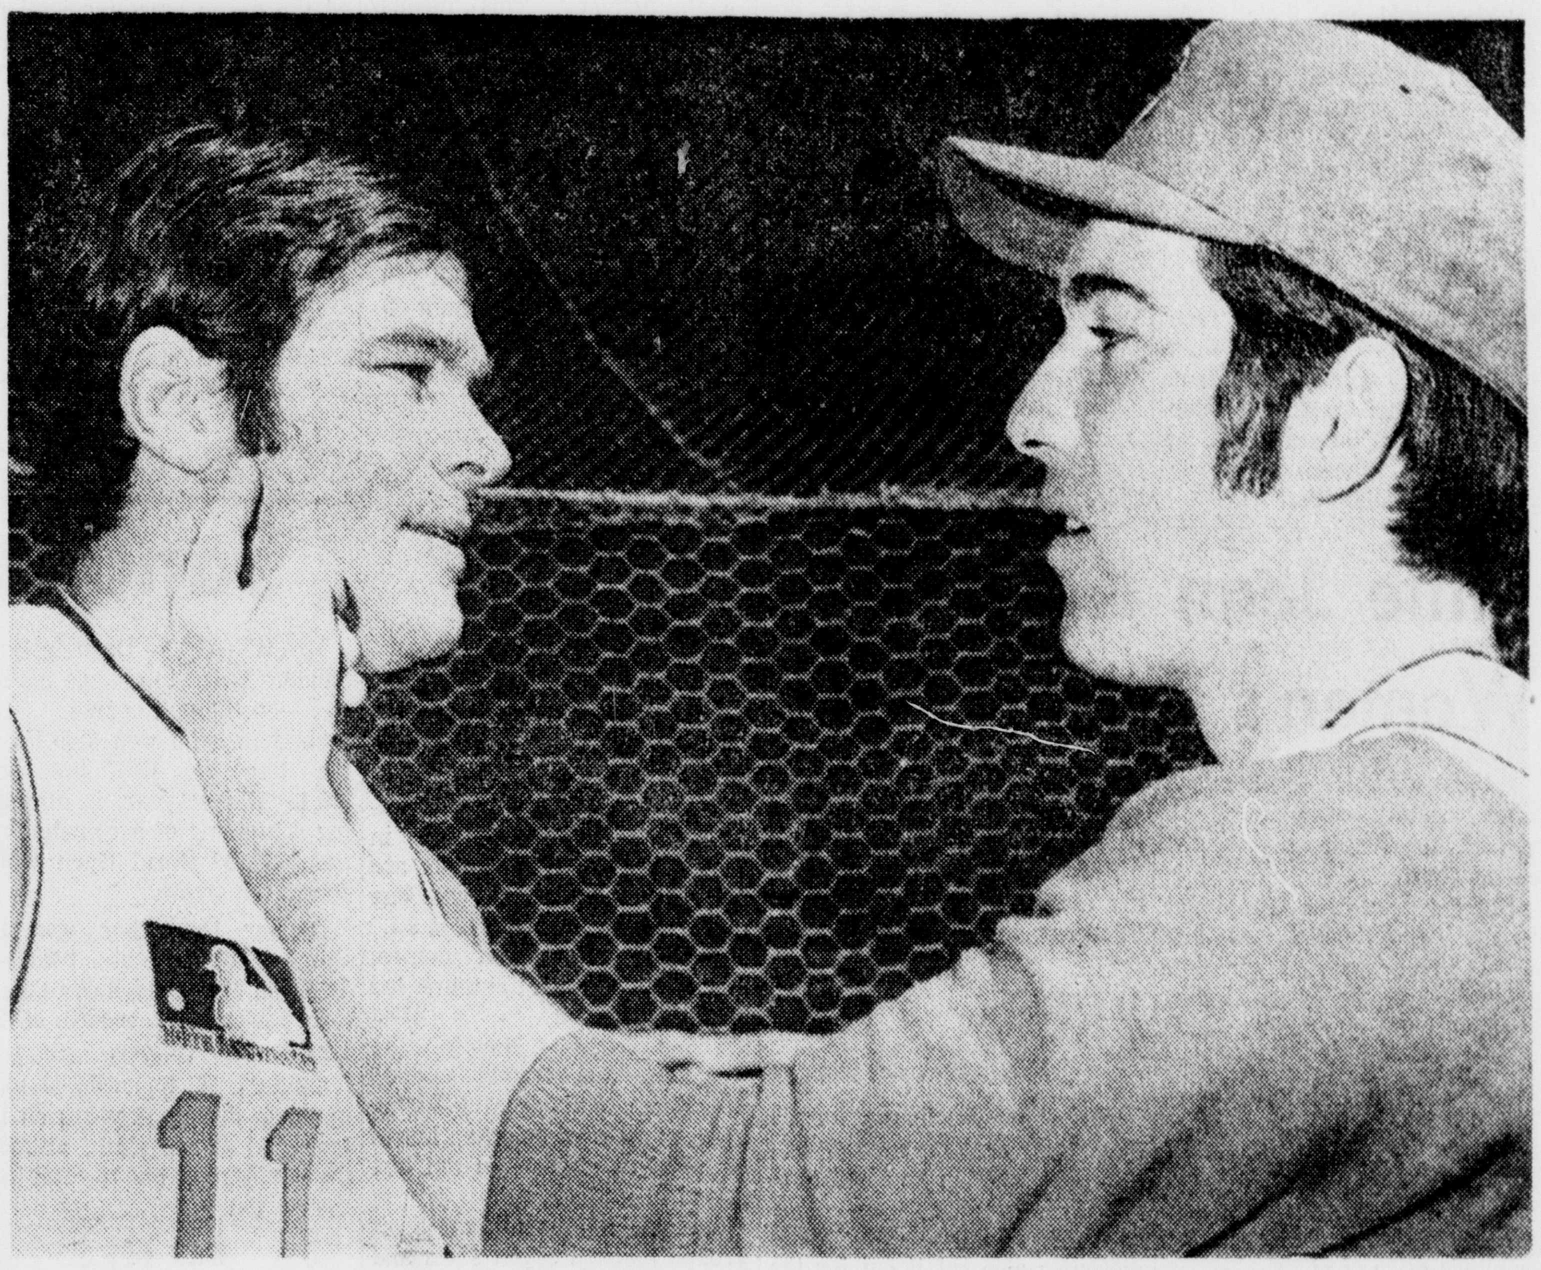
CENTER BRUCE BOSLEY was a last-mnute sub for John Brodie and Kevin Hardy for Sunday's showing of 49er football films at the Music Box liquid refreshment stand in San Rafael. Bosley narrated portions of the films which, incidentally, were not "49er Hilights of 1968" as advertised here last Friday. The official "Hilights" won't be ready for distribution until the end of March, according to 49er publicist George McFadden.

SPEAKING OF the Niners, defensive ace Clark Miller has bought a partnership in Ed's Brass Rail, a country Western-type establishment in Napa and has purchased a home a couple of miles south of St. Helena. Miller reports his badly damaged knee is mending nicely and he expects to be at full strength for the '69 season.

Trying To Update Records

COLLEGE OF MARIN track coach Tony Bailey is busy compiling a list of all-time track and field bests at the Kentfield school, but needs some help. A fire five years ago destroyed the Marin gymnasium and all the athletic records, so anyone knowing of exceptionally outstanding COM track marks should contact Bailey.

The Marin mentor says four school records set in 1934 still stand. They are the 9.9 seconds 100 and 21.8 seconds 220 by Arnold Nutting, a 50.2 seconds 440 clocking by Ken Miller and a 138-foot, 9-inch discuss throw by Bill Brooks. Not so hot by today's standards, but really tops 35 years ago.



THEY'LL HAVE TO COME OFF

Cleveland Indian pitcher Mike Paul (left) compares sideburns with teammate Tony Horton. Both of their dandy hairpieces will have to go in order to comply with the baseball commissioner's ruling that bans beards, mustaches and sideburns. (UPI Telephoto)

COLLEGE OF MARIN NOTES

Troubles At Kentfield

By RALPH CHATOIAN

Things are pretty rugged for the athletic department at College of Marin these days, and it doesn' look like it's going to get much better in the near future.

The physical education department got a pretty solid whack in the school newspaper last week, in an editorial by Rick Beban, entitled "Support Your Athletes," an upshoot of a discussion about grading systems between Tars' basketball coach Cal Riemcke and the school's board of trustees.

The board has changed the grading system at the Kentfield junior college which allows for A, B or C grades, and another grade of "No Credit." Riemcke went to the board to explain how it would be unfair for the Marin teams in comparison to teams from other schools in the Camino Norte Conference.

Now the misunderstanding.

The editorial chided Riemcke for trying to get special treatment for athletes.

At a meeting yesterday between the College of Marin athletic department, members of the Tower Times staff, Times Advisor Bette Reese, Dean of Students Irwin (Red) Diamond, and acting President Dr. Louis Herkenhoff, the two sides met.

"That article in the Times," said Harry Pieper, athletic director, "indicated, we felt — incorrectly — we were hunting for special favors for athletes. It is not, it never has been, and never will be our purpose," he said, following the meeting.

Said Pieper, "We felt it was an unfair attack on us."

He's got a point.

And Beban, editor-in-chief of the Times, admitted yesterday that he erred. He said he misinterpreted a Tower Times story concerning Cal's talk to the school board. "I personally apologize," he said after yesterday's meeting. He said a formal statement of apology will appear in Friday's Tower Times.

Beban said he now understands Riemcke was talking about equity between teams from other schools, and was not trying to get a special deal for the Marin athlete.

AND IF that isn't enough trouble for the school's athletic boys to try to overcome, what about sports with no place to play?

Marin has a new track coach in Tony Bailey, who came over from Redwood High, but no field on which to play. Pieper's working on trying to "host" Santa Rosa Junior College's track team on the Tamalpais High field late in the season, but all other action will be on enemy grounds. Marin's own track and field facilities will not be ready until the 1970 spring sports season. First meet for the Tars, by the way, is March 8, the Camino Norte Conference Relays at Santa Rosa J.C.

IF ANYBODY'S in the market for some used bleachers, make a call to College of Marin. The old bleachers at Kentfield's stadium are to be sold to make way for the school's expansion program that will wipe out the football field. The Tars are still looking for a place to play their games, and maybe they'll find themselves literally in left field on a baseball diamond.

Because of all the rain and various other problems, the construction of the baseball diamond at Marin is way behind schedule, with a big pile of topsoil sitting on what is supposed to be first base. So some of the games originally scheduled there will be moved to Albert Field in San Rafael.

Yep, there's a few athletic problems to be worked out at College of Marin.

Baseball Players Start Arriving At Spring Camps

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Baseball's spring training camps were expected to begin resembling major league installations today in the wake of the settlement of the nagging pension dispute between the owners and Players Association.

Veteran players who had refused to sign contracts or report to camp while the pension issue was being negotiated, had the green light to play ball from Marvin Miller, executive director of the Players Association.

It was a marathon negotiating session between Miller and John Gaherin, the owners' representative that ended early yesterday, which led to the $5.45 million compromise pension package and settlement of the boycott.

And within a matter of hours after the settlement was reached, several players had signed contracts and said they would begin working out today.

General Manager Jim Campbell of the world champion Detroit Tigers had the busiest day. He signed nine veterans including pitchers Joe Sparma, John Hiller and Pat Dobson and pinch hitting specialist Gates Brown.

Stan Bahnsen, the New York pitcher who was the American League's rookie of the year in 1968, signed with the Yankees, leaving five players including Mickey Mantle still unsigned.

While the Yankees were waiting on Mantle, another superstar, San Francisco's Willie Mays, was waiting on the Giants.

Mays has been at the Giants' Casa Grande, Ariz. camp since Monday, filming some television shows. Chub Feeney, the Giants' vice president who negotiates contracts, is due there today. Mays said, "I'm ready anytime they get this thing over," before the settlement was reached.

Victories Set Up Big Friday Clash

With one game left, it all comes down to the wire in the Marin County Athletic League basketball race.

Redwood of Larkspur is the leader, and Novato High the dissident. They will decide whether or not Redwood has a clear title claim Friday in Novato, a playoff looming if the Hornets win, and the Giants in the Tournament of Champions if they win.

Both teams had harrowing moments in last night's games, Novato eventually beating stubborn Marin Catholic 89-76 at the free throw line although matched in baskets, while Redwood was nearly overhauled in the last seconds by Terra Linda before winning, 67-64. In the other games, Drake downed San Marin of Novato 70-58, and San Rafael ran past Tamalpais High of Mill Valley, 72-50.

FOUL TROUBLE

After running up a 15-point halftime edge, and several times leading by 20 or more, Redwood ran into foul trouble-center Pete Webb had four fouls in the first half, Jim Peters had four most of the second half, and John Boro picked up his fourth in the last quarter. With some of their board strength negated, the Giants began to lose rebounds to Mike Timmel and Mike Peden of Terra Linda. With Timmel scoring and Bob Nadell and Byron Sakanari leading the break, the Trojans cut the Redwood margin to eight going into the last period.

With 41 seconds left, Nadell made two free throws to cut the margin to 65-62. Peden then stole an inbounds pass, but three Trojan shots failed, and Peters put his team up by four a moment later, 66-62.

EXCELLENT

Jerry Piro was excellent as usual for Redwood. The junior forward had 20 points, 16 rebounds, and held Terra Linda's dangerous Pat Purcell to four points. Peters had 15 first-half points, ended with 18, while Peden had 19 and Nadell 13 for Terra Linda.

Ed Herrnberger had 28 points and Steve McNally 18 as Novato ran past Marin Catholic, mainly on a 23-12 second quarter. Steve Telander had 26 points and Mike Murray 18 for the Wildcats.

EXPERIENCE

Dave Jacobs, senior guard, was 11 for 15 from the floor in leading San Rafael over ending up with 24 points, while Ray Taylor had 12 points and 11 rebounds. Tamalpais played a

Montgomery Cagers Win Playoff Tilt

I-J Special Report

SANTA ROSA — Montgomery High of Santa Rosa earned a trip to the Tournament of Champions basketball classic by beating Healdsburg High, 56-46, in a bsaketball playoff at Santa Rosa High School last night.

The playoffs pitted the once-beaten Montgomery Vikings, champions of the North Bay I League, against Healdsburg, 20-4 and champs of North Bay II.

Steve Tiedeman hauled down 25 rebounds and scored 24 points to spark the Vikings, who were down 13-5 after the opening period. A 12-point outburst by Tiedeman in the second period put the Vikings ahead, and from there, they broke it open in the final period, although ace Tom Fitchie was held to eight points.

Montgomery is now 21-1 with one game to play.

Redwood Captures 'B' Basketball Title

Redwood High School's Class B basketball team downed the Terra Linda Bees, 33-27, at Terra Linda yesterday, to clinch the Marin County Athletic League "B" title.

Redwood now has a 13-0 record with one game to play, for a two-game lead over Marin Catholic. The Larkspur school team is 20-1 on the season.

JUDGE SMITH

He writes a sequel to the saga of the shoe: "Two weeks ago I spent half an hour on the Alex Hannum TV show discussing basketball and, of course, the value of a good basketball shoe. Comments about my TV debut were nothing compared to the 24 hours I experienced since your basketball shoe-Excedrin headache article. I've been on the receiving end of every bag and shoe joke that has ever been thought up.

"I'm reasonably sure the plastic bags will become collectors' items as a result of the mixup. This little incident has caused a mild run nationally to buy the shoes and secure the bag. I've always wanted to know what my bag was in life, and now, inadvertantly, I've found it."

That's A Strong Bench

MARIN MUNICIPAL JUDGE Peter Allen Smith is president of the Central Marin Babe Ruth League, giving that junior baseball organization a strong bench, I'd say.

JUNIOR FIGURE skating whiz Juli McKinstry of San Rafael is in Colorado Springs, Colo. this week, spectating the world championships in her sport. The 12-year-old girl's coach, Skippy Baxter of Santa Rosa, wanted Juli to see the world competition for which she hopes to qualify some day.

COACH PETE LIMM of College of Marin may have the best indoor baseball team this side of Houston. Due to the inclement weather, his Tars have been limited to practice in the Kentfield gymnasium but are as yet undefeated with a victory and a tie in their outdoor games. They're the only players I know who get floor burns sliding into second base.

49er Bosley Is A Sub

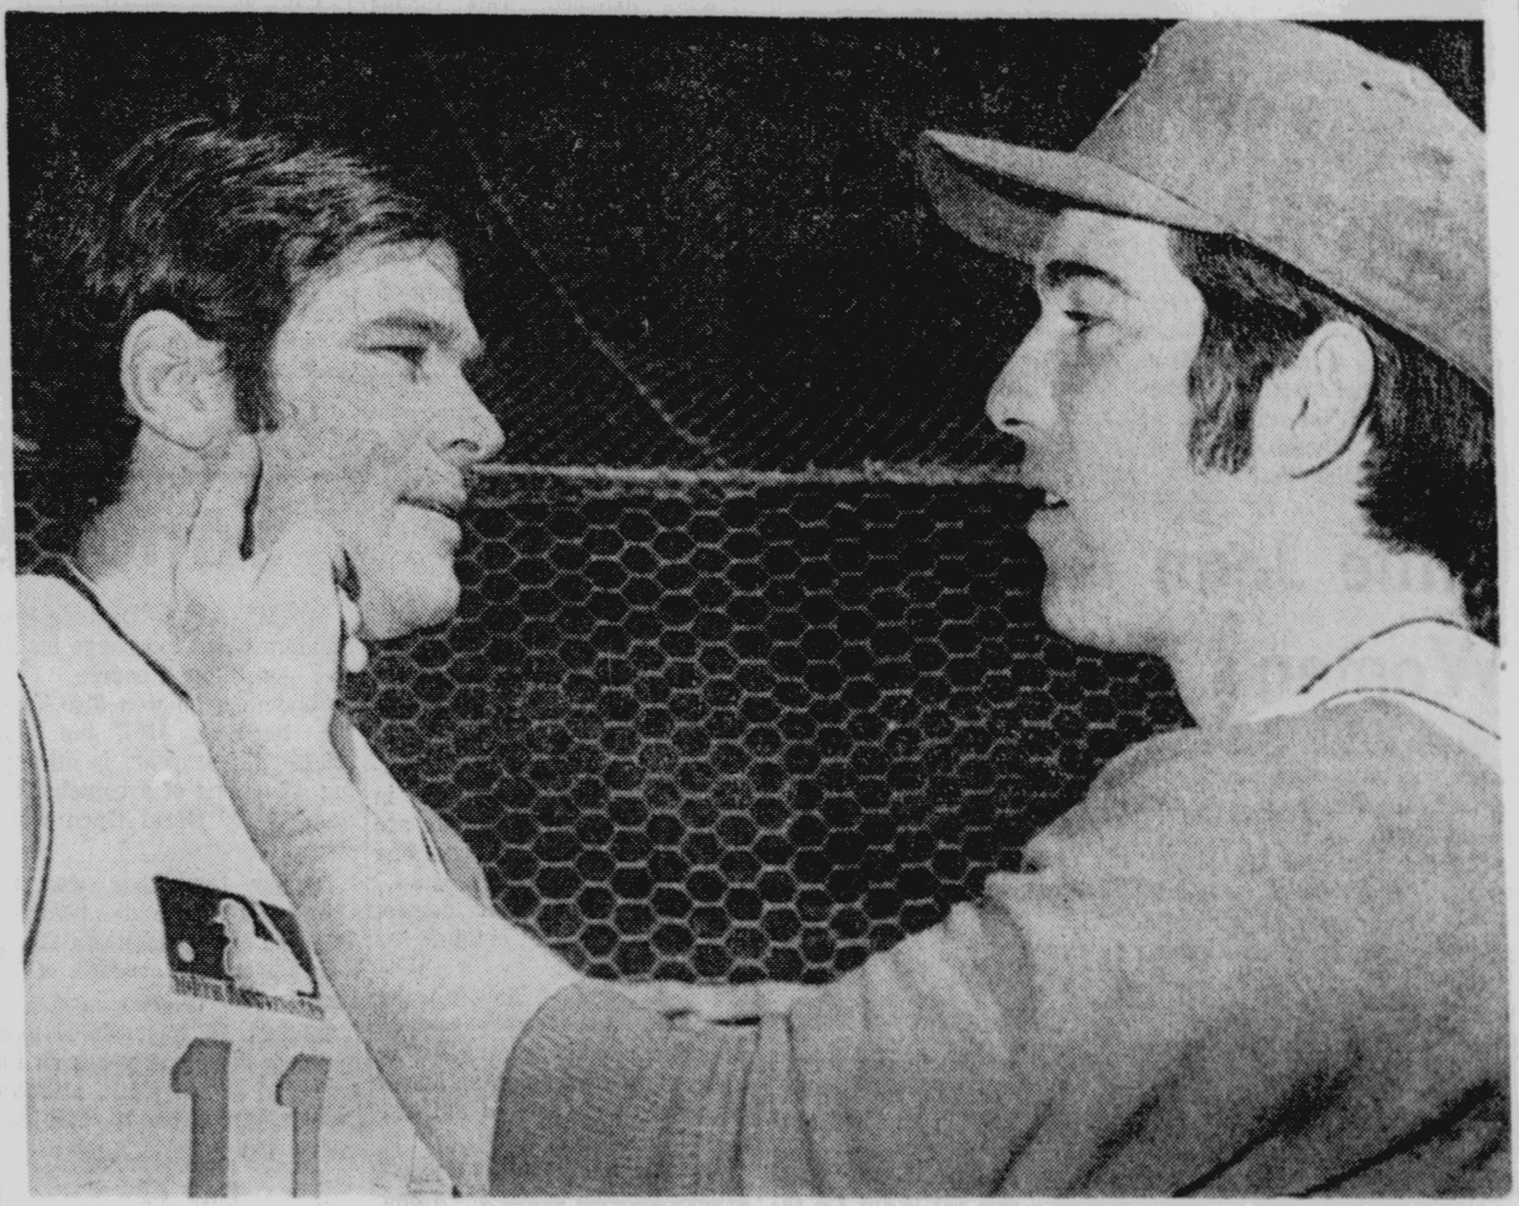
CENTER BRUCE BOSLEY was a last-mnute sub for John Brodie and Kevin Hardy for Sunday's showing of 49er football films at the Music Box liquid refreshment stand in San Rafael. Bosley narrated portions of the films which, incidentally, were not "49er Hilights of 1968" as advertised here last Friday. The official "Hilights" won't be ready for distribution until the end of March, according to 49er publicist George McFadden.

SPEAKING OF the Niners, defensive ace Clark Miller has bought a partnership in Ed's Brass Rail, a country Western-type establishment in Napa and has purchased a home a couple of miles south of St. Helena. Miller reports his badly damaged knee is mending nicely and he expects to be at full strength for the '69 season.

Trying To Update Records

COLLEGE OF MARIN track coach Tony Bailey is busy compiling a list of all-time track and field bests at the Kentfield school, but needs some help. A fire five years ago destroyed the Marin gymnasium and all the athletic records, so anyone knowing of exceptionally outstanding COM track marks should contact Bailey.

The Marin mentor says four school records set in 1934 still stand. They are the 9.9 seconds 100 and 21.8 seconds 220 by Arnold Nutting, a 50.2 seconds 440 clocking by Ken Miller and a 138-foot, 9-inch discuss throw by Bill Brooks. Not so hot by today's standards, but really tops 35 years ago.



THEY'LL HAVE TO COME OFF

Cleveland Indian pitcher Mike Paul (left) compares sideburns with teammate Tony Horton. Both of their dandy hairpieces will have to go in order to comply with the baseball commissioner's ruling that bans beards, mustaches and sideburns. (UPI Telephoto)

COLLEGE OF MARIN NOTES

Troubles At Kentfield

By RALPH CHATOIAN

Things are pretty rugged for the athletic department at College of Marin these days, and it doesn' look like it's going to get much better in the near future.

The physical education department got a pretty solid whack in the school newspaper last week, in an editorial by Rick Beban, entitled "Support Your Athletes," an upshoot of a discussion about grading systems between Tars' basketball coach Cal Riemcke and the school's board of trustees.

The board has changed the grading system at the Kentfield junior college which allows for A, B or C grades, and another grade of "No Credit." Riemcke went to the board to explain how it would be unfair for the Marin teams in comparison to teams from other schools in the Camino Norte Conference.

Now the misunderstanding.

The editorial chided Riemcke for trying to get special treatment for athletes.

At a meeting yesterday between the College of Marin athletic department, members of the Tower Times staff, Times Advisor Bette Reese, Dean of Students Irwin (Red) Diamond, and acting President Dr. Louis Herkenhoff, the two sides met.

"That article in the Times," said Harry Pieper, athletic director, "indicated, we felt — incorrectly — we were hunting for special favors for athletes. It is not, it never has been, and never will be our purpose," he said, following the meeting.

Said Pieper, "We felt it was an unfair attack on us."

He's got a point.

And Beban, editor-in-chief of the Times, admitted yesterday that he erred. He said he misinterpreted a Tower Times story concerning Cal's talk to the school board. "I personally apologize," he said after yesterday's meeting. He said a formal statement of apology will appear in Friday's Tower Times.

Beban said he now understands Riemcke was talking about equity between teams from other schools, and was not trying to get a special deal for the Marin athlete.

AND IF that isn't enough trouble for the school's athletic boys to try to overcome, what about sports with no place to play?

Marin has a new track coach in Tony Bailey, who came over from Redwood High, but no field on which to play. Pieper's working on trying to "host" Santa Rosa Junior College's track team on the Tamalpais High field late in the season, but all other action will be on enemy grounds. Marin's own track and field facilities will not be ready until the 1970 spring sports season. First meet for the Tars, by the way, is March 8, the Camino Norte Conference Relays at Santa Rosa J.C.

IF ANYBODY'S in the market for some used bleachers, make a call to College of Marin. The old bleachers at Kentfield's stadium are to be sold to make way for the school's expansion program that will wipe out the football field. The Tars are still looking for a place to play their games, and maybe they'll find themselves literally in left field on a baseball diamond.

Because of all the rain and various other problems, the construction of the baseball diamond at Marin is way behind schedule, with a big pile of topsoil sitting on what is supposed to be first base. So some of the games originally scheduled there will be moved to Albert Field in San Rafael.

Yep, there's a few athletic problems to be worked out at College of Marin.

Baseball Players Start Arriving At Spring Camps

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Baseball's spring training camps were expected to begin resembling major league installations today in the wake of the settlement of the nagging pension dispute between the owners and Players Association.

Veteran players who had refused to sign contracts or report to camp while the pension issue was being negotiated, had the green light to play ball from Marvin Miller, executive director of the Players Association.

It was a marathon negotiating session between Miller and John Gaherin, the owners' representative that ended early yesterday, which led to the $5.45 million compromise pension package and settlement of the boycott.

And within a matter of hours after the settlement was reached, several players had signed contracts and said they would begin working out today.

General Manager Jim Campbell of the world champion Detroit Tigers had the busiest day. He signed nine veterans including pitchers Joe Sparma, John Hiller and Pat Dobson and pinch hitting specialist Gates Brown.

Stan Bahnsen, the New York pitcher who was the American League's rookie of the year in 1968, signed with the Yankees, leaving five players including Mickey Mantle still unsigned.

While the Yankees were waiting on Mantle, another superstar, San Francisco's Willie Mays, was waiting on the Giants.

Mays has been at the Giants' Casa Grande, Ariz. camp since Monday, filming some television shows. Chub Feeney, the Giants' vice president who negotiates contracts, is due there today. Mays said, "I'm ready anytime they get this thing over," before the settlement was reached.

Victories Set Up Big Friday Clash

With one game left, it all comes down to the wire in the Marin County Athletic League basketball race.

Redwood of Larkspur is the leader, and Novato High the dissident. They will decide whether or not Redwood has a clear title claim Friday in Novato, a playoff looming if the Hornets win, and the Giants in the Tournament of Champions if they win.

Both teams had harrowing moments in last night's games, Novato eventually beating stubborn Marin Catholic 89-76 at the free throw line although matched in baskets, while Redwood was nearly overhauled in the last seconds by Terra Linda before winning, 67-64. In the other games, Drake downed San Marin of Novato 70-58, and San Rafael ran past Tamalpais High of Mill Valley, 72-50.

FOUL TROUBLE

After running up a 15-point halftime edge, and several times leading by 20 or more, Redwood ran into foul trouble-center Pete Webb had four fouls in the first half, Jim Peters had four most of the second half, and John Boro picked up his fourth in the last quarter. With some of their board strength negated, the Giants began to lose rebounds to Mike Timmel and Mike Peden of Terra Linda. With Timmel scoring and Bob Nadell and Byron Sakanari leading the break, the Trojans cut the Redwood margin to eight going into the last period.

With 41 seconds left, Nadell made two free throws to cut the margin to 65-62. Peden then stole an inbounds pass, but three Trojan shots failed, and Peters put his team up by four a moment later, 66-62.

EXCELLENT

Jerry Piro was excellent as usual for Redwood. The junior forward had 20 points, 16 rebounds, and held Terra Linda's dangerous Pat Purcell to four points. Peters had 15 first-half points, ended with 18, while Peden had 19 and Nadell 13 for Terra Linda.

Ed Herrnberger had 28 points and Steve McNally 18 as Novato ran past Marin Catholic, mainly on a 23-12 second quarter. Steve Telander had 26 points and Mike Murray 18 for the Wildcats.

EXPERIENCE

Dave Jacobs, senior guard, was 11 for 15 from the floor in leading San Rafael over ending up with 24 points, while Ray Taylor had 12 points and 11 rebounds. Tamalpais played a

SANTA ROSA — Montgomery High of Santa Rosa earned a trip to the Tournament of Champions basketball classic by beating Healdsburg High, 56-46, in a bsaketball playoff at Santa Rosa High School last night.

The playoffs pitted the once-beaten Montgomery Vikings, champions of the North Bay I League, against Healdsburg, 20-4 and champs of North Bay II.

Steve Tiedeman hauled down 25 rebounds and scored 24 points to spark the Vikings, who were down 13-5 after the opening period. A 12-point outburst by Tiedeman in the second period put the Vikings ahead, and from there, they broke it open in the final period, although ace Tom Fitchie was held to eight points.

Montgomery is now 21-1 with one game to play.

Redwood Captures 'B' Basketball Title

Redwood High School's Class B basketball team downed the Terra Linda Bees, 33-27, at Terra Linda yesterday, to clinch the Marin County Athletic League "B" title.

Redwood now has a 13-0 record with one game to play, for a two-game lead over Marin Catholic. The Larkspur school team is 20-1 on the season.

When Mays Gets A Hit Records Really Tumble

CASA GRANDE — Willie Mays changed major league records 701 times last season. That sounds incredible. But take Thorpe White's word for it. White is a super-statistician who keeps a close check on Mays from his Pebble Beach home.

"When Mays hits a home run it results in three changes: (1) National League record, (2) National League outfielder record (3) major league righthanded record. Counting the run and RBI, every homer by Mays improves 11 records. When Willie hits two homers in a game 25 records are improved.

"When Mays gets an extra basehit, six records change. Last season he had 48 extra basehits (23 homers, 20 doubles, five triples), resulting in 288 changes — 48 times 6."

WHITE NEXT itemized the changes created by Mays' doubles, triples, total hits, stolen bases, times at bat and total games. Sure enough, the changes added up to 701.

"Since most of Mays' records deal with righthanded records, maybe you would like some data on why I think righthanded records are the more important," White writes.

"DID YOU ever realize a lefthanded batter is four feet closer to first base when standing in the batter's box? Under such conditions why should lefthanded and righthanded batting averages be comparable?

"It boils down to this — a righthanded record represents the best performance among comparable data. Lefthanded batters can only be compared to other lefthanders."

ART SANTO DOMINGO, official statistician of the Giants, analyzes the amazing record-breaking of Mays in this year's press book of the Giants but doesn't go into the minute detail White does. Santo Domingo lists the highlights.

"Moving into his 19th season," Santo Domingo reports, "Willie is the National League's all-time top slugger with 587 home runs and a career slugging average of .578. Mays is fourth on the all-time total base list with 5,277 behind Musial, Ruth and Gehrig.

"IN OTHER departments Willie ranks 13th in games (2,446), 16th in at bats (9,130), ninth in RBIs (1,654), 10th in runs (1,763) and is tied with Hall of Famer George Sisler in hits (2,812).

"Mays' speed has distinguished him from sluggers who have gone before. He goes into 1969 with a career total of 299 stolen bases, second among all active players to Maury Wills. With his next theft Willie will become the only player in history to have stolen 300 or more bases and hit 300 or more home runs."

Blacks Plan Oregon State Boycott

CORVALLIS, Ore. (UPI)— Refusal of Oregon State University to lift a ban against beards on campus athletes has stirred a hornet's nest among the school's 57 black students.

They threatened to begin a boycott of classes today and boycott two home basketball games this weekend unless the school administration rescinded the order. The Negroes claimed discrimination after football coach De Andros ordered Negro linebacker Fred Milton to remove his beard or lose his athletic scholarship.

Milton, who missed last season with a leg injury, will be a senior next fall.

Dr. James Jensen, university president, gave no signs of relenting on his support of Andros, who was in Wyoming yesterday when the beard dispute erupted. The president was bolstered in his stand by a petition, circulated by All America center John Didion, a white student, that contained the names of 173 athletes on campus supporting the coaching staff in the dispute.

Andros and Jensen denied discrimination was involved.

"We try to produce a team which students, alumni and ourselves can be proud of," Andros said in a statement. "This often means that the athletes must sacrifice some things which other students are allowed to do."

Members of the Black Students Union, along with some whites, took over the microphone at a convocation lecture series attended by 3,000 persons yesterday to explain their side of the dispute. The action delayed for 15 minutes a talk by Nobel Prize winner Dr. Linus Pauling.

The black students also held a noon rally at the 13,000 student campus to drum support for the boycott. Appearing in support of their stand was Dick Fosbury, a white student and the Olympics gold medal winner in the high jump last year.

There are 17 black athletes on campus. The first athletic events boycott could come this weekend involving the two black players on the OSU basketball team which plays Washington and Washington State at Corvallis.

SUPPORT STRIKE

2 Negroes Quit Cal Track Team

BERKELEY (UPI) — Long jumper Stan Royster, captain of the University of California track squad, and middle-distance star Lavell Jackson have left teh team to support a student strike.

"They told me their strike commitments would not allow them to compete," said Cal track coach Sam Bell. He would not say whether he felt the athletes might rejoin the team later.

So far this winter thre Negro varsity players quit at Cal in sympathy with a student strike that began Jan. 26. Trent Gaines left the basketball team earlier. Minority students launched the strike to back demands for formation of an autonomous ethnic studies department on campus.

Royster's departure may force the school's publications department to redesign the cover of the 1969 track brochure which shows a leaping Royster. His best jump has ben a wind-aided 25 fet, 8 3-4 inches.

In his first dual met as a sophomore, Royster lost to Finnish Olympic Games competitor Pertti Pousi of Brigham Young. Since then, the 6-0, 170-pound senior from Los Angeles has not been beaten in 14 dual meets.

Jackson, a senior from Oakland, has a best of 1:51.1 in the half mile and also ran relays.

The Bears open their 1969 track season Saturday in a triangular meet with the Athens Club and Sacramento State.

Billie Jean King Wins Women's Tennis Final

OAKLAND (AP) — Billie Jean King recently complained she was having trouble covering the entire court.

But the three-time Wimbledon winner who turned pro last April didn't seem at all slow yesterday as she whipped Ann Haydon Jones of London, 6-3, 6-2, in the women's finals of the $18,000 International Pro Tennis Invitational.

It was the first triumph for Mrs. King, of nearby Albany, since a knee operation last November and earned her the top women's prize of $1,300.

In the mens' semifinals, top-seeded Rod Laver defeated his fellow Australian, Ken Rosewall, 6-4, 6-2 and a third Australian, Tony Roche, defeated Marty Riessen, Evanston, Ill., 6-4, 6-3.

In doubles, Australian John Newcombe and Roche defeated Laver and Roy Emerson, 6-3, 6-4.

Mrs. King, now fully recovered from her surgery, in which a knee tendon was scraped, said she hadn't played so well in a year and a half.

She hit spectacular back-hand volleys to break Mrs. Jones' service in the sixth game of the first set, and broke services in the third, fifth and seventh games to sweep the second.

Laver, rated by many experts as the No. 1 tennis player in the world, played the base line with strong lobs in beating Rosewall, who tried unsuccessfully to rush the net.

Left-handed Roche's spinning sercice was the major factor in his win over Riessen, former Northwestern University basketball player.

"He forced me wide with that service, and then started slipping shots down the center," Riessen said.

Roche is the leading pro tennis money winner with $17,000 this year.

Junior Ken Gommeringer also sat it out for the Indians because of a cold. Bob Wickes, a transfer from Los Angeles, and vet Bill Secor had 16 and 15 points respectively for Tam.

San Marin made a game run at Drake, but Clark Jamison, who had 14 points (tab 9 shots) in the second quarter, added nine in the fourth after San Marin had closed within five in the second half. Jamison ended up with 27 markers while Fred Westcott had 18 for the Pirates. Gary Howard had 19 points for the hosting North County five.

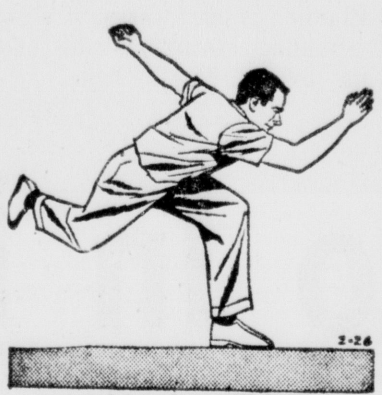
BOWLING TIPS

By DON CARTER



A good bowler will lean into each delivery. This means bending the left knee sharply, reaching out toward your spot and letting the right leg raise noticeably off the floor. What the right leg does might seem unimportant, but if you are able to kick it high as you throw, it is an indication that you are balanced and that you are putting your maximum effort into delivering the ball properly.

Redwood Cagers Win J.V. Crown

Redwood High School's junior varsity basketball team clinched the mythical Marin County Athletic League title last night with a 49-44 win over second-place Terra Linda High in Larkspur. The little Giants are now 11-2 in the MCAL with one game to play, while T. L. is 9-4.

In other junior varsity games, Tim Stone's 31-point outburst led Marin Catholic to a 47-44 decision over Novato in Kentfield, San Rafael romped over Tamalpais of Mill Valley 53-32, and Drake held San Marin of Novato scoreless in the last period of a 53-24 rout.

Six-foot, five-inch pivot Scott Trobbe blocked seven shots and grabbed 15 rebounds in Redwood's title win, while Steve Root, like Trobbe a sophomore, provided scoring power with 23 points.

49ers' Veteran Hazeltine To Receive $1,000 Watch

COMBINED AP & UPI

REDWOOD CITY — Matt Hazeltine, veteran linebacker of the San Francisco 49'ers, will receive a $1,000 wrist watch tonight as winner of the team's Len Eshmont Award.

The former Tamalpais High (Mill Valley) lineman was named the 49'ers most inspirational player last season. Featured speakers will be Lynn (Pappy) Waldorf, Hazeltine's coach at California, and Ed Nordstrom, his coach at Tam High.

SPORTS SHORTS

BASEBALL

SAN FRANCISCO — Free agents Edgardo Avila, 22, and Steven Stone, 21, have signed 1969 contracts with the San Francisco Giants. Avila, a six-foot, 190-pounder now attending the University of Arizona, hit .385 and posted a 24-0 record as a pitcher-outfielder-first baseman for Miami-Dade Fla. Junior College last year.

Stone is a righthanded pitcher from Kent State University.

BOXING

OAKLAND — Ralph McCoy, California middleweight champion, signed yesterday to meet Puerto Rican Danny Perez March 5 at the Oakland Auditorium in a 10-round non-title bout. Perez, now fighting out of New York City, has won 20 of his 26 pro fights. He lost four and fought to two draws.

FIGURE SKATING

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. — Beatrice Schuba of Austria took the lead in the ladies' compulsory figures in the World Figure Skating Championships.

BOWLING

MADISON, Wis. — Twin Trees Restaurant No. 1 of Syracuse, N. Y., compiled a 2,924 to move into second place in the team standings of the American Bowling Congress tourney.

HORSE RACING

ARCADIA, Calif. — Poona Downs, $23.60, charged up from last place and won the $29,550 Santa Ynez Stakes at Santa Anita by three lengths.

Sanders Tries 'Comeback'

MIAMI (AP) — Dashing Doug Sanders is out to change his image —on the golf course.

Sanders, who won $109,455 on the tour in 1967 but only $38,131.17 last year, is attempting something of a comeback in the $150,000 Doral Open which starts tomorrow.

Dapper Doug has won the Doral Tournament twice—in 1965 and 1967—and holds the 72-hole tournament record of 274 for his 1965 victory.

Sanders, 35, has won 17 tournaments during 12 years on the tour and stands sixth, at more than $500,000, on the all-time money list.

WAY OFF

This year, the tour's Beau Brummel has won only $1,542.28 in four tournaments, and is 100th on the 1969 money list. His best showing was a tie for 31st in last month's Bing Crosby.

Sanders got married last August for the third time, but he has not won a tournament since the Doral in 1967.

He blames his victory drought on his business interests, not his marriage or his legendary nightlife.

"Playing golf demands 24 hour attention but so does business," he said. "Right now I want to give a lot more time to golf."

Sanders has to be considered a threat at Doral, the first stop on pro golf's Florida tour.

AT HOME

A former University of Florida star, he's at home on Florida's grainy greens and knows how to play in the winds and keep the ball low.

Sanders fired a two under par 70 in a practice round yesterday over Doral's 7,028-yard layout, heavily laden with sand traps and water hazards. But he figures it will take better than that to win.

Sanders predicts Sunday's winner will finish anywhere from 10 to 15 under par for the 72-hole distance, depending on weather conditions.

"The greens aren't as good this year," he said.

Doug's Disciples dismiss his lackluster play on the golf course. Men are fascinated with his abbreviated back swing, women with his good looks and witicisms.

Sanders, who represents Sharpstown Country Club at Houston, still travels with 30 pairs of golf shoes and enough brightly colored shirts and slacks to fill five suitcases and please several clothing manufacturers.

MARRIED

Last year, Sanders married Scotty Kolb, a pretty Los Angeles girl he met during a practice round at the Los Angeles Open three years before.

Friends say marriage hasn't changed Doug's swinging approach to life. Sanders himself says, "Some people like vanilla, some like chocolate. I like both."

His attitude toward golf is more clearly defined.

"Golf is my first love," he said, "and I have a lot more time to go."

Lester Is Named Bay's Top Boxer

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)— Jimmy Lester, hard-hitting San Francisco middleweight, has been named best fighter of 1968 in the Bay Area by boxing writers and the Society for California Boxing.

Rocky Hernandez, a middleweight from Mexico City, was selected as the best ring prospect. Lester knocked out Hernandez in the ninth round of a spirited fight which writers voted the best bout of 1968.

Tonga Kid, a young heavyweight, was named best preliminary fighter.

Warriors Hang On To Edge Chicago

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The San Francisco Warriors evened up their back-to-back National Basketball Association games with the Chicago Bulls.

The Warriors squeaked past Chicago 101-99 last night after the Bulls threatened in the final 30 seconds to sweep the two-game series. The Bulls won 119-108 Monday night.

Chicago led 56-55 at the half, but the Warriors pulled into an 83-74 edge at the three-quarter mark.

When that final half minute started, San Francisco seemed a cinch.

But Rudy LaRusso elbowed Chicago's Bob Weiss in a battle for the ball under the basket and was called on it. His vigorous protest brought a technical foul.

Bob Boozer made the technical foul and Weiss added two more points to trim the Warriors' margin to two points. But San Francisco held on.

Nate Thurmond topped the Warriors with 30 points, while Boozer had 28 for Chicago.

San Francisco will host Cincinnati Royals Friday night.

When Mays Gets A Hit Records Really Tumble

CASA GRANDE — Willie Mays changed major league records 701 times last season. That sounds incredible. But take Thorpe White's word for it. White is a super-statistician who keeps a close check on Mays from his Pebble Beach home.

"When Mays hits a home run it results in three changes: (1) National League record, (2) National League outfielder record (3) major league righthanded record. Counting the run and RBI, every homer by Mays improves 11 records. When Willie hits two homers in a game 25 records are improved.

"When Mays gets an extra basehit, six records change. Last season he had 48 extra basehits (23 homers, 20 doubles, five triples), resulting in 288 changes — 48 times 6."

WHITE NEXT itemized the changes created by Mays' doubles, triples, total hits, stolen bases, times at bat and total games. Sure enough, the changes added up to 701.

"Since most of Mays' records deal with righthanded records, maybe you would like some data on why I think righthanded records are the more important," White writes.

"DID YOU ever realize a lefthanded batter is four feet closer to first base when standing in the batter's box? Under such conditions why should lefthanded and righthanded batting averages be comparable?

"It boils down to this — a righthanded record represents the best performance among comparable data. Lefthanded batters can only be compared to other lefthanders."

ART SANTO DOMINGO, official statistician of the Giants, analyzes the amazing record-breaking of Mays in this year's press book of the Giants but doesn't go into the minute detail White does. Santo Domingo lists the highlights.

"Moving into his 19th season," Santo Domingo reports, "Willie is the National League's all-time top slugger with 587 home runs and a career slugging average of .578. Mays is fourth on the all-time total base list with 5,277 behind Musial, Ruth and Gehrig.

"IN OTHER departments Willie ranks 13th in games (2,446), 16th in at bats (9,130), ninth in RBIs (1,654), 10th in runs (1,763) and is tied with Hall of Famer George Sisler in hits (2,812).

"Mays' speed has distinguished him from sluggers who have gone before. He goes into 1969 with a career total of 299 stolen bases, second among all active players to Maury Wills. With his next theft Willie will become the only player in history to have stolen 300 or more bases and hit 300 or more home runs."

Blacks Plan Oregon State Boycott

CORVALLIS, Ore. (UPI)—Refusal of Oregon State University to lift a ban against beards on campus athletes has stirred a hornet's nest among the school's 57 black students.

They threatened to begin a boycott of classes today and boycott two home basketball games this weekend unless the school administration rescinded the order. The Negroes claimed discrimination after football coach De Andros ordered Negro linebacker Fred Milton to remove his beard or lose his athletic scholarship.

Milton, who missed last season with a leg injury, will be a senior next fall.

Dr. James Jensen, university president, gave no signs of relenting on his support of Andros, who was in Wyoming yesterday when the beard dispute erupted. The president was bolstered in his stand by a petition, circulated by All America center John Didion, a white student, that contained the names of 173 athletes on campus supporting the coaching staff in the dispute.

Andros and Jensen denied discrimination was involved.

"We try to produce a team which students, alumni and ourselves can be proud of," Andros said in a statement. "This often means that the athletes must sacrifice some things which other students are allowed to do."

Members of the Black Students Union, along with some whites, took over the microphone at a convocation lecture series attended by 3,000 persons yesterday to explain their side of the dispute. The action delayed for 15 minutes a talk by Nobel Prize winner Dr. Linus Pauling.

The black students also held a noon rally at the 13,000 student campus to drum support for the boycott. Appearing in support of their stand was Dick Fosbury, a white student and the Olympics gold medal winner in the high jump last year.

There are 17 black athletes on campus. The first athletic events boycott could come this weekend involving the two black players on the OSU basketball team which plays Washington and Washington State at Corvallis.

SUPPORT STRIKE

2 Negroes Quit Cal Track Team

BERKELEY (UPI) — Long jumper Stan Royster, captain of the University of California track squad, and middle-distance star Lavell Jackson have left teh team to support a student strike.

"They told me their strike commitments would not allow them to compete," said Cal track coach Sam Bell. He would not say whether he felt the athletes might rejoin the team later.

So far this winter thre Negro varsity players quit at Cal in sympathy with a student strike that began Jan. 26. Trent Gaines left the basketball team earlier. Minority students launched the strike to back demands for formation of an autonomous ethnic studies department on campus.

Royster's departure may force the school's publications department to redesign the cover of the 1969 track brochure which shows a leaping Royster. His best jump has ben a wind-aided 25 fet, 8 3-4 inches.

In his first dual met as a sophomore, Royster lost to Finnish Olympic Games competitor Pertti Pousi of Brigham Young. Since then, the 6-0, 170-pound senior from Los Angeles has not been beaten in 14 dual meets.

Jackson, a senior from Oakland, has a best of 1:51.1 in the half mile and also ran relays.

The Bears open their 1969 track season Saturday in a triangular meet with the Athens Club and Sacramento State.

Billie Jean King Wins Women's Tennis Final

OAKLAND (AP) — Billie Jean King recently complained she was having trouble covering the entire court.

But the three-time Wimbledon winner who turned pro last April didn't seem at all slow yesterday as she whipped Ann Haydon Jones of London, 6-3, 6-2, in the women's finals of the $18,000 International Pro Tennis Invitational.

It was the first triumph for Mrs. King, of nearby Albany, since a knee operation last November and earned her the top women's prize of $1,300.

In the mens' semifinals, top-seeded Rod Laver defeated his fellow Australian, Ken Rosewall, 6-4, 6-2 and a third Australian, Tony Roche, defeated Marty Riessen, Evanston, Ill., 6-4, 6-3.

In doubles, Australian John Newcombe and Roche defeated Laver and Roy Emerson, 6-3, 6-4.

Mrs. King, now fully recovered from her surgery, in which a knee tendon was scraped, said she hadn't played so well in a year and a half.

She hit spectacular back-hand volleys to break Mrs. Jones' service in the sixth game of the first set, and broke services in the third, fifth and seventh games to sweep the second.

Laver, rated by many experts as the No. 1 tennis player in the world, played the base line with strong lobs in beating Rosewall, who tried unsuccessfully to rush the net.

Left-handed Roche's spinning sercice was the major factor in his win over Riessen, former Northwestern University basketball player.

"He forced me wide with that service, and then started slipping shots down the center," Riessen said.

Roche is the leading pro tennis money winner with $17,000 this year.

junior-sophomore lineup, having played its seniors for the last time last week in an attempt to give the underclassmen experience. Junior Ken Gommeringer also sat it out for the Indians because of a cold. Bob Wickes, a transfer from Los Angeles, and vet Bill Secor had 16 and 15 points respectively for Tam.

San Marin made a game run at Drake, but Clark Jamison, who had 14 points (tab 9 shots) in the second quarter, added nine in the fourth after San Marin had closed within five in the second half. Jamison ended up with 27 markers while Fred Westcott had 18 for the Pirates. Gary Howard had 19 points for the hosting North County five.

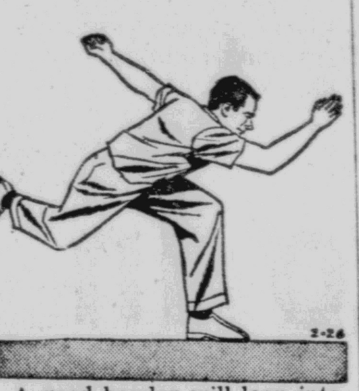
BOWLING TIPS

By DON CARTER



A good bowler will lean into each delivery. This means bending the left knee sharply, reaching out toward your spot and letting the right leg raise noticeably off the floor. What the right leg does might seem unimportant, but if you are able to kick it high as you throw, it is an indication that you are balanced and that you are putting your maximum effort into delivering the ball properly.

Redwood Cagers Win J.V. Crown

Redwood High School's junior varsity basketball team clinched the mythical Marin County Athletic League title last night with a 49-44 win over second-place Terra Linda High in Larkspur. The little Giants are now 11-2 in the MCAL with one game to play, while T. L. is 9-4.

In other junior varsity games, Tim Stone's 31-point outburst led Marin Catholic to a 47-44 decision over Novato in Kentfield, San Rafael romped over Tamalpais of Mill Valley 53-32, and Drake held San Marin of Novato scoreless in the last period of a 53-24 rout.

Six-foot, five-inch pivot Scott Trobbe blocked seven shots and grabbed 15 rebounds in Redwood's title win, while Steve Root, like Trobbe a sophomore, provided scoring power with 23 points.

49ers' Veteran Hazeltine To Receive $1,000 Watch

COMBINED AP & UPI

REDWOOD CITY — Matt Hazeltine, veteran linebacker of the San Francisco 49'ers, will receive a $1,000 wrist watch tonight as winner of the team's Len Eshmont Award.

The former Tamalpais High (Mill Valley) lineman was named the 49'ers most inspirational player last season. Featured speakers will be Lynn (Pappy) Waldorf, Hazeltine's coach at California, and Ed Nordstrom, his coach at Tam High.

SPORTS SHORTS

BASEBALL

SAN FRANCISCO — Free agents Edgardo Avila, 22, and Steven Stone, 21, have signed 1969 contracts with the San Francisco Giants. Avila, a six-foot, 190-pounder now attending the University of Arizona, hit .385 and posted a 24-0 record as a pitcher-outfielder-first baseman for Miami-Dade Fla. Junior College last year.

Stone is a righthanded pitcher from Kent State University.

BOXING

OAKLAND — Ralph McCoy, California middleweight champion, signed yesterday to meet Puerto Rican Danny Perez March 5 at the Oakland Auditorium in a 10-round non-title bout. Perez, now fighting out of New York City, has won 20 of his 26 pro fights. He lost four and fought to two draws.

FIGURE SKATING

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. — Beatrice Schuba of Austria took the lead in the ladies' compulsory figures in the World Figure Skating Championships.

BOWLING

MADISON, Wis. — Twin Trees Restaurant No. 1 of Syracuse, N. Y., compiled a 2,924 to move into second place in the team standings of the American Bowling Congress tourney.

HORSE RACING

ARCADIA, Calif. — Poona Downs, $23.60, charged up from last place and won the $29,550 Santa Ynez Stakes at Santa Anita by three lengths.

DORAL OPEN GOLF

Sanders Tries 'Comeback'

MIAMI (AP) — Dashing Doug Sanders is out to change his image —on the golf course.

Sanders, who won $109,455 on the tour in 1967 but only $38,131.17 last year, is attempting something of a comeback in the $150,000 Doral Open which starts tomorrow.

Dapper Doug has won the Doral Tournament twice—in 1965 and 1967—and holds the 72-hole tournament record of 274 for his 1965 victory.

Sanders, 35, has won 17 tournaments during 12 years on the tour and stands sixth, at more than $500,000, on the all-time money list.

WAY OFF

This year, the tour's Beau Brummel has won only $1,542.28 in four tournaments, and is 100th on the 1969 money list. His best showing was a tie for 31st in last month's Bing Crosby.

Sanders got married last August for the third time, but he has not won a tournament since the Doral in 1967.

He blames his victory drought on his business interests, not his marriage or his legendary nightlife.

"Playing golf demands 24 hour attention but so does business," he said. "Right now I want to give a lot more time to golf."

Sanders has to be considered a threat at Doral, the first stop on pro golf's Florida tour.

AT HOME

A former University of Florida star, he's at home on Florida's grainy greens and knows how to play in the winds and keep the ball low.

Sanders fired a two under par 70 in a practice round yesterday over Doral's 7,028-yard layout, heavily laden with sand traps and water hazards. But he figures it will take better than that to win.

Sanders predicts Sunday's winner will finish anywhere from 10 to 15 under par for the 72-hole distance, depending on weather conditions.

"The greens aren't as good this year," he said.

Doug's Disciples dismiss his lackluster play on the golf course. Men are fascinated with his abbreviated back swing, women with his good looks and witicisms.

Sanders, who represents Sharpstown Country Club at Houston, still travels with 30 pairs of golf shoes and enough brightly colored shirts and slacks to fill five suitcases and please several clothing manufacturers.

MARRIED

Last year, Sanders married Scotty Kolb, a pretty Los Angeles girl he met during a practice round at the Los Angeles Open three years before.

Friends say marriage hasn't changed Doug's swinging approach to life. Sanders himself says, "Some people like vanilla, some like chocolate. I like both."

His attitude toward golf is more clearly defined.

"Golf is my first love," he said, "and I have a lot more time to go."

Lester Is Named Bay's Top Boxer

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Jimmy Lester, hard-hitting San Francisco middleweight, has been named best fighter of 1968 in the Bay Area by boxing writers and the Society for California Boxing.

Rocky Hernandez, a middleweight from Mexico City, was selected as the best ring prospect. Lester knocked out Hernandez in the ninth round of a spirited fight which writers voted the best bout of 1968.

Tonga Kid, a young heavyweight, was named best preliminary fighter.

Marin, Petaluma Men Pass Test, Await Sports Car Racing Debut

Six Marin County men and another from Petaluma are anxiously waiting for their big debut in the field of sports car racing.

That will come March 29 at the new Sears Point International Raceway in Southern Sonoma County when the San Francisco Region, Sports Car Club of America (SCCA) first event of the year is held.

The seven drivers are among the 39 who passed their tests with flying colors earlier this month at the Cotati race course. They'll get their chance to show their stuff the first day of the two-day meeting at Sears Point in a special novice class race.

The seven and their auto classed are Andre J. Minutoli of Novato, B Production; Robert Bacich and Dr. Terence McGrath, both of Sausalito, E Production; Arthur H. England of San Rafael, H Production; Tom Crowther of Kentfield, Dr. John T. Korn of Novato and John Cook of Petaluma, Forumula-V.

To get their racing license, the seven had to pass two weekends of testing by the SCCA on the Cotati circuit. It's a full weekend of driving and testing, with hopeful drivers attending sessions which start at 7 a.m. and run to 4 p.m. each day.

SKULL SESSIONS

In addition to the time on the track, the students attend "skull session" of four hours before starting the actual driving phase of the tests.

"This is to get the drivers psychologically ready for racing," said Stephen Castoldi, SCCA regional chairman in the San Francisco office.

Castoldi said that of the 80 persons taking the latest tests, Feb. 8 and 9, 39 of them were graduated, almost 50 per cent. "The drivers who did not pass can take another day of testing and then try again," said Castoldi.

Next testing weekend is scheduled for March 8 and 9 and then another April 12-13. The Cotati track is the only testing site for the San Francisco Region of the national racing club.

At the end of the two-weekend course, drivers compete against each other in two three-lap heat races. "That's when we get a chance to observe them in racing situations," said Castoldi.

Cost for the school, which is taught by volunteers from the SCCA, is $100 for the two weekends, plus mandatory $27.50 for dues to the national and regional portions of the club, and $4.50 for a Novice Log Book, which takes the place of a license in the novice class. Persons must be 21 or older to obtain a racing license.

After competing in two novice races in regional events, drivers are eligible to get a boost into regional racing standing and after a minimum of six regional races, they are eligible for national events which are for the more experienced drivers.

Tars Face 'Impossible' Cage Task

College of Marin's basketball team will try to accomplish the "impossible" tonight and at the same time get in on some of the action for second place in the Camino Norte Conference.

So far, it's been impossible for anyone in the conference to beat Contra Costa College of San Pablo, and that's the team the Tars face tonight at College of Marin in Kentfield.

Contra Costa has the title clinched with a 10-0 won-lost record and is sailing along with an impressive 24-3 season record. But three teams, including Marin, are in the fight for second place, now headed by DeAnza of Cupertino at 7-4.

TARS TIED

The Tars are tied with West Valley of Campbell with 6-4 records, just a half a game off DeAnza's pace. A Marin win tonight, and it would be something of an upset, could clinch a tie for second place for the Tars, who have a game with last-place Santa Rosa to play.

Contra Costa is paced by Harry Brown, second in conference scoring with an 18.5-point per game average. Marin's balanced attack is headed by the trio of Andre Horn (14.7), Pat Schafer (14.6) and Tom Seidenberg (13.9).

College of Marin is 10-14 on the season. Game time is 8 o'clock.

New Faces In Marin Loop; Triple Jump On Schedule

By GARY TISCHLER

AL ENDRISS

Several new faces will be on the spring sports coaching scene in key positions.

For starters, 23-year-old Gary Shaw will take over as Redwood High School track coach, in place of departed Tony Bailey, who took the College of Marin track job.

Shaw is a San Jose State graduate, who has coached some varsity track at Santa Rosa Junior College, where he was also assistant football coach.

He's reportedly adept in coaching the triple jump, new event added to Marin County Athletic League track competition this season.

ALSO NEW on the scene is Harland Bartholemew, who will coach varsity swimming at Novato High School, in place of James Kimmel, dismissed last fall after being arrested on charges of possession of marijuana.

BOB CORLEY, Terra Linda High School basketball coach, certainly isn't new, but he'll be in a different job this spring — coaching varsity baseball in place of ailing Jess Payan, who is recovering from an operation.

SPEAKING OF coaches, Redwood baseball mentor Al Endriss will be one of four Northern California officials working at the State Junior College Basketball Tournament in Fresno March 6-8.

That, incidentally, is a quick reminder, that the Tournament of Champions, basketball tournament is just around the corner, same date (March 6-8) at the Oakland Coliseum arena.

It's so near, but nothing much has been settled yet. The local league tussle won't be officially over until Friday, and a playoff could result if Novato beats Redwood to tie the Giants for the title.

The Catholic Athletic League and the San Francisco Triple A League both have round-robin tournaments to go through. Hayward is a sure bet to land still another berth. It looks like either Castlemont or McClymonds in the Oakland Athletic League and Richmond in the Alameda Athletic League.

REDWOOD, incidentally, still leads all departments of the MCAL basketball race with an 11-1 won-lost mark in varsity play, a 10-2 record in junior varsity action and a perfect 12-0 mark in Class B play.

TERRA LINDA is branching out. Awaiting approval by the board of education is the Trojans' official entry into the fields of soccer and gymnastics. Terra Linda did not have a soccer team this season, but interest is high, and the Trojans could have one next season, when soccer becomes an official league sport.

NEW RULES on tap for prep football: They'll use the two-point conversion next fall and may possibly widen the goal posts from 18 feet, six inches to 23 feet, four inches.

Marin, Petaluma Men Pass Test, Await Sports Car Racing Debut

Six Marin County men and another from Petaluma are anxiously waiting for their big debut in the field of sports car racing.

That will come March 29 at the new Sears Point International Raceway in Southern Sonoma County when the San Francisco Region, Sports Car Club of America (SCCA) first event of the year is held.

The seven drivers are among the 39 who passed their tests with flying colors earlier this month at the Cotati race course. They'll get their chance to show their stuff the first day of the two-day meeting at Sears Point in a special novice class race.

The seven and their auto classed are Andre J. Minutoli of Novato, B Production; Robert Bacich and Dr. Terence McGrath, both of Sausalito, E Production; Arthur H. England of San Rafael, H Production; Tom Crowther of Kentfield, Dr. John T. Korn of Novato and John Cook of Petaluma, Forumula-V.

To get their racing license, the seven had to pass two weekends of testing by the SCCA on the Cotati circuit. It's a full weekend of driving and testing, with hopeful drivers attending sessions which start at 7 a.m. and run to 4 p.m. each day.

SKULL SESSIONS

In addition to the time on the track, the students attend "skull session" of four hours before starting the actual driving phase of the tests.

"This is to get the drivers psychologically ready for racing," said Stephen Castoldi, SCCA regional chairman in the San Francisco office.

Castoldi said that of the 80 persons taking the latest tests, Feb. 8 and 9, 39 of them were graduated, almost 50 per cent. "The drivers who did not pass can take another day of testing and then try again," said Castoldi.

Next testing weekend is scheduled for March 8 and 9 and then another April 12-13. The Cotati track is the only testing site for the San Francisco Region of the national racing club.

At the end of the two-weekend course, drivers compete against each other in two three-lap heat races. "That's when we get a chance to observe them in racing situations," said Castoldi.

Cost for the school, which is taught by volunteers from the SCCA, is $100 for the two weekends, plus mandatory $27.50 for dues to the national and regional portions of the club, and $4.50 for a Novice Log Book, which takes the place of a license in the novice class. Persons must be 21 or older to obtain a racing license.

After competing in two novice races in regional events, drivers are eligible to get a boost into regional racing standing and after a minimum of six regional races, they are eligible for national events which are for the more experienced drivers.

Tars Face 'Impossible' Cage Task

College of Marin's basketball team will try to accomplish the "impossible" tonight and at the same time get in on some of the action for second place in the Camino Norte Conference.

So far, it's been impossible for anyone in the conference to beat Contra Costa College of San Pablo, and that's the team the Tars face tonight at College of Marin in Kentfield.

Contra Costa has the title clinched with a 10-0 won-lost record and is sailing along with an impressive 24-3 season record. But three teams, including Marin, are in the fight for second place, now headed by DeAnza of Cupertino at 7-4.

TARS TIED

The Tars are tied with West Valley of Campbell with 6-4 records, just a half a game off DeAnza's pace. A Marin win tonight, and it would be something of an upset, could clinch a tie for second place for the Tars, who have a game with last-place Santa Rosa to play.

Contra Costa is paced by Harry Brown, second in conference scoring with an 18.5-point per game average. Marin's balanced attack is headed by the trio of Andre Horn (14.7), Pat Schafer (14.6) and Tom Seidenberg (13.9).

College of Marin is 10-14 on the season. Game time is 8 o'clock.

San Rafael Sets Softball Meeting

The San Rafael Parks and Recreation Department is accepting registrations for its 1969 Adult Softball League, it was announced by Ron Koller, recreation supervisor.

Formation meeting for team managers is scheduled Tuesday, March 25, 7:30 p.m., at the San Rafael Community Recreation Center.

Hunter Safety Training Course Slated In March

Jules Mandere of San Rafael will be starting a new hunter safety course for persons aged 9 and older March 7 at Hamilton Air Force Base, in the basement of Building No. 442.

The course will run for three weekends, March 7-8, 14-15 and 21-22, meeting Friday nights at 7 o'clock and Saturday mornings at 10 o'clock. Each session is two hours.

The course is free, said Mandere, and said the younger shooters should be accompanied by a parent. For more information, persons can get in touch with Mandere at 22 Knoll Way, San Rafael.

New Faces In Marin Loop; Triple Jump On Schedule

Several new faces will be on the spring sports coaching scene in key positions.

For starters, 23-year-old Gary Shaw will take over as Redwood High School track coach, in place of departed Tony Bailey, who took the College of Marin track job.

Shaw is a San Jose State graduate, who has coached some varsity track at Santa Rosa Junior College, where he was also assistant football coach.

He's reportedly adept in coaching the triple jump, new event added to Marin County Athletic League track competition this season.

ALSO NEW on the scene is Harland Bartholemew, who will coach varsity swimming at Novato High School, in place of James Kimmel, dismissed last fall after being arrested on charges of possession of marijuana.

BOB CORLEY, Terra Linda High School basketball coach, certainly isn't new, but he'll be in a different job this spring — coaching varsity baseball in place of ailing Jess Payan, who is recovering from an operation.

SPEAKING OF coaches, Redwood baseball mentor Al Endriss will be one of four Northern California officials working at the State Junior College Basketball Tournament in Fresno March 6-8.

That, incidentally, is a quick reminder, that the Tournament of Champions, basketball tournament is just around the corner, same date (March 6-8) at the Oakland Coliseum arena.

It's so near, but nothing much has been settied yet. The local league tussle won't be officially over until Friday, and a playoff could result if Novato beats Redwood to tie the Giants for the title.

The Catholic Athletic League and the San Francisco Triple A League both have round-robin tournaments to go through. Hayward is a sure bet to land still another berth. It looks like either Castlemont or McClymonds in the Oakland Athletic League and Richmond in the Alameda Athletic League.

REDWOOD, incidentally, still leads all departments of the MCAL basketball race with an 11-1 won-lost mark in varsity play, a 10-2 record in junior varsity action and a perfect 12-0 mark in Class B play.

TERRA LINDA is branching out. Awaiting approval by the board of education is the Trojans' official entry into the fields of soccer and gymnastics. Terra Linda did not have a soccer team this season, but interest is high, and the Trojans could have one next season, when soccer becomes an official league sport.

NEW RULES on tap for prep football: They'll use the two-point conversion next fall and may possibly widen the goal posts from 18 feet, six inches to 23 feet, four inches.

HOW TO PLAY WINNING BRIDGE

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

Double For Penalties At The Level Of Two Hearts Or Higher

When an opponent overcalls at the level of two hearts or higher you should double for penalties if you have at least one sure trump trick and expect to collect at least a two-trick penalty. If your double backfires the opponents will score a game, and you should not take this risk unless you are virtually sure of defeating the contract.

NOT SOUND

West's double of two hearts in today's hand was not sound. Although his general strength was up to par, his lack of a sure trump trick exposed him to the danger that South might romp in with a long trump suit but nothing much else.

East won the first trick with the jack of spades and made the mistake of returning the eight of clubs up to dummy's weakness. East could have defeated the contract by taking two spades and one diamond and then leading a third round of spades. This would promote a trump trick for West, and the defenders would still get their two club tricks.

NO SECOND CHANCES

South did not give the defenders a second chance to get on the right track. Declarer stepped up with the ace of clubs and drew four rounds of trumps to make sure of extracting West's fangs. He then gave up a club to the queen.

West could make South ruff a diamond, but another club put South in position to win a second club trick in addition to the ace of clubs and the six trumps. South thus scored 120 points below the line and 50 points above the line for making a doubled contract together with 500 points for the game and rubber.

COULD HAVE BEEN

West's double would have been excellent if the two red suits were exchanged. The a double of two diamonds might backfire, but South would score only 80 points below the line and 50 points above the line. The unlucky double would cost West only 90 additional points instead of the 610 additional points lost in the actual hand.

DAILY QUESTION

As dealer you hold:

♠—A KJ 6 2
♦—K J 9 3
♣—8 7.

What do you say?

Answer: Bid one sapde.

With only 12 points in high cards you have an optional opening bid, and you should choose to bid rather than to pass since you have a fine five-card major suit and excellent high-card structure. Some experts would prefer to pass this borderline hand, but most would choose the opening bid.

ALMANAC

Today is Wednesday, Feb. 26, the 57th day of 1969 with 308 to follow.

The moon is between its first quarter and full phase. The morning stars are Mercury, Mars and Jupiter. The evening stars are Venus and Saturn.

On this day in history:

In 1815 Napoleon Bonaparte and 1,200 men filed from Elba to start a second conquest of France.

In 1870 New York City's first subway line was opened to the public with a fare of 25 cents.

In 1919 Congress established Grand Canyon National Park.

In 1935 Germany began operation of its Air Force under Reichmarshal Hermann Goering.

A thought for the day: Ralph Waldo Emerson said, "The reward of a thing well done is to have done it."

Four In Finals As Top Scholars

Four Tamalpais High School seniors have become finalists in National Merit Scholarship competition. The finalists, all from Mill Valley, are Stephen Hayes, John Leonard, Joan Polenshek and Ellen Rosenthal.

Hayes, the school announced, also scored a perfect 800 in the National College Board Achievement Test in physics.

Hayes plans to major in electrical engineering, Leonard in history, Miss Rosenthal in English literature or history and Miss Polenshek is undecided.

"I heard the sun coming through the window and it woked me up."

ALMANAC

Today is Wednesday, Feb. 26, the 57th day of 1969 with 308 to follow.

The moon is between its first quarter and full phase. The morning stars are Mercury, Mars and Jupiter. The evening stars are Venus and Saturn.

On this day in history:

In 1815 Napoleon Bonaparte and 1,200 men filed from Elba to start a second conquest of France.

In 1870 New York City's first subway line was opened to the public with a fare of 25 cents.

In 1919 Congress established Grand Canyon National Park.

In 1935 Germany began operation of its Air Force under Reichmarshal Hermann Goering.

A thought for the day: Ralph Waldo Emerson said, "The reward of a thing well done is to have done it."

Four In Finals As Top Scholars

Four Tamalpais High School seniors have become finalists in National Merit Scholarship competition. The finalists, all from Mill Valley, are Stephen Hayes, John Leonard, Joan Polenshek and Ellen Rosenthal.

Hayes, the school announced, also scored a perfect 800 in the National College Board Achievement Test in physics.

Hayes plans to major in electrical engineering, Leonard in history, Miss Rosenthal in English literature or history and Miss Polenshek is undecided.

HOW TO PLAY
WINNING BRIDGE

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

Double For Penalties At The Level Of Two Hearts Or Higher

When an opponent overcalls at the level of two hearts or higher you should double for penalties if you have at least one sure trump trick and expect to collect at least a two-trick penalty. If your double backfires the opponents will score a game, and you should not take this risk unless you are virtually sure of defeating the contract.

NOT SOUND

West's double of two hearts in today's hand was not sound. Although his general strength was up to par, his lack of a sure trump trick exposed him to the danger that South might romp in with a long trump suit but nothing much else.

East won the first trick with the jack of spades and made the mistake of returning the eight of clubs up to dummy's weakness. East could have defeated the contract by taking two spades and one diamond and then leading a third round of spades. This would promote a trump trick for West, and the defenders would still get their two club tricks.

NO SECOND CHANCES

South did not give the defenders a second chance to get on the right track. Declarer stepped up with the ace of clubs and drew four rounds of trumps to make sure of extracting West's fangs. He then gave up a club to the queen.

West could make South ruff a diamond, but another club put South in position to win a second club trick in addition to the ace of clubs and the six trumps. South thus scored 120 points below the line and 50 points above the line for making a doubled contract together with 500 points for the game and rubber.

COULD HAVE BEEN

West's double would have been excellent if the two red suits were exchanged. The a double of two diamonds might backfire, but South would score only 80 points below the line and 50 points above the line. The unlucky double would cost West only 90 additional points instead of the 610 additional points lost in the actual hand.

DAILY QUESTION

As dealer you hold:

♠—A K J 6 2
♦—K J 9 3
♣—8 7.

What do you say?

Answer: Bid one sapde.

With only 12 points in high cards you have an optional opening bid, and you should choose to bid rather than to pass since you have a fine five-card major suit and excellent high-card structure. Some experts would prefer to pass this borderline hand, but most would choose the opening bid.

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING

S. S. Kresge Has A Good Potential

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. We have had the good fortune of inheriting 750 shares of S. S. Kresge stock. Should we keep this stock for growth toward retirement in 10 years? — E.W.

A. S. S. Kresge has an outstanding potential in view of its aggressive entry into discounting, fast-paced store opening schedule and projected 25 per cent sales growth through 1969. However, since no stock is totally free of risk, the prudent investor spreads his risk through diversification. For that reason I suggest sale of at least one-half of your shares. The proceeds can then be invested in Boise-Cascade and Goodyear Tire and Rubber, two fast-growth industrial issues with well-established records of achievements.

Q. I bought 20 shares of Polaroid in 1966. In March of last year the shares split 2-for-1. Then this past November I sold 20 shares. How do I figure my gain for income taxes? — I.H.

A. As a result of the split you must still hold 20 shares of Polaroid. Your cost, therefore, would be one-half of your original purchase price. Your capital gain would be the difference between this cost and proceeds from the sale of 20 shares.

After you have worked out the details you should check with your local IRS office to make certain you have figured the long-term capital gain accurately.

Q. We have shares of Economics Laboratories and First National Bank of Chicago. Should we sell the former and put the money into the latter holding? — C.G.

A. I would not favor selling your shares of Economics Laboratories, a leading manufacturer of industrial and institutional cleaning products. The company — producer of consumer products as well — has compiled an impressive record of sales and earnings growth. In the most recent period, six months ended December, sales rose 15 per cent while earnings made a similar gain to 48 cents a share.

Tightening monetary conditions may cut back on First National Bank of Chicago's loan activities and exert some pressure on margins. However, shares should be held for long-term appreciation.

Net Income Up

ATLANTA, Ga. (BW) — Robert Oppenlander, Delta Air Lines' senior vice president-finance and treasurer, has reported a January net income after normal taxes of $2,628,000 (14 cents per share), up 13 per cent, and net income after surtax of $2,424,000 (13 cents per share) or 5 per cent above the $2,316,000 earned in January 1968.

Rules Explained On How To Deduct Any Sick Pay Funds

Wikel

Sick pay is sometimes taxed, sometimes partially taxed and sometimes tax free. Here are the rules:

The amount you received because of accident or sickness, if received from an insurance company where you paid the premiums either directly or through payroll deductions is not taxed.

The amount you received because of accident or sickness where your employer paid the premiums to the insurance company, or where your employer himself paid your wages while you were off sick is taxed as follows:

NO SICK PAY

No sick pay exclusion is allowed for wages received for the first thirty days of absence if the wages are over 75 per cent of the regular weekly rate. Sick pay received after the thirty day waiting period is over is excluded, but not more than $100 per week.

If your sick pay is 75 per cent of less of your regular weekly pay and if you are in the hospital at least one day while you are off, you can exclude the payments for the first thirty days up to $75 per week. But, if you are not in the hopsital at least overnight, there is no exclusion for the first seven days and the $75 maximum will apply only to the balance of the first thirty days you are off.

ATTACH FORM

If you can use the sick pay exclusion, you should get a Form 2440 from your local IRS office and attach it to your tax return. This form will help you compute accurately the amount of sick pay you can exclude.

In 1727 the first printing press in Rhode Island was established at Newport.

Market Closes On Mixed, Active Note

NEW YORK (UPI) — The market ended on a mixed note today, with blue chips among the more impressive issues. Trading was moderately active.

An expression of confidence by Henry Cabot Lodge, chief U. S. negotiator at the Paris peace conference, that the Vietnam talks would bring results despite the latest flareup in the war was a healthy ingredient.

Other constructive items included rising prices on hot rolled strip steel, spreading price hikes on gasoline and the labor department's report of record consumer prices in January.

The Dow Jones averages of 30 blue chip industrials showed a gain of 5.59 at 905.39. Volume was around the 9-million share mark.

Otto Schreier To Relocate Cabinet Shop In Mill Valley

Another commuter to San Francisco, Otto H. Schreier of Mill Valley, has decided it is more practical to move his business to Marin County than go through the daily ordeal of freeway traffic.

Schreier, who owns and operates the Otto Schreier Cabinet Shop at 1525 48th Avenue, San Francisco, has bought the building at 469 Miller Avenue, Mill Valley, from Mill Valley Post 284 of the American Legion. He will remodel, occupy part of the building and lease out the balance. The property was sold for $75,000.

Meanwhile, Mill Valley Post 2°4 will continue to hold meetings there until May 15, when Schreier takes possession. Post commander Harry E. Fitzgibbon reports that for subsequent meetings another hall will be rented.

PERHAPS MISLEADING in its phraseology, our item regarding Nu-Vinyl-Life Co. (not Nu-Vinyl-Little) on Monday was not meant to report that this company has taken over Feldron Industries. It has taken over the local vinyl repair, dying and maintenance processing of that company under the franchise held by Edward R. Wolford.

Feldron Industries continues under its same ownership and operates on a national scale.

NEW BUILDING ADDITION at 35 Mitchell Boulevard, Northgate Industrial Park, to Ronald Antonioli's office complex will have its share of attorneys and legal firms as tenants. Four such offices are now signed to open here.

Most recent to lease space through William Hoey and Co. is Convis and Kennedy, now located at 1653 Second Street, San Rafael. Previously signed were Kenneth M. Levy, now at 1330 Lincoln Avenue, San Rafael; Ronald D. Schenck, now with Riede and Elliott in San Rafael; and Duncan Davidson, now officed in San Francisco.

Offices won't be ready for occupancy, of course, until the latter part of next month.

SAUSALITO VETERINARIAN Dr. Carrie A. Corvin has purchased a lot in Hamilton Industrial Park, Ignacio, through Arthur Foff of Swendeman Realty and plans construction of a veterinary hospital there.

JAMES KILPATRICK JR. of Santa Venetia has been appointed manager of the Cala Food Store in the Corte Madera Shopping Center. He replaces Sam Cala of Kentfield, who now joins his brother Edward (a Greenbrae resident) in a supervisorial capacity with the food chain. Sam Cala now supervises several San Francisco stores as well as the six in Marin.

Fitzpatrick has been with Cala for the past seven months but he had previous experience in the food business, which runs in the family. His father owned the former Bon Air Supermarket in Greenbrae.

EUGENE A. GRENACHE of Larkspur has been promoted to installment loan officer at Crocker-Citizens National Bank's San Rafael main office and will continue to serve as manager of the installment loan department there. He joined Crocker-Citizens in 1964 following eight years of insurance experience. He has served at various Bay Area offices and has been at the San Rafael main office since 1965.

CHARLES I. (CHUCK) DANIELS JR. of San Rafael, vice president and manager of Golden Gate Distributing Co., has been selected president of the California Beer Wholesalers Association. Golden Gate is the local distributor for Coors, Carlsberg and San Miguel beers and Rainier ale.

Common Stock

NEW YORK (UPI) — Shareholders of Carrier Corp. have approved a boost in authorized common stock to 30 million from 10 million shares presently. Half of the additional shares will be absorbed by a 2-for-1 split of the common stock also approved at the meeting.

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING

S. S. Kresge Has A Good Potential

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. We have had the good fortune of inheriting 750 shares of S. S. Kresge stock. Should we keep this stock for growth toward retirement in 10 years? — E.W.

A. S. S. Kresge has an outstanding potential in view of its aggressive entry into discounting, fast-paced store opening schedule and projected 25 per cent sales growth through 1969. However, since no stock is totally free of risk, the prudent investor spreads his risk through diversification. For that reason I suggest sale of at least one-half of your shares. The proceeds can then be invested in Boise-Cascade and Goodyear Tire and Rubber, two fast-growth industrial issues with well-established records of achievements.

Q. I bought 20 shares of Polaroid in 1966. In March of last year the shares split 2-for-1. Then this past November I sold 20 shares. How do I figure my gain for income taxes? — I.H.

A. As a result of the split you must still hold 20 shares of Polaroid. Your cost, therefore, would be one-half of your original purchase price. Your capital gain would be the difference between this cost and proceeds from the sale of 20 shares.

After you have worked out the details you should check with your local IRS office to make certain you have figured the long-term capital gain accurately.

Q. We have shares of Economics Laboratories and First National Bank of Chicago. Should we sell the former and put the money into the latter holding? — C.G.

A. I would not favor selling your shares of Economics Laboratories, a leading manufacturer of industrial and institutional cleaning products. The company — producer of consumer products as well — has compiled an impressive record of sales and earnings growth. In the most recent period, six months ended December, sales rose 15 per cent while earnings made a similar gain to 48 cents a share.

Tightening monetary conditions may cut back on First National Bank of Chicago's loan activities and exert some pressure on margins. However, shares should be held for long-term appreciation.

Net Income Up

ATLANTA, Ga. (BW) — Robert Oppenlander, Delta Air Lines' senior vice president-finance and treasurer, has reported a January net income after normal taxes of $2,628,000 (14 cents per share), up 13 per cent, and net income after surtax of $2,424,000 (13 cents per share) or 5 per cent above the $2,316,000 earned in January 1968.

Rules Explained On How To Deduct Any Sick Pay Funds

Wikel

Sick pay is sometimes taxed, sometimes partially taxed and sometimes tax free. Here are the rules:

The amount you received because of accident or sickness, if received from an insurance company where you paid the premiums either directly or through payroll deductions is not taxed.

The amount you received because of accident or sickness where your employer paid the premiums to the insurance company, or where your employer himself paid your wages while you were off sick is taxed as follows:

NO SICK PAY

No sick pay exclusion is allowed for wages received for the first thirty days of absence if the wages are over 75 per cent of the regular weekly rate. Sick pay received after the thirty day waiting period is over is excluded, but not more than $100 per week.

If your sick pay is 75 per cent of less of your regular weekly pay and if you are in the hospital at least one day while you are off, you can exclude the payments for the first thirty days up to $75 per week. But, if you are not in the hopsital at least overnight, there is no exclusion for the first seven days and the $75 maximum will apply only to the balance of the first thirty days you are off.

ATTACH FORM

If you can use the sick pay exclusion, you should get a Form 2440 from your local IRS office and attach it to your tax return. This form will help you compute accurately the amount of sick pay you can exclude.

In 1727 the first printing press in Rhode Island was established at Newport.

Open Campus Policy Unsolved

Students asking to be trusted off campus during school hours and parents concerned about safety, litter and property damage clashed last night before the San Rafael Board of Education.

There was a standingroom audience of about 100 persons and many engaged in a free-wheeling debate over the pros and cons of an open campus for high school students.

After two hours the board tossed the matter back to the schools and the community to work out a solution and return for board approval.

At issue was a request from San Rafael High School students for an open campus which would mean that all students could leave the campus, if they had parental permission, at noon and during free periods.

Rick Maulhaupt, president of the Terra Linda High School student body, said students there weren't ready to make a request and didn't want to be under consideration in last night's discussion.

At present, seniors at each school are allowed the privilege of an open campus.

Lawrence E. Hoyt, representing the San Rafael High School Parent-Teacher Association, said parents at a January P-TA meeting voted 49 to 39 against permitting an open campus on an experimental basis.

Jeff Godwin, San Rafael High School student, said students were polled and of the 1,200 who responded, 959 favored an open campus.

Residents who live near Terra Linda High School told of students smoking, throwing litter on lawns and speeding cars, and one warned those who live near San Rafael High School: "You're letting yourself in for a lot of grief, problems and garbage."

Sally Ward, a San Rafael High School student, said students polled 15 immediate neighbors and only two objected to open campus for all.

Board member Carl J. Brown said he was concerned about what students would be smoking off campus. He said he has talked to students who have smoked marijuana, and one admitted that after "too many joints" at lunchtime "he couldn't care less what they did in school."

The responsibility of the student is to go to school and get an education, Brown said.

He said he was concerned about putting a student in an environment off campus where he might be under pressures from other students or pushers to smoke marijuana.

Students replied that the minority who smoke marijuana would smoke it whether the campus is open or closed.

Alan Ellsberg, principal of San Rafael High School, said it was the first district he has worked in that didn't have an open campus.

Alan Blum, a San Rafael High School student, said the open campus would be on an experimental basis and if there were objections and problems, it would be curtailed. "Give the kids trust and responsibility," he said.

Marc Litchfield, student body president at San Rafael High, admitted that those who want to smoke a cigarette will leave, open campus or not.

Godwin said that students also wanted to leave the campus to shop and eat at some place other than the school cafeteria. He admitted that there would be troublemakers, "but I'm sure all of you know adults who couldn't handle an open campus."

After an hour of discussion board president Lawrence I. Kramer said both sides had legitimate viewpoints, but he hadn't heard anything for or against "on educational grounds."

Frank Stocking, principal at Terra Linda High, said education was more than what students learn in classrooms or from books. It would be an opportunity for students to demonstrate their responsibility, he said. Only a small percentage of students are irritating people, Stocking contended.

Board member Paul L. Jones said he didn't think it was a problem for the school board, but "for the community and the school."

Jones said the community wasn't represented by those attending last night's session and he urged students to poll all parents.

Board member John C. Pfeiffer said "the teachers, administrators and adults should deal with some of these hot potatoes directly . . . here we have a relatively small group of special interests."

San Rafael High students agreed to poll parents to get a wider representation.

Pumping Station Contract Given

The Sausalito-Marin City Sanitary District board awarded $10,499 contract Monday for modifying the Princess Street pumping station, near Ondine restaurant on Bridgeway, to Hayco, Inc., of Greenbrae.

Other bidders were Maggiora and Ghilotti of Corte Madera, $10,750; Neil T. Burton of Kentfield, $12,610; Healy Tibbitts Construction Co. of San Francisco, $16,960, and Albay Construction Co. of Concord, $24,583.

The project will be coordinated with Bridgeway widening now in progress.

Probation, Jail Set For Sale Of Drug

Glen Theodore Thornson, 19, of Sausalito, who pleaded guilty last month to selling methamphetamine has been placed on three years probation with 60 days to be spent in Marin County jail.

Judge Harold J. Haley of Marin Superior Court sentenced Thornson, who sold the drug to an agent of the Marin County Drug Abuse Brueau on Jan. 20, 1968.

Corte Madera Sign Decision Stalled

The Corte Madera Board of Design has approved the design of a proposed Union Oil Co. service station at 800 Tamalpais Drive except for a proposed 18-foot free standing sign, William G. McBride, zoning administrator reported yesterday.

No recommendation was made on the sign, said McBride, since the board was unsure whether the wooden structure housing it was technically also the sign. The town planning commission will next consider the service station and sign.

New Meningitis Trouble At Ord

FORT ORD (UPI) — One soldier is dead and five more are hospitalized in a new outbreak of meningitis at this sprawling Pacific Coast Army post south of San Francisco.

Pvt. Custis M. Heinz, 21, Cosby, Mo., died Tuesday at the post hospital after being admitted early in the day. Doctors said he died from a form of the disease which attacks the blood stream.

Heinz was in his eighth week of infantry training.

Fort Ord was closed briefly in 1964 when an outbreak of meningitis took several lives. However, doctors said the type of meningitis in the 1964 deaths infected the central nervous system.

Open Campus Policy Unsolved

Students asking to be trusted off campus during school hours and parents concerned about safety, litter and property damage clashed last night before the San Rafael Board of Education.

There was a standingroom audience of about 100 persons and many engaged in a free-wheeling debate over the pros and cons of an open campus for high school students.

After two hours the board tossed the matter back to the schools and the community to work out a solution and return for board approval.

At issue was a request from San Rafael High School students for an open campus which would mean that all students could leave the campus, if they had parental permission, at noon and during free periods.

Rick Maulhaupt, president of the Terra Linda High School student body, said students there weren't ready to make a request and didn't want to be under consideration in last night's discussion.

At present, seniors at each school are allowed the privilege of an open campus.

Lawrence E. Hoyt, representing the San Rafael High School Parent-Teacher Association, said parents at a January P-TA meeting voted 49 to 39 against permitting an open campus on an experimental basis.

Jeff Godwin, San Rafael High School student, said students were polled and of the 1,200 who responded, 959 favored an open campus.

Residents who live near Terra Linda High School told of students smoking, throwing litter on lawns and speeding cars, and one warned those who live near San Rafael High School: "You're letting yourself in for a lot of grief, problems and garbage."

Sally Ward, a San Rafael High School student, said students polled 15 immediate neighbors and only two objected to open campus for all.

Board member Carl J. Brown said he was concerned about what students would be smoking off campus. He said he has talked to students who have smoked marijuana, and one admitted that after "too many joints" at lunchtime "he couldn't care less what they did in school."

The responsibility of the student is to go to school and get an education, Brown said.

He said he was concerned about putting a student in an environment off campus where he might be under pressures from other students or pushers to smoke marijuana.

Students replied that the minority who smoke marijuana would smoke it whether the campus is open or closed.

Alan Ellsberg, principal of San Rafael High School, said it was the first district he has worked in that didn't have an open campus.

Alan Blum, a San Rafael High School student, said the open campus would be on an experimental basis and if there were objections and problems, it would be curtailed. "Give the kids trust and responsibility," he said.

Marc Litchfield, student body president at San Rafael High, admitted that those who want to smoke a cigarette will leave, open campus or not.

Godwin said that students also wanted to leave the campus to shop and eat at some place other than the school cafeteria. He admitted that there would be troublemakers, "but I'm sure all of you know adults who couldn't handle an open campus."

After an hour of discussion board president Lawrence I. Kramer said both sides had legitimate viewpoints, but he hadn't heard anything for or against "on educational grounds."

Frank Stocking, principal at Terra Linda High, said education was more than what students learn in classrooms or from books. It would be an opportunity for students to demonstrate their responsibility, he said. Only a small percentage of students are irritating people, Stocking contended.

Board member Paul L. Jones said he didn't think it was a problem for the school board, but "for the community and the school."

Jones said the community wasn't represented by those attending last night's session and he urged students to poll all parents.

Board member John C. Pfeiffer said "the teachers, administrators and adults should deal with some of these hot potatoes directly . . . . here we have a relatively small group of special interests."

San Rafael High students agreed to poll parents to get a wider representation.

Students Suggest Alternatives To Flag Pledge Of Allegiance

A flag at half-staff in memory of men killed in Vietnam . . . quotations from the nation's leaders . . . readings about that day in history.

These were suggested to the San Rafael Board of Education last night by three high school students as patriotic observances that could be used in place of the pledge of allegiance.

The Terra Linda High School Student Council, joined by San Rafael High School, is seeking modification of the district's policy that requires the daily pledge.

Students contended that the pledge has lost meaning through daily recitation, and they would prefer some variation in patriotic observances. They don't want to abolish the pledge, they emphasized.

Because of the late hour, board members said there wasn't time to fully explore the proposal and postponed action until March 11.

The board asked the students to bring in a sample two-week schedule of patriotic observances, which they could review.

The San Rafael Board of Education also:

EVALUATION — Approved a policy that includes self-evaluation and evaluation by staff and students as part of the evaluation of administrators.

SUMMER SCHOOL — Approved an elementary district summer school program from June 20 through July 25, and a high school district summer school program, June 20 to Aug. 1.

ADULT EDUCATION — Approved 11 new class offerings for the spring term in adult education, March 24-June 12.

HIRING — Authorized the hiring of Virginia Abts, teacher, high school district, $3,113 for remainder of school year; Mrs. Joan Carroll, teacher, educationally handicapped, elementary district, $4,005 for remainder of school year; and Mac Hull, full-time substitute teacher, elementary district, $3,703 for remainder of school year.

RESIGNATIONS — Accepted resignations of Mrs. Laura Beswick, fifth grade teacher, Glenwood School, currently on leave; Mrs. Donna Chazen, girls' physical education teacher, Davidson Junior High School, effective June 30; Jay Fields, English teacher, Davidson Junior High School, effective June 30; and Mrs. Jean Koller, reading teacher, Davidson Junior High School, effective June 30.

GIFTS — Accepted as a gift from the Bahia Vista School Parent-Teacher Association, a 12-volume set of children's classics.

MATERIALS CENTER — Postponed until March 11 consideration of establishing an expanded instructional materials center and increased service.

CONTRACT RENEWALS — Postponed until March 11 because of the late hour a discuss renewing contracts of probationary teachers for the coming year.

No Hospital Session

Marin Hospital District directors did not meet last night due to lack of a quorum, Jules Becker, public relations director, said today. The board plans to meet next week at a date to be announced.

Beatings, Threats At Busing Session

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Three San Francisco persons were beaten and Board of Education members were threatened last night as a crowd of some 1,000 persons opposed a school integration plan and the busing of students.

Among those beaten by unidentified persons during the board meeting at Nourse Auditorium where a Negro youth, a white youth and Vincent Maggiora, San Francisco Chronicle photographer of Sausalito. One youth had carried a sign reading: "End Racism."

Maggiora, rescued by reporter Jim Wood of the San Francisco Examiner, was treated at Central Emergency Hospital. He was knocked down while attempting to photograph the other beatings.

Board members, who accepted for study a plan by a Citizens Advisory Committee, voted to approve Supt. Robert E. Jenkins suggestion that a coordinator and consultant be appointed.

A crowd standing in front of the stage threatened to "crucify" and "get" board menbers, claiming a microphone had been cut so that Mrs. Morris Lemlow, Mothers Support Neighborhood School chairman, could not be heard.

Mrs. Lemlow presented a letter from State Supt. of Public Instruction Max Rafferty which said:

"The (state) board has no statutory power to compel any local district to achieve any special degree of racial balance nor does it have either the power or the the intention to require any specific means to be used on a local level to achieve racial balance."

Mrs. Jerry McDonough, first vice president of Mothers Support Neighborhood Schools, held a knife overhead and declared: "This is a knife my son found in the hall at Lincoln High School. We're sick and tired of having our children mutilated."

James Rourke, president of American Against Crime, Communism and Corruption asked the board: "How can you in good conscience vote in a busing system when a property owner buys his home in a specific area with the intention of using that local school?"

Antipollution Watchdogs Ask Drilling Curbs

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — A request that no oil or gas leases be granted on submerged lands anywhere in the Bay Area will be considered by the state Water Resources Control Board at 9:30 a.m. March 6 in the Resources Building, 1416 Ninth Street.

The request, made by the San Francisco Bay Regional Water Quality Control Board on Feb. 14, asked that no leases be granted by the state Lands Commission until it can insure that drilling will not cause water pollution.

The regional board's motion cited the disastrous oil pollution of Southern California's coast by the leak at a Union Oil Co. offshore well, and noted the same thing could happen in the bay without "assurance" that adequate stafeguards will be provided.

The commission's proposal to grant leases in San Pablo Bay has drawn virtually unanimous official and public opposition.

Threatening rain clouds disappear over the ridge behind Red Hill Shopping Center in San Anselmo, signalling a day of relief from Marin's persistent winter showers. Before rolling away however, they left .08 of an inch of rain on Tiburon; .29 on Bolinas; .20 on Novato and 1.20 inches on Woodacre in the 24 hours ending at 8 a.m. today. More clouds are due in tonight, bringing a 70 per cent chance of rain tomorrow, the weatherman said. (Independent-Journal photo by Jim Kean)

Campus Strength Voted By Senate

Guerrilla Warfare Urged In Flier At S.F. State

COMBINED AP & UPI

SACRAMENTO—The Senate passed today legislation giving university and college administrators power to order any potential troublemaker off campus.

The action came over protests from opponents that the measure was unconstitutional and would be overturned by the courts.

The measure by Sen. Donald Grunsky, R-Watsonville, was approved by a 31-5 vote, and was sent to the Assembly.

The Senate sent to the Assembly another bill making it a felony to strike a campus police officer, now only a misdemeanor. The vote was 35-1.

Campus administrators now have broad powers to order nonstudents off campus. Under Grunsky's bill, the administrators could throw anybody off—student or nonstudent—if they believed their presence "may threaten the orderly operation" of the school.

A seven-page pamphlet with detailed instructions on the art of guerrilla warfare was widely circulated yesterday on the troubled campus of San Francisco State College.

There were piles of the booklets in front of several classroom buildings, but their source was not immediately determined. They gave detailed lists of suggested weapons "for rallies and other battles with the pigs."

The manual named general targets — policemen, their horses, cameramen and "scabs"—but promised to name names in a "death list" to be published at a later date.

Director Thomas Fitzpatrick of the police department's intelligence unit, said he was "very concerned" over the pamphlets.

"It seems as if someone wants to perpetuate violence," he said, "but I don't think the average dissident would use these things."

Meanwhile, controversy raged over a proposal to end the strike of union teachers, who walked off their jobs on the campus Jan. 6 to back demands for improved wages and working conditions.

The tentative agreement, worked out by a group of labor, union and college officials, was scheduled for consideration today by the State College Board of Trustees in Loe Angeles.

Gov. Ronald Reagan blasted the proposal as something that was arrived at illegally and contained illegal provisions. Mayor Joseph Alioto of San Francisco defended the proposal and lashed out at Reagan for criticizing it.

In Los Angeles, Reagan said he opposed the proposed agreement because it would give un-

Killing Storm Ends; Another On Way?

COMBINED AP & UPI

SANTA ANA — Eight persons were missing and believed dead today under 20 tons of mud that killed five others who sought refuge in a fire station in a rain-flooded Orange County canyon.

Ten, all told, were dead in the new California storms, bringing the total to 111 in January and February's awesome ravages of nature.

Skies cleared today after a three-day storm; thousands hoped to return to their homes after being evacuated because of flooding or flood threats. But another storm 600 miles at sea threatens to hit the state tomorrow and Friday.

Destructive effects of the storm were felt throughout most of Southern California and as far north as Salinas Valley.

After 16 inches of rain in three days, the massive Orange County mudslide crushed a fire station yesterday as 60

Fatal Crash Follows Car Club Session

A 16-year-old Novato girl died today of multiple head injuries five hours after the speeding car she rode in ripped through a fence in Bel Marin Keys, the California Highway Patrol reported. (See photo, page 5.)

Candace Louise Wright, of 1079 Eighth Street, died at 2 a.m. in the emergency room of Novato General Hospital.

The driver, Reginald B. Johnson, 20, of 1541 Hill Road, Novato, was reported in critical condition today at Marin General Hospital with severe head injuries and multiple face cuts.

Witnesses said Johnson had left a meeting of the Chevaliers Car Club, a Novato High School students' group, a few minutes before his car crashed at 9 p.m. into a center island, then ripped through 105 feet of fence on Bel Marin Keys Road near Montego Key Road.

Two Novato policemen received minor injuries pulling Miss Wright and Johnson from the shattered car. Sgt. William M. Cann stepped on a nail and Patrolman Richard H. Rudy Jr. cut both hands on windshield glass. Both were treated at Novato General Hospital.

Two passengers in the rear seat of Johnson's car escaped serious injury. Mario Mederous, 20, of 1045 Fourth Street, Novato, had a scraped left leg but refused medical attention. Debbie Harton, 17, of 1055 Via Escondida, was uninjured.

The highway patrol estimated Johnson was traveling 70 miles an hour when he hit the center island. Other car club members,

Another School Bond Try Likely In June

By FRANK FARRARA

San Rafael Board of Education last night prepared to place its recently defeated elementary district $2.1 million bond proposal before the voters again in June.

(Other board of education stories, pages 42, 43.)

Board members also authorized split sessions at Davidson Junior High School, one morning and one afternoon, next school year, to make its middle school plan districtwide.

A chart on the board room wall, left over from the Feb. 18 bond election, told the story of defeat in numbers, 3,729 yes, 2,459 no, a 60.26 per cent favorable vote where two-thirds was needed.

Supt. John F. Plank said the district's needs remain and an immediate call for a new election would demonstrate to the community the "seriousness of purpose."

Passage of the bonds would have provided $1,577,900 toward construction of a Glenwood Middle School and $522,100 for improvements at the district's 14 existing schools.

Paul McMullen, chairman of Your Elementary Schools Committee, said: "We haven't given up and we don't intend to."

Noting the light voter turnout (37.9 per cent), McMullen said the committee hopes to convince those who didn't vote of the district's financial need, and to get out more of the vote.

Board president Lawrence I. Kramer Jr. said: "We're talking

Cal Police Thwart Fire Bomb Toss

BERKELEY (AP) — A gasoline fire bomb was hurled into Haviland Hall at the University of California today. A campus policeman discovered the bomb and threw it back through a broken window.

There was little damage.

A witness said the bomb thrower fled into nearby woods.

About 10 p.m. yesterday, three small fires were started with sweaters and other materials saturated with inflammable fluids outside the athletic department offices in Eshleman Hall.

They were controlled quickly and firemen estimated damage at $750.

Third world Liberation Front leaders held a rally which university officials had forbidden yesterday.

Striking students defied the administration and used their own bullhorn during a rally of 350 students.

Ysidro Macias, a Third World leader, said "We're going to close it down, whether by striking peacefully or whether we have to burn the s.o.b. down."

Following the rally, there was a march across the campus and a smaller group paraded through Barrows Hall although no class room was entered and no vandalism reported.

Strikers then picketed at Sather Gate.

During the rally, speakers noted the small size of picket lines this week and urged strikers to avoid defeatism.

The Third World Liberation Front called the walkout five weeks ago, demanding an autonomous ethnic studies program.

Sinch then there have been 133 arrests and the university's board of regents has ordered the supension of students who violate regulations by violence.

Teachers, Trustees Argue Dumke Ouster

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The California State Colleges' voting faculty members say by a 2-1 margin that Chancellor Glenn S. Dumke should resign. But the ruling trustees reaffirmed their support for him.

Some teachers contend Dumke has failed to consult with them on campus problems or fully support better faculty pay and working conditions.

The 19-campus system's board of trustees responded after yesterday's faculty vote was announced with a statement of support for Dumke. Chairman Theodore Meriam of Chico said he couldn't guarantee how long the trustees' support will last, however.

At Sonoma State, where 132 of the 160 faculty members voted, 107 voted against Dumke and 25 supported him, according to A. S. Pickett, chairman-elect of Sonoma State's academic senate.

John Stafford, chairman of the 19 colleges' academic senate, reported that 3,395 faculty members voted to support a resolution expressing "no confidence" in Dumke and asking him to resign. Stafford said 1,850 faculty members opposed the resolution.

Some 9,100 teachers were eligible to vote, Stafford said.

The Academic Senate adopted its resolution against Dumke last May. Academic senate members at that time said the

Nixon Carries Soviet Talk Policy To Bonn

BONN, Germany (AP) — President Nixon came to West Germany today and in an unprecedented appearance before its Bundestag said successful negotiations with the Soviet Union depend on the maintenance of "the strength that made negotiations possible."

The Bundestag is West Germany's parliament.

The success of the Western alliance, he told the packed assembly, "is indicated by the fact that in the 20 years that it has existed we have had peace as far as this part of the world is concerned and that every one of the nations in the alliance that was free 20 years ago is free today including the free city of Berlin."

No other U.S. president had ever appeared before the Bundestag. Nixon stood before a huge black, gold and red eagle on the wall.

Speaking in a hoarse voice, Nixon noted to the laughter of the German deputies that he had not been yet as President before the Congress of the United States.

He was introduced by Kua-Uwe von Hassel, president of the Budestag, who said West Germans were dedicated to a long-standing decision to "go our way as a partner of the United States."

"We thank you for your solidarity with Europe, Germany and above all with Berlin," Von Hassel said. "Without clear guarantees for freedom and security, Berlin and the federal republic could live neither in peace nor freedom. The Budestag thanks you for your visit in the federal republic and especially in Berlin."

Earlier Nixon received the West German government's approval for his planned negotiations with Moscow and in turn he assured Chancellor Kurt Georg Kiesinger on his arrival

Ike's Progress Continues Good

WASHINGTON (AP) — Army doctors reported today former President Dwight D. Eisenhower, convalescing from major abdominal surgery Sunday night, "had a good night and slept comfortably."

In a medical bulletin issued at 10:40 a.m. doctors at Walter Reed Army Hospital said Eisenhower's postoperative course "has to date followed the expected pattern."

The statement apparently means the five-star general continues to make progress without complications.

Yacht Harbor Owner, Marin Reach Pact

Donlan J. Arques of Arques Yacht Harbor and the county came to terms yesterday on the removal of all houseboat violations on Arques' property.

(See also board of supervisors stories, pages 24, 25.)

The old ferryboat (San Rafael), which Arques says is not his, will also have to go in 45 days unless it can be brought up to county health and safety standards.

On a motion by Louis H. Baar and a second by Peter R. Arrigoni Jr., the Marin County Board of Supervisors declared the ferryboat a nuisance and ordered its abatement in 45 days. The unanimous decision came despite a plea by white-haired landscape architect Piro Caro, who claims ownership of the ferry.

Bringing the ferryboat to health and safety standards requires only minor repairs, Caro insisted.

"Then you have 45 days in which to do it," replied chairman John F. McInnis.

Caro declared he would have to go to court to save the ferryboat.

Supervisors then approved an agreement with Arques,

McCarthy, Bagley Cautious On Bay Fill Master Plan

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — Both of Marin's state legislators favor permanent controls over filling of San Francisco Bay, but have strong reservations about the major bill introduced to carry out the master plan drawn by the San Francisco Bay Conservation and Development Commission. (Other legislative stories on pages 8, 9, 34.)

"We need some strong rules and regulations," Sen. John F. McCarthy, R-San Rafael, told the Independent-Journal, but he quickly took exception to the bill's failure to provide compensation for tideland property owners who are not allowed to fill their property.

"If a public agency restrains a property owner from developing his property, then he should receive just compensation," said McCarthy.

Assemblyman William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael, said he supports the bill "conceptually," but added "you can't dodge the question of compensation." The bill was introduced last week by Sen. Nicholas C. Petris, D-Oakland.

Bagley said he might support "some sort of middle ground," and suggested the possibility of compensating a property owner only if he could show his property was econically developable and that he was being denied a use which he was in a position to finance.

Turning to the bill's extension of bay controls up to 1,000 feet in and from the shoreline, Bagley said he could not comment on this proposed power until he had discussed it with local governments that would be affected.

McCarthy, commenting on the proposed control over shoreline development, said "any commercial development that passes the usual local controls should be encouraged to help the local tax base."

Lightning Causes Ocean Rig Blaze

SANTA BARBARA (AP) — A lightning-caused fire ripped a Standard Oil Co. offshore drilling platform today but a company spokesman said there was no one aboard the automated tower.

The company and fire officials in nearby Carpinteria denied earlier reports by the Santa Barbara Harbor Master's office that there were 12 to 15 men working aboard the platform.

The spokesman for Standard Oil said the lightning bolt struck and ignited the top of the natural gas venting pipe and that the gas flow was immediately shut down automatically by workers at the company's land-based facility.

The flow of oil from a leaking offshore well was reported growing today while more calls were made for a halt to drilling in the Santa Barbara Channel.

Union Oil Co. of California said the increased flow appeared "stubstantial" but not as heavy as the 21,000 gallons a day of the original leak.

Calls for an end to offshore drilling came from Sen. Alan Cranston, D-Calif., and from conservation leaders.

Cranston prepared legislation to ban offshore drilling on federal tidelands off Santa Barbara. The legislation would also suspend drilling in other federal tideland areas along the California coast and seek ways to phase out producing oil fields "which may endanger the environment."

WIRE NEWS BRIEFS From Everywhere

To Decide Fate

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (AP) — Prime Miisetr Terence O'Neill has called a meeting Friday of his Unionist Party's parliamentarians to decide whether he will stay in office. Observers said his chances are slim.

Although he is believed likely to win a majority at the parliamentary caucus, the size of this margin is crucial. Twelve of the 39 Unionists elected to Parliament Monday are known to oppose him, because of O'Neill's attempts to seek a compromise with dissident Catholics. With the help of a few fence-sitters they could cripple his leadership.

Quake Damage

JAKARTA (AP) — An earthquake toppled buildings Sunday in the Madjene Region of South Sulawesi and apparently triggered a series of tidal waves that smashed a coastal village on Macassar Strait, Antara News agency reported today.

It said at least 20 persons wers killed in the earthquake, but many more were feared killed by the tidal waves.

Miniskirt Protest

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Two boys showed up at Germantown High School yesterday wearing miniskirts. It was a protest against a recent faculty decision permitting girls to wear slacks.

Explained a faculty member: "Skirts were betting so short we though slacks might be the answer to the problem."

To See Launch

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — Vice President Spiro T. Agnew plans to come to Florida Friday to see the Apollo 9 launch, along with about 25 governors attending the National Governors Conference in Washington.

An Agnew spokesman said the vice president would stay over Saturday for golf and relaxation, his first day off from official duties since the inauguration.

Leaves Hospital

The 33rd president entered the hospital last Thursday night after being stricken with intestinal flu.

Jet Delay

WASHINGTON (AP) — The first operational model of the C5A Galaxy, the world's largest aircraft, is now scheduled for delivery to the Air Force in December rather than June.

The Pentagon disclosed yesterday that production of the plane, now being test flown, had fallen six months behind due in part to "early manufacturing problems."

A controversy has swirled about the huge plane, designed to carry scores of troops plus tanks and other heavy gear, because of its increasing price.

The government originally envisioned buying 120 planes for $3.2 billion from Lockheed Aircraft, but the total price now is estimated at $4.3 billion. The Air Force is committed to buy 81 planes and is expected later to pick up an option for 39 more.

Foils Thieves

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP) — Flight controller Jack Sellers turned his binoculars on the Birmingham airport parking lot during an air traffic lull and saw a car being stripped.

Sellers testified in court yesterday two men removed a wheel, tire assembly and tape player while he was calling police.

Patrolman G. R. Hill said he caught Erwin W. Blanks, 17, and Cecil D. Watts, 20, in the act. They were held pending grand jury action.

GROUND THE ENEMY — A South Vietnamese ranger places his boot on the arm of a captured Viet Cong soldier as other rangers surround another enemy trooper in the Bien Hoa area. The captures came yesterday as the rangers tried in five assaults to retake Gia Kien, a suburb of Bien Hoa, but were beaten back each time. Bien Hoa is about 15 miles from Saigon. Nuclear Pact Faces Little Senate Test

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nuclear nonproliferation treaty, approved by the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, faces certain sniping but little danger before floor debate starts next month.

The committee approved the administration-backed treaty yesterday by a 14 to 0 vote with Sen. Thomas Dodd, D-Conn., who has criticized some aspects of it, not voting.

Chairman J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., said he expected a report clarifying two controversial points will be completed by March 6 and that the treaty would be sent to the floor then.

Fulbright said the report would clarify whether the treaty's Article VI requires this country to seek immediate talks with the Soviet Union on nuclear disarmament and whether non-nuclear nations that do not sign are entitled to help in peaceful atomic projects.

Indications were the committee would say "yes" to the first and "no" to the second.

Only approval by the Senate Foreign Relations Committee needed, but the Senate Armed Services Committee has scheduled hearings for tomorrow into military aspects of the pact.

The committee, chaired by Mississippi Democrat John Stennis, has become a focal point for what little opposition there appears to be to the treaty.

Among opponents are Republicans John Tower of Texas, Barry Goldwater of Arizona and Strom Thurmond of South Carolina, plus Democrat Richard Russell of Georgia.

The opposition is centered mainly on the lack of enforcement procedures for the treaty.

Reds Push Within 15 Miles Of Saigon

SAIGON (AP) — More than 1,000 Viet Cong and North Vietnamese pushed to within 15 miles of Saigon today, seized a group of refugee villages in Bien Hoa and fought their way to the edge of the busiest American air base in South Vietnam on the fourth day of the enemy offensive.

Early tonight U.S. and South Vietnamese forces were still trying to root out the stubborn enemy soldiers who withstood five assaults by South Vietnamese rangers and deadly rocket and machine-gun fire from American helicopter gunships.

Across South Vietnam, the Communist command intensified its offensive. Its troops pounded more than 50 towns and allied base with rockets mortars and ground attacks last night and today.

The heaviest enemy thrusts hit the sprawling American military complex at Bien Hoa Long Binh, a cluster of air bases, major supply depots and the tactical operations center for the Third Military Corps; and Cu Chi, the biggest American infantry base in the arc north of Saigon.

Allied spokesmen said more than 3,000 enemy troops had been killed since the offensive began Sunday, but American and South Vietnamese casualties also were soaring. On both sides they appeared to be the heaviest since the enemy offensives last February and last May.

South Vietnamese military headquarters said 417 government troops had been killed 1,383 wounded and 60 were missing. There was no complete count of American casualties, but U.S. spokesmen said more than 200 American troops had been killed and several hundred wounded.

Civilian casualties jumped to nearly 200 dead and more than 500 wounded after delayed reports told of a North Vietnamese attack on a government refugee village in the Central Highlands in which at least 78 civilians were killed and 100 were wounded.

Allied spokesmen reported more than 1,000 enemy troops killed during the past 24 hours.

New Rice President Bows, Resigns Post

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Dr. William Masterson, newly appointed president of Rice University, became a victim of the current wave of campus unrest as he bowed today to student-faculty protesters and resigned before ever taking the post.

About 1,000 of the 2,900 students and 200 faculty member at the Houston, Tex., school massed last Saturday to protest an alleged breach of agreement by the university trustees in selecting Masterson.

They charged the Rice trustees picked Masterson without consulting with a nine-member student-faculty presidential recommendation committee even through such consultation had been agreed upon.

Masterson, 54, told the truestees that to accept the presidency would "create unnecessary dissension" in view of the controversy over the method of his selection. He will continue in his present post as president of the University of Chattanooga in Tennessee.

Elsewhere there were these developments:

WILEY COLLEGE, Marshall, Tex.—President T. Winston Cole ordered the 750-student Methodist Negro college closed after students barricaded buildings for the second time in 10 days.

The demonstrators were demanding Cole's resignation, more Negro faculty members and cafeteria workers and restoration of intercollegiate athletics.

STILLMAN COLLEGE Tuscaloosa, Ala.—The number of students locked in the union building dwindled to 25 after the administration took no drastic action to have them removed. The 800-student predominantly Negro college was closed in the face of sit-ins backing a list of demands.

PENNSYLVANIA STATE UNIVERSITY, University Park, Pa.—About 500 students demonstrated for the second day in a row pressing demands for a greater voice in university affairs and more Negro students and professors.

RUTGERS UNIVERSITY, Newark N.J.—Officials said they would respond today to demands made by 30 Negro students who have occupied the major classroom building since Monday. Students from several other schools came to picket in support of the dissident group.

PRINCETON UNIVERSITY—Negro students urged a support for a one-day class boycott to protest the university's investments in companies which have business dealings with the Republic of South Africa.

At Claremont two bombs exploded at two of the Claremont Colleges late yesterday, injuring a young woman employee and causing light damage to the building.

Officers said Mary N. Keating, 20, was injured when she picked up a bomb which had arrived in the mail at Carnegie Hall, Pomona College's administration building. It blew up, severely injuring her right hand and burning her face. She may lose the hand, authorities said.

The other explosion went off minutes later in a restroom at Valch Hall dormitory on the Scripps College campus, police said. No one was injured.

Police said they had no suspects.

Runoff Is Forced For Miller Seat

MARTINEZ (AP) — Republican John Nejedly was the top vote getter in yesterday's special state Senate election to fill the vacancy created by the death of Democrat George Miller Jr.

But the Contra Costa County district attorney failed to get a majority of the votes and will have to face the top Democrat in a runoff.

With 67,971 votes counted, Nejedly had 25,962. His closest rival, Democrat George Miller III, 23, had 14,757. Young Miller is the son of the late state senator.

Next in the voting came two more Democrats. Supervisor Tom Coll, 47, Concord, had 8,268, and Walnut Creek banker Forney H. (Pete) Stark, 39, had 9,763. None of the other 11 candidates on the ballot had over 1,000 votes.

More than 700 special honors and awards, including about 200 medals, were conferred on Herbert Hoover during his lifetime.

G.M. Plans To Recall 4.9 Million Vehicles

DETROIT (UPI) — General Motors Corp. announced today it plans to recall 4.9 million cars and trucks, including 2.4 million 1965 through 1968 model Chevrolets in which exhaust fumes could enter the passenger compartment.

It was the biggest recall ever announced.

"The possible entry of exhaust emissions into certain of the Chevrolet models involved occurs only when the exhaust pipe is substantially out of design position or deteriorated from use," G.M. said.

The 2.4 million Chevrolets included certain Biscayne, Bel Air, Impala and Caprice models for the years 1965 through 1968, and 38,000 of this year's models with optional 350 cubic inch engines.

The recall of the other 2.5 million 1968 and 1969 Chevrolets, Pontiacs, Oldsmobiles, Buicks, Cadillacs and GMC trucks were to replace a part in a four-barrel Quadra-Jet carburetor.

G.M. said there were reported cases in which exhaust fumes "were claimed to be entering the cars." The carburetor part failed in 48 cases, GM said.

G.M. said exhaust could enter the passenger compartments of the 2.4 million Chevrolets only if three conditions existed—"a neglected exhaust system, the development of a nearby body opening and a negative air pressure in the interior."

"However, to prevent the possibility of such entry, G.M. dealers will reseal the nearby body joints and replace a drain plug in the body which was used to remove the surplus of bonderizing solution during manufacture," G.M. said.

The recall campaign was more than double the size of any such campaign previously announced. From September of 1966 until today, G.M. had recalled 2.7 million vehicles.

G.M emphasized that "very few" of the cars being recalled "may be unsafe."

"It is like calling in the haystack to find the needle," the company said. "The very few cases of possible defect which prompted the recall decision are clearly the exceptions, but the G.M. concern for safety and idea of excellence tolerates not even an exception."

G.M. said it would notify owners to return the cars and trucks to dealers for service.

"The replacements and servicing will be made at no cost to the owners," it said.

The carburetor failure "could cause the carburetor throttle to stick in a partially open position," G.M. said.

"The defect in the Quadra-Jet carburetor may occur in a small part known as the fast-idle cam," it said. "Experience indicates that, after the carburetor has been operated for an extended period, the cam may crack and ultimately break apart."

Sniffles May Delay Launch Of Apollo 9

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — All three crew members of the Apollo 9 mission developed mild sore throats and nasal condition today and the space agency said the ailments could cause a day or two delay in Friday's scheduled launching. (See also Apollo feature, page 34.)

Doctors reported that Air Force Cols. James A. McDivitt and David R. Scott and civilian astronaut Russell L. Schweikart reported the sicknesses this morning. Officials said their conditions will be observed carefully throughout the day and that a decision on a launch time would be made tomorrow.

Presently, the Apollo 9 mission is to lift off at 8 a.m. PST Friday. The three astronauts are to circle the earth for 10 days to prove the flight worthiness of the lunar excursion module (LEM) vehicle designed to land two men on the moon.

Dr. Charles A. Berry, director of medical operations for the Space Agency, will make a recommendation on whether the launching should be delayed for medical reasons after examining the astronauts tomorrow morning.

Pleasure Faire Asks For Repeat

Ronald Patterson of Los Angeles, who has sponsored the Elizabethan Pleasure Faire in Santa Venetia the last two years, is making plans for a repeat performance in September.

On Friday at 11 a.m., he will ask County Zoning Administrator Thomas E. Cordill for a use permit to sponsor the fair during the four weekends in September. The fair was held three weekends last year.

The location is off North San Pedro Road, north of China Camp, in wooded hills owned by the Ny-Cal Industrial Corp. of San Francisco. The fair features crafts, music, food and entertainment of the Elizabethan period.

FATAL

driving behind Johnson, estimated his speed at 35 to 50 miles an hour in the 25 m.p.h. zone. The car stopped 614 feet from the first impact point.

Johnson had received a citation just an hour earlier from Novato police for driving 70 in a 50 MPH zone of Highway 101.

Mederous told the highway patrol Johnson was "getting on it pretty good" in second gear when the wheels broke traction and the car hit the center island.

Miss Wright's death was the fourth traffic fatality in Marin this year. There had been one by this date last year.

Miss Wright, a junior at San Marin High School, had lived all her life in Marin. She is survived by her mother, Shirley F. Wright of Novato; a sister, Cindy Wright of Novato; three brothers, Howard L. Wright, a Coast Guardsman in San Diego, and Kevin H. and Matthew Wright of Novato.

Funeral will be at 11 a.m. Friday at Good Shepherd Lutheran Church, Novato. Burial will be at Golden Gate National Cemetery, Colma. Friends may call at Keaton's Chapel of Marin, Novato, until 10:45 a.m. Friday.

Boy, 15, Cited Over Marijuana

A 15-year-old Kentfield boy whose mother called the sheriff's department because she suspected he was using marijuana has been cited to Marin Juvenile Hall.

Deputies said they found several partially smoked marijuana cigarettes and a plastic bag of the weed in the youth's room Monday after the mother admitted them to the house.

The boy, who arrived home while the officers were in his room, said he had taken the marijuana from his older brother, who now faces drug charges.

Takes No Action

Sausalito School District trustees, meeting in closed session last night to discuss the rehiring of an administrative employee, took no action, but may later in open session, reported Supt. Philip W. Schneider.

NIXON

and in later discussion the United States will support Germany in its negotiations over Berlin.

Nixon told the Bundestag that he wanted to speak of the "principles and ideals that will continue to bind us together in the years ahead."

His address, added unexpectedly to a heavy schedule after afternoon sessions with Kiesinger, was broadcast nationwide by German television.

Nixon said that, in addition to being bound together in the Western alliance, Germany and the United States were "bound together, too, by the economic factors that two great and productive peoples have produced in our two countries."

"We know," Nixon said, "that a strong and productive German economy is essential for a strong free world economy just as is a strong economy in the United States."

The President said that, as a person who began his political career as a congressman and served for four years in the Senate and eight as vice president, "there will be no greater honor than the one I have today to address my fellow legislators."

He visibly enjoyed the good-natured response he drew from the legislators on his references to his political life.

A German government spokesman said Nixon told Kiesinger he will make his trip to West Berlin tomorrow not as a provocation but to show the United States is standing by Berlin, whatever the West German government decides to do about holding its disputed presidential election there next Wednesday.

It was widely assumed the two statesmen also discussed the diplomatic hassle between President Charles de Gaulle of France and Prime Minister Harold Wilson of Britain concerning the future of the Common Market and the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

The spokesman said Nixon expressed the view the difficulties in Europe were transient and "no critical situation had arisen."

Kiesinger, in turn, agreed that exaggeration should be avoided and there was no reason for hectic reaction. He said a united Europe was the aim of Bonn's policies and differences over methods and form of this unity were secondary.

Most newsmen at the briefing took these remarks to refer to the French-British quarrel.

Reed School Improvements Win Approval

Reed School District trustees last night authorized improvements in Reed School up to $34,000, Supt. H. Joe Edgington reported.

Trustees asked Edgington to prepare bid documents for new carpeting, portable cabinets, classroom furniture, minor remodeling and painting.

The project will be financed by the $1.6 million bond issue of 1967, Edgington said.

In an economy move, trustees voted to discontinue the $15,000-a-year director of research post authorized two years ago.

The board discussed hiring Charles L. Jenks, present research director, in the fall on an hourly salary basis to complete research projects now underway, but took no action, Edgington said.

A request by the county auditor to adjust the district's unsecured property tax rate was postponed for further study.

sisted they would have to study the bill further before deciding how they would vote on it.

Petris' bill would keep BCDC going until a regional government is established to take over its functions. The commission is to go out of business late this year under current law.

"It is now up to the public to fight for it," Petris said of his bill when he introduced it.

Edwin Drechsel Sued For Divorce

Belvedere City Councilman Edwin J. Drechsel, 54, has been sued for divorce in Marin Superior Court by his wife of 26 years, Mary Alice, who charged cruelty.

Drechsel is also an editor of U. S. News and World Report.

The family home is at 316 San Rafael Avenue, Belvedere.

Mrs. Drechsel asked interim support of $1.200 a month for herself and a daughter, Barbara Ann, 19. There is also a son, John M., who is 24.

Mrs. Drechsel also asked a share of an unknown amount of community property.

Nixon Picks Morton As Party Boss

WASHINGTON (AP) — The White House said today that President Nixon will recommend the selection of Rep. Rogers C. B. Morton of Maryland as the new chairman of the Republican National Committee.

The administration's communications director, Herbert Klein, made the announcement.

Klein also said that Murray Chotiner, the Los Angeles attorney prominently mentioned for the No. 2 position on the GOP committee "will not serve at the national committee."

Klein said Chotiner's decision to bow out of contention for a committee post was by "mutual agreement" between Chotiner and Morton.

Morton was said to have told White House aides he would not agree to take the post as chairman if Chotiner were to become executive director and thus in effect direct the committee's organizational and other operations.

Reported plans to name Chotiner to a top post also were given as a reason for the resignation last week of Ray C. Bliss of Akron, Ohio, as national chairman.

Bliss directed the committee during Nixon's successful campaign for the nomination and the election. He took over the post after the 1964 defeat of the GOP presidential ticket headed by Sen. Barry Goldwater, and was credited with building up the party toward its triumph last year.

basic issues were Dumke's alleged failure to communicate and consult with faculty.

Dumke said yesterday he had no comment on the faculty referendum. Last year, he said he had worked to win better pay and working conditions for faculty members.

Meriam reported that "the board supports the chancellor" but he said no vote was taken on Dumke during a closed session, which the chancellor was asked to leave.

A reporter asked Meriam if the board was happy with Dumke.

"We're not going to poll the board at this time on happiness with the chancellor," Meriam replied.

He was asked if Dumke's job was in danger. "Not as of today," Meriam said. "There's no guaranteed tenure with any chancellor any more than there is with any president of a university," he said.

In reply to another question about board oppostition to Dumke, Meriam said trustees spent "several minutes" discussing support of the chancellor.

Meriam noted that only a minority of college faculty members was on record against Dumke. But he said a vote of all faculty could well carry the same results.

"We're not trying to interpret the numbers so far as the board of trustees is concerned," Meriam said. But he added that there is question whether faculty voted more to oppose Dumke or to support their own Academic Senate.

Rescue On For Downed Fliers

LEMOORE, Calif. (UPI) — Rescue operations began at dawn today for two Lemoore Naval Air Station fliers whose prop-driven A1E Skyraider crashed in the snow-covered Sierra near Mount Whitney yesterday while on a search for another downed plane.

The pilots, who suffered only minor injuries, were identified as Lt. Cmdr. G. W. Lubbers, Lemoore, and Lt. J. R. McDaniel, Hanford.

They were participating in a search for a TA4 Skyhawk jet trainer which was believed to have crashed in Eastern Tulare County Monday.

An Air Force paramedic jumped from a helicopter last night from Edwards AFB into the area of the second crash with medical supplies and equipment.

He removed the two pilots from their craft and set up a shelter for protection from the 50 knot winds.

to ourselves here. We have to talk to those who voted 'no' by not voting."

One resident said the board "could continue bond issues from now until breakfast but until it gives people the answers they're looking for," they aren't going to pass.

Mrs. Max Thelen Jr. of 199 Mountain View Avenue suggested that the district consult with those who opposed the bond measure and ask them to participate.

Plank outlined the four choices before the board: maintain the present bond proposal and call for another election in June; authorize building the first phase of the Glenwood Middle School with existing bond funds, $428,000; operate a middle school, sixth, seventh and eighth grades, at Davidson Junior High School on double session; extended the school year to 12 months.

Board members agreed that the middle school concept, which would take sixth graders out of elementary schools, should be started this fall by having two sessions at Davidson Junior High School.

Plank explained that this would eliminate portable classrooms and relieve the load at neighborhood elementary schools. There could be up to 600 pupils accommodated at each session, he said.

The disadvantages would be a shorter school day, reduced activities and higher transportation costs, he said.

"We have to do something this fall anyway," said Board Member John C. Pfeiffer. "I don't think we should postpone the middle school concept."

McMullen strongly opposed building only phase one of a Glenwood Middle School which would consist of the central facilities such as the library and result in housing pupils in portable classrooms.

There was no board comment on the plan to have year-round school, which was expected to bring strong protests from parents, but one resident felt it would have value as a scare.

Board members called for the county counsel's office to draw up a resolution calling for the bond election in June.

The YES committee is scheduled to make its recommendation on the election proposal at the board's next meeting March 11.

If it is determined an election isn't feasible, it can be cancelled, Plank said. If board action is required before then to qualify for a June election before school closes, there will be a special board session, Plank noted.

warranted recognition to a teachers' union.

Reagan declared "no one was authorized" to negotiate the agreement, and the proposal would constitute the union as a bargaining agent for the faculty although it only has about 300 members of the school's 1,100 teachers.

Acting President S. I. Hayakawa warned that campus troubles could continue "because the students are going to feel the teachers have sold out."

The trustees' Faculty and Staff Affairs Committee had voted to accept new procedures for faculty discipline proposed by the Academic Senate, which may become part of a settlement with striking teachers.

Trustees yesterday discussed methods to find out when faculty members are absent from their classes without autorization.

The teachers continued their strike today while waiting to learn whether trustees will approve a proposed settlement.

The proposed pact stipulates that teachers, who struck Jan. 6, would not return to classes unless a "peaceful and free academic atmosphere prevails on the campus."

OBITUARIES

Gordon H. Fernald Dies At 86

Gordon H. Fernald of Mill Valley died yesterday at a local convalescent hospital following a short illness. He was 86.

Fernald died shortly after he had been taken to the hospital for X-rays following a fall in his home. He had been ill for two weeks prior to the accident and death was attributed to natural causes by the Marin County Coroner's Office, pending an autopsy.

Fernald was a native of Massachusetts and lived at 53 Eldridge Avenue.

He is survived by his son, Gordon H. Fernald Jr. of Portland, and two grandchildren.

Funeral will be tomorrow at a time not yet set at the Russell and Gooch Funeral Chapels in Mill Valley. Burial will be at the Montecito Memorial Park in San Bernardino.

EWART G. DICK

Funeral for Ewart Gladstone Dick, a retired Army captain of San Rafael, will be at 2 p.m. tomorrow at the Post Chapel of the Presidio of San Francisco.

Dick, 79, of 305 Vendola Drive, died Sunday in a San Francisco hospital following a long illness.

A native of Jefferson City, Mo., Dick had lived most of his life in Seattle, Wash. He retired from the Army in 1946 and had lived in Marin for 15 years. He was a member of the American Legion in Seattle.

Survivors are his wife, Grace Helen Dick; a daughter, Mrs. Conrad R. Sovig of San Rafael; a son, Ewart Dick of Seattle, and two brothers, Lawson and Gordon Dick of Mississippi.

Memorial contributions may be made to the Heart Fund.

DOUGLAS F. OBEE

M/Sgt. Douglas F. Obee, 54, of 651 Louise Avenue, Novato, died yesterday in a local hospital of an apparent heart attack.

A native of the Panama Canal Zone, he had served in the Armed Forces for 24 years prior to retiring in 1959 at Hamilton Air Force Base.

He is survived by his wife, Fern O. Obee of the home; a daughter, Mrs. Susan Southwick of Katmandu, Nepal; his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Floyd P. Obee of Portland, Ore., and a sister, Mrs. Jane Weisgerber of Puerto Vallerta, Mexico.

Funeral will be at 2 p.m. Friday in the Protestant chapel at Hamilton Air Force Base. Interment will be at Mount Tamalpais Cemetery in San Rafael.

whereby Arques will remove all decking from Dock No. 1 along Sonoma Street within 60 days at his expense. The piers and pilings will remain.

The agreement, worked out by Deputy County Counsel Joseph A. Forest and Arques' attorney David B. Gold, also calls for removal of electrical violations and other structures encroaching on public streets.

On Dock No. 2, near Waldo Street, the permanent dock will remain but the fingers will be removed. What was previously described as a "piledriver" on Humboldt Street will be removed to private property by Arques. It turned out to be, not a piledriver, but an A-frame lighter.

Forest said Dock No. 2 will continue to have electrical service, but service will be disconnected from Dock No. 1

Several houseboat residents who live along Dock No. 1 complained they have no place to live if electricity is cut off.

Supervisors said they would have to consult with Arques to see what arrangements can be made for electricity.

"This takes care of all violations on the Arques property," Forest announced. "We will dismiss all legal actions pending against him."

Fund-Raising Dance Slated On March 8

Final plans were made last night by the San Anselmo Parks and Recreation Commission for a fund-raising dance to be held at 7:30 p.m., March 8 at the Robson-Harrington Park mansion at 237 Crescent Road.

Commission Chairman Robert England reported that funds from the invitational dance will be used to furnish the newly-acquired park building. Music is by the Bill Elliott band.

Better School Nurse Pay Under Discussion

A deviation from the salary schedule policy was discussed yesterday by the salary negotiation panel of San Anselmo School District to make the district nurse eligible for higher pay.

Supt. Stephen L. Parodi said that Mrs. Opal Torrance, school nurse, cannot move up on the salary schedule now

She has many college credit units above the required 120 for a bachelor of arts degree but they are not the right ones, said Parodi. If such deviation were approved by the board, it would allow Mrs. Torrance to be raised from her current salary of $8.122 annually to $10.057 under the present schedule.

The panel took no action on this or other matters discussed yesterday.

Mrs. Beverly Ludwig, teacher chairman of the negotiational group, said she felt the article in the Feb. 19 Independent-Journal gave a higher percentage of proposed teacher pay hike than will be the case.

(The report said teachers were asking for an approximately 20 per cent increase. Teachers, now paid $891,338, are to be paid $1,093,361.)

Mrs. Ludwig told the panel the raise will not be that high, considering that some teachers will be leaving and those coming in to replace them will come in at a lower pay scale.

A report will be made on the panel discussion at the March 4 board meeting Parodi said.

At that time, according to Paroid, Trustee Franklin C. Latcham plans to ask that a closed session be set with the board's negotiating committee in order to furnish guidelines for the committee.

Latcham, a member of the board's committee, was present at yesterday's meeting but the other trustee member, Elmer A. Weden Jr., was absent. Four teacher-negotiators were present

Guilty Plea In Check Case

A 23-year-old Canadian, who police officers said had a system for swindling banks, pleaded guilty Monday to two charges of passing forged checks. Two other counts were dismissed by the district attorney's office

Ronald Victory MacWillians was ordered to return to Marin Superior Court Monday.

He was accused of swindling four banks in San Rafael and San Anselmo of $1,000 each.

Nuclear Pact Gets Senate Panel Nod

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Foreign Relations Committee approved by a 14-0 vote today the treaty designed to prevent the spread of nuclear weapons.

Chairman J. W. Fulbright said he expected a report on the action would be completed by March 6 and the treaty then sent to the floor for a vote.

'Oakland 7' Prosecution Rests Case

I-J Special Report

OAKLAND — The prosecution ended its case against the "Oakland Seven" yesterday with the introduction of contested photographs allegedly showing demonstrators "obstructing police" during antidraft demonstrations in October 1967.

Charles Garry, attorney for the seven men accused of felony conspiracy to get others to commit misdemeanors, missed the last hour of questioning yesterday after he was stricken in the Alameda County Superior Court room with a severe case of indigestion.

Before he became ill, Garry objected to the photographs because they show demonstrators allegedly obstructing traffic, not obstructing police. Prosecuting attorneys argued that since it is the duty of a police officer to keep traffic open, the conduct was designed to obstruct an officer.

The trial was adjourned until tomorrow when Garry is expected to be back in court to move for dismissal of the felony conspiracy charges, contending that a conspiracy has not been proven.

Among the seven on trial is Michael J. Smith, a former Corte Madera resident.

Sonoma, Marin Face Regional Plan Cuts

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — Legislation to set up a regional government in the Bay Area, to be unveiled Monday, will eliminate major chunks of several of the nine counties in the area, including part of Marin and Southern Sonoma counties, it was learned yesterday.

The staff of the Joint Legislative Committee on Bay Area Regional Organization (BARO) proposed in December that the regional government cover all territory within the nine counties, but the bill being drawn by the committee's chairman, Assemblyman John T. Knox, D-Richmond, will be based on the watershed boundaries of the Bay Area Regional Water Quality Control Board, the Independent-Journal was told by a Knox aide.

In Marin, the northwest section of the county above Marshall would not be included in the Knox bill, and the boundary would cross Sonoma County just south of Cotati.

The northern sections of Napa and Solano counties, and the eastern portions of Contra Costa and Alameda counties also will be excluded from the proposed regional government. Only San Francisco would be totally included.

The boundary changes were designed to eliminate opposition to the bill from remote areas which do not consider themselves immediately concerned with Bay Area problems, according to Knox's aide.

The Knox bill, as proposed by the BARO staff, will provide that the regional government be set up only if approved by the voters in a referendum at the 1970 primary election, the aide reported.

Gov. Ronald Reagan, he noted, has seen the proposed legislation, and his only comment was to insist that it include the provision to put the proposal to a vote of the people.

Many proponents of regional government have objected to a referendum on the ground that the proposal is too complicated to be left to the judgment of the voters. Regional government proposals generally have been defeated when put to a referendum.

15 Per Cent Pay Boost Plea Likely

The Petaluma Board of Education went behind closed doors last night to hear Supt. Lesly H. Meyer report that the Association of Petaluma Area Teachers may request a 15 per cent wage increase package.

George W. Castleberry, business manager of the Petaluma schools, said negotiations have not gone far enough to determine how much the request would cost the districts.

Castleberry said that a 5 per cent salary increase would mean $180,000 in additional costs. The present teachers' payroll amounts to $3,648,000.

He said it is also impossible to determine if a tax rate increase would be necessary to meet the requests. He noted that the high school district has some taxing power remaining, but any tax increase for the elementary district would have to be put to a vote.

The teachers' association met Monday at Petaluma Senior High School with members of the negotiating committee and heard that the requested increase will include a salary raise and finance a larger teaching staff to reduce class size.

Lens Svinth, negotiations committee chairman, told the teachers he felt 5 per cent of the increase should go toward hospital and medical insurance for teachers to make it tax free.

Svinth said the committee feels that 5 per cent should go to salary increases and told the teachers they rank 86th in pay among the Bay Area districts. He said the committee is hoping that 5 per cent of the increased funds will be supplied by the state with the district paying the remaining 10 per cent out of the $310,000 in reserve funds.

Negotiations between the teachers' committee and Meyer will continue for two more weeks. On March 10 the committee will present the district's offer at an association meeting and recommend either acceptance or rejection.

The education board is scheduled to take action on the salary request at the March 11 meeting.

The Petaluma Board of Education also:

SCHEDULING — Heard reports from staff members of Petaluma Senior High and Rancho Cotate High on plans to offer a more flexible class schedule for the 1969-70 year.

APPOINTED — Named Thomas R. Goff of Rohnert Park to the Northern Area Advisory Committee.

RESIGNATION — Accepted the resignation of Mrs. Elra Gullicksrud as kindergarten teacher at Grant School for family reasons.

EMPLOYED — Hired Alberta Carter as a kindergarten teacher at Grant School for $2,118 and Richard Glover as industrial arts teacher at Kenilworth Junior High School for $3,148.

BUDGET — Heard report that the preliminary budget for the 1969-70 year will be presented at the March 25 board meeting.

Donation To Help Boys' Club Gym

Construction of the gymnasium at the Petaluma Boys' Club, which has been stymied by a lack of funds, will be resumed soon, according to Daniel Libarle, president.

He said the resumed construction was made possible by a gift of $3,200 by the Petaluma Leghorns, a now defunct semi-professional football team that played only for charity.

Libarle said the Leghorns, which stopped play in 1965, had the money remaining unused in the treasury. He said in 22 years of play, the team donated nearly $30,000 to charity.

The funds will be used to purchase laminated beams which will permit construction of the roof. The foundation and walls have been completed for nearly six months.

Although the Leghorns' gift will not finance the entire project, Libarle said the club still hopes to have the gymnasium completed by September when school opens.

Since the club requested financial assistance from the community last December, nearly $7,000 has been received. Libarle said a major portion of that amount has been used to pay old bills.

Knowledge Of Strike Admitted

I-J Special Report

FORT IRWIN — The Army knew of plans for a sitdown strike at the Presidio of San Francisco stockade last Oct. 14, but released prisoners from their cells anyway because it did not believe the prisoners would mutiny that day, a sergeant testified yesterday in the mutiny trial of one of 27 men accused after the strike.

The seriousness of the charge and its penalty yesterday prompted Charles E. Goodell, R-N.Y., to ask Army Secretary Stanley R. Resor for a complete report on the mutiny charges.

Goodell said he was also concerned about the stockade conditions which precipitated the demonstration and the basis for denying prisoner requests for press interviews.

In the second day of the court-martial of Pfc. John Colip, 20, of Sacramento, yesterday, Military Police Sgt. Terry Rains admitted under cross examination he had advance knowledge of the plans. He said the prisoners would not have been released if he had known they were going to mutiny.

Colip is the fourth soldier to face trial on the mutiny charge. Three others have been convicted and sentenced to 14, 15 and 16 years at hard labor.

Two of the 27 escaped from the stockade last Dec. 24. One of the escapees was Pvt. Keith Mather, one of the Marin City Nine who chained themselves to clergymen in an antiwar protest at St. Andrew Presbyterian Church in Marin City.

Twenty-one other men are awaiting trial.

Cotati School Board Seeking To Fill A Seat

Cotati School District trustees last night began the search to replace Trustee Robert W. Waldron who resigned Feb. 11 after 13 years on the board.

The board requested suggestions from citizens of Cotati and Rohnert Park, the citizen's advisory committee and Parent-Teacher Associations.

Waldron's term expires in June 1971. The board has until mid-April to appoint his successor.

The Cotati School District trustees also:

FURNITURE — Called for bids for furniture for the new Thomas Page School, to be opened at the March 25 meeting.

SCHOOL SITE — Received recommendation from the Sonoma County Planning Commission that the board consider purchase in the B-section of Rohnert Park for the next school site.

BUS — Heard a report from Supt. Duncan Coleman that an additional bus might be needed by September, to bus students from the over-crowded Waldo Rohnert School to the Cotati school.

RENTAL — Heard a report that administrators are talking with Norman Spivock on the possibility of renting classroom space above the present district administration offices. Coleman said three or four classes could be held there.

Pittsburg Schools Tax Hike Loses Again

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — For the second time in four months, voters in the Pittsburg Unified School District yesterday turned down a proposed $1 tax increase on the current $3 rate.

School officials had said unless the measure passed operations would be "curtailed drastically." The vote was 2,971 to 2,540.

Sounds ridiculous, doesn't it?

But what if everybody in this country were to throw their hands up in despair and say they don't give a hoot.

Indeed, there would be no tomorrow.

But fortunately, Americans have a way of solving their problems.

And that's just what's going to happen in these troubled times. Simply because it's always been an American tradition.

Now, how can you, as one little ole citizen in this big, wide country of ours, be of any help?

Well, take a minute and think about a U.S. Savings Bond.

That's right, a U.S. Savings Bond.

No, it isn't an immediate remedy for all our ills. But it helps.

If everybody were to buy just one $25.00 Savings Bond (cost $18.75), your country would be stronger economically to wipe out some of those scars we've been sporting.

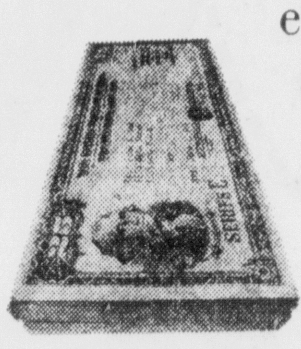
Of course, everybody would be helping themselves, too. If you were to sign up on a Bond purchase plan where you work or bank, you'd have quite a nice nest egg for yourself one of these days.

You'd have a lot more dollars in the kitty for things like college educations, that new home, or a secure retirement.

So think about a U.S. Savings Bond today.

And then go out and buy one.

Tomorrow.



If they're lost, stolen, or destroyed, we replace 'em.

Garden Trash Proposed For Land Restoring

The Marin Conservation League has suggested that garden trash, which will come under a burning ban at the end of the year, be used to build land or houses.

The league, in a letter to county supervisors and mayors of Marin cities, proposed that chopped, stacked and treated garden cuttings could be a "great source of compost available to the county for recreation of our lands."

Not only could the cuttings be used for compost but they might be pressed into building panels which the league describes as "light, insulative and acoustical," or into hardboard panels. Use of cuttings to make hardboard panels would reduce the pressure to cut down trees, the league suggests.

Another possible compost use would be to burn cuttings to generate electricity, suggests the letter signed by league president Harold E. Gregg of Forest Knolls.

The league agreed with the aim of the Bay Area Air Pollution Control District in imposing the ban to cut smog, the letter says, but believes that some "coordinated" plan is necessary to dispose of wastes previously burned, noting the "extensive gardens" in Marin.

Hiring Promise For At Least 125 Positions

Business representatives told a meeting of welfare mothers and unemployed persons in San Rafael Monday night that they would hire a substantial number of persons out of a proposed skills center in Marin County.

Earl O'Grady, representing the Pacific Telephone Co., said the utility would create up to 125 positions for the hard core unemployed in Marin this year, according to David Rollison, a community worker for the Marin County Economic Opportunity Council, which arranged the meeting in the county courthouse.

Representatives of the Pacific Gas and Electric Co. and McGraw-Hill Book Co. also said their companies would do a "fair share" of hiring from the skills center.

Thomas Henderson of URS Systems Inc. of Palo Alto, management consultants, told the meeting his firm would help EOC set up the center.

Felony Charges To Be Reduced

The district attorney's office has decided that the theft of an adding machine from a San Rafael service station by two men—whom blood tests showed to be extremely intoxicated—was more in the nature of petty theft than armed robbery.

Felony charges were dropped Monday against Douglas Rice, 26, of Sebastopol, and Robert John Marlowe, 31, of San Francisco, who allegedly knocked down a service station attendant and took an adding machine on Jan. 24.

The pair will be charged with petty theft, according to Deputy District Attorney Ernest Zunino.

Sausalitan Bound Over On Car Theft

A 20-year-old Sausailto man was bound over to Marin Superior Court Monday on his third charge of car theft within a year.

Held to answer for stealing a car in San Rafael on Jan. 2 was Hans Von Atzigen of 317 First Street. Von Atzigen was recently released from jail after serving a six-month stentence for stealing two cars.

Approve Contract

Almonte Sanitary District directors have authorized the Penetryn Vo. of Menlo Park to inspect district sewer lines by television and leaks at an estimated cost of $625 to $855, board member David J. Beasley reported yesterday.

LEVI ESHKOL
Fatal heart attack

Levi Eshkol, Israeli Chief, Dies At 73

JERUSALEM (AP) — Premier Levi Eshkol, the second man to head Israel's government during the Jewish state's turbulent 21-year life, died today of a heart attack, the government announced. He was 73.

Deputy Premier Yigal Allon is expected to take over the government, possibly remaining at the helm until general elections in November.

But Eshkol's death raised the prospect of intense political rivalry between Allon and Defense Minister Moshe Dayan at a time of grave crisis for Israel, with Arab guerrilla attacks increasing and with such nominal Israeli allies as the United States openly opposed to Israel's policy of retaliation.

Eshkol succeeded David Ben-Gurion as premier in 1963 and headed the government during Israel's lightning victory over the Arab sin the June 1967 war.

He had been ill with pneumonia several times in recent months. On Feb. 3, he collapsed with a heart attack after a crisis shook his cabinet. But his doctor, Prof. Moshe Rachmilewitz, said the premier had recovered completely from the first attack and "yesterday acted as chairman of a ministerial committee."

Rachmilewitz said the second attack occurred about an hour before Eshkol died at his home in Jerusalem at 8:15 a.m. His wife was at his bedside. Four daughters also survive him.

In Damascus, the Al Fatah guerrilla organization claimed Eshkol was fatally injured when Al Fatah commandos made a rocket attack on his country home Monday night.

"This is the most ridiculous and childish announcement that the primitive Fatah propaganda's wild imagination has ever fabricated," said Israeli Foreign Ministry spokesman David Rivlin.

Flash Fire Kills Nine In New York

NEW YORK (AP) — A flash fire raced through a midtown Fifth Avenue office building, late yesterday, killing nine persons and leaving seven others critically burned.

Most of the victims were trapped on the third floor of the five-story building at 48th Street, near Rockefeller Center. Some were jammed in an elevator disabled by the flames and others were piled against a door.

"They were huddled together but you couldn't really see them," said Fireman William Moore. "You could see a hand here and a head there and you grabbed what you could."

Dozens of others scrambled to safety. They ran down smoke-filled stairwells or clambered down aerial ladders while firemen barked orders to prevent panic. Some were carried out by police.

The blaze broke out shortly after 4:30 p.m., apparently in the third-floor offices of architectural designer David Rosen.

Cause was undetermined but Chief John T. O'Hagen said two gallon cans of a flammable liquid were found on the third floor "and we have to assume they contributed to it."

State Garbage Dump Fiscal Aid Proposed

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — A bill appropriating $25 million to the state Department of Public Health to lend to public agencies for garbage and refuse facilities has been introduced by a Los Angeles legislator.

The bill by Sen. Ralph C. Dills, D-Gardena, would earmark the funds for purchasing land and building disposal facilities.

Among the beneficiaries of the bill would be Bay Area cities, counties and special districts, which face a ban on all backyard burning after Dec. 31 of this year. The ban is expected to increase the use of existing dumps, and require development of new ones.

137 Strep Cases Reported Last Week

There were 137 cases of streptococcus infections reported to the Marin County Health Department last week.

Also reported were 32 cases of gonorrhea, seven of infectious hepatitis, two of tuberculosis and one each of meningitis and measles.

Water Rec Bill Revived By McCarthy

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — Legislation to require that recreational uses be considered in state flood control or water conservation programs has been introduced for a second year by Sen. John F. McCarthy, R-San Rafael.

His bill also would authorize the state to help finance recreation facilities in federal projects, and to allocate money to local governments to buy land for recreation. The local governments would develop and operate the recreation facilities under contracts with the Department of Water Resources.

McCarthy won unanimous passage of the same bill in the 1968 session of the Legislature, but the state finance and water resources departments convinced Ronald Reagan to veto it. They said the bill could open the door to new uses of hard-pressed state funds.

Terming their opposition "shortsighted," McCarthy said "the time to build in the conservation and recreation facilities is when the project is being built. To go back and do them later would be much more expensive — so much more, in fact, that there would be a good chance they never would be built, and our number of recreational and conservation facilities would continue to dwindle in relation to our population,' McCarthy said yesterday when he indroduced his bill.

"The average taxpayer, who ultimately foots all the bills, is more interested in reducing the overall cost than he is in avoiding a small increase in a departmental budget which might make such a reduction possible," said McCarthy.

"A bureaucrat in charge of a budget, however, has trouble seeing past the end of his balance sheet," he said.

Year's Probation On Marijuana Count

Patrick E. Pendleton, 20, of San Anselmo, who had admitted selling marijuana in Sausalito last January, was placed on one year's probation Monday and given a 30-day suspended sentence in Marin County Jail.

He was arrested during last February's countywide narcotics roundup.

College Fees Hike Decried

SACRAMENTO — Assemblyman William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael, said yesterdey he opposes proposed increases in fees for students at the University of California and other colleges, but will "reluctantly support" them if no other source of money for new facilities is found.

The increases have been proposed in a bill by Assembly Speaker Robert T. Monagan, R-Tracy, and would range from $24 to $798. They would apply only to students who come from families with more than $10,000 a year gross income, and the mean increase would run about $150 a year, Monagan estimated when he introduced his bill earlier this month.

It would apply to about 70 per cent of the students now attending the university and 60 per cent at the state colleges, he figured.

Bagley termed the proposal "a step backward from the 'free higher education system' we've had in California."

Monagan's proposal is "more fair" than a fee hike affecting all students would be, Bagley said, but he noted that "the middle class these days is taking a beating."

Bagley, chairman of the revenue and taxation committee, to which the Monagan proposal may be referred, said he preferred to finance the need for new educational facilities by a withholding tax, which would produce a "one-time gain" of $400 million to $500 million in the first year because the state would be collecting for two years at one time.

Home-Rule Spending Bill Clears A Hurdle

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — Legislation to permit counties and cities to use money allocated from the state general fund for local purposes at their own discretion yesterday cleared its first hurdle with unanimous approval by the Assembly Revenue and Taxation Committee.

The legislation, affecting some $233 million a year, would implement Proposition 7, which passed on the November general election ballot. The proposition dropped the requirement in the state constitution that certain funds allocated to cities and counties be used only for "state purposes."

The three bills implementing the proposition originally were authored by former Assemblyman John G. Veneman, R-Modesto, who has joined the Nixon administration, and now are sponsored by Assemblyman William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael.

Bagley, stepping down temporarily as chairman of the committee, said the bills were consistent with the home-rule concept that local government should be responsible for its own affairs.

The $233 million comes from cigarette taxes and motor vehicle and trailer coach fees that actually are in lieu of local property taxes, Bagley explained.

One example of the change the bills would permit affects these motor vehicle license fees. Under the present restriction that they be spent only on "state purposes," they can be spent only on major roads or streets. Under the bill, they could be spent as the local government wants.

The committee accepted a proposal by the state Department of Finance that the bills carry a letter stating the Legislature does not intend to add to the funds if counties and cities fail to use the funds to meet state standards on such matters as roads.

Highway 17 Slated For Resurfacing Job

The 2.3 mile section of Highway 17 between the Richmond-San Rafael Bridge and Highway 101 in San Rafael will be resurfaced, the state Division of Highways has reported.

The division has called for bids on the project, to resurface east and westbound lanes and revise signing and lighting as required, to be opened March 26 in Sacramento. A total of $260,000 is available for the project.

Quorum Lacking

The Tiburon Board of Adjustments did not meet last night for lack of a quorum. The meeting has been rescheduled for 8 p.m. today in city hall.

McCarthy Bill Could Bring Dog Races To Civic Center

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — Dog racing might come some day to the Marin County Civic Center fairgrounds, under a bill introduced yesterday by Sen. John F. McCarthy, R-San Rafael.

"There is a tremendous amount of interest in dog racing," he told the Independent-Journal, "not only for the sport, but also because of money the betting would raise for the state."

He estimated the state's annual take from dog racing would be from $15 million to $25 million.

The racing would be permitted at fairgrounds such as the future one at the Civic Center, the California Exposition and at private race tracks.

McCarthy introduced the same bill last year, but it was defeated.

"It's a clean sport," he said of dog racing and betting, "and even could help reduce property taxes."

McCarthy also introduced a bill to increase the pay of the secretary of the California Horse Racing Board from $14,000 to $18,000 a year.

Head-On Crash Injures Drivers

Two drivers were injured in a head-on collision today at 1:41 a.m. on Highway 101 at the Petaluma River overpass, south of Petaluma.

Veronica Preston, 31, of 1276 Berrydale Drive, Petaluma, was reported in satisfactory condition at Hillcrest Hospital with cuts and bruises. Raymond R. Brown, 44, of San Lorenzo, was treated for minor cuts.

The California Highway Patrol said the southbound car driven by Brown crossed into the northbound lane and struck the car driven by Mrs. Preston.

Bagley Tries Again On Ban Of 'Incest'

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — Assemblyman William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael, yesterday introduced legislation to eliminate what he termed "political incest" in local government.

His bill would require that an appointee to any governing body be ineligible to use the term "incumbent" or any comparable designation on the ballot or the ballot position assigned to an incumbent.

A similar bill by Bagely was vetoed without explanation last year by Gov. Ronald Reagan. Small districts, particularly irrigation districts, were known to have lobbyied for its veto. They claimed that they had difficulty getting persons to join their governing boards, and that Bagley's bill would make it harder.

Bagley's new bill would apply the restriction to any appointee joining a board at any time. The only exceptions would be appointees filling seats vacated by death or disability.

Last year, his bill would have applied only to persons appointed within six months of an election.

"It is a much too prevalent practice for members of special districts, including school districts, who do not intend to run for reelection, to resign prior to the end of their term," said Bagley.

"This 'instant incumbency' is oft-times motivated by political considerations," he declared, so the appointee often is a "friend who won't rock the boat."

The practice "subverts the election process," said Bagley, and "has produced an incestual self-perpetuation among many special district boards."

11 Students Get Life Memberships

Eleven San Rafael High School seniors have been awarded life membership in the California Scholarship Federation for their high grades during their high school years.

They are Karen Armington, Terry Castle, Jennifer Davis, Jeff Godwin, Deborah Hoyt, Maggie Joost, Richard Kadel, Johathan Marlowe, Carol Patterson, Deborah Roberts and Linda Soares.

FRESNO FLOODED—Overflow from broken canal banks swirls through northern downtown Fresno, chief city of the San Joaquin Valley. Fresno State College, all public and parochial schools and many business establishments closed their doors yesterday because of flooding. Other valley towns, principally Madera, and Salinas to the west, also had residents fleeing high water.

California Savaged By Weather

persons huddled inside. Seventeen were buried alive.

"I heard the roar of the mudslide coming and then the explosion as the butane tanks went," said Teresa Wilkins, 58, who was atop a fire truck pushed outside by the wall of mud and debris. "It was awful."

The dead were neighbors in the isolated Silverado Canyon 45 miles southeast of Los Angeles. They were among hundreds whose homes were damaged or destroyed by mudslides and flooding rivers after the wettest January and February on record.

Near San Bernardino, an engineer was drowned when carried away by a wash as he tried to help a stalled car.

Two pilots in an AL3 Skyraider plane from Lemoore Naval Air Station near Fresno escaped serious injury when their plane crashed in stormy weather in the Mount Whitney area. The plane was searching for a TA4F missing near Sequoia National Park since Monday.

Marilyn Skates, 26, lived on the edge of the Tujunga Wash. She watched the homes of six neighbors tumble into the raging, 300-foot wide torrent fed by record winter rains.

Her $16,000 home teetered on the brink of the hillside, the water clawing at the sodden earth beneath the foundation.

"Why doesn't it fall into the water like the rest?" she asked. "Go. Go. Go. Fall over," she shouted. "How can a house just stand there like that?"
It went yesterday.

A hillside at Mount Baldy village, east of Los Angeles, gave way yesterday morning and crushed a two-story house. Trapped and killed inside were Denise Stewart, 16; her sister, Ann, 12, and a brother, David, 6.

Their 50-year-old father, Donald James Stewart, dropped dead outside the home of a heart attack.

Gov. Ronald Reagan ordered National Guardsmen to active duty in San Bernardino County to aid in evacuating 300 persons hit by floods and to guard against looting. Armories were opened to house refugees.

Two crocodiles and two hippopotimi broke loose Tuesday from the Africa, U.S.A. wild animal compound in Acton, northeast of Los Angeles. They were last seen making their way down the flood-swollen Santa Clara River.

A spokesman for the compound said the four beasts were considered "extremely dangerous" and that big game hunters would attempt to destroy them from helicopters when the weather breaks.

Farther downstream, the Santa Clara river ripped through its banks and virtually wiped out the Ventura Marina.

Harbor officials estimated that at least 200 small craft including several luxury yachts were sunk. Damage to private property was estimated at $2 million and the loss to boat owners at another $2 million.

The soggy earth, loosened by 23 days of rain since Jan. 23, shifted in many areas, cracking open water and sewer pipes. In Sunland, a 21-inch sewer main broke and disgorged thousands of gallons of waste along a surface street.

Residents of Saugus and the Antelope Valley were advised to boil water before cooking or drinking because of defective fresh water lines.

To the north, hundreds of families were evacuated in the San Joaquin Valley due to flooding. At Salinas officials asked for Army help due to the flood threat.

Even Death Valley, normally arid, reported nearly an inch of rain with all exit roads washed out or covered with debris from cloudbursts.

In neighboring Nevada, many desert areas were blanketed in snow. About 100 travelers were reported snowbound in the old desert mining town of Goldfield. Reno's airport has been closed since Monday.

California's Sierra Nevada was coated with the heaviest snow since 1952 and major routes were closed. A 187 inch snow pack was reported at Soda Springs and authorities warned of avalanche danger, predicting floods from runoff next spring.

At Mammoth Lakes in the Sierra Nevada a lodge operator reported food was running low and danger from fires because equipment was stranded.

While skies cleared over many of the hard-hit areas of Southern California today and fair weather was predicted for tomorrow, the Weather Bureau said there was a good chance of showers again Friday and Saturday.

Southern Pacific crews worked today to restore passenger train service between Northern and Southern California — curtailed for two days from storm damage to tracks. Only S.P. line open out of Los Angeles was to San Diego.

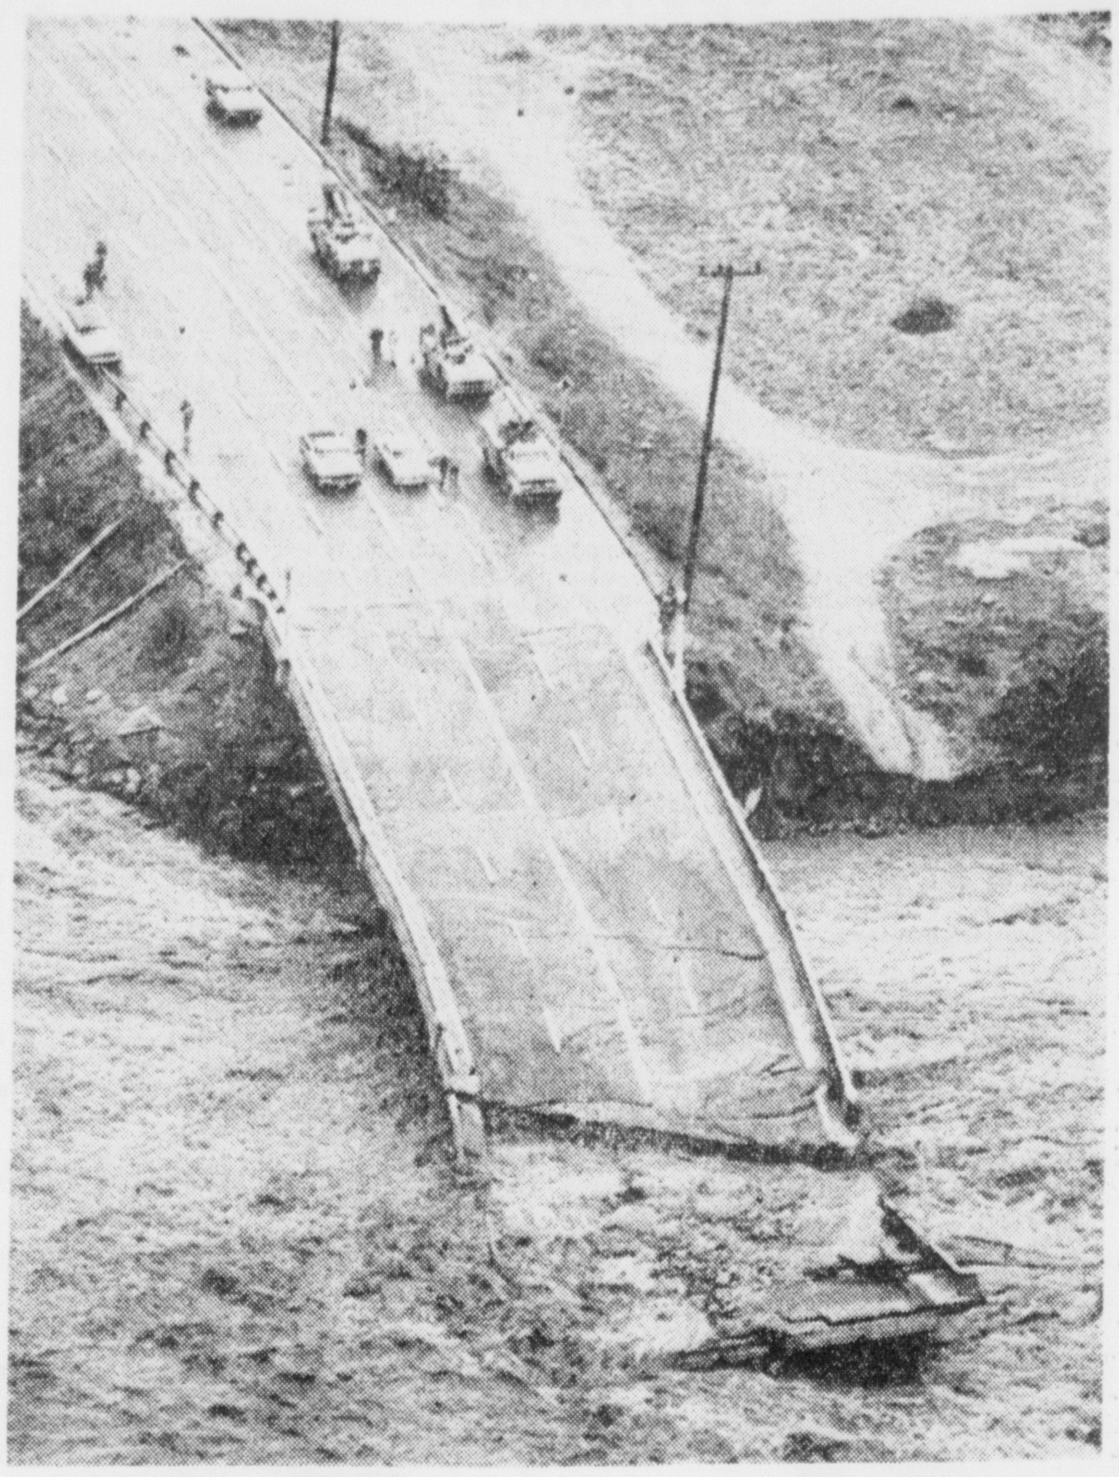
Workmen spent Monday and yesterday clearing mud slides on the coast route near Bradley.

Other crews repaired washouts near Saugus where damage and high water caused the inland Oakland-Los Angeles train to halt yesterday at Fresno.

Passengers were bused from Fresno to Los Angeles.

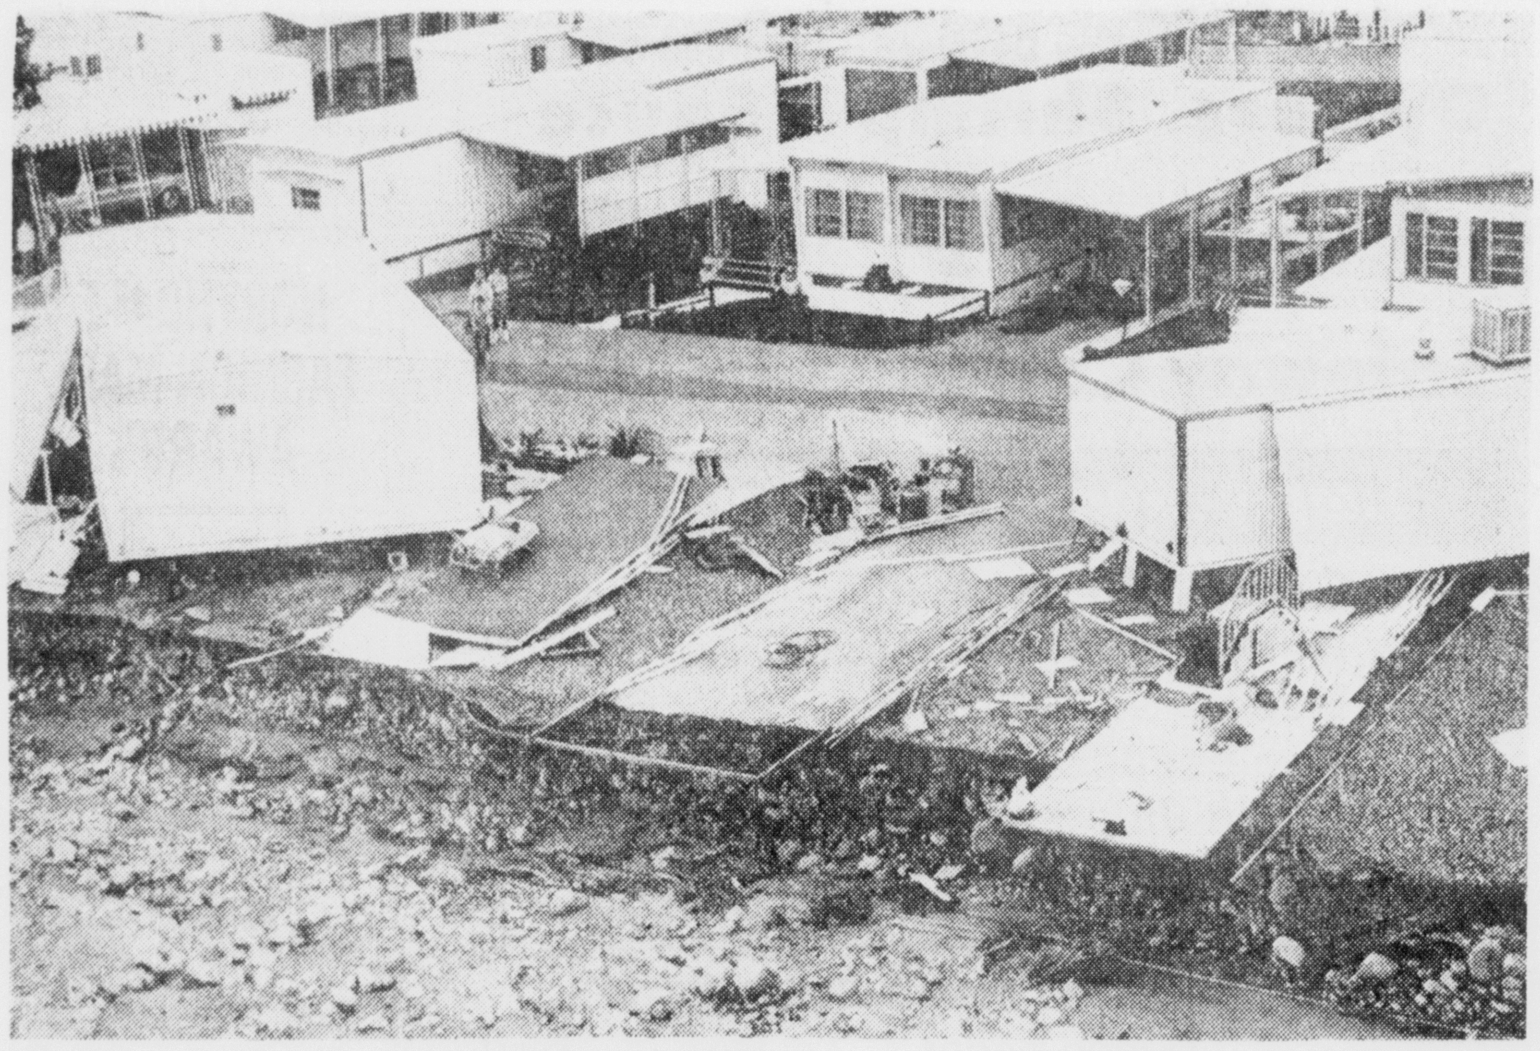
At Barstow, 25 cars of a Santa Fe Railway freight train bound for Bakersfield were derailed last night after a fill under the tracks was weakened by the flooding Mojave River.

None of the six men on the train was reported injured.

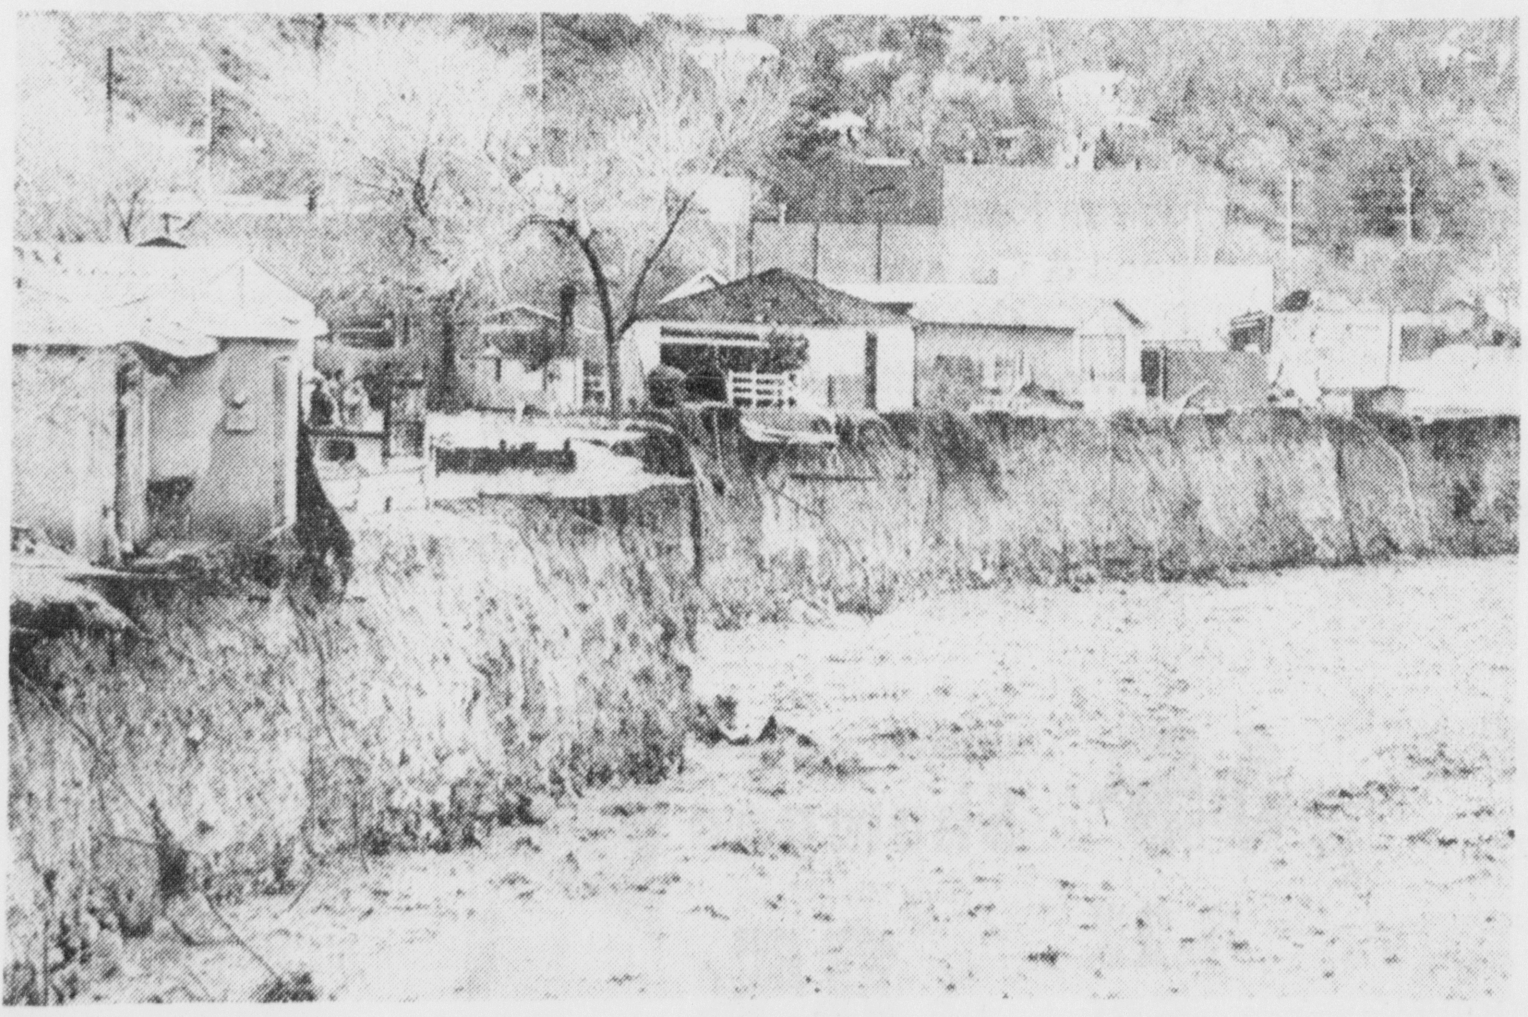


BRIDGE OUT — Rampaging floodwaters in Tujunga Wash have torn away midstream foundations of the Wentworth Street bridge, blocking the thoroughfare. The normally dry drainage channel has trapped cars, swept away houses and drowned at least one person yesterday.

LITTERED PATH TO SAFETY — Residents of Santa Paula, Ventura County, pick their way across a bridge spanning raging Santa Paula Creek. High water earlier yesterday dropped debris onto the span, and forced nearly 4,000 residents to flee their homes.



FLOOD AFTERMATH — Trailer homes in Santa Paula, Ventura County, lie helter skelter along the banks of Santa Paula Creek. Raging waters sweeping through the east side of the town late Monday ripped them from their places and forced evacuation of nearly a third of the town's 18,000 residents.



HOMES DESTROYED — Powered by record rains, Tujunga Wash floodwaters gnaw into the hillsides of Sunland, Los Angeles County. Seven homes already have toppled into the current; these homes have been evacuated because officials fear they likewise will fall.

NEIGHBOR HELPS NEIGHBOR — Residents of Tujunga Wash outside Los Angeles struggle to build dikes holding back waters roaring down the normally dry channel. The neighborhood was menaced yesterday by mud slides from above and undercutting of house foundations by the torrent below. (AP Wirephotos and UPI Telephotos)

Call Leads Officers To Body Of Dentist

OAKLAND (AP) — Police, following directions from a teenage girl charged with armed robbery, have found the body of a slain dentist.

Police Sgts. Roy Anderson and Ray Gaul said yesterday they talked by telephone with Miss Terry Phelps, 19, of Jackson, Mich., then discovered the body of Dr. Glen Ivar Olsen, 54, of Oakland in Joaquin Miller Park in the Oakland hills.

Detectives said Olsen's car was found at the girl's apartment in Michigan.

Murder warrants were issued for Miss Phelps and a companion, Chester Johnson, 21, long sought in Michigan as a parole violator.

Anderson and Gaul left for Grand Rapids, Mich., to talk further with the girl, who had been arraigned on a charge of robbing a Muskegon Heights, Mich., grocery of $1,250.

Michigan officers recovered Olsen's car at the apartment where Miss Phelps was arrested, police said.

Olsen had been shot through the head from behind and also shot twice in the chest.

TERRY PHELPS
Tip by telephone

Dr. Olsen was last seen last Wednesday when he left home to visit his son, Steven, 23.

After he failed to arrive, police were notified and a nationwide, all-points bulletin was issued for his car.

That paid off yesterday with a telegram from Michigan state police, saying the car was in Muskegon and the Phelps woman was being held on the robbery charge.

The murder warrants were issued in Oakland following the long distance phone questioning.

The Olsen car was found parked in Muskegon, officers said.

After the grocery was held up, witnesses reported the California license number of a getaway car and it was found quickly, police said.

Brookside School Hit By Thief; $34 Taken

Thirty-four dollars in cash was stolen from Brookside School at 116 Butterfield Road, San Anselmo, Albert Ledditt, maintenance man, reported to police yesterday.

Ledditt said entry was made Monday night when someone pried a window open. Burglars emptied contents of desk drawers onto the floor and left the office in a mess, Ledditt reported.

Alcoholism Therapists' Pay Settled

Therapists who treat alcoholism at the Marin Institute in San Rafael will get $18 per therapy hour from April through June, the Marin County Board of Supervisors decided late yesterday.

The institute, located at 745 B Street, received $22,450 from the county for the first six months of this fiscal year. This straight payment will continue through next month, then switch to $18 per hour from April.

Daniel Myerson, director of the institute, and Municipal Judge Alvin H. Goldstein, a director, argued that the pay should be at least $20 per hour.

Dr. Clyde G. Miller, director of the Community Mental Health Center, recommended pay of $17.59 per hour. He was supported by Asst. County Administrator Thomas F. Campanella.

Supervisor Louis H. Baar moved for the $18 per hour. This was seconded by Supervisor William A. Gnoss and approved 4 to 1. The only dissenter was Supervisor Michael Wornum, who said that a change should not be made so close to the end of this fiscal year. "I'd just as soon continue as we are."

Chairman John F. McInnis acknowledged that the institute providing valuable community service by treating alcoholics, but said it should try to generate community contribution to help pay for the cost.

In Fair Condition

Rose Marie Noack, 36, of 35 Rodeo Avenue, Apt. 34, Sausalito, was reported in fair condition today at Marin General Hospital after being admitted at 2 a.m. for a possible overdose of pills.

Novato Council Slaps Planners' Sign Denial

The Novato City Council in its continuing tug-of-war with the city's planning commission last night by a 3-1 vote overrode the previous night's action of the commission and granted a sign to Schuman's Travel Center, vehicle dealership at 7123 Redwood Highway.

Councilman Douglas M. Merrill, who opposed listing items on the sign voted against it. Mayor Harley McAskill was absent.

The planning commission by a 4-3 vote Monday night denied the same sign.

Councilman J. Wayne Womack said he "took exception to the planning commission's viewing the sign as product advertising and felt that the listing of campers, trailers and motor homes was allowed by the sign ordinance.

Womack said that the council had to look at all sides of the question and not the least of which was the tax dollar which business brought into the city.

Councilman Joseph Gargiulo said he wanted to encourage business and thought that Novato ought to "loosen up" in its attitude toward business. He cited recent controversy over a Denny's restaurant sign as an example of restraint on business.

To which Womack added that the Denny's sign and the Schuman sign had brought "nit picking" between the commission and the council. He

The council then asked the commission to look over the ordinance to see if the section on product advertising needed clarification.

The council then amended the sign ordinance to define shopping centers and the in-window signs allowed in them.

The Novato City Council Also:

MASTER PLAN — Approved the master plan for Loyal Davis for 49 apartments on 4.5 acres east of Railroad Avenue south of Orange Avenue.

PARKETTE — Approved a request by the Novato Garden Club Inc. to name the Parkette on Highway 101 and Grant Avenue "Cavallero Corner" in honor of the late Fire Chief George Cavallero. City Mgr. Charles A. Brown is to work with the club designing a suitable plaque for the park.

FREEWAY — Approved a revision with the state Division of Highways on the De Long Avenue-Freeway offramp, whereby traffic using the De Long offramp will go north on Reichert Avenue and cross the Northwestern Pacific Railroad at Sweetser Avenue; the Grant Avenue crossing of the railroad will be closed and Grant Avenue become a dead end street on the east. All costs of the project, estimated at $29,000 will be paid by the state.

AUDIT — Approved contracting with Sleezer and Eckhoff, certified public accountants of San Rafael at $1,600 maximum for the 1968-69 audit. Soderblom and Co. which has done the audit in the past had asked for an increase from $1,600 to $2,600.

RECOMMENDATIONS — Recommended that the state Public Utilities Commission deny the application of National Executive Services Inc. for limousine service to Bay Area airports from Novato. The council recommended that the PUC grant an extension of the Eastshore Lines service for Novato. The company now serves West Novato area with a commute bus and wants to start others.

NUISANCE — Declared two abandoned and unused houses on the property of Victor Kreloff at 699 Tamalpais Avenue a nuisance and ordered them removed.

CODES — Approved a notice to the state that the city was enforcing the state building codes, as required by law every two years.

PATH — Asked the staff to estimate the cost of a path beside Novato Boulevard from Diablo Avenue west by the Catholic Church for pedestrians and bicycles.

SEASHORE — Passed a resolution reaffirming one passed by the previous council declaring that Novato is the gateway to the Point Reyes National Seashore via Highway 101, Highway 37 and Novato boulevard.

FUNDS — Authorized City Manager Brown to write a letter for the Mayor's signature, asking if Gov. Ronald Reagan could expedite funds for the Novato downtown study from the Department of Housing and Urban Development. Novato has an application approved by HUD for a $31,020 federally assisted downtown study.

BROWN — Accepted the Novato Federated Women's Club request to name March 6 as "you're a Good Man Charlie Brown" day in honor of the new city manager. The council, department heads and city manager will meet with the club at the Novato Moose Lodge that day at 11 a.m.

APPOINTMENTS — In the absence of Mayor McAskill, postponed making appointments to fill vacancies on the downtown study committee, the ambulance service study committee and the beautification committee.

Kennel Approved But Conditions Protested

A dog and cat kennel was approved 4 to 2 last night by the San Rafael Planning Commission, but so many conditions were attached the applicants' attorney said it amounted to a denial.

The commission granted the use permit to Robert Rudholm and Stanley Goldberg to build the facility at 535 Jacoby Street, with the permit to expire in five years. Commissioners John J. Adams and James Dougan voted no and Thomas R. O'Toole was absent.

The permit requires the applicants to dedicate a 59-foot wide strip for a proposed street and to improve their half when the street goes through, or, if the street is not built, to improve Jacoby Street in front of their property.

Other requirements include a program for maximum control of nosie, odor, rodents and insects.

Albert Bianchi, attorney for the applicants, objected to having to promise to improve half of a proposed street when his client's business did not make the street necessary. He also urged the commission to grant the permit without a time limit, because commission requirements had increased the cost of the facility.

Major opposition came from adjoining property owners. Dino Ghilotti spoke frequently on the plan, with objections centering on the fact that Rudholm and Goldberg were not being required to improve Jacoby immediately as he had to do. He also objected that the applicants were only being required to supply five parking spaces while he had to have 25 for his office building and construction company yard.

Property owners on the other side, who had objected at length during a December meeting on the plan, reported last night they still opposed it.

Bianchi indicated he would appeal the decision to the city council.

The San Rafael Planning Commission also:

OFFICE — Approved a two-story office building and warehouse at 87-93 Jordan Street, on condition owner, Robert Cook, dedicate a five-foot drainage easement.

APARTMENTS — Authorized converting office space in a commercial building at 2130 Fourth Street into two apartments, with the requirement that the owner, Mrs. Louis J. Robello, rearrange on-site parking spaces.

MUSIC SALES — Approved using extensive office space at 4238 Redwood Highway for piano and organ sales, as requested by the William J. Ruhnke Co.

Minister Will Autograph Book

Rev. Larry Beggs of Mill Valley will autograph his book "Huckleberry's for Runaways" and talk of how parents can communicate with children beginning at 2 p.m. Saturday at the Book Depot in Mill Valley.

Beggs is founder of the Huckleberry House in San Francisco, now operating on Seventh Avenue. The Book Depot is located in the Greyhound bus depot.

Planners Put Over All Of The Agenda

The Mill Valley Planning Commission Monday night postponed all five items scheduled for action on its agenda, according to Planning Director Harvey E. Bragdon.

First, the commissioners delayed to March 10 a request for adoption of a bicycle trails plan, asking that trails included in adopted master plans be coordinated on a map for commission review.

The commission also asked that Edna Maguire students who had petitioned for the bicycle trails be present at the March 10 meeting to present their case, Bragdon said.

A minor subdivision requested by the Bank of America for property on Highway 101 west Frontage Road adjacent to Sycamore Avenue was postponed pending study of the committments made by the city in 1965 during annexation hearings before the county's Local Agency Formation Commission, he said.

Discussion of the Arroyo Corte Madera del Presidio and Miller Avenue elements of the 701 planning study were postponed for further committee study.

Discussion of the housing element to be included in the city's general plan was postponed until a county-wide workshop to be scheduled has been held.

A density increase request by Cal-Fong Investment Co. for 27.5 acres in the Alto Bowl was postponed to March 10.

Birds have the highest body temperatures of all creatures, ranging from 104 to 110 degrees.

Recall Threat Defied; Hub Revisions Stand

Despite pleas and even threats of recall from a group of residents who fear that planned traffic improvements will eventually bring a highway through their backyards, the San Anselmo Council last night stuck with its decision to remodel the Hub.

On Jan. 21 the council voted 4-1 to do a $103,000 job which will make the Hub intersection a typical four-direction crossways rather than the confusing bevy of streets it is now.

Also approved by the council at that time was the designation of Center Boulevard as the route to be emphasized as a thoroughfare to Fairfax rather than Sir Francis Drake Boulevard.

Few of the 80 or more persons at last night's meeting seriously objected to revamping the Hub, but many of those present live ner Center Boulevard and have opposed this route since the plan was first presented last summer.

A petition bearing 180 signatures asking the council to rescind its designation of Center Boulevard as a federal secondary road and also to abandon current plans for the Hub was presented last night.

A vote on rescinding the Center Boulevard designation lost 3-2 with Councilmen Robert M. Scott and Woodrow V. Capurro voting to rescind.

A motion to abandon the plans for reconstruction of the Hub was presented by Capurro but died for the lack of a second.

The three councilmen who stuck by their guns and maintained that the Hub improvement is necessary and Center Boulevard the best choice of a route to the west, were threatened with recall at one point in the evening.

Councilman James F. Reed said he would "hate to go out" on a recall but would not change his vote.

Innuendoes were also tossed about concerning councilmen who might have "interests in West Marin." (Residents of the Center Boulevard area have long maintained that improving their street will benefit only developers of land to the West.)

A poll of the council showed that none of the five councilmen owned property outside San Anselmo, and Councilman Scott said that if he had any money to invest, "it wouldn't be in Marin."

The San Anselmo City Council also:

NO PARKING — Approved a red curb for 218, 222, 228, 232 and 238 Saunders Avenue after residents of homes there complained that students of Sir Francis Drake High School create a nuisance by parking in front of their homes.

APPEALS — Approved requests of the Easter Seal Society for Crippled Children and Adults and the Marin Figure Skating Club to solicit funds in San Anselmo.

CLAIM — Denied a claim by Thomas G. Sgro of San Rafael for $1,620 for damages allegedly suffered to his car in a city parking lot.

LIGHTS — Decided to spend $751 to replace underground wiring for lights at the Saunders Avenue bridge and turn maintenance of the lights over to the Pacific Gas and Electric Co.

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union today launched Cosmos 267, an unmanned spacecraft designed for some unspecified mission.

Jail Sentence Set On Battery, Driving

Lloyd Patrick Brickman, 24, of Corte Madera, yesterday was sentenced to 120 days in Marin County Jail, fined $302 and placed on three years probation for striking a California Highway Patrol officer and for drunken driving.

Brickman, who was arrested May 12, 1968, was originally charged with another felony count of battery on a police officer and a misdemeanor charge of hit and run driving. These charges were dismissed after he pleaded guilty to one count of battery and the drunk charge.

Subdues client

An Emotional Sirhan Halts Proceedings

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Enraged because his diaries with their murderous thoughts are being aired in court, Sirhan Bishara Sirhan wants to "give up and go to the gas chamber," his lawyer says, by pleading guilty to killing Sen. Robert F. Kennedy.

But the attorney said he would not permit Sirhan to enter such a plea.

'BLOWN TOP'

"He's blown his top," said Grant B. Cooper after Sirhan's courtroom outburst—the second of the day—caused adjournment of yesterday afternoon's session when it was barely getting started. "He's blown his top and we're trying to control him."

After court, the four-man defense team and Sirhan's 55-year old mother spent more than an hour with the 24-year-old Jordanian. "When we left him," said Cooper, "he was real calm."

Of a possible plea of guilty—with the verdict of life imprisonment or death still in the hands of the jury-Cooper said: "We're not going to let him...as lawyers we're not going to let our client run the case. He doesn't know what he's doing."

PLEADS TO JUDGE

In court, as a handwriting expert was preparing to testify, Sirhan rose white-faced and trembling, a pleading hand extended to Judge Herbert V. Walker, and said: "Your honor, forgive me for interrupting..." At that point Cooper asked for the adjournment.

Earlier in the day, the judge had sent for Sirhan and told him to listen to his lawyers, that they were able men. Cooper said that at that time Sirhan was "determined he was going in to plead guilty" but calmed down.

When the defense lost its fight against admission of the diaries —on grounds of illegal search—Sirhan raged that "if he was going to be tried this way he might as well give up and go to the gas chamber," Cooper said.

Again and again, in handwriting that ranged from mannered to agitated scrawl, Sirhan built in the notebooks a drumbeat of threats against Kennedy and, in one case, then U.N. Ambassador Arthur Goldberg. In one sequence Sirhan wrote of the "glorious United States," in another he used an obscenity as an adjective.

'AN OBSESSION'

"My determination to eliminate RFK is becoming more the more sic of an unshakable obsession," he wrote on one page dated May 18, 1968. "RFK must die, RFK must be killed, Robert F. Kennedy must be assassinated...Robert F. Kennedy must be assassinated before 5 June 1968..."

Sirhan shot Kennedy the morning of that day. If he confided his reason into the diary, it did not show in the eight pages made public yesterday.

The defense is not denying that Sirhan killed Kennedy and doesn't plan much challenge to the prosecution's case of premeditation.

Clay Bertrand Story Rocks Shaw's Trial

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — A lawyer who says he had Le Harvey Oswald as a client several months before President Kennedy was killed has testified that the mysterious Clay Bertrand of the Clay Shaw case did not exist.

Bertrand "was a figment of my imagination," Dean Andrews Jr. testified yesterday at Shaw's trial on a charge of conspiring to kill Kenedy.

It is the name Bertrand that Dist. Atty Jim Garrison contends Shaw used as an alias in plotting with Oswald and others to kill Kennedy.

Andrews had testified before a Warren Commission investigator and two grand juries, and he told the FBI that a man he knew as Clay Bertrand telephoned him the day after Oswald's arrest to ask that he go to Dallas to take over as defense lawyer.

But yesterday he said he had "let my mouth run ahead of my brain."

"I can't give you any explanation. . . . Once you make a fool of yourself you're stuck with it."

Andrews, a short heavy man whose speech is laced with slang, said he sought fame—and wound up convicted of perjury. His case is pending on appeal.

"It's page after page of bull," he said, when Asst. Dist. Atty. James L. Alcock asked him to explain his previous testimony.

"You mean page after page after page of lies!" cried Alcock in cross examination.

"If you want to call it that, that's your privilege," said Andrews. "I call them conflicting statements."

Andrews testified that the telephone call was from an old client, Eugene Davis, on a minor legal matter. Andrews said Davis, in casual conversation, told him he'd never be a famous lawyer unless he grabbed big cases like one developing in Dallas.

Andrews said when he was telling the FBI his story it suddenly dawned on him that he was about to subject Davis to "a lot of heat and pressure that didn't belong to him." So he substituted the name Clay Bertrand, which he said was the first one that popped into his mind.

Stereo Set Taken

Dr. James T. English, of 46 Diablo Drive, Kentfield, reported to the sheriff's department that on Sunday someone had smashed a window of his home and had stolen a stereo set and a tape recorder.

Bound Over On Drug Charges

Elie Antonine Olson, 22, of Mill Valley, was bound over to Marin Superior Court yesterday on a charge of possessing marijuana in Mill Valley last October.

Charges had been dismissed earlier at the request of the district attorney's office when witnesses for the prosecution failed to appear for a preliminary hearing, but the complaint was refiled.

Olson was arrested Oct. 19 after his landlady became worried when she could not rouse the youth whom she knew was at home. Police said they found him asleep on his bed with two bags of what appeared to be marijuana next to him.

HERE'S AN IDEA for a snack or tasty lunch that has all the fun of pizza and is quick to make. Toasted English muffins are heaped with a combination of cheese, wieners and pork and beans.

Tasty Variation On Pizza With Pork, Beans, Wieners

Variation on a pizza snack — this recipe uses English muffins for a beginning, with cheese, wieners and pork and beans combined in a topping.

ENGLISH PIZZA

6 English muffins
1 can (1 lb. 5 oz.) pork and beans
2 wieners, chopped
¼ cup sweet pickle relish
1 tablespoon horseradish mustard
2 tablespoons catsup
⅔ cup grated mellow Cheddar or American cheese
Oregano leaves
Parsley flakes

Split English muffins in half and toast under broiler until golden brown. Combine pork and beans, chopped wieners, relish, mustard, and catsup. Spoon this bean mixture onto the 12 toasted English muffin halves. Sprinkle each pizza with grated cheese, oregano, and parsley according to your own taste.

Broil 5 to 6 inches from heat for five minutes.Makes six servings.

Salami Mix-Up

Here's mix-up magic for menus: cut 12 ounces of salami in wedges and combine with two packages (10 ounces each) of frozen mixed vegetables, one can (4 ounces) sliced water chestnuts. Add to this one can (10½ ounces) condensed celery soup mixed with one cup of milk. Mix lightly and turn into a two-quart casserole. Bake in a moderate oven (350° F.) 20 minutes. Top with one can (3 ounces) Chinese noodles. This casserole gives four to six servings.

Cranberry Sauce

When you are maing cranberry sauce be sure to skim the foam from the top after cooking.

Sherried Bananas Make Different Dessert Dish

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press

Knowing cooks often use bananas for quick-to-make desserts. Skillet-cooked, broiled or baked they're great to serve "as is" or with a topping of vanilla ice cream or whipped cream.

Different parts of the country have different ways of preparing the bananas "as is." In New Orleans, Brennan's Restaurant serves Bananas Foster. For this dish, butter is melted in a chafing dish and blended with brown sugar. Then the bananas are added, cooked slightly and sprinkled with cinnamon. Now comes the exotic final touch: bnanana liqueur and rum are ignited and the bananas are basted with the flaming liquor. Quite a dish!

In California and Florida, bananas baked with butter, honey, and orange juice are popular. This way the bananas may be offered as dessert or as a meat accompaniment.

The following recipe for Sherried Bananas comes from Georgia. The original recipe called for lots more sugar and was served as an accompaniment for pork or ham. The friend who gave us the recipe prefers a smaller amount of sugar and offers these sherried bananas with ice cream

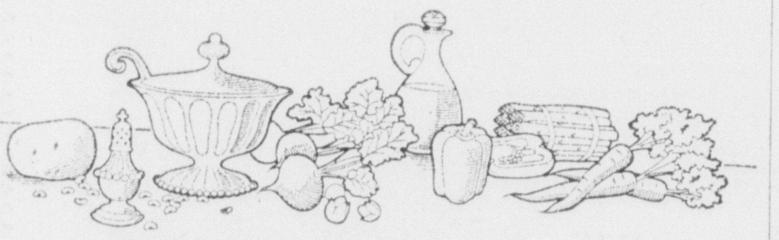
6 green-tipped bananas
⅓ cup butter or margarine
⅔ cup sugar
Pinch of salt
½ cup sherry (dry, medium or sweet)
1½ pints vanilla ice cream

Peel bananas and cut in half crosswise. In a 10-inch skillet, heat butter; add bananas and gently cook until lightly browned. Add sugar and salt, and when sugar dissolves and bubbles, add sherry and continue cooking about 5 minutes. Serve warm with ice cream.

Makes 6 servings.



A SUNDAY DINNER

Here's Roast Lamb Idea With Vegetable Marinade

ROAST LAMB BOULESTIN

Steamed Rice	Asparagus
Chocolate Mousse	Beverage

ROAST LAMB BOULESTIN

½ leg of lamb, about 4½ pounds
1 cup dry vermouth
1 small onion, peeled and sliced
1 small carrot, pared and sliced
1 tablespoon minced parsley
1 bay leaf
½ teaspoon thyme
¼ teaspoon peppercorns
2 tablespoons butter
2 tablespoons flour
1 can (10½ ounces) condensed chicken broth
1 tablespoon currant jelly

Cut away most of fat from lamb but do not disturb the string tieing it. Mix together the next 7 ingredients and pour over lamb. Cover and refrigerate overnight, basting a few times. Remove from marinade (save it) and roast lamb in a 325-degree oven until medium well-done (170 degrees on a meat thermometer) — about 2 hours. Cut away strings from lamb and remove to serving platter; keep warm. Meanwile simmer marinade (including vegetables and seasonings) until liquid is reduced to about ¼ cup; strain. Melt butter; stir in flour; remove from heat; gradually stir in the ¼ cup strained marinade and undiluted chicken broth, keeping smooth; whisk in mustard and currant jelly. Cook, stirring constantly, over moderately low heat until thickened. Pour off fat from roasting pan; add sauce; stir over low heat to get up drippings; pour through fine-mesh strainer. Re-heat and serve with lamb.

Better Dessert

Better than ambrosia, a combination of golden cling peach slices, pineapple chucks, crisp grapes and banana slices can double as dessert or salad in summer meals. Drain a (1 lb.) can of cling peach slices. Combine with other fruits and sprinkle lightly with powdered sugar, if desired. Fold dairy sour dream into fruit and sprinkle generously with coconut flakes. Chill slightly before serving.

Try Some Cooking With Soul

Begining tomorrow several Marin housewives will demonstrate their soul food dishes at the Marin co-op during the three-day black history and soul food festival.

Several of their recipes are given here so that other Marin families may try them.

RED BEANS

2 cups dried red beans
1 large onion, chopped
2 teaspoons salt
5 cups water
Salt pork or ham, diced
Pepper to taste

Wash beans; let stand in water one or two hours (or overnight) to soften. Rinse in cold water. Put in a pot with all other ingredients. Bring to a boil, then reduce heat to simmer. Let simmer 4 to 6 hours. Serve over rice. — Mrs. Billie Johnson, Corte Madera

CRACKLING BREAD

2 cups corn meal
1 cup flour
1 egg
1 teasp. baking powder
1 teaspoon salt
2 cups milk
½ lb. fresh side of pork, cooked

Combine corn meal, flour, salt and baking powder. Add milk and egg, stir well. Add the pork, which has been cut into small pieces and cooked until all the fat is removed (leaves about 2 cups pork). Stir, pour into greased muffin tins or baking pan. Bake in 350 degree oven for 20 to 25 minutes. Serve hot. — Daisy Rosebourgh, Mill Valley

MIXED GREENS

2 bunches of turnip greens with roots
1 bunch mustard greens
½ lb. salt pork
1 tsp. sugar

Cook pork in 4 cups water until tender. Add the well-washed greens (tops only). Cook 45 minutes or until greens are tender. Add the turnip roots, whole or sliced, according to size, and cook until well done. (Chinese mustard, a milder flavored form, may be used if desired.) — Daisy Rosebourgh, Mill Valley

CRAB GUMBO

2 Large crabs, cleaned and cracked
½ lb. raw shelled shrimp
1 small pkg. (3 oz.) dried shrimp
2 pkgs. frozen okra
1 large onion
¼ c. shortening
1 large can tomatoes
2 T flour
1 gumbo file powder
Salt and pepper

Remove crab body meat. Crack legs and claws. Cut up okra while still frozen. Also cut up large onion. Mix okra and onion together. Add salt and pepper. Have frying pan ready with shortening; when fat is quite hot, pour in okra and onion mixture; fry until okra is firm (do not have heat so low it will stew.) The pour in large can of tomatoes. Cook together for twenty minutes. Have large pot ready with 2½ quarts water, pour in okra and tomato mixture. When it starts to boil, put in crab, shrimps and dried shrimps. Let simmer together about 30 minutes. Brown 2 T. flour, stir in some of the liquid until it thickens, add to the mixture. Add the gumbo file powder and let simmer for 20 minutes. Remove from heat and serve. — Mrs. H. C. Dedrick, Marin City

HOG'S HEAD CHEESE

1 Hog's head
Salt and pepper
1 cup vinegar
3 or 4 green onions, chopped fine
¼ bell pepper, chopped fine
3 medium sour pickles, chopped
Monosodium glutamate (MSG)
Cayenne pepper

Clean head, cover with water and bring to boil with salt and pepper. Cook until well done. Take out meat and mash. Add vinegar, onion, green pepper, pickles. Add MSG, salt, and pepper, to taste. Mold in a pan and let chill. — Mrs. Maudie Mack, San Francisco.

YAM MERINGUE PIE

3 or 4 medium yams
1 stick butter
¾ cup sugar
3 eggs
1 tsp. nutmeg
2 tsp. vanilla

Boil yams. Skin, add butter, and mash. Add nutmeg and vanilla. Break in eggs and beat with rotary beater to blend. Put in unbaked pie shell. Bake ½ hour in 400 degree oven; reduce heat to 350 degrees for another half hour. Spread with meringue and bake in 350 degree oven until golden brown.

Meringue:

3 egg whites
6 T. sugar
½ t. vanilla
¼ t. cream of tartar

Beat egg whites, gradually add sugar, 1 tablespoon at a time, add cream of tartar and vanilla. Spread meringue on top of baked pie. See above.

Pastry:

1½ cups all-purpose flour
½ t. salt
½ cup shortening
4 or 5 T. cold water

Sift flour and salt together. Cut in shortening until in pea-sized pieces. Add as much of the water as is necessary to make it hold together. Roll out and place in 9" pie pans. — Mrs. Mildred Smith, Tamalpais Valley.

CUSTARD PIE

2 cups milk
scant cup sugar
1 T Flour
4 eggs
1 tsp. vanilla
½ stick butter

Mix butter, flour, and sugar together, and blend with beater. Add eggs, one at a time. Add vanilla and milk. Stir. Pour into unbaked pie shell. Bake in slow 250 degree oven until done (test with knife.)

FLAKY PASTRY

2 cups flour
1 t. salt
⅔ cup shortening

Mix and sift flour and salt. Cut in shortening with knife. Add enough cold water to make stiff dough. Roll out lightly on floured board. Fold and put in (preferably glass) pie pan. — Mrs. Martha Thompson, Tamalpais Valley.

Poulet Auberge In Cognac Sauce

Poulet auberge, or rotisserie chicken, is served with a rich, cognac-flavored sauce at a restaurant in Cognac, France, where the famous brandy is produced.

Brush a 4 to 5-pound roasting chicken with butter and cook on rotisserie about an hour, or until done; baste often with mixture of ½ cup each of chicken broth and butter. Place a small pan on grill beneath chicken to catch drippings. Remove chicken to platter, pour ¼ cup of cognac on it and light with long match. The heat from the chicken will warm this amount of cognac enough for it to flame.

With long-handled spoon, baste the chicken with sauce until flames die. Keep chicken warm, and remove platter droppings and those from the pan to make sauce. Heat them with 1 cup of cream, add salt and pepper to taste and thicken by stirring in lumps of beurre manie made by blending 2 tablespoons of flour with an equal amount of butter. If desired, strain sauce before serving. Garnish platter with parsley.

Now in California America's No. 1 pre-soak

Colgate's enzyme active AXION

Soaks out stains and dirt that bleaches can't bleach out, detergents can't wash out!

Axion may be new to you. But all over America more women are using Axion than all the other pre-soaks put together. Axion is an incredible new discovery. It is entirely different from any detergent. It is entirely different from any bleach. It is an enzyme active pre-soak that cleans away stains no other kind of washing product has ever been able to do.

Works on the stain— not on the fabric

Axion with active enzymes is the latest result of Colgate research. Axion's active enzymes biologically break down the molecular structure of the most stubborn stains . . . loosen stains so they wash away easily during the regular wash cycle.

Yet Axion won't harm synthetic fabrics or washable colors. So you can safely use Axion where you could never use chlorine bleach. Axion's enzyme active formula was developed to concentrate on stains and dirt . . . for cleaning, whitening, and brightening far beyond detergent or bleach.

See the difference. Both towels washed in detergent and bleach

Not pre-soaked, the stain remains! Pre-soaked in Axion, the stain is gone!

This test shows what Axion can do! Both of these towels had set beef liver stains. The one on the right was pre-soaked in Axion. Then they both were machine-washed with regular detergent and bleach. The towel that was only washed in bleach and detergent is still badly stained. The towel pre-soaked in Axion— stain free, really clean!

Axion attacks stain after stain

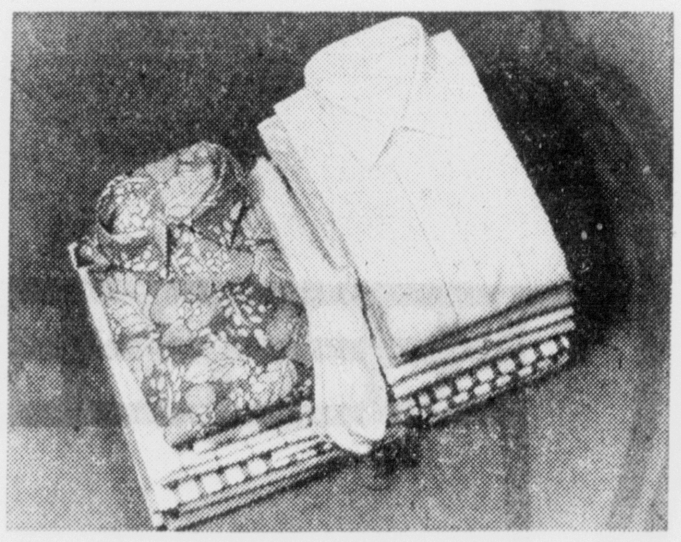
Blood. Gravy. Sauces. Chocolate. Fruit stains. Dirt on white socks. Grass. Yellowing on pillowcases. Baby foods. Perspiration stains. Diaper stains. Grime on shirt collars and cuffs. And many more.

Important—saves you money

Axion helps keep laundry new . . . doesn't damage fabrics the way harsh bleaches can. Dozens of costly items will last longer and look better. So it's obvious you can save money by using Axion.

Works on your whole wash

You will see a striking difference in your entire wash the first time you pre-soak with Axion. Your whites will be noticeably brighter and cleaner. And pleasantly fresh-smelling. Perspiration stains will be gone. Yellowed sheets and soiled pillowcases will be white again. Those grimy children's white socks, your husband's shirt collars and cuffs—so clean you'll find it hard to believe. And, just by following package instructions you can use Axion effectively on synthetic fabrics and colors you wouldn't dare bleach. In fact, once you start using Axion, you'll find yourself pre-soaking everything you wash, every time you wash!



Axion is the Number 1 pre-soak!

More women use Axion than all the other pre-soaks put together. So be sure you try Axion —with active enzymes. Soaks out stains and dirt detergents can't wash out, bleaches can't bleach out!

SOUL FOOD

Annual Negro Festival Begins

Soul food cookery, fashion, art and the dance will be featured at the second annual Negro history and soul food festival, opening tomorrow and staged through Saturday at the Marin Co-op in Corte Madera.

Cooking samples based on soul food recipes of Marin Co-op members will be given throughout the three-day festival, beginning at 2:30 p.m. tomorrow and Friday and at 11 a.m. Saturday. Specialties include crackling cornbread and mixed greens, crab gumbo, candied yams, bread pudding, red beans and rice, chitlings, sweet potato pie, custard pie and cabbage greens.

THE SOUL food cooks are Mmes Ephorn Freeman and Mattie Knighten of Marin City, Dolores Talley and Miss Daisy Rosebourgh of Mill Valley, Mmes. Billie Johnson and Jacqueline Branch of Corte Madera, Mmes. Mildred Smith and Martha Thompson of Tamalpais Valley and Mrs. Maudie Mack of San Francisco.

Mrs. Rhoda Knighten of Marin City is chairman of the festival, which will feature a fashion show of African prints worn by Marin teen-age models. The style shows will be given tomorrow and Friday at 3:30 p.m. and three times on Saturday, beginning at 11 a.m.

The models are Vicki Gross, Debbie Turner, Pam McConnell, Barbie Theiss, Cindy Norall, Belinda Johnson and Jeanine Brewer. Coordinators for the show are Grace Hughes and Jane Brenlin.

African dances will be performed by Allison Walker at 3:45 p.m. Friday and on Saturday at noon by Lorena Lee and Theresa Edwards and at 1 p.m. by Margo Jones.

AFRICAN SCULPTURE and masks will be loaned by two Co-op members. Also displayed will be sculpture by Nelson Crutchfield and ceramics by Robert Chives.

A black history display will be set up, and other displays will feature posters, books and magazines on black culture. Librarians Barbara Dillon and Joanne Hirabayashi will offer a black history bibliography for children.

Food demonstrations tomorrow will be held at 2:30 p.m., with Mrs. Billie Johnson doing red beans and rice, and Mrs. Dolores Talley with her recipe for cabbage greens. Friday at 2 p.m. Mrs. Jacqueline Branch will demonstrate her candied yams, and at 2:30 p.m. Miss Daisy Rosebourgh will provide sample of her recipes for crackling cornbread and mixed greens.

Saturday food demonstrations will be crab gumbo, chitlings, bread pudding, hog's head cheese, custard pie and sweet potatoe meringue pie. Cooks will be Mmes. H. C. Diedrick, Ephorn Freeman, Mattie Knighten, Maudie Mack, Martha Thompson and Mildred Smith.

CHAIRMEN OF displays are Mark Wittenburg and Mmes. Mattalyn Pitts and Wyna Jones. Mrs. S. I. Hayakawa and John Wallace are publicity chairmen.

Recipes will be given for the soul food dishes by the Marin cooks. Here is Mrs. Freeman's method for preparing chitlings.

CHITLINGS

5 lbs. chitlings
1 hog maw
1 cup chopped onion
1 cup chopped celery
1 bell pepper
3 cloves garlic
seasoning salt
black pepper
1 Tbsp. flour (optional)

Clean chitlings, remove all fat and washing throughly. Cut hog maw in small pieces. Put chitlings and hog maw in a large pot, covering with water to a depth of three inches. Add other ingredients, cover and cook for 3 to 4 hours or until chitlings are tender. Add flour to thicken gravy if desired. Serve over rice.

SOME OF the ingredients used in the soul food recipes by Marinites are explained by chairman of the Negro History Week and Soul Food Festival Mrs. Rhoda Knighten, left, to Co-op shopper Mrs. Victor Van Lint. The festival, at which samples and recipes for the soul food dishes will be available, opens tomorrow at the Marin Co-op in Corte Madera.

Johannesburg Doctor Suggests Establishing Clinical Network

WASHINGTON (AP) — A South African doctor suggests establishing a worldwide network of "German measles service clinics" to help women of child-bearing age—to whom the disease is a potential terror.

The idea, Dr. J. H. S. Gear of Johannesburg said, would be to have special facilities where such women could:

Be tested to determine whether they ever had the disease and therefore might be immune. About 80 per cent of women are immune.

Have a pregnancy test if they were found not immune.

If not pregnant, be vaccinated against the disease.

German measles is relatively mild in children and most adults. But if it strikes a woman in the first six months of pregnancy—especially the first three—her baby may be defective.

A woman could not be given German measles vaccine during her pregnancy because it contains living, though toned-down virus.

Gear made his suggestion at a news conference during an international conference on German measles immunization.

He said it might be at least a partial approach to effective use of one or more of the vaccines expected to become generally available in the not-too-distant future. Some may be available by next fall.

A major alternative procedure, he and some other doctors indicated, would be to vaccinate children more or less universally.

The idea would be to eradicate the disease so it could not be transmitted from children to women of child-bearing age. But even advocates of such a system concede there would be practical problems involved in widespread vaccination.

Clista Ellis Is Bride Of Mark Vann Melanson

The Episcopal Church of Our Saviour in Mill Valley was the setting for the wedding Saturday of Clista Lee Ellis and Mark Vann Melanson of San Rafael.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wayne D. Ellis of Mill Valley. Her sister, Trudy Lynn Ellis, was maid of honor, and the bridesmaids were Kathy Owen of Mill Valley and Lorena Block of Seattle.

David Denning of San Rafael served as best man. Ushering the guests were Danny and Paul Dimick of Sacramento, William Murphy, Ross Melanson and Jim Edwards of San Rafael.

A reception was given afterward at Bob's of Marin in Corte Madera. The couple will make their home in San Rafael after a wedding trip to Lake Tahoe.

The bride is a Tamalpais High School graduate, attended College of Marin and is employed with Pacific Telephone Co. in Mill Valley.

Mark is the son of Capt. and Mrs. George E. Melanson of San Rafael. A San Rafael High School graduate, he is serving with the Navy and will be stationed in Vietnam.

CHITLINGS ARE a favorite item among soul food dishes and Mrs. Ephorn Freeman begins to prepare her recipe in her kitchcen at her Marin City home. She takes them frozen from their container in the refrigerator for washing and removal of fat, as shown. Then it's into the cooking pot with bell pepper, onion, celery and seasonings for three to four hours until chitlings are tender. Frozen chitlings and hog maw are available at some Marin super markets. (See Mrs. Freeman's recipe in story. For more soul food recipes see today's I-J Food Page.)

HELEN HELP US!

By HELEN BOTTEL

Why Not Let Husband Have Two Families And Be Happy?

DEAR HELEN:

I have been married 16 years to a man who is a good provider and a doubly good lover. We really love each other, and we can also talk out our problems. But on this problem, I must confess, I can't see his point of view.

You see, he says his heart is big enough for two, and he wants to have an affair with a divorced friend of mine. He says this shouldn't hurt our marriage a bit, as he will love us equally. In fact, he even suggested that I babysit her children on the nights he is with her, and she could babysit mine when we want to go out together. Very cozy.

He told me he could sneak around and I might never know, but he prefers honesty, and he would never deceive either of us. He says the other woman loves him so much she will go along, knowing he will never leave me.

Well, I said I can't accept this. His answer is that if I make him give up his "second wife" he'll take to drink and probably lose his job.

So it comes to this: I don't want to share my husband, but I don't want to live with a drunken bum. He says no matter what happens I will be better off than she, for if he turns into a bum, I'll still have him, and if I learn to share I'll have him.

Please understand that we never have had trouble being compatible — in every way. What my husband wants is two women to love equally — and he thinks we should be friends, even to going out as a family group, with all seven of our combined children. — POLYGAMY OR LONELINESS?

DEAR P OR L:

Since you can talk out your problems together, be maddeningly reasonable. Tell your husband and your mutual friend that after careful consideration, you've decided it's monogamy or nothing and if he turns into a drunken bum, well, tough, baby — she can rehabilitate him, not you! Then (if you're a good actress) imply divorce might be the answer. After all, you're not without prospects, and he's so great with children he'd probably enjoy being married to the mother of five. He'd scarcely have time for booze then, would he? And smile as you say it!

In other words, call "Big Heart's" bluff. Make it clear that while you love him, you and the children won't share him with another woman or a bottle. Sixteen compatible years will do the rest. Here's for 35 more of the same! — H.

Carolyn Troester Is Engaged To Wed Philip C. Strick Jr.

The engagement of Carolyn Troester of Belmont to Philip C. Strick Jr. of San Rafael has been announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frederick William Troester of Belmont. The announcement was also made at the Delta Gamma sorority house at the University of Pacific, where Carolyn is a senior.

CAROLYN TROESTER

The bride-elect, who is the sister of Scott Troester of Belmont, is a graduate of Crescenta Valley High School in La Crescenta and of Glendale Junior College.

Philip is the son of the senior Philip C. Stricks of San Rafael and the brother of Stephen S. Strick. He is a graduate of La Sierra High School in Sacramento and of the University of Pacific, where he is now taking graduate work in the school of education. He was 1966 National Collegiate Athletic Association swimming champion, a contestant in the Olympic swimming trials and named outstanding senior athlete at Pacific last year.

The couple plan a July 19 wedding at Morris Chapel at the university in Stockton.

Clayton Huey Is Married On Saturday

Immediate family members attended the ceremony Saturday uniting in marriage Mrs. Grafton Geering and Clayton S. Huey. The wedding was held at the First Presbyterian Church in San Rafael.

The bride has three daughters: Mmes. Sheila Keppel and Nancy Davidson of Berkeley and Martha Klore of Santa Barbara.

Mr. Huey is a graduate of the University of Washington. He is employed by Chevron Research Company in Richmond. Robert Huey of Seattle, Wash. and Philip Huey of El Segunda are his brothers. He is the father of Mrs. John Gamblin of Yorba Linda and Douglas Huey of Indianapolis, Ind.

The couple will live in San Rafael following a wedding trip to Carmel.

Medicine Can Be Lifeline Or A Garrote

WASHINGTON, D.C. (WMMS) — Like a rope, the drug your doctor prescribes can be either a lifeline or a garrote—depending on whether it's used properly or not.

Most people realize that medicine cabinets should be cleaned out. But safety rules for prescription drugs are more intricate than that, according to an informative pamphlet listing 23 rules, including:

Never take a medicine in the dark.

If new symptoms develop after medication, tell your doctor.

Keep the label up when pouring from a medicine bottle so that the drippage does not destroy the label.

Fuller explanations are given in the pamphlet, available free from Sue Boe, Pharmaceutical Manufacturers Association, 1155 Fifteenth Street, N. W., Washington, D.C. 20005.

Hors D'Oeuvres

Pimiento-stuffed olives, shrimp and bacon make up a festive hors d'oeuvre. Shell and devein 1 pound about 30 medium uncooked; shrimp. Split shrimp lengthwise without cutting all the way through. Sprinkle with monosodium glutamate. Halve 30 small pimiento-stuffed olives lengthwise and place 2 halves in the center of each shrimp. Wrap each with a half slice of bacon and fasten with toothpicks. Broil 3 to 4 inches from heat 5 minutes. Turn shrimp and broil 4 minutes more, or until browned.

Path Finders Set Patio Living As Program Title For Meeting

With thoughts turning to spring, the subject "Patio Living, California Style" is chosen by the Path Finders for its first meeting of the year at Marin Art and Garden Center tomorrow at 10 a.m. in the Magnolia Tea Room on the center grounds in Ross.

Mrs. T. N. Hopkins, home economist for the North Bay Division of Pacific Gas and Electric, will present an illustrated lecture.

She will emphasize various menus suitable for delicious barbecue meals, distribute recipe folders, answer questions and demonstrate techniques.

In a short business meeting to follow, Mrs. John Gentles, Path Finders' president, will receive reports from group chairmen.

New members interested in active participation in Center Path Finders are constantly being sought and are invited to attend this open meeting.

MARIN TOASTMISTRESS Club will host the last in a series of speech contests tomorrow evening at Bob's of Marin, with a 7 p.m. dinner meeting. Mrs. Ernest Widlund is president of the club.

Contest chairman is Mrs. William Heinemann and contestants include Mmes. Paul Satur, Mrs. Raymond Robson, Theodore Scudder and David Maxwell. Guests will attend from the San Rafael Toastmistress Club and Napa Valley and Santa Rosa clubs.

EIGHTY DOMINICAN College seniors will be entertained at a formal candlelight supper tomorrow evening by the officers of the alumnae association.

The 6 p.m. dinner will be served on tables set with rose colored linen edged in white lace made especially for the occasion, in the dining room at Calereuga on the San Rafael campus.

Mrs. William Talbot Jr. and Mrs. James Madden, chairmen for the affair, will greet guests.

Mmes. Reed Volin, James McCone Jr., Frank Ortman Jr., John Cottrell, Charles Sweeney, Thomas Perlite and Charles Gardiner will also be in the receiving line.

College president Sister M. Samuel, o.p., Sister M. Patricia, o.p. and Miss Wanda Collins, dean of students, will be among the honored guests.

THE LEAGUE of Women Voters of Southern Marin will begin its study of local public education at meetings tonight and tomorrow.

Discussions will include presentation of a variety of suggestions for financing schools and for maintaining community support. Member response to such questions as these will be sought:

Should school districts be able to set their own tax rates as all other governing bodies do without going to the voter? How much fund support should the state give to the schools for operating expenses? How can school boards maintain the support of their communities?

It is not necessary to be a league member to attend meetings. Time and date are given in the Marin Datebook.

TWO MORE winners in the Betty Crocker Search for the American Homemaker of Tomorrow have been announced for their high schools. Terry Frances Castle is the winner among the senior girls at San Rafael High School, and Mary V. Upshaw was the winner for Terra Linda High School.

They will be among the high school seniors whose written tests will be judged in the statewide contest. State winners will compete nationally for the top honor. State winners will be guests with their school advisers on a trip to Washington D.C. and Colonial Williamsburg. The national winner and three runners-up will receive college scholarships.

HONORARY LIFE memberships were given to two members, Mrs. Harry Eide and Mrs. Harry Magill, by the Lu Sutton Parent-Teacher Association.

Mrs. Eide was presented the award in recognition of her continuing service to youth as a leader of Cub Scouts, Blue Birds and 4-H groups and as a teacher in the church school and with girls at Juvenile Hall. She has been a volunteer in the activities program and library service at Lu Sutton School. Mrs. Eide is currently the Community Club leader for the Novato Aggies 4-H Club and is in charge of the library volunteer program at the school, which allows the library to be open throughout the day.

Mrs. Magill is a past P-TA unit president in Mill Valley and at Lu Sutton, a Cub Scout and Brownie Troop leader and church school teacher. Last spring Mrs. Magill conducted swimming classes for the Head Start program, and she has been the North Marin coordinator for the vision screen program of the Marin Clunty Association of Delta Gamma Alumnae.

THE FILM, "Marijuana," will be featured at the Laurel Dell Parent-Teacher Association meeting at 7:45 tomorrow. Inspector Dennis Sawdon of the Marin County drug abuse bureau will lead the discussion.

Next week the film will be shown to Laurel Dell's intermediate pupils, and Sgt. Lou Foster, San Rafael juvenile officer, will answer the youngsters' queries.

IN THE SPOTLIGHT at the Corinthian Yacht Club dinner program Friday will be the John Williams family, famous ice skaters.

A three-part program will feature a talk by Mr. and Mrs. Williams and their children, Debbie, 16 and Robbie, 13, two films, "The Williams Family in Action," and "Opening Night of the Ice Follies." The Williams family, who skated professionally for both Ice Follies and Holiday on Ice companies, are now living in San Rafael.

Cocktails will be served at 6 p.m., dinner at 7:30 p.m. and the program will start at 8:30 p.m. John Cutler is program chairman.

MARIN STAR Theta Rho Girls 121 of the Independent Order of Odd Fellows will hold initation ceremonies on Friday in San Rafael. Candidates for initiation are Anne Wolf, Pam Grundmen, Cathy McNulty, Lois Vanderkyle, Julia Bishop and Felice Arroyo, all from Novato.

The Odd Fellows and Rebekahs of California will offer members of the Junior Odd Fellows and Theta Rho girls the opportunity to enter the United Nations Pilgrimage for Youth contest.

The Junior Odd Fellows and two Theta Rho girls will be awarded a four week educational bus tour to visit the United Nations and American historical sites.

Marin Star has entered Chris Kelly of Novato and Jo Baker of San Rafael in the contest.

MILL VALLEY Bethel 119 of the International Order of Job's Daughters will hold a visiting bethel meeting tonight at 7:30 p.m. in the Mill Valley Masonic Temple.

Members of other bethels are invited to attend. Honored queen Marsha Phipps will preside. Refreshments chairman is Cynthia Postel.

Initiated at the last meeting were Laura Finzen and Joyce Bromm.

MARIN DELTA Zeta Alumnae will meet tomorrow at noon at the home of president Mrs. Headley Brown, 1293 Idylberry, Lucas Valley. Dessert and coffee will be served.

Tickets will be distributed for the annual benefit party for the hearing handicapped to be held on April 11 at the Marin Country Club.

Mrs. Brown announces the appointment of Mrs. Graham Blevins of Terra Linda as the new recommendations chairman.

MRS. HENRY FOWLER, school secretary for over 10 years, was given the annual life membership award by the Penngrove School Parent-Teacher Association.

DENICE JAMISON

Duffy-Jamison Engagement

The engagement of Denice C. Jamison of Corte Madera to Lt. Lawrence T. Duffy of Vandenburg Air Force Base was announced Saturday night at a party at the Corte Madera home of the bride's aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Stahl.

Fifty relatives and friends attended the party at which the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Jamison, made the announcement.

Denice was graduated from Presentation High School in San Francisco, attended San Francisco College for Women and is a graduate of the University of San Francisco. She is a member of the Young Republicans and is employed by the U.S Civil Service Commission in San Francisco.

The future bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William O. Duffy of San Francisco. He is the brother of Mrs. Cecilia Brown of San Francisco, Lt. Col. William Duffy with the Army in Germany and Gerald Duffy of Daly City. Lawrence was graduated from St. Ignatius High School in San Francisco and the University of Santa Clara.

The couple plan to wed next month at St. Patrick's Church in Larkspur.

She Smooths Path For Young Singer

By ARLEEN ABRAHAMS

NEW YORK (AP) — One might call Toni Hedderich a Miss Lonelyhearts for young American opera singers.

Her advice, though, is mainly career oriented and is given on a person to person basis — only after she has heard the artist.

While teaching opera hopefuls in Germany several years ago, Mrs. Hedderich, a former leading dramatic coloratura of the Berlin Staatsoper, became concerned about the plight of the many young American opera singers roaming Europe.

"Ever since the war," she explains, "young Americans seeking an operatic career in the States had been advised to go to Europe to get experience, since without experience, for the most part, they could not hope to land a job in the American opera houses."

(In the United States, she claims, experience is hard to come by due to the lack of small professional opera companies and quality workshops.)

However, as she explains through an interpreter in her native German, "Most of them only met with frustration and disappointment. Some weren't ready to sing at opera house level; others didn't have the right instruction or voice training." But for many, she says, it was simply a case of not knowing where and when to apply.

"They might apply in Berlin when there was no opening at that company, when instead, they should have applied to the Hamburg company. Then they might not have the proper introduction or entree to the right opera personnel . . . the ones who could employ them."

Recently, aided by the perfection of a new video tape which reproduces the human voice without distortion and/or improvement and the development of special cameras by her son, Michael, Mrs. Hedderich came up with a solution. She would come to the States and Canada and videotape young artists singing two or three arias in costume. The tapes would then be shown to more than 60 directors of German, Austrian, Swiss and Danish opera houses. Each singer whose tape was accepted would receive a report after each tape was shown. And the singer would be encouraged to call on her for advice about his or her operatic career while in Europe. The program was launched this fall.

Less than half the singers who apply are taped.

"If they're no good I tell them to take their money and invest it elsewhere," she says. (The cost for the entire project for any singer she tapes is $850 — there is no charge for auditioning with her.)

Mrs. Hedderich, who believes a successful opera career to be the result of 10 per cent natural voice and 90 per cent hard work, adds that, "If a singer isn't ready but shows promise, I may recommend more study or a different type of teacher."

She recalls the case of a young man she auditioned as a heroic tenor for Wagnerian operas.

TONI HEDDRICH

"He thought in order to have a career in Germany he would have to sing those parts. He came across very poorly; he was struggling so." A few days later at her request, she heard him again — this time singing different types of roles. "It was obvious that he wasn't a heroic tenor at all," she says with a smile, "but a lyric tenor. I advised him to practice and study the lyric roles. My adivse probably saved his voice."

Her advice isn't only directed at matters concerning a singer's voice. "I'm developing them as a total person," she explains, "and being a total person means being involved with many aspects" — not the least of which is the romantic.

Mrs. Hedderich, whose late husband also was an opera singer, acknowledges that it's common for a singer to get involved with someone in the same field. "But unless it's real love or if the person is truly interested in this career, I try to discourage it. After all, the director of one opera house may not be there forever."

Mrs. Hedderich admits that she herself didn't face any of the problems most of today's young opera singers encounter in trying to develop a career. Actually she likens her discovery to "you know . . . that American film star with the legs. (Betty Grable)

"I was very young and singing in a small opera house when a singer from the Staatsoper in Dresden heard me," she recalls. 'She recommended me to the opera houses in Bern and Hamburg and I received invitations from both houses. Then I met someone on the street who said that Berlin needed a Queen of the Night ("Magic Flute"). I auditioned and got the role. Actually I never even thought about being a success; it just snowballed. Imagine being a grand prima donna in just about two years. It should happen to some of my young Americans!"

Resilient Fabrics

Resiliency describes that property of a fabric to spring back after crushing. Cotton, linen, rayon are not naturally resilient and gain the property to a degree through wrinkle-resistant finishes. Wool, silk and the chemical man-made fibers are naturally resilient.

Richard Geissinger To Wed Miss Taylor

The engagement of Elizabeth Jean Taylor of San Anselmo and Richard Clinton Geissinger of Mill Valley was announced at a family dinner party.

ELIZABETH TAYLOR

Elizabeth is the daughter of Mrs. Ernest H. Taylor of San Anselmo and the late Mr. Taylor. The future brdiegroom's parents are Lt. Col. and Mrs. Carl B. Geissinger of Mill Valley.

The bride-elect is a graduate of Sir Francis Drake High School and is a student at College of Marin. She is the sister of David D. Taylor and Mrs. Mary Jean Sheran of San Anselmo and the Rev. A. Robert Taylor of Newark.

Richard's brothers are Carl B. Geissinger of Mill Valley, Norbert Geissinger with the Navy and stationed in San Diego, and Jerry Geissinger with the Army, stationed at Ft. Sam Houston, Tex. He was graduated from Tamalpais High School and is a student at College of Marin. Richard is employed with Shoeland in San Rafael.

Bridge Marathon Set By Reed Sunny Hills Guild

The Reed Guild of Sunny Hills is again sponsoring a bridge marathon which involves some 200 Marin women and lasts from September until May. Mrs. Marvin Wood, newly elected president of the guild, has announced that the program, now in its third year, is under the direction of Mrs. Phillip Brown, chairman.

A. Bea Wood, a member of the Reed Guild for four years, is a former vice president of the organization. The other project of the Tiburon women is to staff a hamburger stand at the Grape Festival. Membership is open, she says, "to any adult female willing to devote time and effort to our projects."

Mrs. Wood and her husband, a commodity broker, have lived in Tiburon's Reedlands district for seven years. They belong to the Tiburon Peninsula Club and the San Francisco Golf Club.

The new president enjoys golf, tennis, knitting, sewing, gardening, travel, her role of homemaker, and care of the family's pet dogs.

Other incoming officers are Mmes. Bernard Page, vice president; Alice Royo, corresponding secretary; Luther Chestnut III, recording secretary; and B. P. Hovey, treasurer.

John Gilleran To Wed Theresa M. Gratto

Mr. and Mrs. David L. Gratto of Kentfield have announced the engagement of their daughter Theresa Margaret Gratto to John Joseph Gilleran Jr. of San Rafael.

THERESA GRATTO

A graduate of Marin Catholic High School, Theresa attended Chico State College and is enrolled in the dental assisting program at the College of Marin. She is the sister of Mary Ethel Gratto and Leon Francis Gratto of Kentfield and David L. Gratto Jr.

John is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John J. Gilleran of San Rafael. He also is a Marin Catholic High School graduate and attends the College of Marin.

Dick Andrus-Miss Shiek Are Married

St. Raphael's Church in San Rafael was the setting for the nuptials of Audrey Shiek and Richard Andrus, both of San Rafael, on Feb. 14.

Marilyn Bareis was maid of honor for the evening ceremony, and Robert Copeland served as best man.

After the wedding a reception was held at Shelter Bay Clubhouse in Mill Valley.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Shiek of St. Cloud, Minn. She was graduated from Cathedral High School in St. Cloud and is employed with Pacific Telephone Co. in San Rafael.

The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Andrus of Dickinson, N.D. He is a graduate of Dickinson High School and is employed with the merchant marine.

'Honky Tonk' Sausalito Signs Face City Boot

If Sausalito officials follow up some tough talk by city councilmen last night, the city will be missing a lot of "honky tonk" signs and displays within a few days.

Councilman George Hoffman complained of a fire engine parked all day in a two-hour zone to advertise Gatsby's Bar and unauthorized signs outside the Designers Market. "Honky Tonk," he called it, and to add insult to inury the fire engine was fresh-bought surplus from the City of Sausalito.

Hoffman also complained that he counted 51 cars, most of them wrecked, outside a car repair shop at 3001 Bridgeway, and councilman Robin Sweeny said someone had put out big signs and held garage sales on recent weekend at 1417½ Bridgeway.

From the audience, Carl W. Spring chimed in to complain of a continuing garage sale, with signs, at Sausalito Boulevard and Spencer Avenue, a truck and sign perpetually parked outside Barney West's tiki factory on Bridgeway, and goods for sale stored on city streets by Sausalito Nursery.

City Mgr. George M. Patterson and Police Chief James D. Wright took fistfuls of notes and indicated steps would be taken to curb the offending practices.

Communists Try Bottling Scotch

LONDON (London Express) — Two Communist countries will soon be producing Scotch whiskey. The label may be red but the Communists claim it will be real Scotch.

Bulgaria and Hungary recently announced that they would import "original whisky essence" from Scotland.

In Hungary a new distillery is being finished in the town of Szabedgyhaza. It soon will start producing Scotch and the plan provides for half a million bottles in the first year.

The Bulgarians are reconstructing the state wine plant outside the capital Sofia and intend not only to cease importing whisky but also export it to other Communist countries.

Policy Session

The Planning Process Committee of the Marin County Comprehensive Health Planning Council will have an orientation session on policy at 7:30 p.m. tomorrow at the Coral Room at Marin General Hospital, Kentfield.

Council Reviews Waterfront Plan

The Sausalito City Council last night cast favoring glances on a central waterfront plan proposed by property owners, then sent it on to the city planning consultants to see how it fits with the consultants' waterfront plan.

The owners' plan, approved last week by the planning commission, covers the area from the ferryboat Berkeley to Pine Street. It calls for expanding the Sausalito Yacht Harbor to 680 berths, a motel and professional-administrative office development at the base of the Sandspit on Bay Street, and commercial development on the old Arques shipyard between Johnson and Pine Streets.

Attorney Hugh G. Lawrence, representing the yacht harbor and Madden and Lewis, Inc., said he could not speak for MacMarin, Inc., operator of the Spinnaker restaurant at the end of the sandspit. This apparently indicated dissatisfaction with the plan by MacMarin, but Lawrence did not elaborate.

Councilman Jan Paul Dyk said he was apprehensive of the effect a motel downtown would have on traffic and shops, but Lawrence said it would have less effect than a comparable-sized retail store.

Councilmen gave cautious approval in principle, but sent the plan along to William T. Spangle and Associates without commiting themselves to approve any part of it.

Acting on suggestions of Councilman George Hoffman, the council told City Mgr. George M. Patterson to prepare ordinances for several parking changes.

Meter fees downtown will be boosted to 20 cents an hour, city residents will be allowed free parking from 9 a.m. to noon in city lot No. 1, part of parking lot No. 3 will be limited to two-hour or four-hour parking, and the rest of lot No. 3 will be boosted to 75 cents for all-day parking. More all-day meters at 50 cents will be installed in the Humboldt Avenue parking lot to be improved north of Lot 3; merchant-validated parking in lot No. 1 will be ended.

Patterson was also told to go ahead with removing meters from 12-minute green curb zones to be scattered downtown for quick pickup shopping. The administration can act on green curbs without an ordinance.

The council heard a proposal it become a "world city" and work toward international peace by Watana Keovimol, a Thai who is ambassador at large for the World Constitution and Parliament Association. Keovimol presented a letter from the mayor of Wolfach, Germany, a world city and site last summer of the world constitutional convention. Althya C. Youngman of Sausalito, who was a delegate to the convention, added her voice to Keovimol's for peace and for world city status for Sausalito.

The Sausalito City Council also:

ABANDONMENT — Rejected a request by Malcolm Dewees to buy the West Street right-of-way adjoining his property to enlarge a town house development he plans.

RECREATION — Was told the city has hired Richard Paris, 25, as a part-time director for the teen center now being renovated in the old Star of the Sea church hall.

FIREWORKS — Approved a request by Sausalito Artists and Merchants Association to have a fireworks display July 4, but postponed any promise to help pay for it.

SAUSALITO CANAL — Gave its blessing to proposed dredging of the Saucelito Canal through Richardson Bay if the Bay Conservation and Development Commission is satisfied spoils dumping proposed will have no ill effect on the bay and if project beneficiaries carry the local cost. William Hess of the Marin County Public Works Department said it is planned to dump the 700,000 cubic yards of spoils near Alcatraz and Treasure Island, where they presumably would be washed out to sea. The Army Corps of Engineers would finance half the $1 million cost, he said, but local financing is still up in the air.

Underwater Films

Several underwater films will be shown without charge at 7:30 p.m. Saturday at Bamboo Reef Undersea Products, 3765 Redwood Highway, San Rafael, Daniel J. McSweeney, assistant manager, said today.

Great Decisions 1969 Talks Begin Friday

Great Decisions 1969 will begin at 7:30 p.m. Friday at the home of Donald P. Bowden, 400 West Blithedale Avenue, Mill Valley.

The series of eight discussions on United States foreign policy is open to all interested persons, according to Bowden.

Early West Marin Will Be Discussed

Attorney Thomas J. Barfield of Bolinas will talk about "Looking Back in West Marin" at a general meeting of the Marin Medical Society and Auxiliary at 7 p.m. March 6 at the Meadow Club, west of Fairfax.

Barfield will tell about the early history of West Marin with emphasis on Bolinas.

Highway Signs Changes Studied

Corte Madera planning commissioners and chamber of commerce representatives spoke favorably last night of including a special section in the proposed sign ordinance for highway business signs.

Commission Chairman C. William Thomas said no action was taken at the adjourned meeting but that participants felt that signs of highway-oriented businesses should be different from those for neighborhood stores.

Another meeting on the sign ordinance will be set March 10 at the planners regular session, Thomas said.

Reserve Wing To Be Moved To Travis AFB

The 349th Military Airlift Wing, a reserve unit which has been headquartered at Hamilton Air Force Base since 1959, will be moved to Travis Air Force Base July 1, according to an announcement today by the wing information office.

This will mean that approximately 150 full-time military men who have been at Hamilton will be transferred to Travis. Many of these men have their homes in the area and will be required to move.

MANY TRANSFERS

There were 34 Civil Service employees in the wing when it was recalled to active duty in January last year, but 29 of these have transferred to other units at Hamilton, according to the information officers. It is not known now if the remaining five will move with the wing to Travis.

There were 950 reservists called to active duty with the 349th when the Pueblo was seized. Since that time, many of these men have been assigned to other units at Hamilton, Korea, England and other bases, with 450 men now at Hamilton.

All of the men assigned to other bases will be returned to Hamilton before June. Those who request it, will be returned to reserve status. Only those that were on full-time status with the wing or who request to stay in the regular military, will be transferred to Travis, according to the information office.

After the transfer, the men on reserve status will take their training at Travis instead of Hamilton.

ASSOCIATE WING

When the wing is moved to Travis, it will be changed to an associate wing of the Military Airlift Command. It has been flying the C130 cargo planes, but will change to the C141 Starlifter jet transport planes.

The men in the reserves will work beside those in the regular service under the change instead of working independently as in the past. They will continue their flying missions to airbases throughout the world, according to wing officers.

Officials at Hamilton have not yet assigned the hangar space or office space to any other units, it was also reported.

Construction Up In January

Building permits issued in Marin last month were 85.8 per cent higher than those issued in the same month a year ago, it was reported today by the Marin County Chamber of Commerce and Visitors Bureau.

A total of $4,744,000 in building permits was issued compared to $2,533,924 in January 1968, and was the highest for the month since 1965.

Permits for dwelling units totaled 169, compared to 57 in January 1968, with the majority of the gain in apartment units, which totaled 104.

San Rafael had the highest total $1,676,144, of which $639,541 was commercial and Novato had a total of $1,099,650, practically all accounted for by permits for 76 dwelling units.

Youth Accused Of Bad Check

Phillip Charles Verheyden of 500 South Eliseo Drive, San Rafel, was arrested yesterday by Mill Valley police on suspicion of passing forged checks.

Verheyden, 22, posted $2,000 bail to appear at 2 p.m. today in Marin Municipal Court for arraignment.

On Jan. 4, police said, Verheyden purchased a stereo record system from Accurate TV at 1 Throckmorton Avenue with a $215 check drawn on his own bank account but signed with a fictitious name.

Batteries Stolen

Doug Dicker reported to Corte Madera police yesterday that someone cut a hole through the fence on his auto agency property at 201 Casa Buena Drive and removed four batteries from new cars parked nearby. Value of the batteries was not given, said police.

OIL STAIN—Rolfe C. Croker of San Rafael cleans the bow of his Cal 36, the Ano Nuevo, which was in Santa Barbara during the oil well leak. (Independent-Journal photo)

STORM, THEN BLOB

Oil Damages San Rafael Yacht Caught In Santa Barbara Port

A San Rafael racing sloop, en route home from Mexico, received a staining dose of the brownish oil from Santa Barbara's runaway well, the vessel's owner said yesterday.

The boat, a Cal 36 owned by Rolfe C. Croker of San Rafael, was moored in the Santa Barbara Harbor for two weeks while the oil licked at its sleek lines.

More than 30 miles of beaches and harbors were ultimately coated by the gummy slick.

Croker, president of the Pacific Coast Title Co., said the boat, the Ano Nuevo, was being sailed home in spurts after finishing fourth in its class in the 1,000-mile Los Angeles to Mazatlan race in November. Croker skippered a crew of five in the race.

Croker said a friend sailed the Ano Nuevo to San Diego. There, Croker took over and, about four weeks ago, reached Santa Barbara.

"We tried to get out one day," he said, "but a storm drove us back. Then the oil came.

"We would clean the boat to the water line and the rain would splash the oil back up," Croker said. "Then they told us we had to stop using detergents in the water because of the added threat to wildlife.

More than 150 birds have been found dead as a result of the oil.

"We avoided all the oil slicks on the way home," Croker said. "But there was residue on the the water and it was enough to splash up."

Croker finally returned the Ano Nuevo to its berth at the Marin Yacht Club in San Rafael last week and has begun new cleanup operations.

He estimated $625 worth of damage to the $30,000 sloop. The vessel will have to be lifted from the water to clean the keel, Croker said.

Death Penalty Of Quentin Inmate Upheld

The California Supreme Court yesterday unanimously upheld the death sentence of San Quentin inmate Thomas Lamas Varnum, 28, who faces the gas chamber for a 1962 kidnap-murder in Los Angeles.

The high court's ruling came as attorneys for five other condemned prisoners opened an attack on the death penalty before the U.S. Supreme Court, a new penalty trial was ordered for a sixth and still another received a stay of execution.

The various legal actions left the numbers of inmates still with firm date for the gas chamber at four. One of those, Walter C. Hines, is involved in the U.S. Supreme Court appeal.

NOT SET YET

Varnum's new execution date has not been set. His attorneys argued before the state court that a prospective juror in Varnum's third penalty trial was improperly excused because he opposed the death penalty.

Justice Raymond L. Sullivan, however, said in the court's opinion that the juror had said she would oppose a death sentence no matter how strong the case against Varnum. Justices Raymond E. Peters, Matthew O. Tobriner and Otto M. Kaus filed a concurring opinion saying they believed capital punishment is unconstitutional and concurred with the judgment only because the court's majority had upheld the death penalty last year.

In another case, the court overturned the death sentence of Earl Clarence Sears, 61, because jurors were improperly selected. Sears, of Cupertino, was convicted of murdering his stepdaughter.

The challenge to the constitutionality of the death penalty before the U.S. Supreme Court was brought on behalf of Hines, Robert Page Anderson, Frederick Saterfield, Dorman Fred Talbot and Gerald Albert Beivelman.

TRIALS ORDERED

New penalty trials have been ordered for both Anderson and Saterfield and Beivelman faces a sanity trial, beginning in Marin Superior Court Friday, to determine whether he is sane enough to be executed. Talbot received a stay from U.S. Supreme Court Justice William O. Douglas earlier this month.

Attorneys for the five are seeking condemnation of the death penalty as violating the U.S. Constitution's prohibition against cruel and unusual punishment.

At a minimum, they urged the court to order hearings at which they would produce statistical, psychological and sociological data they said would demonstrate that capital punishment is not superior to life imprisonment as a deterrent to crime and that executions "are the shame of our society."

The five are appealing last November's 4-3 decision by the California Supreme Court upholding the death penalty.

In another legal action, Justice Douglas granted a stay to Edmund Earl Reeves, 31, who had been scheduled for the gas chamber next Wednesday. Reeves, who has received four previous stays, is seeking a new trial on grounds that California law unfairly allows trial judges too much discretion in imposing the death penalty.

Reeves, convicted of murdering an oil field worker near Bakersfield in 1965, contends he was not adequately represented by his court-appointed attorney.

Besides Varnum, those still facing execution dates are William Albert Tahl, March 19, and Hines and Paul Eugene LaVergne, March 26.

Fire Destroys Interior Shop In Northgate Shopping Area

One store was destroyed by fire and three others damaged by smoke last night at the Northgate Shopping Center in Terra Linda.

The fire, which took San Rafael firemen two hours to put out, gutted Fleischman's Interiors. The cause of the fire, which caused damage estimated at $19,500 to Fleischman's and three neighboring businesses, has not been determined.

The owner of the interior decorating firm, Fred Fleischman, 67, of 41 Elm Street, apparently suffered a heart attack while watching the fire and was taken by San Rafael police to Marin General Hospital after firemen administered oxygen. He was reported in fair condition at the hospital today.

Fire officials said smoke damaged the Morris Plan Co. of California, Cox's TV Sales & Service and the Northgate Travel Agency. Plate glass windows in the three firms were also broken, officials said.

Firemen responded to the firecall at 7:45 p.m. and did not leave the scene until 10:31 p.m.

Petaluman Arraigned In Kidnaping

John E. Barry, 36, of 428 Upham Street, Petaluma, was arraigned yesterday in Petaluma Municipal Court on a charge of kidnaping a 20-year-old youth at gunpoint Sunday night.

Barry was released on $1,250 bail and told to appear for a preliminary hearing at 2 p.m. Monday.

Police said Barry is accused of abducting Steven Harr of 700 Sixth Street, Petaluma. They said Barry forced Harr from a car at Wickersham Park and while pointing a shotgun at him, forced him into his camper-truck for a short drive while he questioned him about another youth. Harr was not harmed.

Public defender Marteen Miller was appointed to represent Barry on the kidnaping charge and for a misdemeanor count of brandishing a gun. Judge Alexander F. McMahon said he would set bail at the low figure of $1,250 if Barry would agree to turn all of his guns into the police.

Police said they later obtained five rifles and a shotgun at the Barry home.

San Anselman Faces Felony Wife Beating

Joseph Patrick Hartley, 34, of San Anselmo, was bound over to Marin Superior Court yesterday on a charge of felony wife beating. He was ordered to appear in Superior Court Monday for arraignment.

His wife, Jean, who has since been divorced from him, reported that her husband struck her several times with his open hand and then grabbed her by the hair and swung her about the room on Dec. 28.

Tuition Vote Split

An Assembly bill to impose tuition on students at the University of California and the state colleges was defeated on Monday in the Education Committee when seven Republicans voted for it and five Democrats opposed it, two votes short of the nine needed for committee approval. The Associated Press incorrectly reported yesterday that seven Democrats had voted for it and five Democrats against it.

Pleads Innocent To Drug Possession

Peter Bradford Oczkus, 18, of 118 Elena Circle, San Rafael, pleaded innocent in Marin Municipal Court yesterday to a charge of possessing marijuana Jan. 4 in San Rafael. A preliminary hearing was set for March 31.

Oczkus was arrested in a car on Las Gallinas Road.

PG&E Board Subpoened By Marinite

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — The entire board of directors of the Pacific Gas and Electric Co. has been subpoened to appear before the state Public Utilities Commission at the request of former commissioner William M. Bennett of Kent Woodlands.

Bennett, who had the subpoenas issued by the commission's staff, said he wanted to ask the directors about the utility's "political expenses" and "why they have to spend money advertising a necessity." The utitlity has reported it spends $2.5 million a year on promotion, arguing increased use of its services helps keep rates down.

The commission, however, is to hear a motion by PG&E attorneys to quash the subpoenas at 10 a.m. tomorrow in the State Building. The attorneys' motion termed them "vexatious, unreasonable, unnecessary and burdensome."

Bennett claimed the directors' testimony should be part of the commission's hearing on a $6.79 million gas rate increase. The increase, supported in a stipulation by the commission's staff, will be effective March 7 if approved by the commission. It would hike the average homeowner's monthly gas bill by 14 cents, the PUC staff has reported.

Among those subpoened was David Packard of Palo Alto, former board member now of Washington, D. C. who resigned when he was named undersecretary of defense.

Stereo Stolen

Youngsters may have been responsible for a burglary Sunday at the home of Elmer S. Albritton at 55 Upland Road, Kentfield, according to sheriff's deputies. A smashed pumpkin was left behind, and the house had been ransacked with a stereo set taken.

Flood Control Tax Hike To Be Viewed

I-J Special Report

SANTA ROSA — Sonoma County supervisors next week will consider a request to increase the tax rate of the Petaluma Area Flood Control District to the full 25-cent limit.

Carl Jackson, assistant engineer for the Sonoma County Flood Control and Water Conservation District, said the present tax rate of 18 cents per $100 assessed valuation is not enough to support the programs needed to curtail nuisance flooding in the Petaluma basin.

The Petaluma Flood Control Advisory Committee last week approved the recommended tax hike. The 7-cent increase would bring an additional $42,000 to the district, according to Jackson.

He said it would provide funds for the second segment of new drain facilities to carry water from the Cherry Street-Magnolia Avenue area across Petaluma Boulevard where it will discharge into the Petaluma River.

Jackson said it would also provide funds for the first phase of the Washington Creek project, running along McDowell Boulevard to a point 500 feet east of the roadway. The project involves lining the creek with concrete as far as Maria Drive to stop erosion and the installation of fencing along the creek bed.

The engineer said he did not know how the supervisors might react to the tax increase proposed. Other district rates in Sonoma County will remain stable, he said. Petaluma Supervisor Leigh S. Shoemaker did not attend the committee meeting when the tax hike was approved.

Three Fined On Drunken Driving

Three persons have been sentenced in Marin Municipal Court or drunken driving in Marin County .

Ernest Elie Blum, 62, of 1 Meyer Place, Kentfield, who was arrested Feb. 6 in Larkspur, was fined $302 and placed on six months probation.

Ronald Lee Werkheister, 26, of Fort Barry, was fined $125 and put on six months probation. He was arrested Saturday in Sausalito.

David Ralph Reed, 32, who was arrested Feb. 21 on Highway 101, was fined $200 and placed on six months probation. He lives at 57 Corte Solano, Greenbrae.

Thieves Invade Three Autos, Get $300 In Loot

Thieves have entered three autos in the San Rafael area in the past week and stolen more than $300 in goods, police reported.

Tilford J. Land of 108 La Brea Way, Santa Venetia, reported that $138 worth of items, including a $125 pair of binoculars, was stolen Monday or Tuesday from his camper-truck while parked either at his home or at Vallecito School in Terra Linda.

Stereophonic tapes worth $150 were reported stolen yesterday by Gary V. Muir of 1104 Sir Francis Drake Boulevard, San Anselmo, from his car in the Pacific Telephone Co. lot on H Street.

Cherie K. Reid of 109 Mount Lassen Drive, San Rafael, told police thieves stole the auto stereophonic set from her auto last Thursdy while it was parked at Terra Linda High School, where she is a student.

Sanity Trial Set

A jury trial in Marin Superior Court will be held to determine the sanity of Stephen K. Solon, 25, of Larkspur, charged with joyriding and stealing a credit card. A date for the trial will be set next Monday. He was arrested in Larkspur Jan. 20.

Pleads Guilty To Petty Theft

Richard Thomas Govednick, 22, of San Francisco, arrested in Sausalito Nov. 10 wandering down the street with a sports car tonneau cover over his shoulder, yesterday pweaded guilty to petty theft and being drunk in public.

Charges against him of possessing methamphetamine and concealing stolen property were dismissed.

Judge Peter Allen Smith of Marin Municipal Court set sentencing for March 21.

New Juvenile Hall Boys' Dorm Revived

A request to reconsider a new boys' dormitory at Juvenile Hall was granted by the Marin County Board of Supervisors yesterday, after the probation chief predicted the present building wouldn't hold up after 1971.

The board put the request from Walter H. Busher with other items it plans to reconsider in more detail during budget discussions.

Busher asked for $26,000 for planning the 15-bed wing for junior boys in the 1969-70 budget and $309,000 for construction in the 1970-71 budget, with a July 1971 target date for occupancy. The building would replace a leased portable unit now in use.

The request was deleted from Busher's proposed budget by the county administrator who recommended continuing the existing arrangement.

Busher argued that younger boys have recently moved in and the building is expected to receive heavier use than under the older youths who formerly occupied it.

Administrator Alan Bruce recommended waiting a year to see how much the building actually deteriorates under the new use.

And Supervisor Michael T. Wornum, who with other supervisors recently visited the juvenile facility, commented, "As an architect, I think it (the existing dorm) is terrible. As a supervisor, I think . . . physically it is something we can live with."

However the board agreed to go along with chairman John F. McInnis' recommendation to study the request at a later date.

A request for $115,000 for restroom facilities and lighting the Marin County Fairgrounds, asked by the board of Fair/Marin, didn't fare so well.

Wornum, pointing out the board had agreed there would not be a fair at the fairgrounds this year, commented: "Surely it doesn't make sense to put in lighting for a fair we're not going to hold."

The board agreed and put the matter over for consideration later, perhaps next year.

In another request for reconsideration of budget cuts, Pierre W. Joske, director of the parks and recreation, criticized what he believes are "one-side reductions" in the capital improvements program.

Joske has explained that his department's request for land acquisition and development through 1974-75 was cut $2.4 million, which represented 88 per cent of the total amount cut from the county's capital improvement budget.

Supervisor Louis H. Baar pointed out the original request was about $11 million.

Joske submitted alternatives to the department's original request was about $11 million.

Joske submitted alternatives to the department's original requests and the board agreed to consider them, along with a map of all park lands and their uses in Marin, Tuesday.

Credit Card Penalty 40 Days

Algis Michael Budry, 39, seaman and writer of no fixed address, received a sentence in Marin County Jail of 40 days, not four months, as incorrectly reported in Saturday's Independent-Journal.

He also was given credit for time already served, 41 days, by Judge Harold J. Haley of Marin Superior Court.

Budry, who was arrested by the California Highway Patrol Nov. 5 on Highway 101, had another person's credit card in his possession.

He did not receive a suspended prison sentence, as reported, but was placed on probation for two years.

San Rafael Burglary Denied By Novatan

Raymond Bruce Edwards, 26, pleaded innocent Monday in Marin Superior Court to burglarizing a San Rafael home Dec. 1. A jury trial was set for the week of May 26.

Edwards, who lives at 809 Atherton Avenue, Novato, is accused of burgling the home of David Elliott Stovel on Lochinvar Road.

Adjourned Session

The Gallinas Village Community Services District will hold an adjourned meeting at 7:30 p.m. today at the Santa Venetia Presbyterian Church to discuss cleaning up Pueblo Park.

Two Encounter Sessions Set

Two encounter groups, one for students from 15 to 25 years of age and one for couples, will be sponsored by the Marin Fellowship of Unitarians, 240 Channing Way, Terra Linda.

Sessions will be once weekly for four weeks with the student group starting at 7 p.m. Friday and the couples group at 7 p.m. March 6.

Registration is open to the public through Bettye Doty at the church office. Leader of the groups will be Dominic Cirincione, a member of the Center for the Study of Man.

The period of the Mayan Empire began in 731 A.D.

Singles Face Possible Cuts In Welfare Aid

The standard $158 per month general relief given to single persons may have to be reduced because the county is running out of relief funds, Marin County supervisors hinted yesterday. (Another board of supervisors story, page 1.)

The supervisors voted a $10,000 emergency appropriation to meet general relief payments through next Tuesday, at which time supervisors will get a report from Betty Presley, director of public social services, on where, if any, the cuts can be made.

Miss Presley reported yesterday she needs $91,000 additional funds to meet general relief payments through June 30. She said the deficit was caused by an alarming increase in the number of relief applicants, the court injunction against residency requirements, and inclement weather which reduces jobs.

GREATER CRISIS

She said other counties like San Francisco and Alameda are facing even greater shortages in general relief funds.

County Auditor-Controller Michael Mitchell reported that a windfall of $115,000 is expected because of extra interest earnings from investment of county funds. Mitchell said this could be used to plug the general relief deficit.

"If we use this for general relief, aren't we jeopardizing our general reserve fund?" asked Supervisor Louis H. Baar. The county's general reserve for contingencies, which started with $350,000, is now down to $115,500, with four more lean months to go this fiscal year.

Supervisor Peter R. Arrigoni Jr. noted that the bulk of general relief payments go to single persons. Thus far this year, $135,432 has been spent for single persons and $29,881 for families on general relief.

BIGGEST SLICE

"The biggest amount goes to single persons. Any chance to cut down on this?" asked Arrigoni.

County Administrator Alan Bruce suggested that another alternative would be to deny aid to employable persons after a certain number of days.

"By next week, we want to know all alternates under our control that would cut the deficit by 50 per cent," said chairman John F. McInnis. He emphasized that such alternates will be studied by the supervisors next week in determining whether any cuts are possible and by how much.

Forum On Drugs Slated Sunday

A free public forum on drugs in modern society entitled "Drugs — Use of Abuse?" will be conducted at 7 p.m. Sunday at the Marinwood Community Center by the Marin Covenant Church.

Ronald Shafer, professional service representative for Smith, Kline and French laboratories, and Dr. Samuel Anderson, a San Rafael psychiatrist, will speak and Autenrieb of Terra Linda, a pharmacist, and Rev. Gary R. Copeland, pastor of the Covenant Church will participate.

The program will cover questions such as: What Do They Do: Why are they being used? What are the legal aspects of drugs: Where does on turn for help if it is needed?"

County Seeks Ordinance To Help Check Tomales Bay Development

Marin County supervisors yesterday asked the county planning commission to draft an ordinance to control development in Tomales Bay and expressed concern about subdividing within proposed Point Reyes National Seashore boundaries.

The ordinance is aimed at regulating the construction of piers such as the 224-foot pier with a two-story house planned by R. K. Joerger of Millbrae just north of Inverness Yacht Club.

County Planning Dir. Paul C. Zucker presented an interim ordinance yesterday as requested by the supervisors. The ordinance would have been in effect for 90 days and have required a use permit before any development in Tomales Bay.

Supervisors decided that an emergency measure is not necessary since no widespread construction is going on in the bay.

They decided that a normal ordinance processed by the planning commission, with advertised hearings, would be preferable. "Let's refer it to the planning commission for routine processing," said chairman John F. McInnis.

"If long piers suddenly start up, we can still issue an emergency ordinance," added Michael Wornum.

Wornum, alarmed by reports of impending subdivision of forest areas near Point Reyes Seashore, today asked that the matter be put on the agenda next week for discussion.

"The report of subdividing into 40-acre lots, cutting of timber, piers on Tomales Bay — they're all coming to a head," warned Wornum. He said the supervisors should take some action to show their concern.

Supervisor Peter H. Arrigoni Jr. asked the county administrator to get a copy of the San Mateo County ordinance which prohibits logging in certain areas of that county.

Harold E. Gregg, president of the Marin Conservation League, waved a sheaf of papers from the audience section. "Here it is," he smiled.

McInnis suggested that airmail letters or telegrams be sent to Reps. Don H. Clausen R-First District, and William Mailliard, R-Sixth District.

County Administrator Alan Bruce reported that Sen. Alan Cranston has indicated he is prepared to introduce legislation to increase federal appropriation to purchase more land for the Point Reyes Seashore.

Supervisors asked Bruce to bring in a report on the status of development in and around the seashore next week.

The Marin County Board of Supervisors also:

ROAD MAINTENANCE — Approved a resolution to set up the Inverness Road Division in Inverness Subdivision No. 2 for that residents can pay for maintenance of their roads — Rannoch, Keith and Sterling Ways. Initial outlay will be about $5,100, and annual maintenance about $500. Assistant County Counsel Richard V. Godino said an election must be held to get residents' approval to impose the road maintenance tax.

VEHICLE PURCHASE — Approved a resolution authorizing the Office of Procurement, Department of General Services of the State of California, to purchase vehicles for the county. Purchasing agent Doug Edelen said cars can be purchased more cheaply through the state.

NOVATO LIBRARY — Postponed until budget time a request by County Libarian Bruce D. Bajema to increase the working hours of two part-time staff workers at the Novato branch of the county library. An added $1,523 would have been needed to pay for added staff time between now and June 30.

CHILD CARE — Added Edgewood child care center in San Francisco to the list of child care institutions approved for use by the probation and public social services departments. The rate for each child placed there is $435 per month.

EASTER SEAL — Formally proclaimed March 1 through April 6 as Easter Seal month and posed for photographs with Easter Seal girl Claudia Johnson, 6, of San Rafael, and sports announcer Russ Hodges of Mill Valley, Marin chairman of the Easter Seal campaign.

CRIME LAB — Gave preliminary support to an application for federal aid to set up a regional crime laboratory in Marin County, as requested by the Centralized Police Services Council.

TIBURON TRAILS — Continued until April 1 a hearing on a proposed Tiburon hiking and riding trails system. Zucker asked for continuance because the Tiburon City Council will not act on the plan until March 24.

HOUSING — Approved spending $2,300 to generate a $21,400 one-time state-federal grant for emergency housing needs of welfare recipients over the recommendation to reject the plan by Administrator Alan Bruce, who feared it might create a precedent for dipping into reserve funds.

FOOD STAMPS — Authorized Wells Fargo, Bank of America and Crocker-Citizens banks as the agencies to sell food stamps to welfare recipients beginning April 1 at a fee of 90 cents per transaction.

NEWS STAND — Authorized a contract for maintenance and operation of a news-cigar stand in the Hall of Justice, to be run by a blind operator under supervision of the state's rehabilitation program.

DAMAGE SUIT — Authorized county counsel to defend the county in a $290,000 damage suit filed by Burnett Bolloten and others. The suit contends that adoption of the Fairfax Area Master Plan dininished the value of their land.

HUMAN RIGHTS — Approved revising the county code to permit members of the human rights commission to serve more than two terms, as is the practice with other county commissions.

S.F. State Unrest To Be Viewed

Two students and two professors at San Francisco State College, all Marin residents, will present their differing views of campus troubles on the KTIM radio Sounding Board program at 9 a.m. tomorrow.

On the program will be Dr. Joel Gustafson, associate dean of the school of biology, who supports acting college president S. I. Hayakawa, and Daniel G. Knapp, professor of English who is on strike.

Students who will speak are Marilyn Drath of San Rafael, in sympathy with student strikers, and Steve Diaz, a member of the Committee for an Academic Environment. Questions may be telephoned to the studio during the broadcast.

The program, moderated by Kitty Oppenheimer, will be rebroadcast at 10:05 a.m. Sunday.

Four Drivers Are Fined On Drunken Driving

Four persons have been sentenced in Marin Municipal Court for drunken driving in Marin County.

Wilfred Donald Wamsley, 49, of 4 South Ridgewood Drive, Kentfield, was placed on six months probation and fined $302. He was arrested Oct. 29 in San Anselmo.

Bruce Edward Maynard, 23, of 690 Rosal Way, San Rafael, was placed on one year probation and fined $125. He was arrested Nov. 3 on Villa Street in San Rafael.

Donald Albert Woodmansee, 54, of San Francisco, who was arrested Dec. 1 on the Sausalito Lateral, was fined $100 and given six months probation.

Lucille Eleanor Krieger, 47, of Agate Beach, Bolinas, who was arrested Nov. 17 in San Rafael, was fined $125 and placed on six months probation.

Bay Transplant Patient Dies

STANFORD (AP) — Stanford University Hospital's latest heart transplant recipient, Douglas Allan Sr., 55, died yesterday as he was being treated for acute rejection symptoms.

Allan had received a new heart Feb. 15 from an anonymous donor who died at the hospital of a brain injury.

Doctors said an autopsy will be conducted in an effort to determine the exact cause of Allan's death.

Allan, a Menlo Park insurance broker, had suffered from severe arteriosclerotic heart disease, doctors said.

His was the twelfth heart transplant performed by the team headed by Dr. Norman Shumway. Four patients are still alive.

Allan is survived by his wife, Virginia and a son, Douglas Jr., who is stationed with the U.S. Army at Petaluma.

Sacramento Tax Hike Defeated

SACRAMENTO (AP)—Voters in the Sacramento City School District yesterday defeated 28,495 to 16,160 a proposed $1.11 increase in the property tax rate.

School officials had said the increase was vital to the district.

Similar attempts to increase the school tax were voted down in 1960 and 1962.

Recently the school board said that if the override failed, steps would have to be taken to dismiss 74 teachers because of lack of funds.

Both Pleasure And Pain In Being Hornswoggled

HORNSWOGGLE: verb transitive (origin unknown): Bamboozle, hoax. — Webster's Third International. Dictionary.

A fine old word is "hornswoggle," and a fine old practice, to which the citizen is frequently subjected.

Let's take an example right here in Marin.

BACK IN THE EARLY 1950s, county supervisors decided that property must be acquired for an expansion of county government facilities. The old courthouse was bursting at the seams, and county departments were in rented offices scattered all around town (a situation that still prevails).

After missing one chance to obtain the land at a lower price, the supervisors bought 140 acres in Santa Venetia for $3,000 per acre as the site for a future Civic Center.

Then, in 1957, with $550,000 on hand in a Civic Center fund squirreled up from taxes, they set about starting the building program. Then-County Administrator Donald A. Jensen assured them there would be enough money for the Civic Center buildings by 1961.

THE CHOICE of an architect then became a matter of great moment. The supervisors (all except William D. Fusselman) were delighted when they obtained (at four per cent above the normal fee) the services of the world-famous Frank Lloyd Wright.

In March of 1958, Wright displayed his plans. There, in the drawings, were the two wings since denominated Administration Building and Hall of Justice, the Veterans Memorial Auditorium, the county fairgrounds.

Wright gave his estimates: $2,724,000 for the first wing, $1,400,000 for the second.

Some changes were subsequently made, adding a million dollars to the estimate for the first wing. So when the low bid came in at $3,638,735, the supervisors (all except Fusselman) were overjoyed.

SOME STRANGE THINGS happened thereafter, though.

Recently, a new board of supervisors asked County Auditor-Controller Michael Mitchell for an accounting of what had been spent and remained to be spent on the Civic Center.

Here are his figures: Administration building, $5,147,141; Hall of Justice, $11,778,717; further requirements through June 30, 1975, estimated at $4,053,400. (That last figure, incidentally, includes an additional 15 or 16 acres of land.)

These figures left something out, however. Not included were the fairgrounds and Veterans Memorial Auditorium, and 80 acres of the original 140 which is fairgrounds site.

These, according to Mitchell, add $3,961,000 to the total— of which $2,066,000 will be county money with the remainder coming from state horse racing pari-mutuel funds.

This brings the total projected cost of the project to $24,960,258—call it $25 million for a nice round figure.

THERE IS A PLEASANT sensation in viewing the sweeping, neo-Roman lines of the Administration Building, the Hall of Justice, the Veterans Memorial Auditorium. Our breasts swell with pride. We beam with satisfaction.

Such pleasant sensations are the hallmark of expert and thorough hornswoggling. But they are alloyed somewhat by Mitchell's figures, which remind us of another characteristic of that ancient and dishonorable practice:

The cost of being hornswoggled is painful indeed.

Why They Jump

Many theories have been advanced to explain San Francisco's high rate of suicide. Among them is the idea that San Francisco is the end of the trail for those who are driven westward in a lemming-like desire to reach the frontier. Another is that San Francisco is a glamor city and that people are attracted by its promise of pleasure only to find that the individual's sense of hopelessness is accentuated in the faceless big city.

But recently a professor at Berkeley, Dr. Richard H. Seiden, examined these theories and came up with some statistics which tend to disprove them. Dr. Seiden found that 78 per cent of the suicides had been residents of the city for more than five years. But he found there were more unmarried people, more older people and more alcoholics than in most other American cities — all of which correlate with suicide.

AFFAIRS OF STATE

You Can Fool All The People Some Of The Time, But . . .

By HENRY C. MacARTHUR

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — It will be more than surprising if the state legislature doesn't run into more trouble than it cares to contemplate when the knotty problem of "property tax relief" comes up again this year.

Property owners of California are slowly beginning to wake up to the fact that the so-called relief they voted in 1968 by amending the constitution consists of little more than delusion.

FOR INSTANCE, in Sacramento, almost the entire amount of relief, $70 for last year, is wiped out by an increase in the tax rate this year, and the property owners have not as yet even started receiving the rebate.

In neighboring Yolo County, the assessor has sent out notices of new assessments, raising cash values of property with consequent increases in assessed values nearly three times the amount on which the taxpayers paid last year.

State Sen. John G. Schmitz, R-Tustin, is one legislator who recognizes the ridiculous attempts to convince the people of the state they are going to get some benefits from tax relief.

"Politics and politicians," he says, "are unfortunately well known for glaring inconsistency.

"Never has there been a more striking example than the game of political musical chairs now being played in the debate over Governor Reagan's proposed budget and tax cut."

Schmitz says it is true that $422 million of tax increase dollars has been distributed to counties in the name of "property tax relief," but, "There is nothing to keep county supervisors from raising local taxes so as to wipe out any saving to the taxpayer.

"Exactly this has happened in a number of counties already, and may be expected in others."

IF SCHMITZ had predicted that this situation would occur in all other counties, he might not have been far wrong.

As has been stated many times in this column, no meaningful tax reductions can be accomplished without decreases in spending. And with state spending up to more than $6 billion next year, as well as prospective corresponding increases in local government spending, there is little chance that the taxpayer is going to be able to veer away from the state of bankruptcy to which the multiferous taxing agencies are driving him.

ABAG Police Study Seen As Monster

In your issue of Feb. 5 you had an editorial entitled "ABAG Not Policeman in "Law and Order" Job and you said ABAG appointed a committee to "draw up a plan for joint operations by law enforcement agencies when riots or other disorders call for more lawmen than one jurisdiction has available". This one is risky, to give such powers to ABAG, but the next one is really dangerous, being "supposed to set up a program for riot control training for officers, since many of the smaller police departments lack funds to train their men in such work."

This emanates from the Federal National Advisory Commission on Crime and Disorder and is funded by a $19 million grant of federal funds. From there it goes to the California Council on Criminal Justice and then to the Association of Bay Area Governments (ABAG).

I hold Supervisor John E. McInnis in high regard, but he has created a monster which will be used by an active minority to foister their viewpoints on the public. . .

We need to support the idea of local police authority responsible to the community and oppose all efforts by federal, state or ABAG to even have a finger in controlling our police. . . Get involved and do your share to help our local police and keep them independent.

Residence Rule Seen As Handicap

Recently, you ran an article under a byline on your front page urging the board of supervisors to limit the selection of the new chief probation officer to county residents.

As a former member of the Juvenile Justice Commission of Marin for six years, I know that all the surrounding counties with whom we compete in hiring, canvass the entire state to obtain the services of the best qualified person for the post. Marin County would be foolish to allow some vague interpretation of the law to interfere with obtaining the best possible candidate.

Incidentally, the Marin Board of Supervisors has established some very high educational and experience standards for this post. Such standards combined with a county residence qualification would severely limit the candidates eligible for such position, and possibly could even result in finding no candidates meeting such qualifications from within the county.

The state law merely states that a county officer shall be an elector of the state at the time of his official appointment.

JOHN E. CAHILL
San Francisco

(Editor's note: The writer of this letter is mistaken. The Independent-Journal did not run a front page story urging the board of supervisors to do anything; it ran a front-page story describing sections of state law which govern selection of a chief probation officer. One of these sections requires that he be an elector of the county — not just of the state. Incidentally, San Francisco, from which the letter comes, has run up against this provision in connection with its hiring of a new chief probation officer.)

Thanks For Setting Record Straight

On Wednesday, Feb. 19, Fred Hartley, the president of Union Oil Co., took full page ads in many newspapers to "please, let's set the record straight: . . . I was falsely charged with callously saying: 'I'm amazed at the publicity for the loss of a few birds! I said no such thing at any time.' . . .

After reading the 800-odd word ad I agreed he was misquoted. What he is saying, and said, is:

"In perspective, I'm amazed at the publicity for the loss of a relatively few birds."

I'm glad he spent a few thousand to get this straightened out.

ABAG Activities Hint Power Grab

Due to the recent flood of news releases from ABAG it is becoming evident that it is in the process of attempting to win support for a regional government. Perhaps the powers of such a government would be limited at the beginning but would gradually be increased as is the normal procedure with empire building bureaucrats.

The whole idea of a regional government is simply a power grab by the social planners who desire a centralized power structure from which to scheme rather than work with the numerous cities that are subject to the will of their respective citizens. The federal government, by subsidizing ABAG, is a party to this dastardly plot. The continuation of ABAG is a useless expenditure of the taxpayers' money.

I suggest that the Law Enforcement Task Force Unit of ABAG include in its agenda the crimes of embezzlement and legalized plunder of taxpayers' money.

Kook Revolutionists Tip Their Hands

A very recent article by William Buckley thus quotes Jerry Rubin, the leader of the Yippies:

"Three years ago we were going to overthrow Washington from Telegraph Avenue."

By "Washington" Jerry undoubtedly meant the government of the United States.

Unfortunately Buckley did not mention that Telegraph Avenue is the street that leads directly to the U.C. campus at Berkeley, via Sather Gate.

It's a good thing that kooks like Rubin are poor poker players They "tip their hands."

TRY AND STOP ME

By BENNETT CERF

Buddy Hackett tells about an ingenious dentist who found a way to handle a particularly nervous lady patient. She panicked regularly the moment she seated herself in his chair, and clamped her mouth so tightly that he couldn't pry it open. So one afternoon he had his girl assistant sneak up behind her, and as soon as he was ready to drill, she got the signal to jab the lady in the rear with a hatpin. The patient opened her mouth to holler — and that was that.

His ministrations completed, the dentist consoled the patient, "Now that wasn't so bad after all, was it?" "Not quite," she admitted, still trembling, "but I certainly didn't expect to feel the pain so far down!"

OVERHEARD:

Diplomatic nurse to nervous patient in anteroom: "Don't let the doctor frighten you, my dear. Doctors are like politicians — they view with alarm so that they can point with pride."

Barber to pestiferous customer: "Yes, there is one sure cure for dandruff. It was invented by a Frenchman. His name was Guillotine."

Hanoi Playing Careful Game: Negotiate To Prolong The War

By ROSCOE and GEOFFREY DRUMMOND

WASHINGTON — It must seem criminal to most Americans that after both sides have agreed to discuss real peace terms, Hanoi day after day refuses to negotiate seriously.

That's an understandable reaction, but in order not to risk losing the peace through impatience, we must realize what the North Vietnamese are up to.

They are conducting their side of the Paris talks according to plan — their plan — and to counter it we need to understand it.

FROM ITS standpoint, Hanoi is pursuing a rational and well-conceived course of planned inaction in Paris.

The North Vietnamese and the Viet Cong never wanted to negotiate a peace. They wanted — always said they wanted, always said they would get — a military victory giving them control of South Vietnam.

They failed. They finally agreed to talk because they were losing so badly militarily that they had no alternative.

But to them the negotiating table is simply an extension of the war — until they find it won't work.

Having failed to get control of South Vietnam by war, Hanoi and the VC are aiming to get control by negotiation.

This is why, for the present, they are continuing to stall any meaningful talks despite their promise that ending the bombing of the north would bring "prompt and productive" negotiation.

HANOI STALLS for two purposes:

It knows it can't get a one-sided peace settlement in Paris unless it can win a major military victory in South Vietnam. It keeps searching out opportunities for a new offensive, but thus far it finds the South Vietnamese and allied forces too alert and too strong.

But Hanoi has an additional reason for stalling. It believes that if it waits long enough to make the prospects of peace seem more elusive, the anti-Vietnam, peace-at-any-price people will come to its aid in the United States and will become so vocal and potent that President Nixon can be pushed into almost any kind of settlement in order to get it over with.

These are the reasons we should not expect early results from the Paris talks. This is why Mr. Nixon declines to put any time limit on how long it will take. The North Vietnamese Communists are counting on help from the American peace movement to pressure President Nixon into a frantic capitulation, and they figure their delaying tactics will contribute.

BUT POSSIBLY Hanoi is misjudging the willingness of the American peace movement to help it take South Vietnam by negotiation. If the American peace movement wants to bring peace nearer, its leaders will have to make it evident that they are not going to play Hanoi's game in the United States.

Then Hanoi will have to begin to negotiate seriously in Paris. The Communists in South Vietnam are continuing to lose momentum, both politically and militarily, and the likelihood of a successful new offensive to enhance their bargaining position is fading.

Writing from Saigon, here is the judgment of one of the most careful and experienced American reporters in Southeast Asia, Robert S. Elegant of the Los Angeles Times:

"Throughout South Vietnam, even in the worst provinces, the tide is turning. Exploiting Communist disarray after last year's Tet offensive, the allies are winning the war militarily and beginning to win the political war."

Despite this, Hanoi is continuing to demand all or nothing in Paris. But if Hanoi sees that President Nixon is not going to be pushed or, if pushed, is not going to yield to such demands, then real negotiations will begin and an honorable peace will be within reach.

INSIDE WASHINGTON

Vote Now Would Doom ABM Plan, Laird Told

By ROBERT S. ALLEN and JOHN A. GOLDSMITH

WASHINGTON — Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird is being told that, if the Senate were to vote today, deployment of the controversial Sentinel antiballistic missile system probably would be killed.

Laird himself, a couple of weeks ago said he saw no shifting of views in the Senate which voted support for the "thin" Sentinel deployment on three occasions last year.

It is assumed at the capitol that Laird, until recently a member of the GOP congressional leadership, is simply whistling in the dark. Strategists say views are changing, in the House as well as the Senate, and that Laird must know about them.

LAST YEAR Sen. Fred R. Harris, D-Okla., voted on two occasions in support of the Sentinel ABM system.

Now Harris says that, with a new administration in office, he is "far more skeptical" about the Pentagon's deployment plan. Harris has recently become chairman of the Democratic National Committee, and the party chairman's skeptical comments will make it easier for other Democrats to take a similar stand.

A rebuff for the ABM system would require a vote change by Harris and perhaps four or five other erstwhile Sentinel supporters. There have been a couple of developments to promote such Senate switches.

In the first place, the Democratic leaders who did the legislative maneuvering for President Johnson's ABM need not perform that service for President Nixon.

MOREOVER the Sentinel opposition has broadened. A straw in the wind is the shift of Rep. Thomas M. Pelly, D-Wash., who now opposes the ABM deployment because it would mean that his Seattle constituents would live in the shadow of nuclear warheads.

Secretary Laird's announced "review" of the Sentinel system is shaping up as a search for an alternate deployment plan which would remove anti-missile batteries from metropolitan areas. It is designed to quiet the sort of opposition voiced by Pelly.

A revised plan may moderate that sort of opposition in specific areas. Senators, however, will come under local pressures no matter where in their states the nuclear-tipped missiles are finally emplaced. Now that local opposition has been aroused, a revised deployment plan may not be enough.

ALSO symptomatic are the activities of the influential Senate-House Atomic Energy Committee.

Last year the committee chairman, Sen. John O. Pastore, D-R.I., was one of the Democratic leaders of the successful battles in support of the Sentinel system.

This year, with the advent of a new Congress, Rep. Chet Holifield D-Cal., has taken over as committee chairman. Holifield is planning to hold ABM hearings this time in the Atomic Energy Committee. A major argument against the Sentinel's effectiveness has been that its radars would be blinded (and its missiles misguided), by the electromagnetic effects of the first nuclear warhead destroying the first incoming missile. The committee is qualified to assess that objection.

Could Council Administer Fairfax In Time Spent Discussing Job?

By now, Fairfax has probably put in more than 100 hours on its long-standing city administrator controversy, despite Mayor Robert R. Souza's Dec. 7 promise:

"I feel the council will be able to implement these ideas if we can get a cross-section of opinion."

One of the "ideas" was to hire a city administrator immediately. (The post has been vacant since the resignation last June of David J. Sumbardo.)

The major, in his December speech, didn't specify a large cross-section, and apparently the 76 persons at the Congress for Community Progress weren't what he had in mind, for he has steadfastly ignored their recommendation.

IN DISCUSSIONS since that December meeting, councilmen have hit the new theme — difference in "philosophy" over the very existence of the job.

But the three members who vote against hiring an administrator must not really be against it — they've spent hours this month discussing hiring City Clerk Frances Lestanguet as city administrator.

Meanwhile, Councilman Cornelis Van Vliet summed up his opinion of the town meeting by commenting that with only 76 attending, "That's hardly a mandate about how people feel."

The council has scheduled discussions of town meeting recommendations for the next several council meetings — a plan which may be a waste of time if the council doesn't believe the congress was representative.

And Fairfax rarely gets through its agenda on the first try anyway.

ONE OF THE NEWEST members of the Ecumenical Association for Housing — Marin County, a group working for housing for low and moderate income persons, is the Marin County Real Estate Board.

The board joined through its subcommittee of the national Build America Better Committee, specifically to help the ecumenical association find sites for its projects, according to Laurene Curley, subcommittee chairman.

AT LEAST one group is unhappy with Marin Municipal Water District, despite the grand jury's report that it is doing a fine job.

San Anselmo recently learned that a water district estimate to install a meter was 50 per cent low — $400 less than the actual cost.

There were also complaints of slowness in billing by the water district. A lag of months was reported by city officials.

THE PEOPLE'S SCHOOLS

AFT, Though Minority, Not Bashful In Demands

By BRYCE W. ANDERSON

The role of the American Federation of Teachers in unrest on California campuses has created considerable confusion.

The AFT falls far short of representing a majority of teachers at University of California or any of the state colleges. The union's own figures (doubtless somewhat inflated) give it about 25 per cent of the faculty at San Francisco State and Chico State Colleges, and lower percentages on other campuses.

Nevertheless, the union contends that it should be recognized as spokesman for the teachers.

MAJOR OFF-CAMPUS backing for this AFT contention has come from San Francisco's Mayor Joseph L. Alioto. He has repeatedly urged that the California State Colleges Board of Trustees should negotiate with the AFT, and has even proposed that the Legislature pass a special law providing for such negotiation.

What would the AFT insist on if given such bargaining rights? It has published lists of "demands" at both San Francisco and San Jose State Colleges — although a strike at the latter was called off without the demands being met. These lists, however, apparently represent only a small part of the demands the union is prepared to push.

A BETTER IDEA of the breadth of the union's demands is provided by a list of 48 of them taken down by a secretary during a two-day session with representatives of Chancellor Glenn Dumke of the state colleges. The session was held last Dec. 27 and 28 in an attempt to head off the San Francisco State strike. Here are some of the 48 demands made by union representatives during that discussion:

"The grievances of the Black Students Union and the Third World Liberation Front must be resolved and implementation assured. . . .

"Approval in advance is to be given to whatever college constitution emerges from the constitutional convention to be called by the Academic Senate . . .

"Regardless of academic rank, there is to be automatic progression through the salary scale until the top step of the professor salary is reached . . .

"NO FACULTY member is to be required to teach or perform other duties on campus if he thinks that an atmosphere incompatible with academic pursuits is present...

"The maximum teaching load for faculty members teaching undergraduates is to be nine units." (Present standard at the state colleges is 12 units; standard teaching load in high schools is generally 20 to 25 units.)

"In no case shall the student-teacher ratio for any department exceed 17 to 1. . . .

"A faculty member shall, after one year of employment, be entitled to a one-year leave of absence without pay . . . During such leave he is to receive credit toward his normal salary step increase, and the period is to count toward tenure. . . .

"Each faculty member is to receive $500 annually for . . . research and/or travel. . . .

"One thousand dollars per fulltime faculty member is to be allocated for employment of student and graduate assistants." In addition, there is to be "a minimum of $3,000 for every four fulltime faculty members" for more graduate assistants.

"THERE MUST be one fulltime secretary for every six fulltime faculty members . . .

"Each faculty member who requests it shall be provided with a one-man office. . . .

"All grievance procedures will be specified by the union . . .

"Decisions made by the faculty with respect to assignment of faculty members. . . . are to be final and not subject to administrative reversal. . . .

"The faculty is to be given sole authority over graduation requirements."

Early Session For Trustees

Dixie School District trustees will meet at 7:30 p.m. today at 35 Trellis Drive, Terra Linda.

The meeting will start a half-hour early so that after the regular meeting, trustees will have time to meet in closed session to discuss probationary teachers and their continued employment.

During the regular meeting, the Negotiating Council of the Dixie Teachers Association will present requests for salary raises for the coming school year.

Trustees will also review a claim by contractor Joseph Filippo that he has an extra $1,300 coming to him for added site work performed on the additions to Oak View School in San Rafael Park.

CITY COUNCIL OF THE CITY OF NOVATO
RESOLUTION NO. 23-69

RESOLUTION GIVING NOTICE OF PROPOSED ANNEXATION TO THE CITY OF NOVATO OF UNINHABITED TERRITORY DESCRIBED HEREIN AND DESIGNATED "CENTER ROAD ANNEXATION NO. 3" AND GIVING NOTICE OF TIME AND PLACE FOR HEARING OF PROTESTS THERETO.

BE IT RESOLVED BY THE COUNCIL OF THE CITY OF NOVATO:

1. That is has come to the attention of the City Council of the City of Novato, and this Council finds, that it would be for the best interests of said City and of the residents of the contiguous area herein described to alter the boundaries of said City by annexing thereto and incorporating therein as a part thereof under the provisions of the annexation of Uninhabited Territory Act of 1939, as amended, certain property situated in the County of Marin, State of California, hereby designated "Center Road Annexation No. 3", and described in Exhibit "A" attached hereto and made a part hereof.

2. The reasons why the City of Novato desires said annexation are as follows:

(a) Said territory because of its location and other features should be governed in its development by the same zoning and planning regulations which govern territory within the City of Novato.

(b) Because of its location, said territory will receive the benefit of and should therefore participate in supporting the municipal services of said city.

3. The City of Novato has heretofore filed with the Local Agency Annexation Commission of Marin County, a notice of intention to annex the territory more particularly described in Exhibit "A". Said notice contained the specific boundaries of the territory proposed to be annexed. The description of said territory was submitted to the Marin County Boundary Commission, and the attached description in accordance with the report of said Commission. Thereafter, the Local Agency Annexation Commission of Marin County after public hearing did approve said proposed annexation.

4. That Tuesday, March 25, 1969, at the hour of 8:00 o'clock P.M., in the Council Chambers, Novato Community House, in the City of Novato, County of Marin, California, is hereby fixed as the time and place when and where any person owning real property within the uninhabited territory above described and proposed to be annexed to the City of Novato, and having any objections to the proposed annexation, may appear before the Council of the City of Novato and show cause why such uninhabited territory should not be so annexed to the City of Novato. The protest must be in writing, may be filed at any time before the hour set for hearing objections to the proposed annexation, and shall state the name or names of the owner or owners of property affected and the description and area of such property, in general terms.

5. The City Clerk of the City of Novato is hereby authorized and directed to cause a copy of this resolution to be published at least twice, but not oftener than once a week, in the Novato Advance, a newspaper of general circulation published in said City of Novato and in the Independent-Journal, a newspaper of general circulation published in the County of Marin, said publication to be complete at least twenty (20) days prior to the date set for hearing.

6. The City Clerk is directed to cause written notice to be given to such other persons as may be legally entitled thereto in the manner required by law.

* * * * *

I HEREBY CERTIFY that the foregoing resolution was duly and regularly adopted by the City Council of the City of Novato, Marin County, California, at a regular meeting thereof, held on the 11th day of February, 1969, by the following vote, to wit:

AYES: COUNCILMEN GARGIULO, WOMACK, SILVA, McASKILL
NOES: COUNCILMEN NONE
ABSENT: COUNCILMEN MERRILL

Bug-Like Lunar Excursion Craft Due Its First Test On Weekend

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

It's an ungainly-looking craft, like a fat bug with antenna for feelers and portholes for eyes. It is the only major piece of Apollo hardware that has not been flown by man in space.

"It" is the lunar excursion module — LEM to its friends — and it is the American moon landing ship, a spindley-legged craft which eventually will ferry two astronauts to the lunar surface.

Apollo 9 astronauts, Air Force Lt. Cols. James A. McDivitt and David R. Scott and civilian astronaut Russell L. Schweickart, give it a practical tryout in a 10-day orbiting trip Friday. They'll not actually land on the moon, but if the Apollo 9 mission succeeds, only one more preliminary flight is planned before that historic feat is attempted.

McDivitt, who will command the Apollo 9 flight, spoke of the LEM as "a very flimsy craft — like a tissue paper spacecraft. If we're not careful, we could easily put a foot through it." Nor is it designed for comfort: there aren't any seats in it. The two men who pilot it must do so standing up.

The LEM will be launched into space by the same Saturn 5 rocket carrying the Apollo 9. McDivitt, Scott and Schweickart will ride in the main Apollo ship, with the LEM resting in an adapter section between the third stage and the spaceship.

Once in orbit, the astronauts will link up with the LEM and McDivitt and Schweickart will crawl into it through a connecting tunnel.

Then they'll separate, move up to 110 miles away, and practice rendezvous and docking maneuvers with Scott in the main Apollo ship.

Plans also call for Schweickart to take a two-hour space walk, in which he'll transfer from the LEM to Apollo and back again. This is to rehearse an emergency in which passage through the tunnel is impossible.

The space walk is planned the third day of the trip and also will serve to evaluate the suit that later astronauts will wear while strolling on the moon.

Schweickart will slip through the LEM's open outside hatch, feet first, carrying on his back a portable life support system, filled with oxygen. He'll grab a handrail on the left side of the LEM hatch and then sit on the top rung of a ladder on the side of the module.

He'll have a standard movie camera with him and will be photographed himself by Scott.

Only the space walker's grasp on the hand rail and a 25-foot safety line attached to him from the LEM will keep the astronaut from floating away. He'll slip his feet into glass fiber restraining devices on the LEM — "golden slippers" — and rest before beginning the transfer to the command ship.

He'll make his way hand over hand along rails to the command module hatch, slip inside so Scott can grab his leg, then return to the LEM.

The actual transfer is expected to take only 20 minutes, but Schweickart will be outside two hours, including rest periods and picture-taking.

If all goes well, Apollo 10 is set for a May 17 launching and Apollo 11 — the planned moon landing flight — will be attempted in mid-July.

Surplus For Childrens' Food Urged

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Gov. Ronald Reagan was under challenge today to use a state budget surplus to help feed "starving children" in California rather than to cut the state personal income tax.

The proposal came from Democratic ssemblyman Mike Cullen of Long Beach yesterday during a hearing on a bill to boost welfare payments to the elderly by $7.50 a month.

John Montgomery, Reagan's social welfare director, contended that monthly maximum payments of $188.50 to the elderly are adequate, but Aid to Families with Dependent Children (AFDC) is not. The top payment in that category is $191 for a family of four.

Cullen then noted that Reagan had told Californians on television, with "some glee," in early February that his new budget contained a multimillion dollar surplus. He proposed to give $100 million of it back in a one-time state personal income tax cut in 1970.

Cullen asked Montgomery if the average taxpayer might not forego the tax hike in order to "bring those children up to the bare nutritional standard."

He suggested that Reagan was a man "who's got everything on television and can tell the people that these kids are starving.'

Montomery said it would be presumptious for him to speak for the governor, who was traveling to Los Angeles at the time, and that "I'm not agreeing that children are starving in California."

Pueblo Crew Reports Prison Death Threats

CORONADO (UPI) — Some USS Pueblo sailors had to be beaten or threatened with death before they would talk to their North Korean captors. Others didn't.

The variations in behavior grew more apparent as the Navy today continued summoning Pueblo men one by one to tell their stories at a court of inquiry into their behavior while prisoners.

Six more men were called to testify in open court today. Two of them have won high praise from their shipmates for keeping up a strong front to the North Koreans during the 11 month captivity that followed the vessel's seizure Jan. 23, 1968.

Intercommunications electrician 1/C Victor D. Escamilla, 27, Amarillo, Tex., voluntarily took punishment for the whole crew when the North Koreans were trying to find out who damaged a shower window.

Electrician's Mate 1/C William G. Hagenson, 38, Bremerton, Wash., has been praised by Pueblo officers for his work as leading petty officer in one of the cells where the Pueblo men were held.

Cmdr. William R. Newsome, court counsel, is trying to find how much pressure was required to force each man to depart from the Armed Forces Code of Conduct for prisoners of war. The code, which has become a major issue in the Pueblo hearings, says a captured U.S. serviceman may tell the enemy only his name, rank, service number and date of birth.

The irritation of Newsome and the assistant counsel, Cmdr. William Clemons, with some of the answers they were getting showed up earlier this week when Clemons bluntly asked one sailor:

"Did you resist to the fullest extent of which you were capable?"

"I wouldn't say to the fullest," the man replied.

All Pueblo enlisted men eventually completed a questionnaire for the North Koreans, giving their past Navy stations, social background, and names of relatives.

The North Koreans demanded the form be filled out the first day the Americans were in prison. It provided the first test of the code.

Reinecke Talks Of College Role

SANTA BARBARA (AP)—Lt. Gov. Ed Reinecke says California universities might put more emphasis on research and graduate student education if junior colleges can assume a bigger load for undergraduate instruction.

Reinecke addressed a convention of the Council of California Growers last night.

He said the junior college system might become almost an extension of high school, allowing a broader base of young people to get a two-year college education.

Those qualified could then continue at four-year colleges and universities and those not oriented toward higher education would have a firm base for technical training, Reinecke said.

He said this would also allow four-year schools to be more research and graduate student-oriented.

Collegians Lose Bid To Return To Class

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Five expelled College of San Mateo students lost their bid for a federal injunction to allow them to return to classes pending a hearing of criminal charges against them.

The students' participation in campus demonstrations last December resulted in expulsion.

They told U.S. District Judge Stanley A. Weigel yesterday that if they resisted expulsion in administrative hearings the testimony could be used later in criminal court trials against them.

Judge Weigel disagreed, saying that since they had a choice of whether or not to testify, they were not being denied due process.

The judge added: "It is not a denial by the college of their right to testify nor the college's fault that the evidence might be used in criminal proceedings."

The question of using possibly self-incriminating evidence in the criminal cases should be raised at the trials, he said.

The students are Donald Grimes of Menlo Park; Douglas Campbell of San Mateo, Isidro Gali of Half Moon Bay and Warren Furutani and Vincent Maninno, both of El Granada.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Jogging Held Not The Only Answer To Overeating Danger

VAN DELLEN

A physician from Michigan City, Ind., sent me a note on jogging that he believes is important enough to be published.

"Jogging has become popular to prevent heart disease and combat obesity, but other measures are also important. Smoking, eating too much fat, and worry and anxiety could nullify the salutary effects of jogging.

"RECENT EVIDENCE is very convincing that the American diet, rich in fat, and cane sugar, is a cause of coronary heart disease, and contributory to thrombosis (clot formation), stroke, high blood pressure, and obesity.

Extensive studies demonstrated a sharp reduction in the number of deaths from coronary heart attacks when a low-fat diet was followed.

"Evidence is also strong that excess salt aggravates hypertension, and Japanese investigators have shown that the greater the amount of salt consumed, the higher the incidence of stroke.

"So keep jogging, but remember, the dining table is not a safe place any more. Don't postpone dieting until the last bit of proof comes in; if you do, we may not be able to get in touch with you in the near future." (signed) S. K. Robinson, M.D.

THIS LETTER AGAIN demonstrates that there are many facets to hardening of the arteries. Fatty deposits that build up in the artery wall and narrow the passageway, are composed mainly of cholesterol.

When arteries feeding blood to the heart or brain become clogged, the outcome is a heart attack or stroke.

Following a cholesterol-lowering diet lessens the chance or postpones arteriosclerosis. But, cholesterol in the blood can be lowered via exercise. Heavy smoking, stress, and anxiety also play a role.

Dr. Van Dellen will answer questions on medical topics if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request to the I-J.)

FIGHTING FATHER TIME

J. M. W. writes: According to a magazine series, persons who do not accept old age may develop hypertension. Aging I cannot deny; it shows and I accept it. I dress nicely, dye my hair, weigh only 110 pounds and am about 5 feet tall. Why should I get hypertension? I'm happy and could use a little more money, but who couldn't?

REPLY

Whether or not one accepts old age is unrelated to hypertension. I admire your philosophy. Keep it up.

REORDERED MEDICINE

Mrs. J. writes: Several years ago my doctor prescribed a drug for hot flushes. Since then, whenever the flushes bother me, I have the prescription refilled. Is it dangerous to take this kind of medicine for a long time?

REPLY

You didn't say what the medicine is, but I doubt that the preparation is dangerous; if it were, refilling it would require a new prescription or a call to your physician by the druggist.

WHAT SLEEPWALKING IS

Mrs. J. writes: Is sleepwalking in a young adult indicative of an emotional disturbance?

REPLY

Yes. Many authorities regard sleepwalking (somnambulism) as a more vivid type of dream brought on by a deeper emotional disturbance than that underlying ordinary dreams. In more technical terms, "The impulses of the id reach the motor organs (muscles), eluding conscious control."

SORE TONGUE AND THROAT

A reader writes: Can allergy cause a sore tongue and throat?

REPLY

Yes, but infection and irritation are more common culprits. Allergies are more likely to cause painless swelling of the tissues. Early symptoms of a cold sometimes resemble allergies.

COLORLESS SKIN SPOTS

T. B. writes: Why do some black people get white spots on their skin?

REPLY

These areas represent depigmentation, which occurs in all races, but the contrast is more noticeable in Negroes and those with a deep tan.

BLINKING LIKELY TO PASS

Mrs. N. writes: My 5-year-old son has begun to blink has eyes. Should we ignore this or have him examined by an eye doctor?

REPLY

This habit usually is a passing phase in preschoolers but when it persists for months, an eye examination is in order.

PREGNANCY AND ACHES

Mrs. O. writes: I have suffered from headaches off and on for five years, except for nine months while I was carrying my baby. What is the relationship between pregnancy and headaches?

REPLY

Changes galore occur in the glandular and emotional systems during pregnancy. As a result, some women feel wonderful and lose their aches and pains at this time. Perhaps your head pain falls into the same category.

CONSTANT DIARRHEA

A reader writes: Is it dangerous to have diarrhea all the time?

REPLY

This situation is not normal, but I can't say it is dangerous if you have had it for years.

Today's health hint:

Exercise restores muscle tone.

Sonoma County Retirement Fete

Neal D. Smith, retiring Sonoma County administrator, will be honored at a testimonial dinner at 6:30 p.m. Friday at the Villa Chantecler in Healdsburg.

Smith, the county's first administrator, has held that post since 1954. He retires officially March 1 and will be succeeded by David Nichols, assistant administrator.

In addition to county department heads and commissioners, all Sonoma County city councils will be represented as well as the Redwood Empire Association and Sonoma County Mayor's and Councilmen's Association. Many former supervisors who served with Smith are expected to attend.

11 To Graduate From Guide Dog Training

Ten men and women will be graduated from the training course of Guide Dogs for the Blind, Inc. in San Rafael in a ceremony beginning at 2:30 p.m. Saturday.

Graduating will be Floyd Brown of El Paso, Tex.; Edwin Deutscher of Portland, Ore.; Mrs. Jane Eagle of Venice, Los Angeles County; Nuncie Evans and Mrs. Quetana Moris, both of Sacramento; David Norvell of Spokane, Wash.; Les Pedersen of College Place, Wash.; Mrs. Bernice Perkins of Balboa Island; Ernest Schellbach of Seattle, and Richard Zlab of Denver.

There will be a dog obedience demonstration and a tour of the kennels at the school, 350 Los Ranchitos Road.

Home Looted

Reported to the sheriff's department yesterday was a burglary at the home of Barbara Curley of 101 Edgewood Avenue, Kent Woodlands, in which a stereo tape recorder and a brandy snifter containing cash were taken. Entry had been made through a door which had been forced open.

TV REVIEW

A Fine Way To Spend 90 Minutes

By RICK DU BROW

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — The conflict betwen a nonconformist young scientist and the square, suburban company that employed him was the basis of an original CBS-TV drama, "The Experiment," last night.

Although the 90-minute drama by Ellen M. Violett was sometimes diffuse—and a little preachy with several cliche characters—it was by far the best of the "CB Playhouse" productions to date.

It was a very fine way to spend 90 minutes for several reasons. One is that, despite the occasional decline ito stereotyped reactions, the feel of the so-called generation gap was transmitted with more genuineness than one might have expected.

Another reason is that the performances by M. K. Douglas, son of Kirk Douglas, and Tisha Sterling, daughter of Ann Southern and Robert Sterling, were true and forceful and affecting as the young scientist and the girl who lives with him, pretending to be his wife.

In the story, the young lovers are just out of college, where he has been a brilliant student, wrapped up mainly in his work, and where she has been a political activist. But more than their specific roles, Miss Sterling and Douglas were wholly believable in expressing the relationship of their contemporary love and wishes. In her idealism and directness, Miss Sterling particularly scored in getting across what many young persons find wrong with establishment values.

The catalyst—the recruiter who brings Douglas into the firm—was portrayed by that fine actor John Astin, who had the interesting role of a middleaged man who sympathized with the young man because of his own past idealism—but who had long since bent to compromise.

Barry Sullivan did his usual professional job with an ill-defined role—a pivotal member of the firm whose troubles with his own daughter lead him to a distressing showdown with Miss Sterling, especially after he finds out she is not married to Douglas. The daughter was played by Susan Strasberg.

Trio Named For Scholar Test

Three seniors at Marin Catholic High School will represent their school in competition for Bank of America scholarships.

The students, who won plaques for their scholarship and extra-curricular activities, are Henry L. Catala in science and mathematics, Patrica Dillman in fine arts and Richard Howard in liberal arts.

They will compete with other Bay Area students for awards of $25 to $1,000.

Is there something more to life ?

Perhaps you feel there is. If you want a wholeness and richness to life beyond the ordinary — more happiness, a more expansive love, even more life to live, then what you really need is an understanding that God is Life. Hear this public lecture "The Way of Abundant Life" by PAUL K. WAVRO, C.S.B., a member of the Board of Lectureship of The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Mass.

Farallon Swimmer, Prep Coaches Talk To Kids, Dads

By GARY TISCHLER

Some heroes and greats just don't look the part.

This one didn't wear a cape, had no cleft chin and no certificate from Charles Atlas. He looked like some nice kid's middle-aged father, wearing dark suit, white shirt, red tie, sporting glasses and a slightly receding hairline. He was Stewart Evans, Lt. Col. U.S. Army, the man who in August, 1967, became the first man to swim from the Farallon Islands to the Marin County mainland.

Last night he came as an athlete, telling about 60 pairs of fathers and sons the effort that went into his singular feat. He was guest speaker at a fathers-sons night of the Parents-Teachers Association of Santa Venetia Middle aschool.

It was all part of an evening designed to introduce the junior high-aged boys to the facilities and promise of athletics in high school, particularly at San Rafael and Terra Linda High Schools, and beyond.

Also on hand were San Rafael High School football coach Bob Muster, San Rafael High, wrestling coach Larry Lack, Terra Linda High athletic director and football coach Don Lucas, and Terra Linda H.S. track and field coach Barry Amsden, explaining the particular programs available at their schools, and what to expect of them.

There was also Jack MacPhee from the Marvel Athletic Club, with weightlifting demonstrations by two members of his club.

Evans, a 42-year-old Signal Corps officer stuck to familiar nautical ground.

"It's fairly easy to describe football and basketball players," he kidded. "But with us distance swimmers, they say he must be some kind of nut."

"It's impossible to say why you want to do this," he added. "But not many men can do it. But it takes drive and desire. If you think you can do it, you can do it."

Evans described how he began training himself for his record 28-mile, 14-hour swim, first acclimating himself to the cold, day by day, hour by hour.

"The first time I stepped into the water, I thought I couldn't stay another minute," he said. "But you build up a layer of insulation, fat, and you get used to it."

Attired in swim cap, trunks and 10 pounds of grease, Evans set out at 10 p.m. and started toward Marin. By 6 a.m., after encountering assorted sea life including a school of jelly fish, he began to feel some pain in his left shoulder, pain finally dulled by aspirins.

"But at 6:30, the sun came up. I could see land," he said. "You know, you swim all night, and you can feel pretty low. But the sight of that land, well your spirits perk up."

He hopes to swim the English Channel back and forth.

"That will be my last swim," he said. "If I do it."

That was one individual view of athletics offered the youngsters and their fathers. The others were less exciting but probably more real.

Muster described the steadily improving nature, both in won-lost records against outside foes, and in facilities and equipment, of football in Marin County.

Lack gave the youngsters a small introduction to wrestling, a sport he calls one of the "least-known, but most popular sports in the world, and the most purely combative sport I know of." He also described San Rafael High School's extensive intramural and recreation program.

Lucas told the youngsters, 70 per cent of whom are headed for Terra Linda, that "at Terra Linda, we have a total comprehensive interscholastic athletic grogram, pointing out that in addition to regular sports, the school has a water polo team, and plans to add a soccer and gymnastics team next school year.

"I won't guarantee you that you'll be able to play football at Terra Linda," Lucas said. "But there is a place for you, if you're ready to give the supreme effort. That's what it takes. I know of two boys who couldn't chew gum and walk at the same time when they were freshmen. They were varsity starters last year."

Novato Man Hears All The Shoe Jokes

SHAMUS SHORTS:

As you will remember, last week we left R. J. deRecat of Novato nursing an Excedrin headache after he discovered some of the Rick Barry basketball shoes he distributes were encased in plastic bags bearing a picture of Mr. Barry in a San Francisco Warrior uniform. As the shoes were given away as a promotional gimmick by the rival Oakland Oaks, who paid handsomely for Barry's talents, Mr. deRecat was slightly embarrassed by the boo boo.

JUDGE SMITH

He writes a sequel to the saga of the shoe: "Two weeks ago I spent half an hour on the Alex Hannum TV show discussing basketball and, of course, the value of a good basketball shoe. Comments about my TV debut were nothing compared to the 24 hours I experienced since your basketball shoe-Excedrin headache article. I've been on the receiving end of every bag and shoe joke that has ever been thought up.

"I'm reasonably sure the plastic bags will become collectors' items as a result of the mixup. This little incident has caused a mild run nationally to buy the shoes and secure the bag. I've always wanted to know what my bag was in life, and now, inadvertantly, I've found it."

That's A Strong Bench

MARIN MUNICIPAL JUDGE Peter Allen Smith is president of the Central Marin Babe Ruth League, giving that junior baseball organization a strong bench, I'd say.

JUNIOR FIGURE skating whiz Juli McKinstry of San Rafael is in Colorado Springs, Colo. this week, spectating the world championships in her sport. The 12-year-old girl's coach, Skippy Baxter of Santa Rosa, wanted Juli to see the world competition for which she hopes to qualify some day.

COACH PETE LIMM of College of Marin may have the best indoor baseball team this side of Houston. Due to the inclement weather, his Tars have been limited to practice in the Kentfield gymnasium but are as yet undefeated with a victory and a tie in their outdoor games. They're the only players I know who get floor burns sliding into second base.

49er Bosley Is A Sub

CENTER BRUCE BOSLEY was a last-mnute sub for John Brodie and Kevin Hardy for Sunday's showing of 49er football films at the Music Box liquid refreshment stand in San Rafael. Bosley narrated portions of the films which, incidentally, were not "49er Hilights of 1968" as advertised here last Friday. The official "Hilights" won't be ready for distribution until the end of March, according to 49er publicist George McFadden.

SPEAKING OF the Niners, defensive ace Clark Miller has bought a partnership in Ed's Brass Rail, a country Western-type establishment in Napa and has purchased a home a couple of miles south of St. Helena. Miller reports his badly damaged knee is mending nicely and he expects to be at full strength for the '69 season.

Trying To Update Records

COLLEGE OF MARIN track coach Tony Bailey is busy compiling a list of all-time track and field bests at the Kentfield school, but needs some help. A fire five years ago destroyed the Marin gymnasium and all the athletic records, so anyone knowing of exceptionally outstanding COM track marks should contact Bailey.

The Marin mentor says four school records set in 1934 still stand. They are the 9.9 seconds 100 and 21.8 seconds 220 by Arnold Nutting, a 50.2 seconds 440 clocking by Ken Miller and a 138-foot, 9-inch discuss throw by Bill Brooks. Not so hot by today's standards, but really tops 35 years ago.

THEY'LL HAVE TO COME OFF

COLLEGE OF MARIN NOTES

Troubles At Kentfield

By RALPH CHATOIAN

Things are pretty rugged for the athletic department at College of Marin these days, and it doesn' look like it's going to get much better in the near future.

The physical education department got a pretty solid whack in the school newspaper last week, in an editorial by Rick Beban, entitled "Support Your Athlets," an upshoot of a discussion about grading systems between Tars' basketball coach Cal Riemcke and the school's board of trustees.

The board has changed the grading system at the Kentfield junior college which allows for A, B or C grades, and another grade of "No Credit." Riemcke went to the board to explain how it would be unfair for the Marin teams in comparison to teams from other schools in the Camino Norte Conference.

Now the misunderstanding.

The editorial chided Riemcke for trying to get special treatment for athletes.

At a meeting yesterday between the College of Marin athletic department, members of the Tower Times staff, Times Advisor Bette Reese, Dean of Students Irwin (Red) Diamond, and acting President Dr. Louis Herkenhoff, the two sides met.

"That article in the Times," said Harry Pieper, athletic director, "indicated, we felt — incorrectly — we were hunting for special favors for athletes. It is not, it never has been, and never will be our purpose," he said, following the meeting.

Said Pieper, "We felt it was an unfair attack on us."

He's got a point.

And Beban, editor-in-chief of the Times, admitted yesterday that he erred. He said he misinterpreted a Tower Times story concerning Cal's talk to the school board. "I personally apologize," he said after yesterday's meeting. He said a formal statement of apology will appear in Friday's Tower Times.

Beban said he now understands Riemcke was talking about equity between teams from other schools, and was not trying to get a special deal for the Marin athlete.

AND IF that isn't enough trouble for the school's athletic boys to try to overcome, what about sports with no place to play?

Marin has a new track coach in Tony Bailey, who came over from Redwood High, but no field on which to play. Pieper's working on trying to "host" Santa Rosa Junior College's track team on the Tamalpais High field late in the season, but all other action will be on enemy grounds. Marin's own track and field facilities will not be ready until the 1970 spring sports season. First meet for the Tars, by the way, is March 8, the Camino Norte Conference Relays at Santa Rosa J.C.

IF ANYBODY'S in the market for some used bleachers, make a call to College of Marin. The old bleachers at Kentfield's stadium are to be sold to make way for the school's expansion program that will wipe out the football field. The Tars are still looking for a place to play their games, and maybe they'll find themselves literally in left field on a baseball diamond.

Because of all the rain and various other problems, the construction of the baseball diamond at Marin is way behind schedule, with a big pile of topsoil sitting on what is supposed to be first base. So some of the games originally scheduled there will be moved to Albert Field in San Rafael.

Yep, there's a few athletic problems to be worked out at College of Marin.

Victories Set Up Big Friday Clash

With one game left, it all comes down to the wire in the Marin County Athletic League basketball race.

Redwood of Larkspur is the leader, and Novato High the dissident. They will decide whether or not Redwood has a clear title claim Friday in Novato, a playoff looming if the Hornets win, and the Giants in the Tournament of Champions if they win.

Both teams had harrowing moments in last night's games, Novato eventually beating stubborn Marin Catholic 89-76 at the free throw line although matched in baskets, while Redwood was nearly overhauled in the last seconds by Terra Linda before winning, 67-64. In the other games, Drake downed San Marin at Novato 70-58, and San Rafael ran past Tamalpais High of Mill Valley, 72-50.

FOUL TROUBLE

After running up a 15-point halftime edge, and several times leading by 20 or more, Redwood ran into foul trouble-center Pete Webb had four fouls in the first half, Jim Peters had four most of the second half, and John Boro picked up his fourth in the last quarter. With some of their board strength negated, the Giants began to lose rebounds to Mike Timmel and Mike Peden of Terra Linda. With Timmel scoring and Bob Nadell and Byron Sakanari leading the break, the Trojans cut the Redwood margin to eight going into the last period.

With 41 seconds left, Nadell made two free throws to cut the margin to 65-62. Peden then stole an inbounds pass, but three Trojan shots failed, and Peters put his team up by four a moment later, 66-62.

EXCELLENT

Jerry Piro was excellent as usual for Redwood. The junior forward had 20 points, 16 rebounds, and held Terra Linda's dangerous Pat Purcell to four points. Peters had 15 first-half points, ended with 18, while Peden had 19 and Nadell 13 for Terra Linda.

Ed Herrnberger had 28 points and Steve McNally 18 as Novato ran past Marin Catholic, mainly on a 23-12 second quarter. Steve Telander had 26 points and Mike Murray 18 for the Wildcats.

EXPERIENCE

Dave Jacobs, senior guard, was 11 for 15 from the floor in leading San Rafael over ending up with 24 points, while Ray Taylor had 12 points and 11 rebounds. Tamalpais played a

SANTA ROSA — Montgomery High of Santa Rosa earned a trip to the Tournament of Champions basketball classic by beating Healdsburg High, 56-46, in a bsaketball playoff at Santa Rosa High School last night.

The playoffs pitted the once-beaten Montgomery Vikings, champions of the North Bay I League, against Healdsburg, 20-4 and champs of North Bay II.

Steve Tiedeman hauled down 25 rebounds and scored 24 points to spark the Vikings, who were down 13-5 after the opening period. A 12-point outburst by Tiedeman in the second period put the Vikings ahead, and from there, they broke it open in the final period, although ace Tom Fitchie was held to eight points.

Montgomery is now 21-1 with one game to play.

Redwood Captures 'B' Basketball Title

Redwood High School's Class B basketball team downed the Terra Linda Bees, 33-27, at Terra Linda yesterday, to clinch the Marin County Athletic League "B" title.

Redwood now has a 13-0 record with one game to play, for a two-game lead over Marin Catholic. The Larkspur school team is 20-1 on the season.

Baseball Players Start Arriving At Spring Camps

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Baseball's spring training camps were expected to begin resembling major league installations today in the wake of the settlement of the nagging pension dispute between the owners and Players Association.

Veteran players who had refused to sign contracts or report to camp while the pension issue was being negotiated, had the green light to play ball from Marvin Miller, executive director of the Players Association.

It was a marathon negotiating session between Miller and John Gaherin, the owners' representative that ended early yesterday, which led to the $5.45 million compromise pension package and settlement of the boycott.

And within a matter of hours after the settlement was reached, several players had signed contracts and said they would begin working out today.

General Manager Jim Campbell of the world champion Detroit Tigers had the busiest day. He signed nine veterans including pitchers Joe Sparma, John Hiller and Pat Dobson and pinch hitting specialist Gates Brown.

Stan Bahnsen, the New York pitcher who was the American League's rookie of the year in 1968, signed with the Yankees, leaving five players including Mickey Mantle still unsigned.

While the Yankees were waiting on Mantle, another superstar, San Francisco's Willie Mays, was waiting on the Giants.

Mays has been at the Giants' Casa Grande, Ariz. camp since Monday, filming some television shows. Chub Feeney, the Giants' vice president who negotiates contracts, is due there today. Mays said, "I'm ready anytime they get this thing over," before the settlement was reached.

Blacks Plan Oregon State Boycott

CORVALLIS, Ore. (UPI)—Refusal of Oregon State University to lift a ban against beards on campus athletes has stirred a hornet's nest among the school's 57 black students.

They threatened to begin a boycott of classes today and boycott two home basketball games this weekend unless the school administration rescinded the order. The Negroes claimed discrimination after football coach De Andros ordered Negro linebacker Fred Milton to remove his beard or lose his athletic scholarship.

Milton, who missed last season with a leg injury, will be a senior next fall.

Dr. James Jensen, university president, gave no signs of relenting on his support of Andros, who was in Wyoming yesterday when the beard dispute erupted. The president was bolstered in his stand by a petition, circulated by All America center John Didion, a white student, that contained the names of 173 athletes on campus supporting the coaching staff in the dispute.

Andros and Jensen denied discrimination was involved.

"We try to produce a team which students, alumni and ourselves can be proud of," Andros said in a statement. "This often means that the athletes must sacrifice some things which other students are allowed to do."

Members of the Black Students Union, along with some whites, took over the microphone at a convocation lecture series attended by 3,000 persons yesterday to explain their side of the dispute. The action delayed for 15 minutes a talk by Nobel Prize winner Dr. Linus Pauling.

The black students also held a noon rally at the 13,000 student campus to drum support for the boycott. Appearing in support of their stand was Dick Fosbury, a white student and the Olympics gold medal winner in the high jump last year.

There are 17 black athletes on campus. The first athletic events boycott could come this weekend involving the two black players on the OSU basketball team which plays Washington and Washington State at Corvallis.

When Mays Gets A Hit Records Really Tumble

CASA GRANDE — Willie Mays changed major league records 701 times last season. That sounds incredible. But take Thorpe White's word for it. White is a super-statistician who keeps a close check on Mays from his Pebble Beach home.

"When Mays hits a home run it results in three changes: (1) National League record, (2) National League outfielder record (3) major league righthanded record. Counting the run and RBI, every homer by Mays improves 11 records. When Willie hits two homers in a game 25 records are improved.

"When Mays gets an extra basehit, six records change. Last season he had 48 extra basehits (23 homers, 20 doubles, five triples), resulting in 288 changes — 48 times 6."

WHITE NEXT itemized the changes created by Mays' doubles, triples, total hits, stolen bases, times at bat and total games. Sure enough, the changes added up to 701.

"Since most of Mays' records deal with righthanded records, maybe you would like some data on why I think righthanded records are the more important," White writes.

"DID YOU ever realize a lefthanded batter is four feet closer to first base when standing in the batter's box? Under such conditions why should lefthanded and righthanded batting averages be comparable?

"It boils down to this — a righthanded record represents the best performance among comparable data. Lefthanded batters can only be compared to other lefthanders."

ART SANTO DOMINGO, official statistician of the Giants, analyzes the amazing record-breaking of Mays in this year's press book of the Giants but doesn't go into the minute detail White does. Santo Domingo lists the highlights.

"Moving into his 19th season," Santo Domingo reports, "Willie is the National League's all-time top slugger with 587 home runs and a career slugging average of .578. Mays is fourth on the all-time total base list with 5,277 behind Musial, Ruth and Gehrig.

"IN OTHER departments Willie ranks 13th in games (2,446), 16th in at bats (9,130), ninth in RBIs (1,654), 10th in runs (1,763) and is tied with Hall of Famer George Sisler in hits (2,812).

"Mays' speed has distinguished him from sluggers who have gone before. He goes into 1969 with a career total of 299 stolen bases, second among all active players to Maury Wills. With his next theft Willie will become the only player in history to have stolen 300 or more bases and hit 300 or more home runs."

Warriors Hang On To Edge Chicago

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The San Francisco Warriors evened up their back-to-back National Basketball Association games with the Chicago Bulls.

The Warriors squeaked past Chicago 101-99 last night after the Bulls threatened in the final 30 seconds to sweep the two-game series. The Bulls won 119-108 Monday night.

Chicago led 56-55 at the half, but the Warriors pulled into an 83-74 edge at the three-quarter mark.

When that final half minute started, San Francisco seemed a cinch.

But Rudy LaRusso elbowed Chicago's Bob Weiss in a battle for the ball under the basket and was called on it. His vigorous protest brought a technical foul.

Bob Boozer made the technical foul and Weiss added two more points to trim the Warriors' margin to two points. But San Francisco held on.

Nate Thurmond topped the Warriors with 30 points, while Boozer had 28 for Chicago.

San Francisco will host Cincinnati Royals Friday night.

Oaks Back To Victory Column

OAKLAND (AP) — The Oakland Oaks returned home today after breaking a two-game losing streak with a 128-118 victory over the New York Nets in American Basketball Association play at Commack, N.Y., last night.

The Oaks will have a few days off then seek redress from the Dallas Chaparrals who handed them a 128-117 defeat in Texas Monday.

Oakland was outscored by New York in the first period but held a 69-61 edge at the half.

The Nets squeezed into a 95-94 margin as the third quarter ended.

In the closing minutes, Doug Moe cashed in six points to give the Oaks the go sign for a victory.

Moe scored 21 points, while teammate Gary Bradds had 28. New York was paced by Willie Somerset who had 32 points.

SUPPORT STRIKE

2 Negroes Quit Cal Track Team

BERKELEY (UPI) — Long jumper Stan Royster, captain of the University of California track squad, and middle-distance star Lavell Jackson have left teh team to support a student strike.

"They told me their strike commitments would not allow them to compete," said Cal track coach Sam Bell. He would not say whether he felt the athletes might rejoin the team later.

So far this winter thre Negro varsity players quit at Cal in sympathy with a student strike that began Jan. 26. Trent Gaines left the basketball team earlier. Minority students launched the strike to back demands for formation of an autonomous ethnic studies department on campus.

Royster's departure may force the school's publications department to redesign the cover of the 1969 track brochure which shows a leaping Royster. His best jump has ben a wind-aided 25 fet, 8 3-4 inches.

In his first dual mt as a sophomore, Royster lost to Finnish Olympic Games competitor Pertti Pousi of Brigham Young. Since then, the 6-0, 170-pound senior from Los Angeles has not been beaten in 14 dual meets.

Jackson, a senior from Oakland, has a best of 1:51.1 in the half mile and also ran relays.

The Bears open their 1969 track season Saturday in a triangular meet with the Athens Club and Sacramento State.

Billie Jean King Wins Women's Tennis Final

OAKLAND (AP) — Billie Jean King recently complained she was having trouble covering the entire court.

But the three-time Wimbledon winner who turned pro last April didn't seem at all slow yesterday as she whipped Ann Haydon Jones of London, 6-3, 6-2, in the women's finals of the $18,000 International Pro Tennis Invitational.

It was the first triumph for Mrs. King, of nearby Albany, since a knee operation last November and earned her the top women's prize of $1,300.

In the mens' semifinals, top-seeded Rod Laver defeated his fellow Australian, Ken Rosewall, 6-4, 6-2 and a third Australian, Tony Roche, defeated Marty Riessen, Evanston, Ill., 6-4, 6-3.

In doubles, Australian John Newcombe and Roche defeated Laver and Roy Emerson, 6-3, 6-4.

Mrs. King, now fully recovered from her surgery, in which a knee tendon was scraped, said she hadn't played so well in a year and a half.

She hit spectacular back-hand volleys to break Mrs. Jones' service in the sixth game of the first set, and broke services in the third, fifth and seventh games to sweep the second.

Laver, rated by many experts as the No. 1 tennis player in the world, played the base line with strong lobs in beating Rosewall, who tried unsuccessfully to rush the net.

Left-handed Roche's spinning sercice was the major factor in his win over Riessen, former Northwestern University basketball player.

"He forced me wide with that service, and then started slipping shots down the center," Riessen said.

Roche is the leading pro tennis money winner with $17,000 this year.

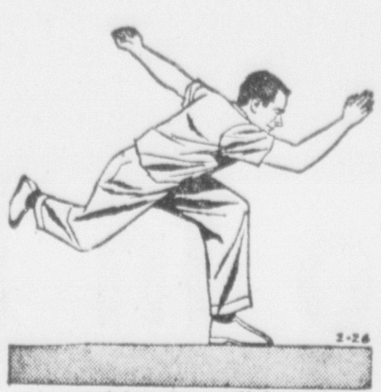
BOWLING TIPS

By DON CARTER



A good bowler will lean into each delivery. This means bending the left knee sharply, reaching out toward your spot and letting the right leg raise noticeably off the floor. What the right leg does might seem unimportant, but if you are able to kick it high as you throw, it is an indication that you are balanced and that you are putting your maximum effort into delivering the ball properly.

Redwood Cagers Win J.V. Crown

Redwood High School's junior varsity basketball team clinched the mythical Marin County Athletic League title last night with a 49-44 win over second-place Terra Linda High in Larkspur. The little Giants are now 11-2 in the MCAL with one game to play, while T. L. is 9-4.

In other junior varsity games, Tim Stone's 31-point outburst led Marin Catholic to a 47-44 decision over Novato in Kentfield, San Rafael romped over Tamalpais of Mill Valley 53-32, and Drake held San Marin of Novato scoreless in the last period of a 53-24 rout.

Six-foot, five-inch pivot Scott Trobbe blocked seven shots and grabbed 15 rebounds in Redwood's title win, while Steve Root, like Trobbe a sophomore, provided scoring power with 23 points.

49ers' Veteran Hazeltine To Receive $1,000 Watch

COMBINED AP & UPI

REDWOOD CITY — Matt Hazeltine, veteran linebacker of the San Francisco 49'ers, will receive a $1,000 wrist watch tonight as winner of the team's Len Eshmont Award.

The former Tamalpais High (Mill Valley) lineman was named the 49'ers most inspirational player last season. Featured speakers will be Lynn (Pappy) Waldorf, Hazeltine's coach at California, and Ed Nordstrom, his coach at Tam High.

SPORTS SHORTS

BASEBALL

SAN FRANCISCO — Free agents Edgardo Avila, 22, and Steven Stone, 21, have signed 1969 contracts with the San Francisco Giants. Avila, a six-foot, 190-pounder now attending the University of Arizona, hit .385 and posted a 24-0 record as a pitcher-outfielder-first baseman for Miami-Dade Fla. Junior College last year.

Stone is a righthanded pitcher from Kent State University.

BOXING

OAKLAND — Ralph McCoy, California middleweight champion, signed yesterday to meet Puerto Rican Danny Perez March 5 at the Oakland Auditorium in a 10-round non-title bout. Perez, now fighting out of New York City, has won 20 of his 26 pro fights. He lost four and fought to two draws.

FIGURE SKATING

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. — Beatrice Schuba of Austria took the lead in the ladies' compulsory figures in the World Figure Skating Championships.

BOWLING

MADISON, Wis. — Twin Trees Restaurant No. 1 of Syracuse, N. Y., compiled a 2,924 to move into second place in the team standings of the American Bowling Congress tourney.

HORSE RACING

ARCADIA, Calif. — Poona Downs, $23.60, charged up from last place and won the $29,550 Santa Ynez Stakes at Santa Anita by three lengths.

DORAL OPEN GOLF

Sanders Tries 'Comeback'

MIAMI (AP) — Dashing Doug Sanders is out to change his image —on the golf course.

Sanders, who won $109,455 on the tour in 1967 but only $38,131.17 last year, is attempting something of a comeback in the $150,000 Doral Open which starts tomorrow.

Dapper Doug has won the Doral Tournament twice—in 1965 and 1967—and holds the 72-hole tournament record of 274 for his 1965 victory.

Sanders, 35, has won 17 tournaments during 12 years on the tour and stands sixth, at more than $500,000, on the all-time money list.

WAY OFF

This year, the tour's Beau Brummel has won only $1,542.28 in four tournaments, and is 100th on the 1969 money list. His best showing was a tie for 31st in last month's Bing Crosby.

Sanders got married last August for the third time, but he has not won a tournament since the Doral in 1967.

He blames his victory drought on his business interests, not his marriage or his legendary nightlife.

"Playing golf demands 24 hour attention but so does business," he said. "Right now I want to give a lot more time to golf."

Sanders has to be considered a threat at Doral, the first stop on pro golf's Florida tour.

AT HOME

A former University of Florida star, he's at home on Florida's grainy greens and knows how to play in the winds and keep the ball low.

Sanders fired a two under par 70 in a practice round yesterday over Doral's 7,028-yard layout, heavily laden with sand traps and water hazards. But he figures it will take better than that to win.

Sanders predicts Sunday's winner will finish anywhere from 10 to 15 under par for the 72-hole distance, depending on weather conditions.

"The greens aren't as good this year," he said.

Doug's Disciples dismiss his lackluster play on the golf course. Men are fascinated with his abbreviated back swing, women with his good looks and witicisms.

Sanders, who represents Sharpstown Country Club at Houston, still travels with 30 pairs of golf shoes and enough brightly colored shirts and slacks to fill five suitcases and please several clothing manufacturers.

MARRIED

Last year, Sanders married Scotty Kolb, a pretty Los Angeles girl he met during a practice round at the Los Angeles Open three years before.

Friends say marriage hasn't changed Doug's swinging approach to life. Sanders himself says, "Some people like vanilla, some like chocolate. I like both."

His attitude toward golf is more clearly defined.

"Golf is my first love," he said, "and I have a lot more time to go."

Lester Is Named Bay's Top Boxer

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Jimmy Lester, hard-hitting San Francisco middleweight, has been named best fighter of 1968 in the Bay Area by boxing writers and the Society for California Boxing.

Rocky Hernandez, a middleweight from Mexico City, was selected as the best ring prospect. Lester knocked out Hernandez in the ninth round of a spirited fight which writers voted the best bout of 1968.

Tonga Kid, a young heavyweight, was named best preliminary fighter.

Marin, Petaluma Men Pass Test, Await Sports Car Racing Debut

Six Marin County men and another from Petaluma are anxiously waiting for their big debut in the field of sports car racing.

That will come March 29 at the new Sears Point International Raceway in Southern Sonoma County when the San Francisco Region, Sports Car Club of America (SCCA) first event of the year is held.

The seven drivers are among the 39 who passed their tests with flying colors earlier this month at the Cotati race course. They'll get their chance to show their stuff the first day of the two-day meeting at Sears Point in a special novice class race.

The seven and their auto classed are Andre J. Minutoli of Novato, B Production; Robert Bacich and Dr. Terence McGrath, both of Sausalito, E Production; Arthur H. England of San Rafael, H Production; Tom Crowther of Kentfield, Dr. John T. Korn of Novato and John Cook of Petaluma, Forumula-V.

To get their racing license, the seven had to pass two weekends of testing by the SCCA on the Cotati circuit. It's a full weekend of driving and testing, with hopeful drivers attending sessions which start at 7 a.m. and run to 4 p.m. each day.

SKULL SESSIONS

In addition to the time on the track, the students attend "skull session" of four hours before starting the actual driving phase of the tests.

"This is to get the drivers psychologically ready for racing," said Stephen Castoldi, SCCA regional chairman in the San Francisco office.

Castoldi said that of the 80 persons taking the latest tests, Feb. 8 and 9, 39 of them were graduated, almost 50 per cent. "The drivers who did not pass can take another day of testing and then try again," said Castoldi.

Next testing weekend is scheduled for March 8 and 9 and then another April 12-13. The Cotati track is the only testing site for the San Francisco Region of the national racing club.

At the end of the two-weekend course, drivers compete against each other in two three-lap heat races. "That's when we get a chance to observe them in racing situations," said Castoldi.

Cost for the school, which is taught by volunteers from the SCCA, is $100 for the two weekends, plus mandatory $27.50 for dues to the national and regional portions of the club, and $4.50 for a Novice Log Book, which takes the place of a license in the novice class. Persons must be 21 or older to obtain a racing license.

After competing in two novice races in regional events, drivers are eligible to get a boost into regional racing standing and after a minimum of six regional races, they are eligible for national events which are for the more experienced drivers.

Tars Face 'Impossible' Cage Task

College of Marin's basketball team will try to accomplish the "impossible" tonight and at the same time get in on some of the action for second place in the Camino Norte Conference.

So far, it's been impossible for anyone in the conference to beat Contra Costa College of San Pablo, and that's the team the Tars face tonight at College of Marin in Kentfield.

Contra Costa has the title clinched with a 10-0 won-lost record and is sailing along with an impressive 24-3 season record. But three teams, including Marin, are in the fight for second place, now headed by DeAnza of Cupertino at 7-4.

TARS TIED

The Tars are tied with West Valley of Campbell with 6-4 records, just a half a game off DeAnza's pace. A Marin win tonight, and it would be something of an upset, could clinch a tie for second place for the Tars, who have a game with last-place Santa Rosa to play.

Contra Costa is paced by Harry Brown, second in conference scoring with an 18.5-point per game average. Marin's balanced attack is headed by the trio of Andre Horn (14.7), Pat Schafer (14.6) and Tom Seidenberg (13.9).

College of Marin is 10-14 on the season. Game time is 8 o'clock.

San Rafael Sets Softball Meeting

The San Rafael Parks and Recreation Department is accepting registrations for its 1969 Adult Softball League, it was announced by Ron Koller, recreation supervisor.

Formation meeting for team managers is scheduled Tuesday, March 25, 7:30 p.m., at the San Rafael Community Recreation Center.

Hunter Safety Training Course Slated In March

Jules Mandere of San Rafael will be starting a new hunter safety course for persons aged 9 and older March 7 at Hamilton Air Force Base, in the basement of Building No. 442.

The course will run for three weekends, March 7-8, 14-15 and 21-22, meeting Friday nights at 7 o'clock and Saturday mornings at 10 o'clock. Each session is two hours.

The course is free, said Mandere, and said the younger shooters should be accompanied by a parent. For more information, persons can get in touch with Mandere at 22 Knoll Way, San Rafael.

New Faces In Marin Loop; Triple Jump On Schedule

By GARY TISCHLER

Several new faces will be on the spring sports coaching scene in key positions.

For starters, 23-year-old Gary Shaw will take over as Redwood High School track coach, in place of departed Tony Bailey, who took the College of Marin track job.

Shaw is a San Jose State graduate, who has coached some varsity track at Santa Rosa Junior College, where he was also assistant football coach.

He's reportedly adept in coaching the triple jump, new event added to Marin County Athletic League track competition this season.

ALSO NEW on the scene is Harland Bartholemew, who will coach varsity swimming at Novato High School, in place of James Kimmel, dismissed last fall after being arrested on charges of possession of marijuana.

BOB CORLEY, Terra Linda High School basketball coach, certainly isn't new, but he'll be in a different job this spring — coaching varsity baseball in place of ailing Jess Payan, who is recovering from an operation.

SPEAKING OF coaches, Redwood baseball mentor Al Endriss will be one of four Northern California officials working at the State Junior College Basketball Tournament in Fresno March 6-8.

That, incidentally, is a quick reminder, that the Tournament of Champions, basketball tournament is just around the corner, same date (March 6-8) at the Oakland Coliseum arena.

It's so near, but nothing much has been settled yet. The local league tussle won't be officially over until Friday, and a playoff could result if Novato beats Redwood to tie the Giants for the title.

The Catholic Athletic League and the San Francisco Triple A League both have round-robin tournaments to go through. Hayward is a sure bet to land still another berth. It looks like either Castlemont or McClymonds in the Oakland Athletic League and Richmond in the Alameda Athletic League.

REDWOOD, incidentally, still leads all departments of the MCAL basketball race with an 11-1 won-lost mark in varsity play, a 10-2 record in junior varsity action and a perfect 12-0 mark in Class B play.

TERRA LINDA is branching out. Awaiting approval by the board of education is the Trojans' official entry into the fields of soccer and gymnastics. Terra Linda did not have a soccer team this season, but interest is high, and the Trojans could have one next season, when soccer becomes an official league sport.

NEW RULES on tap for prep football: They'll use the two-point conversion next fall and may possibly widen the goal posts from 18 feet, six inches to 23 feet, four inches.

"I heard the sun coming through the window and it woked me up."

ALMANAC

Today is Wednesday, Feb. 26, the 57th day of 1969 with 308 to follow.

The moon is between its first quarter and full phase. The morning stars are Mercury, Mars and Jupiter. The evening stars are Venus and Saturn.

On this day in history:

In 1815 Napoleon Bonaparte and 1,200 men filed from Elba to start a second conquest of France.

In 1870 New York City's first subway line was opened to the public with a fare of 25 cents.

In 1919 Congress established Grand Canyon National Park.

In 1935 Germany began operation of its Air Force under Reichmarshal Hermann Goering.

A thought for the day: Ralph Waldo Emerson said, "The reward of a thing well done is to have done it."

Four In Finals As Top Scholars

Four Tamalpais High School seniors have become finalists in National Merit Scholarship competition. The finalists, all from Mill Valley, are Stephen Hayes, John Leonard, Joan Polenshek and Ellen Rosenthal.

Hayes, the school announced, also scored a perfect 800 in the National College Board Achievement Test in physics.

Hayes plans to major in electrical engineering, Leonard in history, Miss Rosenthal in English literature or history and Miss Polenshek is undecided.

HOW TO PLAY
WINNING BRIDGE

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

Double For Penalties At The Level Of Two Hearts Or Higher

When an opponent overcalls at the level of two hearts or higher you should double for penalties if you have at least one sure trump trick and expect to collect at least a two-trick penalty. If your double backfires the opponents will score a game, and you should not take this risk unless you are virtually sure of defeating the contract.

NOT SOUND

West's double of two hearts in today's hand was not sound. Although his general strength was up to par, his lack of a sure trump trick exposed him to the danger that South might romp in with a long trump suit but nothing much else.

East won the first trick with the jack of spades and made the mistake of returning the eight of clubs up to dummy's weakness. East could have defeated the contract by taking two spades and one diamond and then leading a third round of spades. This would promote a trump trick for West, and the defenders would still get their two club tricks.

NO SECOND CHANCES

South did not give the defenders a second chance to get on the right track. Declarer stepped up with the ace of clubs and drew four rounds of trumps to make sure of extracting West's fangs. He then gave up a club to the queen.

West could make South ruff a diamond, but another club put South in position to win a second club trick in addition to the ace of clubs and the six trumps. South thus scored 120 points below the line and 50 points above the line for making a doubled contract together with 500 points for the game and rubber.

COULD HAVE BEEN

West's double would have been excellent if the two red suits were exchanged. The a double of two diamonds might backfire, but South would score only 80 points below the line and 50 points above the line. The unlucky double would cost West only 90 additional points instead of the 610 additional points lost in the actual hand.

DAILY QUESTION

As dealer you hold:

♠—A KJ 6 2
♥—7 5
♦—K J 9 3
♣—8 7.

What do you say?

Answer: Bid one sapde.

With only 12 points in high cards you have an optional opening bid, and you should choose to bid rather than to pass since you have a fine five-card major suit and excellent high-card structure. Some experts would prefer to pass this borderline hand, but most would choose the opening bid.

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING

S. S. Kresge Has A Good Potential

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. We have had the good fortune of inheriting 750 shares of S. S. Kresge stock. Should we keep this stock for growth toward retirement in 10 years? — E.W.

A. S. S. Kresge has an outstanding potential in view of its aggressive entry into discounting, fast-paced store opening schedule and projected 25 per cent sales growth through 1969. However, since no stock is totally free of risk, the prudent investor spreads his risk through diversification. For that reason I suggest sale of at least one-half of your shares. The proceeds can then be invested in Boise-Cascade and Goodyear Tire and Rubber, two fast-growth industrial issues with well-established records of achievements.

Q. I bought 20 shares of Polaroid in 1966. In March of last year the shares split 2-for-1. Then this past November I sold 20 shares. How do I figure my gain for income taxes? — I.H.

A. As a result of the split you must still hold 20 shares of Polaroid. Your cost, therefore, would be one-half of your original purchase price. Your capital gain would be the difference between this cost and proceeds from the sale of 20 shares.

After you have worked out the details you should check with your local IRS office to make certain you have figured the long-term capital gain accurately.

Q. We have shares of Economics Laboratories and First National Bank of Chicago. Should we sell the former and put the money into the latter holding? — C.G.

A. I would not favor selling your shares of Economics Laboratories, a leading manufacturer of industrial and institutional cleaning products. The company — producer of consumer products as well — has compiled an impressive record of sales and earnings growth. In the most recent period, six months ended December, sales rose 15 per cent while earnings made a similar gain to 48 cents a share.

Tightening monetary conditions may cut back on First National Bank of Chicago's loan activities and exert some pressure on margins. However, shares should be held for long-term appreciation.

Net Income Up

ATLANTA, Ga. (BW) — Robert Oppenlander, Delta Air Lines' senior vice president-finance and treasurer, has reported a January net income after normal taxes of $2,628,000 (14 cents per share), up 13 per cent, and net income after surtax of $2,424,000 (13 cents per share) or 5 per cent above the $2,316,000 earned in January 1968.

Rules Explained On How To Deduct Any Sick Pay Funds

Wikel

Sick pay is sometimes taxed, sometimes partially taxed and sometimes tax free. Here are the rules:

The amount you received because of accident or sickness, if received from an insurance company where you paid the premiums either directly or through payroll deductions is not taxed.

The amount you received because of accident or sickness where your employer paid the premiums to the insurance company, or where your employer himself paid your wages while you were off sick is taxed as follows:

NO SICK PAY

No sick pay exclusion is allowed for wages received for the first thirty days of absence if the wages are over 75 per cent of the regular weekly rate. Sick pay received after the thirty day waiting period is over is excluded, but not more than $100 per week.

If your sick pay is 75 per cent of less of your regular weekly pay and if you are in the hospital at least one day while you are off, you can exclude the payments for the first thirty days up to $75 per week. But, if you are not in the hopsital at least overnight, there is no exclusion for the first seven days and the $75 maximum will apply only to the balance of the first thirty days you are off.

ATTACH FORM

If you can use the sick pay exclusion, you should get a Form 2440 from your local IRS office and attach it to your tax return. This form will help you compute accurately the amount of sick pay you can exclude.

In 1727 the first printing press in Rhode Island was established at Newport.

Market Closes On Mixed, Active Note

NEW YORK (UPI) — The market ended on a mixed note today, with blue chips among the more impressive issues. Trading was moderately active.

An expression of confidence by Henry Cabot Lodge, chief U. S. negotiator at the Paris peace conference, that the Vietnam talks would bring results despite the latest flareup in the war was a healthy ingredient.

Other constructive items included rising prices on hot rolled strip steel, spreading price hikes on gasoline and the labor department's report of record consumer prices in January.

The Dow Jones averages of 30 blue chip industrials showed a gain of 5.59 at 905.39. Volume was around the 9-million share mark.

Otto Schreier To Relocate Cabinet Shop In Mill Valley

Another commuter to San Francisco, Otto H. Schreier of Mill Valley, has decided it is more practical to move his business to Marin County than go through the daily ordeal of freeway traffic.

Schreier, who owns and operates the Otto Schreier Cabinet Shop at 1525 48th Avenue, San Francisco, has bought the building at 469 Miller Avenue, Mill Valley, from Mill Valley Post 284 of the American Legion. He will remodel, occupy part of the building and lease out the balance. The property was sold for $75,000.

Meanwhile, Mill Valley Post 2°4 will continue to hold meetings there until May 15, when Schreier takes possession. Post commander Harry E. Fitzgibbon reports that for subsequent meetings another hall will be rented.

PERHAPS MISLEADING in its phraseology, our item regarding Nu-Vinyl-Life Co. (not Nu-Vinyl-Little) on Monday was not meant to report that this company has taken over Feldron Industries. It has taken over the local vinyl repair, dying and maintenance processing of that company under the franchise held by Edward R. Wolford.

Feldron Industries continues under its same ownership and operates on a national scale.

NEW BUILDING ADDITION at 35 Mitchell Boulevard, Northgate Industrial Park, to Ronald Antonioli's office complex will have its share of attorneys and legal firms as tenants. Four such offices are now signed to open here.

Most recent to lease space through William Hoey and Co. is Convis and Kennedy, now located at 1653 Second Street, San Rafael. Previously signed were Kenneth M. Levy, now at 1330 Lincoln Avenue, San Rafael; Ronald D. Schenck, now with Riede and Elliott in San Rafael; and Duncan Davidson, now officed in San Francisco.

Offices won't be ready for occupancy, of course, until the latter part of next month.

SAUSALITO VETERINARIAN Dr. Carrie A. Corvin has purchased a lot in Hamilton Industrial Park, Ignacio, through Arthur Foff of Swendeman Realty and plans construction of a veterinary hospital there.

JAMES KILPATRICK JR. of Santa Venetia has been appointed manager of the Cala Food Store in the Corte Madera Shopping Center. He replaces Sam Cala of Kentfield, who now joins his brother Edward (a Greenbrae resident) in a supervisorial capacity with the food chain. Sam Cala now supervises several San Francisco stores as well as the six in Marin.

Fitzpatrick has been with Cala for the past seven months but he had previous experience in the food business, which runs in the family. His father owned the former Bon Air Supermarket in Greenbrae.

EUGENE A. GRENACHE of Larkspur has been promoted to installment loan officer at Crocker-Citizens National Bank's San Rafael main office and will continue to serve as manager of the installment loan department there. He joined Crocker-Citizens in 1964 following eight years of insurance experience. He has served at various Bay Area offices and has been at the San Rafael main office since 1965.

CHARLES I. (CHUCK) DANIELS JR. of San Rafael, vice president and manager of Golden Gate Distributing Co., has been selected president of the California Beer Wholesalers Association. Golden Gate is the local distributor for Coors, Carlsberg and San Miguel beers and Rainier ale.

Common Stock

NEW YORK (UPI) — Shareholders of Carrier Corp. have approved a boost in authorized common stock to 30 million from 10 million shares presently. Half of the additional shares will be absorbed by a 2-for-1 split of the common stock also approved at the meeting.

Open Campus Policy Unsolved

Students asking to be trusted off campus during school hours and parents concerned about safety, litter and property damage clashed last night before the San Rafael Board of Education.

There was a standingroom audience of about 100 persons and many engaged in a free-wheeling debate over the pros and cons of an open campus for high school students.

After two hours the board tossed the matter back to the schools and the community to work out a solution and return for board approval.

At issue was a request from San Rafael High School students for an open campus which would mean that all students could leave the campus, if they had parental permission, at noon and during free periods.

Rick Maulhaupt, president of the Terra Linda High School student body, said students there weren't ready to make a request and didn't want to be under consideration in last night's discussion.

At present, seniors at each school are allowed the privilege of an open campus.

Lawrence E. Hoyt, representing the San Rafael High School Parent-Teacher Association, said parents at a January P-TA meeting voted 49 to 39 against permitting an open campus on an experimental basis.

Jeff Godwin, San Rafael High School student, said students were polled and of the 1,200 who responded, 959 favored an open campus.

Residents who live near Terra Linda High School told of students smoking, throwing litter on lawns and speeding cars, and one warned those who live near San Rafael High School: "You're letting yourself in for a lot of grief, problems and garbage."

Sally Ward, a San Rafael High School student, said students polled 15 immediate neighbors and only two objected to open campus for all.

Board member Carl J. Brown said he was concerned about what students would be smoking off campus. He said he has talked to students who have smoked marijuana, and one admitted that after "too many joints" at lunchtime "he couldn't care less what they did in school."

The responsibility of the student is to go to school and get an education, Brown said.

He said he was concerned about putting a student in an environment off campus where he might be under pressures from other students or pushers to smoke marijuana.

Students replied that the minority who smoke marijuana would smoke it whether the campus is open or closed.

Alan Ellsberg, principal of San Rafael High School, said it was the first district he has worked in that didn't have an open campus.

Alan Blum, a San Rafael High School student, said the open campus would be on an experimental basis and if there were objections and problems, it would be curtailed. "Give the kids trust and responsibility," he said.

Marc Litchfield, student body president at San Rafael High, admitted that those who want to smoke a cigarette will leave, open campus or not.

Godwin said that students also wanted to leave the campus to shop and eat at some place other than the school cafeteria. He admitted that there would be troublemakers, "but I'm sure all of you know adults who couldn't handle an open campus."

After an hour of discussion board president Lawrence I. Kramer said both sides had legitimate viewpoints, but he hadn't heard anything for or against "on educational grounds."

Frank Stocking, principal at Terra Linda High, said education was more than what students learn in classrooms or from books. It would be an opportunity for students to demonstrate their responsibility, he said. Only a small percentage of students are irritating people, Stocking contended.

Board member Paul L. Jones said he didn't think it was a problem for the school board, but "for the community and the school."

Jones said the community wasn't represented by those attending last night's session and he urged students to poll all parents.

Board member John C. Pfeiffer said "the teachers, administrators and adults should deal with some of these hot potatoes directly . . . here we have a relatively small group of special interests."

San Rafael High students agreed to poll parents to get a wider representation.

Pumping Station Contract Given

The Sausalito-Marin City Sanitary District board awarded $10,499 contract Monday for modifying the Princess Street pumping station, near Ondine restaurant on Bridgeway, to Hayco, Inc., of Greenbrae.

Other bidders were Maggiora and Ghilotti of Corte Madera, $10,750; Neil T. Burton of Kentfield, $12,610; Healy Tibbitts Construction Co. of San Francisco, $16,960, and Albay Construction Co. of Concord, $24,583.

The project will be coordinated with Bridgeway widening now in progress.

Probation, Jail Set For Sale Of Drug

Glen Theodore Thornson, 19, of Sausalito, who pleaded guilty last month to selling methamphetamine has been placed on three years probation with 60 days to be spent in Marin County jail.

Judge Harold J. Haley of Marin Superior Court sentenced Thornson, who sold the drug to an agent of the Marin County Drug Abuse Brueau on Jan. 20, 1968.

Corte Madera Sign Decision Stalled

The Corte Madera Board of Design has approved the design of a proposed Union Oil Co. service station at 800 Tamalpais Drive except for a proposed 18-foot free standing sign, William G. McBride, zoning administrator reported yesterday.

No recommendation was made on the sign, said McBride, since the board was unsure whether the wooden structure housing it was technically also the sign. The town planning commission will next consider the service station and sign.

New Meningitis Trouble At Ord

FORT ORD (UPI) — One soldier is dead and five more are hospitalized in a new outbreak of meningitis at this sprawling Pacific Coast Army post south of San Francisco.

Pvt. Custis M. Heinz, 21, Cosby, Mo., died Tuesday at the post hospital after being admitted early in the day. Doctors said he died from a form of the disease which attacks the blood stream.

Heinz was in his eighth week of infantry training.

Fort Ord was closed briefly in 1964 when an outbreak of meningitis took several lives. However, doctors said the type of meningitis in the 1964 deaths infected the central nervous system.

Students Suggest Alternatives To Flag Pledge Of Allegiance

A flag at half-staff in memory of men killed in Vietnam . . . quotations from the nation's leaders . . . readings about that day in history.

These were suggested to the San Rafael Board of Education last night by three high school students as patriotic observances that could be used in place of the pledge of allegiance.

The Terra Linda High School Student Council, joined by San Rafael High School, is seeking modification of the district's policy that requires the daily pledge.

Students contended that the pledge has lost meaning through daily recitation, and they would prefer some variation in patriotic observances. They don't want to abolish the pledge, they emphasized.

Because of the late hour, board members said there wasn't time to fully explore the proposal and postponed action until March 11.

The board asked the students to bring in a sample two-week schedule of patriotic observances, which they could review.

The San Rafael Board of Education also:

EVALUATION — Approved a policy that includes self-evaluation and evaluation by staff and students as part of the evaluation of administrators.

SUMMER SCHOOL — Approved an elementary district summer school program from June 20 through July 25, and a high school district summer school program, June 20 to Aug. 1.

ADULT EDUCATION — Approved 11 new class offerings for the spring term in adult education, March 24-June 12.

HIRING — Authorized the hiring of Virginia Abts, teacher, high school district, $3,113 for remainder of school year; Mrs. Joan Carroll, teacher, educationally handicapped, elementary district, $4,005 for remainder of school year; and Mac Hull, full-time substitute teacher, elementary district, $3,703 for remainder of school year.

No Hospital Session

Marin Hospital District directors did not meet last night due to lack of a quorum, Jules Becker, public relations director, said today. The board plans to meet next week at a date to be announced.

Beatings, Threats At Busing Session

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Three San Francisco persons were beaten and Board of Education members were threatened last night as a crowd of some 1,000 persons opposed a school integration plan and the busing of students.

Among those beaten by unidentified persons during the board meeting at Nourse Auditorium where a Negro youth, a white youth and Vincent Maggiora, San Francisco Chronicle photographer of Sausalito. One youth had carried a sign reading: "End Racism."

Maggiora, rescued by reporter Jim Wood of the San Francisco Examiner, was treated at Central Emergency Hospital. He was knocked down while attempting to photograph the other beatings.

Board members, who accepted for study a plan by a Citizens Advisory Committee, voted to approve Supt. Robert E. Jenkins suggestion that a coordinator and consultant be appointed.

A crowd standing in front of the stage threatened to "crucify" and "get" board members, claiming a microphone had been cut so that Mrs. Morris Lemlow, Mothers Support Neighborhood School chairman, could not be heard.

Mrs. Lemlow presented a letter from State Supt. of Public Instruction Max Rafferty which said:

"The (state) board has no statutory power to compel any local district to achieve any special degree of racial balance nor does it have either the power or the the intention to require any specific means to be used on a local level to achieve racial balance."

Mrs. Jerry McDonough, first vice president of Mothers Support Neighborhood Schools, held a knife overhead and declared: "This is a knife my son found in the hall at Lincoln High School. We're sick and tired of having our children mutilated."

James Rourke, president of American Against Crime, Communism and Corruption asked the board: "How can you in good conscience vote in a busing system when a property owner buys his home in a specific area with the intention of using that local school?"

Antipollution Watchdogs Ask Drilling Curbs

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — A request that no oil or gas leases be granted on submerged lands anywhere in the Bay Area will be considered by the state Water Resources Control Board at 9:30 a.m. March 6 in the Resources Building, 1416 Ninth Street.

The request, made by the San Francisco Bay Regional Water Quality Control Board on Feb. 14, asked that no leases be granted by the state Lands Commission until it can insure that drilling will not cause water pollution.

The regional board's motion cited the disastrous oil pollution of Southern California's coast by the leak at a Union Oil Co. offshore well, and noted the same thing could happen in the bay without "assurance" that adequate stafeguards will be provided.

The commission's proposal to grant leases in San Pablo Bay has drawn virtually unanimous official and public opposition.
